'26 HOMECOMING HAS RECORD ATTENDANCE

THE STUDENT TAKES FIRST; SPECTRUM IS SECOND IN CONTEST

Sorlie Addresses Collegiate Journalists; Creighton Gets Convention

An International Press Conference was automatically formed at the College Saturday by a vote of the North Central Press Conference delegates to make the University of Manitoba, Winnipeg, a member of the North Central Press Conference. The Canadian university issues a weekly, The Manitoban.

Membership in the press body still remains the same, as Nebraska Wesleyan college was simultaneously dropped for failure to attend the last two press conventions.

Daily Student Wins

The Dakota Daily Student, University of North Dakota publication, won first honors in the newspaper contest held in conjunction with the Fifth Annual North Central Press Conference meeting at the College during Homecoming. Edward K. Thompson is editor-in-chief of the daily; Robert Serungard acts as business manager.

The Spectrum, local newspaper, placed second, and the Industrial Collegian was third. Herschal Halfhill, recent president of the Press Conference, is editor of the Industrial Collegian, and Marvin Schmidt acts as business manager.

Announcement of the winners was made by the judges at the banquet held at the Powers Hotel, Friday evening. About thirty persons attended the annual dinner.

Judges of the newspapers were: Matt Tindall; Arthur Ostman, of the Fargo Forum; and Ralph Keller, of the Pierce Advertising Agency.

Gov. Sorlie Speaks

Attending delegates voted to meet at Omaha, Neb., next year. Paul J. Cash was elected secretary-treasurer of the Conference. Mr. Cash edits the "Creightonian," Creighton University. Richard Maloney, business manager of The Volante, University of South Dakota weekly, was elected president, and Allan M. Hoschar, editor of The Highlander, Des Moines University, weekly, becomes vice president.

Governor A. G. Sorlie and members of the State Board of Administration, Mayor Dahl, members of the City Commission, and Dr. John Lee Coulter were guests of honor at the Press Conference Bison luncheon held in the Lincoln Log Cabin of the Little Country Theatre Saturday noon.

Governor Sorlie addressed the delegates and outlined to them the many opportunities as journalists, to promote welfare in their respective states. President Coulter introduced Mr. Sorlie.

"Agriculture is the basic industry of our state, and of the states you represent," Gov. Sorlie told the delegates. "When it is shown statistically, that in 11 years we will be a nation forced to import agricultural products, the vital importance and relation of agriculture to other industries may be seen.

"We cannot help agriculture by

Community Program To Be Given Tuesday

A one-act play "His Second Girl," will be a principal event on the community program being given at the Little Country Theatre at 7:30 p. m., Tuesday, by the class in public discussion at the North Dakota Agricultural college.

Other numbers on the program will be a brief talk by Phyllis Heimark on "The Value of Community Programs in Country Life," an illustrated lecture, readings, and athletic stunts.

A cantata, "The Quest of the Gypsies" is also being presented.

Little Miss Corrine Lawrence will give a solo dance involving gymnastic feats. An exhibition of old hats with short demonstrations of the fashion, and a quilting bee will also be staged. Lunch is to be served in the Log Cabin after the program.

STEFANSSON SPEAKS ON ARCTIC NOV. 11

NOTED EXPLORER ILLUSTRATES EXPERIENCES WITH LANTERN SLIDES IN FIRST OF SERIES

Vilhjalmur Stefansson, great arctic explorer, scientist, author and lecturer will speak on his adventures and observations in the arctic region or in the wilds of Central Australia as the first feature of the Sixteenth Annual Lyceum series at 7:30 p. m., Thursday in the college armory. Mr. Stefansson's lecture with slides will be one of the six numbers on the enhanced annual series attractions. Light opera, makeup artistry, drama, and a "Light Organ Concert" are on Prof. A. G. Arvold's program.

Mr. Stefansson, born at Arnes, Manitoba, spent his boyhood in North Dakota. He was a student at the University of North Dakota in the early 1890's. He matriculated at the U. of Iowa in 1903. Harvard Univ. claimed him as a postgraduate and later as a leader of arctic exploring expeditions it sponsored. He held a scholarship at Harvard University.

