CORPS TO MARCH MEMORIAL DAY

UNIT, BAND, BUGLE AND DRUM CORPS ASKED TO PARTICIPATE BY MEMORIAL DAY OFFICIALS.

Memorial Day exercises next Monday will find most of the uptown organizations participating. Various military units will march in the parade to be held in the afternoon.

Cadet officers of the college battalion voted unanimously to participate in the exercises. "Doc" Putnam has assented to turn out the band and bugle and drum corps.

"The expressed sentiment, although Monday is a school holiday," stated Captain Smith, "Was that the people in Fargo for the way they had supported the students' military unit in its late activities, were entitled to see the colleg corps completely armed and equipped as for inspection."

It was also suggested, by the student officers, that the personnel of our school should show a little of the spirit of sacrifice of those whose memory we are consecrating that day. Memorial Day is one of the few remaining holidays that should not entirely be give nup to recreation and pleasure.

Assembly hour at the college will be at 1:25 p. m. the column will march at 1:30.

"This will not impose any undue hardship on various students that are contemplating week end trips to the lakes and towns nearby," said Capt. Smith, "But students that cannot possibly attend, will report to the office of the P. M. S. & T. for proper excuse, prior to Saturday noon."

EDUCATION CLUB PICNIC ON TUESDAY

Y.M.C.A.'S WIN, RHOS SPIN SCORE DIAL AT HULETT'S COST

KAPPA PHI'S AND GAMMA RHO'S CLASH TUESDAY IN TITLE GAME; TEAMS TIED.

The winners of the campus baseball league will be determined next Tuesday afternoon, June 1, when the Alpha Gamma Rho and Kappa Phi fraternities will meet on Dacotah Field. Both teams finished the season without a defeat. "Dutch" Hermes and Adolph Wahl will be the battery for the Kappa Phi's, while "Bill" Toussaint and John Mach will comprise the Gamma Rho battery.

In two Campus League slugfests, Monday and Wednesday, the Y. M. C. A. nine chalked up their first win of the season, by eliminating the Sigma Tau crew from the lead 19 to 8; and the Gamma Rhos, last years champs, socked Hulett, Delta Pi moundsman, for 18 safe hits and easily downed his in Monday's game when they put four runs across the rubber in the first frame. The Y. M. C. A. retaliated with three and a home run by Wahl in the second tied the count 4-4. The non-fraternity men forged ahead in the third scoring three more while the masterful pitching of Petri kept the Taus waiting the atmosphere. In the fourth the Sigma Tau aggregation managed to cross the platter but the enemy did the same, making the score 8 to 5 in their favor. Neither team scored in the fifth and in the sixth both scored thrice. With the count 11 to 8 the Y. M. C. A. coupled four walks with five hits including a double and a triple, and chalked up 8 more to end their act 19-8. Petri struck out three of four batters that faced him in the Tau half of the seventh and it was all over.

Had it not been for Hulett's single in the sixth inning of the Delta Pi-Gamma Rho battle, Toussaint would have chalked up the goal of all hurlers the no-hit, no-run game. Hulett's bingle spoiled it all for the Rho hurler, even the 28 to 0 victory. At the end of the second inning the score was 12 to 0 and Mach's men were still stringing out triples, doubles, and singles to all parts of the field. When the fifth became a past it was 16 to 0 and the Rhos were getting warm. In the sixth they piled up their "first score" reaching the 20 mark. In the seventh Hanson became boisterous and clouted out a homer in his glee. This and five other clouts kept the Gamma team wel on their way to 30 when Mike Sullivan, contrary to Mach's orders, struck out and ended it up at 28.

NOTICE.

The Bison office will be open Memorial Day for students who have not obtained their books. Some students have failed to appear for their copies since their distribution and they are urged by the Bison staff to get them at once. After Monday the Bison will be placed on sale.

Signed: CARRIE DOLPHIN.

ROTH VISITS AT THETA CHI HOUSE DURING WEEK

Frank "Abie" Ross, graduate of the college, visited at the Theta Chi house during the week. Frank Roth formerly was principal and coach at the Glendive, Mont. high school. BISON TRACKMEN GO TO SIOUX CITY

FULLER AND ZEISSLER ENTER CONFERENCE MEET; SOUTH DAKOTA "U" FAVORITE.