As an instructor in anthropology, Mr. Stefansson caught the fever of arctic exploring. He joined the Leflingwell-Mikkelsen expedition in 1906. For the next 12 years, the explorer of Icelandic descent lived in the neighborhood of the Arctic circle. He went north in 1913, and "living on the country", his expedition did not return until five years later.

Mr. Stefansson is a brilliant lecturer and author. He began as a city editor on the Grand Forks Plain Dealer, worked on the Boston Transcript, and other national dailies. He has written such books as "My Experience with the Eskimos", "Prehistoric and Present Arctic Trade Routes," and others. Several important land discoveries in the north are credited to Mr. Stefansson.

POWER MACHINERY WINS FIRST AT DEMONSTRATION

The Power Machinery Class won first place at the Industrials' Annual demonstration contest, Friday, by showing the method of testing the heat value per cubic foot of gas. In this test they described and used a calorimeter, gas meter, thermometer, etc. The Farm Husbandry class demonstrated rope splicing and tying.

FLICKERS' KICK FOR GOAL BEATS BISON IN BITTER 7 TO 6 GAME

Nodaks Trim Bison In First Half Miller's Mates Score On Pass In Strong Comeback

A fighting, desperate herd of Bison grid warriors, hurrying past after pass into the consuming dusk, in a last minute effort to overcome a one point margin suffered defeat at the hands of invading Flickertails on Dakota's field Saturday. It was the only blemish, a technical one at the best, to mar an ideal Homecoming and Bison Roundup.

Chief Watches Miller

Claude Miller, the modest, untrammeled idol of Bison and Flicker grid fans alike was fully as great in defeat as in victory. The Miller playing Saturday was a defensive back, punting consistently in the pinches and stopping the lunging Flicker backs after they had ripped their way into secondary territory. Claude's chance to score did not come; but his short desperate dashes were as scintillating as have been his "length over all" ball journeys.

Chief Afraid of Bear registered the feelings of every fan as he would excitedly jump from his sideline seat, and rush out to the chalk mark as his brother chief carried the pigskin for a gain. The Sioux nation will wait many a moon before a supple, beautifully throttled sprint machine, such as Miller's plays on a State gridiron.

Boyd Makes Goal Kick

Touchdowns in the second and third quarter respectively marked the high tide of the Flicker and Bison play.

Rockwell's Nodaks drove viciously through the Bison defense in the second quarter to score after a break had placed the ball in Bison territory. Their counter was an earned one, however, for the Cortright men turned the Flickers back from the 4 yard line before the up-State crew took Miller's punt from his own 38 yard line and came back from there to score.

The Bison using a pass game effectively throughout the last half scored in the third quarter when Miller tossed one from the Flickers' 25 yard line to Cy Peschel who sprinted a dozen yards for the Bison score. The Bison line coming back powerfully had forced Boyd to kick early in the second half.

Miller carried Rabe's kickoff back

SCABBARD AND BLADE PLANS SPECIAL DANCE

A special Armistice day program has been arranged for the Cadet hop Thursday, according to Walter Bohr, head of a Scabbard and Blade committee that has charge of the weekly dances.

The Butterfly orchestra, a five-piece organization from the Winter Garden, has been obtained to play for the students from 4:15 to 6 p. m. The orchestra has just completed a four months' engagement at Sioux City before coming here. The usual admission price will be charged.

Community Program To Be At Theatre Tuesday

A one-act play "His Second Girl" will be a principal event on the community program being given at the Little Country theatre at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday by the class in public discussion at the college.

Other numbers on the program will be a brief talk by Phyllis Heimark on "The Value of Community Programs in Country Life," an illustrated lecture, readings and athletic stunts.

Little Miss Corrine Lawrence will feature with a solo dance involving gymnastic detail. An exhibition of old hats with short demonstrations of the fashion, and a quilting bee will also be staged. The music committee is to present a musical cantata and several other music numbers. Lunch will be served in the Log Cabin after the program.

NELSON FIRST IN CROSS PRAIRIE RUN

FOUR-MILE EVENT AT GAME SHOWS SAALWAECHTER'S PROGRESS IN TRACK.

Walt Nelson won first place in the last cross-country run to be staged by the State runners this season. Nelson and Weiser headed the other marathoners from start to finish, each runner alternating for first and second positions throughout the race. It was not until the final spurt that Nelson was assured a victory.

Medals were awarded to the winners annexing the first four places. Weiser received second, and was followed by H. Zeissler and J. Reynolds.

The seven harriers who competed for Homecoming day honors were: Nelson, Reynolds, Dobrinz, R. Willard, R. Weiser, Daubert, and H. Zeissler.

Coach Saalwaechter has arranged two meets for next year's schedule. The meets will be with the University of Minnesota, and South Dakota State, cross country runners. The Bison will also be assured entry in the North Central Conference meet.

Much credit should be given Coach Saalwaechter for the rapid strides he has made in developing cross-country running in this school. This sport requires much time in its development. Minnesota was so favorably impressed with the showing the Bison runners made in their meet that they awarded them an annual meet.

P. O. P. Grand President Guest of Local Chapter

Mrs. Genevieve Turnipseed, grand president of the Phi Omega Pi, national sorority, and dean of women at Eastern State Teachers college, Madison, S. D., is visiting the Zeta chapter of this college this week. She was a guest at the local chapter last year also.

A formal banquet will be given in her honor at 5:30 p. m. today at the Gardner hotel. Miss Beulah Battersby, as general chairman, will greet the visiting official. Mrs. Dorothy Ayers Loudon, grand alumni secretary will also attend.

Formal initiation services will also be held at 8 a. m. Sunday for Christine Walhood, and Letitia Jones at the Masonic temple. The breakfast, to follow, is in charge of Esther Skjelset and will be assisted by Almarina Schulz, Geraldine Ewald, Bernice Cramer, and Sabra Caylor.

RALLY, PARADE AND BARBECUE ARE BIG FEATURES OF DAY

Gov. Sorlie Speaks at Alumni Banquet; Coulter Awards Prizes at Dance

"The most successful Homecoming and Bison Roundup celebration ever held at the college," was the general verdict of Bison of Flickertail visitors alike after the Homecoming dance Saturday evening had concluded events. Homecoming festivities unofficially began as early as Tuesday, and were favored with ideal conditions except for the narrow Nodak grid victory.

Although University of North Dakota Flickertails left Fargo Saturday night with the winning football team of the annual grid classic between the university and the Bison and carried with them the moccasins presented Claude Miller, Bison football captain, by his brother Sioux Indians, they failed to take with them any of the enthusiastic spirit that has been rampant among the State college students for the last few days.

The herd continued to stampede Saturday night.

"Good Spirit," created Friday night after the burial of "Poor Spirit," continued to live, despite the jolt it received during the game. It reached its peak Saturday morning, when cheering students paraded the city in the wake of floats decorated for the homecoming event. It continued to thrive as the Bison rooters were joined by equally enthusiastic students from the university camp, when their special train arrived at 11:25 a. m. Nourished with barbecue sandwiches from a buffalo, shipped here for the occasion, backers of both teams carried their enthusiasm into the stands.

The homecoming was not confined to the college. Fargo citizens early joined in the spirit and helped students in the celebration.

Squads Entertained

Following the game, members of the student body and visiting alumni split up into groups to attend the two banquets arranged for the program.

The football squads and coaches from both schools were entertained by the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. at dinner in the college "Y" at 6 p. m.

More than 200 guests were in attendance at the alumni banquet in the college armory. Miss Edith Shelton, president of the Alumni association, presided, and talks were given by Gov. A. G. Sorlie, Dr. John Lee Coulter, president of the college, and assisting alumni. Several soprano solos were sung by Miss Marvel Larson, accompanied by Mrs. C. A. Williams, member of the banquet program committee. Miss Edna Sommerfeld was in general charge.

The homecoming dance was held in the college armory with Dr. and Mrs. Coulter, I. W. Smith, dean of men; Mrs. W. G. Cole, dean of women, and Miss Shelton in the receiving line.