Coach Cortright left Thursday for Sioux City and the North Central conference field and track meet, with Herman Zeissler and Theodore Fuller. Karl Schulze, Ernie and Dick Stout preceded the trackmen, to enter the tennis events scheduled for Thursday.

Zeissler has been entered in the broad and high jumps and also the low hurdles.

Ted Fuller will make a strong bid for the high hurdles event and will also enter the high jump.

All of the eight conference colleges have entered the Morningside meet, with South Dakota University a strong favorite to again repeat. The coyotes totaled 43 points last year against a 40-point total by Creighton. North Dakota University, entering a strong delegation of cinder stars, took third last year with 20 points. Creighton will be another strong entrant this year.

The Coyotes' latest indication of strength was their winning a dual meet from South Dakota trackmen, 73 to 58 last Saturday. Simultaneously the Nodaks were galloping off with the honors in the Bison met.

The conference champions still retain their last year's stars in Sterling, and Stanton Clark, Jacquith, Harney and others.

In the Coyote-Bunny meet, Montgomery's men made a clean sweep of the 100, 220, and 440 yard dashes, the pole vault and the high jump, with the State's crew doing likewise in the mile run.

Kelly, for State, made the high hurdles in 16 flat. In the low barriers Clark, for the University, took first in 26 seconds, with Kelly and Baker of state, taking second. Kelly also took first in the javelin with 154 feet and 1 inch.

MOONLIGHT MEET FOR FROSH SHOWS POTENTIAL STARS

JUNIORS ADD FINAL IMPETUS TO PADDLE OFFENSIVE OF SOPHOMORES; MANY CASUALTIES IN FROSH RANKS.

When Abd-El-Krim came out of his mountain fastnesses Wednesday to surrender, the frosh decided to follow suit. One of the bitterest internecine struggles on the campus ended Wednesday noon. It was only after several Juniors unlimbered aged paddles and limbs that the green ones realized the futility of further struggle.

Ultimatums appeared Tuesday morning when green 29's glared from the walks before Main and at the college gates. Mobilization orders appeared on the bulletin board shortly after. By 12:45 matters were coming to a head.

Hans Tronnes, the magnanimous blond-haired president of the first year men proffered collaboration with Fred Sorkness and his Sophomores in cleaning off the unpleasant lettering. Sorkness scorned the offer. The odds were even 3 to 1, and after a sharp encounter, the outnumbered Sophomores dispersed. Sorkness sought refuge in the dairy building and only by commandeering a Ford was he able to escape. Thereafter, the frosh foraged from one building to the next in search of enemy stragglers. Their vengeance was short and sweet in each case.

With approach of nightfall Sorkness rallied his forces. The Sophomores in turn rifled every fraternity house and possible refuge of a frosh to gather up a score or more of the green army. By 9:30, familiar scraping sounds with occasional staccato interruptions breaking the drone might be heard by the administration building. At 1:30 a. m., the Dakota clay supply gave out and the Sophomores with their prey convened to Dacotah Field.

Each frosh was regaled in a pair of track socks and when the starter's gun sounded one of the Bison school's most nique track meets was on. Several records were set.

Early the next morning, hostilities recommenced. By 7:30 frosh and sops might be seen gathering at the main gate. Shortly after, the hand to hand struggle on the green, with Marshal Cramer nowhere in sight, waged. Until 9:30 the issue was in question. The frosh again reverted to scouring activities before the main building. Reinforcements from Science hall for the green army were cut off and another hot but bitter conflict ensued. It required all of Professor Smith's mathematical genius to untangle the battlers. Hostilities were thereafter confined to "Main."

A lull intervened the morning and after dinner actions. The final battle brought many casualties. As the final charge was made the "sops" threw in their reinforcements. Allen "Firpo" Keltner, a senior, arranged for armistice and mediation. Civilization again resumes her slow onward plod and but a row of caps, their owners lost, remain draping the bulletin board to record the high watermark of the embattled frosh.

THE FINALE.

With this edition of The Spectrum, the present editor draws to a close his career as the head of a college publication.