College traditions, its life, its hopes satire and burlesque, were portrayed in the parade Saturday morning. It was probably the greatest the college

HOMECOMING OF 1926.

"Did you ever live on a farm?"

After a week of work, a picnic, a Fourth of July celebration, or perhaps only a Sunday with visitors "to dinner" was a highlight in rural social life. Then did you experience the vague feeling of lonesomeness, after the "company" had left? Needless to say, many of us may again be experiencing such a mood. The Homecoming and Bison Roundup of 1926 was one we should not soon forget.

If you have already forgotten it, the full significance of it has not dawned on you. Rightfully, one may say that never has our student body shown such spirit. The thermometer of the statement can be the uptown business district. We have shown the spirit of the loyal Bison. Now are we to hibernate with the cold weather coming on.

Are the cowbells to really ring in a new Bison spirit, or are we to sink back into leaves of history—a one-day college man or woman?

The College is changing. By February we shall be changed not only in name, but we shall try truly to be a college, and not just seven schools under the name of one supposedly stronger branch.

Alumni are responding in great spirit; businessmen are beginning to realize that the college is their asset and not the state's liability. Students, you should begin to realize that you "make" the college. The college "cannot" "make" you. You learned to cooperate in the few days during Homecoming. Can't we learn to cooperate in everyday college life? It's really what you are, not what you profess to be or aspire to be, that counts. "Yea! Bison!" is more than a throat-deep matter.

HOW ABOUT THOSE PATHS?

Last spring the Student Commission succeeded in reviving the campus green in substance as well as name. The issue is sure to come up. Students have again heedlessly taken up their bucolic ways.

Appropriations were made for sidewalks, when the college populace reaches that point where it is necessary to walk on the grass, the campus will probably be covered with buildings. It is a trite matter. Our geometrically-minded minds are trite as well. Our steps lead straight over everything. If frosh and upperclassmen don't learn to go out of their way sometime, the only green at the college will be the verdant paint someone tossed on the main gate.

ANOTHER PHASE.

To the person or persons managing the 1926 Bison Homecoming must go much of the credit. Events were nicely timed. Governor Sorlie, and other officials attending contributed their share to making the Homecoming a State affair.

It is easy to gloat over success, but the recent one showed work, spirit, and loyalty, functioning undampened by reverses. That deserves praise.

The Bison sandwich luncheon given Saturday noon for state and city officials, delegates to the press conference meeting, as well as faculty and student co-workers, showed forethought and cooperation that was typical of the day.

The management of the parade by the military department with its assistants verifies again the blessings of preparedness.

We had several elements attending our Homecoming. Besides the impartial state officials, the Bison and Flickertails, there were representatives of the Sioux nation. They paid our college a great honor in conferring a chieftainship upon Claudie Miller. It is novel and fitting that a great grid warrior should become a chief in a tribe of great Indian warriors.

Only space limits one writing about the Homecoming, but as students, you are entitled to speak on into infinity.

Hundreds of Alumni Back To Join In Bison Roundup

ALL SECTIONS OF STATE REPRESENTED; MILLER RETURNS TO SEE BROTHER PLAY

Hundreds of alumni and former students returned to the college for Homecoming. This is shown by the roll call taken at Alumni headquarters in charge of T. W. Thorardson, alumni secretary, and by those of the fraternities and sororities.

Miller's Brother Back

Leroy Miller, returning to see his brother Claudie Miller play his final University game perhaps claims the record for distance. Mr. Miller came from Los Angeles. He is staying with his brother at the Alpha Kappa Phi fraternity house and will visit in Fargo several weeks before returning to California where he in the bulb raising business. Mr. Miller was a student at the college in 1921-22.

Hundreds Return

A handful of the many alumni attending, who registered at the alumni association office, are as follows:

Flickers' Kick for Goal Beats Bison

20 yards to the Bison 40 yard mark. An exchange of punts gave Miller an opportunity to carry the ball into University territory. He went to the University 36 yard line, but was called out of bounds ten yards back. He punted the ball to the Nodaks' 5 yard mark and Raney, who has shown adeptness at getting down under punts, downed the punt. Boyd punted back and Cortright's men started their aerial game from the Nodak 40 yard mark for a touchdown.