It is with the greatest of regret, and still somewhat of a feeling of pleasure that this career has ended. The labors of editing a college paper twice each week are burdensome, but the thought that more good could not have been accomplished under his regime leaves a feeling of regret in departing. His success or failure as the head of the college publication is to be judged by those who should judge, the students.

The failure of the editor is in a large measure due to his own neglect or carelessness, while his success, if there be any, must be credited to those who assisted him so ably, the staff members.

Commendation is due the outstanding members of the present, staff, namely, Ruth Von Sien, Rebecca Keene, Stewart Schlipf, Wallace Matson, Richard Hackenberg, Jay Bryant, Everett Wallum, Margaret Casselman, Charlotte Blake, Clyde Barks, Helen Hoover and Craig Montgomery, and on the business staff, Paul Revell and Earl Hendrickson. Their efforts have made the labors of issuing the publication less burdensome, and are never to be forgotten acts of gratitude.

The members of the staff are all well known to the college students, but there is one phase of the process of issuing the publication with which the students are not familiar, nor are they familiar with the personnel, that of the printing and makeup. The editor wishes to express his gratitude for many of the services performed by O. C. Stadden and Harry Rusch, members of the Rusch Printing Co., which handles the printing of the publication.

To the Board of Publications Control, much credit is due for the manner in which they have performed their duties, for their task, like that of so many other student boards is a thankless one.

Errors and misprints often creep into the paper. These are only typical of those which creep into the most closely scrutinized of large publications, and can neither be laid to the printer nor the editorial staff.

The purpose of any paper, whether daily, weekly, urban or rural, is to contribute something worthwhile toward the development and betterment of the community which it serves. It has been just this that the present editor bent many of his efforts toward. To a certain extent he has been successful, while other proffered ventures failed miserably.

The revision of the present constitution of the Student Commission was brought about largely through the urging of such a move by The Spectrum, while the abolition of Gay Cat Day in the fall to a more suitable time in the spring was brought about likewise. Perhaps it is a breach of etiquette for the editor to sing his own praises in such a manner, but this is not the purpose for which the illustrations are made. They only serve to demonstrate that the college publication has its duties, and are concrete proof that good can be accomplished in the editorial columns of the college publication, as well as in the columns of the large urban dailies.

Dailies, and weeklies, for that matter, are to a large extent supported by political organizations. But, the college publication has no political debts to pay, and must as a result deviate from such procedure.

The editor, upon at least one occasion, has been accused, unjustly he believes, of stooping to boost his own fraternity by means unavailable to members of other organizations.

Fraternity politics are one of the most distasteful things of all college life to the editor, and he is of the belief that they are, at their worst, only petty. He has at least tried to "shoot" square with every organization on the campus, but conditions unknown to those outside the realm of the publication made it near impossible to do justice to all organizations alike.

Members of fraternities and sororities know their own organization better than they know similar organizations. Time would not permit him to query the individual organization before each edition, and reports were sometimes meager, imagination having to be called upon frequently to get material out of which to mould a worthwhile article.

The average college man or woman is too far seeing to resort to such a course as has been illustrated. It is sincerely hoped that the students will see this in the same light as the editor, and whenever such an article may appear in the future which may seem a little too much on the political type, they will overlook the incident, remembering the while that circumstances may alter the case appreciably.

If, under the present head, the Spectrum has been improved, the outgoing head only hopes that his successor and his staff may do even more, and put the paper on an equal basis with the truly great institution it represents, the North Dakota Agricultural College, which attains its greatness from its makeup, its students and its faculty.

Architects Spend Six Days Viewing Twin City Sights

STUDENTS VISIT NOTABLE BUILDINGS, STUDY ARCHITECTURE; RETURN TUESDAY.

After touring St. Paul and Minneapolis for a week, the architects returned to the campus Tuesday night to discover that the Student Commission had incorporated a street cleaning department. The frosh were scrubbing, and symbolic of their misfortune, the architects brought home for them a gigantic black cat meowing in fitful agony.

Professor Alvin E. Rigg with 12 architecture students left Fargo Wednesday morning and arrived in the cities at 8:30 that evening. They stayed at the St. Paul Y. M. C. A. during their study tour of the city.