State's chance to tie the score went glimmering when Hermes' place kick went under the crossbars.

The Bison line in the last periods played smart and aggressive ball. Rae Kneeshaw, in the lineup then, turned in his best game of the season. Marks and Wall, also veteran tacklers, stood the gaff well. Jug Newgard, who was knocked out after a hard tackle early in the game, came back strong in the second half at Tilton's post.

Their pass game, with Bobby Hahr thrown into the lineup in a last desperate effort, was working well. I was too late to overcome the handicap.

For the benefit of our student friends at the A. C. who have been asking us about prices. We will give the same rates as last year. One dollar off on a dozen pictures and the cut print for Bison free. If taken before the 20th of Nov. and call for them any time before Xmas. This is to help us out on the heavy rush before Xmas.

E BULLITIONS OF EBONY BLOTT

By Everett Wallum
OUR OWN LITTLE COLLEGE DIRECTORY FOR FRESHMEN

FOOTBALL FIELD: This name is a bit deceptive as footballs aren't really raised here. Must be quite a battlefield as football warriors and platoons drill here with as much enthusiasm as though they were dentists with their landlord in the chair.

Freshmen must have their little football terms defined, so here they are:

End: Astonishing as it may seem, the end plays at the end of the line. He is supposed to catch passes, and it is a real rough game, he will probably catch a lot of ugly passes. He even occasionally passes out if he enters the frolic with an overabundance of fervor. The flankmen have the privilege of running down punts which is something like the running down of hares only they have no beetle hounds to aid in tracking the elusive punt to its lair.

Sometimes ends are called "wing-men," undoubtedly because they may grow sets of wings, if they play a good game.

TACKLE: Men playing this position usually become very adept at tackling the old man for a ten. Most tackles are fast, in fact, they are invariably stuck fast. There are two kinds of tackles, viz: Obstacles, and Kneeshaw.

GUARD: A good guard should be a good orator for he always throws a big line. A mud guard is one who plays dirty. A good guard will always intervene for his team even if he has to use strong language. A poor guard thinks he's there merely to look after the field, and a real poor guard actually plows the field with his face.

CENTER: The center is supposed to be exactly in the middle of the line, but what if Kneeshaw is playing tackle? Technically speaking, a center is what is left on the field after the players disentangle themselves from a play. A pivot man is almost always the center of the doctor's attention. The difference between a pugilist and a center is that when a fighter is through with his battle, a doctor takes three stitches in his nose, but a center has to crawl in under a sewing machine.

QUARTERBACK: On most pigskin aggregations, the quarterback is he who owns the ball, and if he don't play quarter, there will be no game. Many sports writers claim that the name was derived from a fair haired p'ayer who came back in the last quarter and won the game and the buxom lass. It is fairly well agreed, however that the name was derived from a star who took his girl to the movies, and then asked her for his quarterback.

HALFBACK: There are two halfbacks to make up the unit in a backfield, but there are no four quarterbacks, which leads us to deduce that there are in reality only two and one-fourth men in the backfield. Figure it out for yourself. A halfback rarely needs listerine to make himself popular.

FULLBACK: A fullback is not necessarily one who doesn't obey the Volstead act. They call them fullbacks because when they are in training they can not have full stomachs. All fullbacks have not round shoulders.

GOAL: Something both teams try to get to, and yet when they get there they can't take it with them. Teams often abuse the goals by kicking them, which isn't a bit nice.

I would like to present a solution to this football problem of attaining goals. Both teams are trying for a different goal. If they were both centering their attention on the same one, there would be some incentive for struggling against each other. As it is, why shouldn't both teams make an armistice and go unmolested to their own goal where they can do what they like—even eat it.

It's funny no one thought of this before—Egad!

Float Winners

The Theta Chi fraternity won the large silver loving cup, awarded for the best organization float. The fraternity's float represented homecoming 3,000 years ago. This cup must be won three consecutive years to become the permanent possession of any group.

The Sigma Theta, with a ship float, won second prize and the next eight in order were: Agricultural Society, Delta Phi Beta, Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., Delta Pi, Women's Athletic association, Kappa Delta, Alpha Kappa Phi, and Scabbard and Blade.

The Phi Kappa Lambdas, representing pirates, won a silver shield for the best group costume and the Phi Kappa Beta, led by a Baby B'son, won second place.

The experiment station won first place in the school float class, the Science and Literature department second place, and the Pharmacy department third place.

The Fargo Floral company was awarded a small silver cup for having the best decorated window among the merchants down town.

Prizes were announced and awarded by Dr. Coulter during the dance in the armory.

The line was divided into three sections. Leading were cars carrying Gov. A. G. Sorlie, who arrived here from Grand Forks. Pres. John Lee Coulter, members of the board of administration and others prominently connected with the school.

The cadet band followed, then the cadet corps, banners and placards, representing the various schools. Captain Thomas S. Smith was in charge of the first section.

In the second section, led by Captain W. W. Millard, were 35 floats, representing the various organizations on the campus. Ideas were cleverly worked out in this section, many tending to indicate the supremacy of North Dakota State and the minor possibilities of the university.

In the third section were various groups, individuals and staffs of the various schools. The Bisonettes and Bisonites, cheer organizations at college, romped along in costume, furnishing plenty of noise. Captain A. E. Andrews was in charge of this division.

making laws. Only by taking advantage of our resources here can we help ourselves," said the speaker.

Governor Sorlie disparaged the thought, often current, of building up agriculture at the expense of some other industry. He urged, rather, the raising of the farm industry to an equally high level by the use of sound, scientific principles.

The conference, opening Friday morning, was attended by representatives of six colleges.

Prof. A. G. Arvold gave an address of welcome to the delegates at their first meeting Friday afternoon. The speaker pointed out to the student journalists, in an illuminating manner, the colorful and rich experiences open to the newspaper man. Mr. Arvold, prior to his coming to the College, served as editor on several middle-west dailies, and also as publicity man for leading figures of the time.

Other speakers during the sessions were: George A. Benson, editorial writer on the Fargo Forum; and R. L. Keller, of the Pierce Advertising Agency. Each spoke on problems in their particular fields; round table discussions followed.

Visiting delegates who were guests of the athletic department during the Bison-Flickertail game were: Herschall Halfhill, Marvin Schmidt, and Hailey Tweadt, South Dakota State College; Richard Maloney, and Alvin Murphy, South Dakota University; Paul Cash, Creighton; Allan M. Hoscher, Des Moines University; Edward K. Thompson and Robert Seungard, University of North Dakota. Morningside College delegates were unable to attend the annual meeting.

MILLARD ELECTED RIFLE CLUB HEAD

Ronnie Millard was elected president of the college rifle club at a meeting held last week.

Elery Young becomes vice-president. Captain Albert E. Andrews was named executive officer; Mercade Cramer, treasurer, Sergeant William Hanson, secretary were other officers elected.

There was a membership of 108 students up to Thursday with more students joining. Daily instruction on the range will begin Monday. Members are asked by Captain Andrews to see him for regular practice assignments.

The range has again been rebuilt. New indirect lighting and latest type of targets, and target holders have been installed.

A sure bait for Big Marks!

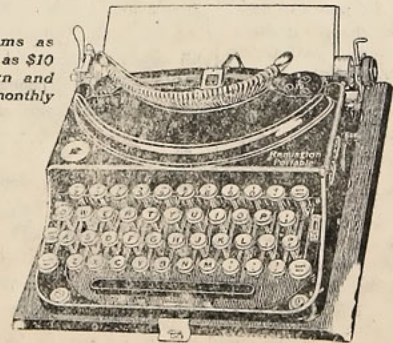

THE chances are, everything else being equal, that the neatly typewritten report or thesis will be marked higher than hand-written work. The pros, like every one else, appreciate clearly legible work, and unconsciously it creates a better impression.

The Remington Portable is always ready to help you get the best marks you can. It is the simplest, fastest, and easiest to operate of all portables. Weighs but 8½ pounds, net, and the carrying case is only 4 inches high, so that the machine can be put away in a drawer when not in use. All these features plus the four-row standard keyboard.