Thursday morning was spent in visiting the banks, Union depot, library. The afternoon was spent at the state capitol building. The architects climbed the 263 steps into the dome and otherwise exploited their energies. The capitol with its dome is 233 feet in height and was designed by Cass Gilbert. Mr. Gilbert, incidentally, is the designer of the local Northern Pacific depot and also of a Moorhead church.

St. Paul's new auditorium is reported an excellent architectural engineering feat by the students. Swinging inner walls in the structure adapt the building to any size of audience. The Minnesota State Historical society, a museum, was also visited.

Friday, St. Paul's Cathedral, was visited. The altar of the church is said to have cost alone three million dollars, being of solid bronze. The cathedral dome rises 186 feet into the air.

In the afternoon, the architects made the rounds at the University of Minnesota, spending much of their time in the architectural department.

Saturday Summit Avenue, St. Paul's noted residential district was surveyed. Also a Presbyterian church, Church of Hope, noted for its windows of stained glass was visited. The afternoon was spent at St. Catherine's college, a school for girls.

By Sunday, the architects were still in the sight-seeing mood and the Federal Reserve bank, of Egyptian architecture and others were visited.

The party visited at the Alpha Rho Chi fraternity, University of Minnesota and were their dinner guests.

Monday morning was spent at the Ford plant and with visiting other parts of the cities.

Tuesday, Prof. Rigg started with his party for the Stillwater prison. After completing a tour of the prison they left for home in the afternoon.

Besides capturing the gargantuan black cat, the architects brought back the keys to the city of St. Paul and also one of seven lamps of architecture. The keys are said to have been presented to them by the mayor. They may be seen with the cat at the architects' work rooms.

Students who made the trip are: Avery Chadwick, Heber Waldron, Marlin Hutchinson, Walter Olson, John Wolfe, Phillip Keene, Knute Henning, Sylvester Horgan, Gordon Bestic, William Shine, Sanford Munson and Leonard Reager.

SIGNS OF SPRING.

The faculty is busy,
The student heaves a sigh.
The janitor quits heaving coal,
The dates are stacked up high.

The cricket chirps a lusty chirp,
No worldly cares has he.
He bites the moth right in the leg,
Then hums most sillily.

Between the entrance and the Main
A dizzy freshman stands.
A healthy chunk of sophomore hair
Is clutched right in his hands.

An edifice, ahead is parked,
The way it's built is clever.
No storm or shower can change our
Rae,
He's just as fat as ever.

You glance at Ceres Hall, amazed.
What is that awful roar?
It takes no Sherlock Holmes to find
'Tis but a girly's snore.

The college book store, next in line
A girl is fast asleep!
With three Oh Henry's in her hand
Her company to keep.

Bending over her book of green,
Our Carrie Dolphin's fonud.
Her eyes can't note the presence of
The pop bottles all around.

The Post Office is active too,
Especially the post.
The office is working hard
To see who slumbers most.

You marvel at the statue
Right by the library,
For when compared to most of us
It has agility.

They say that "Rip" lost 20 years
A sleeping peacefully.
But the tower clock, since spring
has come,
Has lost most twenty-three.

Why, there is, dozing, John Blair,
Who scarcely move sat all.
But this don't really startle us,
He's just the same at fall.

Why even Richard Hackenberg,
Who talks of everything,
Will stop his raving just to yawn—
Grand Canyon, Ding! Ding!

You wouldn't think that Becky
Keene,
This deadly fever feels.
She used to study all the time
But now she stops for meals.

And here and there you'll find an egg
Who'll cry most dizzily
That it isn't really very hot—
It's just humidity.

Before you've gotten quite this far
You must be soundly sleeping.
So please moev over, Algernon,
My eyes are scarcely peeping.

We pay $2,340 a pound for the Tip alone—selected Iridium—hardest metal known.

We fuse it by hand into a point of Gold, and polish it to jewel-like smoothness.

We skilfully temper the point to yield to any hand, yet resume its original shape, so no style of writing can distort it.

It is magnified many diameters, and five times inspected by Parker experts.

Barrel of Rich Black and Gold, or Black-tipped Lacquer-red—handsome to own, hard to mislay.

Try the Parker Duofold at any good pen counter.
