NUMBER 34

BISON TO ENTER A. A. U. MEET

CYRIL ARNOLD IS NAMED SENIOR BALL HEAD WEDNESDAY

COMMITTEES APPOINTED TO ACT ON PINS AND RINGS AND FOR PRESENTATION OF REMEMBRANCE BY CLASS.

Cyril Arnold of Fargo was chosen as manager for the 1926 Senior Ball at a meeting of the senior class held Wednesday afternoon in the Little Country Theatre. Mr. Arnold yesterday afternoon appointed Tom Regan of Devils Lake, his closest competitor in the election, his assistant.

Other business taken up at the meeting consisted of discussion on rings and pins and of the traditional presentation to the college of some remembrance of the graduating class.

President Ben Rumpeltes was named as chairman of the committee to investigate pins and rings for the class. Grace Ross and Tom Regan were named as his assistants. Frank Leakey, Ernest Anderson and Edith Skurdall were appointed on the committee to act on a suitable presentation to be made by class to the college.

PROFESSOR O'NEIL SPEAKS AT TUESDAY CONVOCATION

The hour of convocation held Tuesday morning at 9:40 was notable in that the speaker of the occasion was Professor O'Neil, Professor of Rhetoric and Public Speaking at the University of Wisconsin. Professor O'Neil addressed the student body on the subject of the importance of speech in education. In beginning his talk, Professor O'Neil expressed his pleasure in being the guest of Professor Arnold personally, and to observe the famous Little Country Theatre had at last been realized. Continuing with his lecture, Professor O'Neil spoke of education as consisting of two divisions, the "museum" type, where information is merely stored, and the "stage" type, where powers and abilities are actually developed. We were reminded that speech, in its four phases of thought, language, voice and action, is man's first and universal method of reaction to his environment.

It was illustrated that the common school system of favoring and developing talented individuals, to the detriment and neglect of the less favored persons, was very wrong and harmful when applied in the department of public speaking. Professor O'Neil illustrated to his audience that in matters of speech correction and training, assistance should be administered to the needs of the great crowd, and that much of improvement and social betterment would result when activity had been properly directed in this way.

SENIOR MEETING HELD TUESDAY

At 3:45 p. m. Tuesday, members of the Senior Class met for a business meeting at which it was decided to have a party for the seniors and their friends the evening of March 12. Seniors, get prepared for this dance. No such excuses as, "I can't dance," will be accepted, for if you can't dance in your senior year, is there any chance of your learning in those future days when you will be rocking your grandchildren on your knee?

ALL COLLEGE DANCE IN ARMORY TONIGHT

CARNIVAL FEATURE PROMISED FOR ANNUAL STUDENT COMMISSION PARTY.

Members of the student commission will be hosts at an all college dancing party from 8:30 to 11:30 this evening in the college Armory.

Miss Dorothy Stoudt and George Bairey compose the committee in charge of the party. According to the committee a carnival feature, which will remain unannounced, will be one of the outstanding parts of the dance. Music will be furnished by Lindquist's six-piece orchestra.

All students of the college are privileged to attend this party, which is an annual affair sponsored by the student governing body.

SIGMA TAU FOUNDERS CELEBRATION SATURDAY

A banquet and theatre party will be the main features of the Alpha Sigma Tau's celebration of the second anniversary of their founding. At 5:45 Saturday evening the banquet will be held at the College Y with Vice President Raymond Fischer presiding in place of President Llewellyn Howell who is absent on a debate trip.

Short talks will be given by Captain W. W. Millard and Professor W. T. Rolfe, for the honorary members, Thomas Canniff for the actives, and Cyril King for the pledges. The fraternity flower and the colors, rose and gray, will form the predominating note in the decorations.

Following the banquet the entire fraternity will attend the Beach Stock company's performance of "Lightnin'" at the Orpheum. The arrangements for the anniversary celebration are in charge of Thomas Canniff.

This is the first celebration of Founder's Day by the fraternity but it is expected to make this an annual affair. Alpha Sigma Tau was chartered on the campus March 6, 1924. Four of the eleven charter members are still active members of the fraternity.

DOROTHY STOUTT IS CHOSEN PROM QUEEN

Miss Dorothy Stoudt of Fargo, a junior in the School of Home Economics, has been chosen as prom queen by Elery Young, manager of the annual Junior Prom, which will be held in the college Armory on the evening of Friday, April 9.

STUDENT COMMISSION ANNUAL ELECTION

MEMBERS OF ATHLETIC AND PUBLICATIONS BOARDS TO BE MADE AT SAME TIME—CONSTITUTION REVISION PROPOSED.

Annual election of officers for the Student Commission will be held next Friday from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m., according to word given out by Allan S. Keltner, commissioner of elections, yesterday.

Besides members of the student commission, two boards are to be named, the Student Board of Control of Publications, and Athletic Board.

Members of the commission to be elected include a president, commissioners of public speaking, judiciary, athletics, campus, elections, social affairs, and finance.

According to the constitution of the commission, the president must be in the last half of his junior year at the time of election. The commissioners of judiciary, public speaking, and athletics must be pursuing the last half of their sophomore year.

The commissioners of campus, elections, social affairs, and finances may be chosen from any of the classes.

The board of publications vacancies to be filled are, composed of one junior, two sophomores, and one freshman, all to be members of these classes at the time of election.

Three members of the athletic board are also to be named, members of which may be chosen from any of the three lower classes.

According to Mr. Keltner, it is also probable that a revision of the constitution will be voted upon at the annual election. In view of the fact that a constitution revision is to be made, Mr. Keltner emphatically expressed that it will be necessary for all students to vote in order that squabbles which have come up in the past as an aftermath may be eliminated, many claiming that enough students did not vote.

INDEPENDENTS LEAD GIRL'S COURT LOOP

PLAY IN LOOP WILL BE COMPLETED WITH FINAL GAMES ON WEDNESDAY.

The Delta Phi Beta team defeated the Sigma Theta six by a 10-6 majority in the first game played in the girls' campus basketball league Monday. At half time the Thetas led, but the Betas started a steady march forward until the score was six all and continued until the final whistle. The Kappa Deltas defeated the inexperienced Phi Kappa Lambdas 17-1 in the second start. Morris was the high point getter for the Kappa Deltas, while Sjordal did the best work for the Lambdas.

In Tuesday's start, the Independents tangled with the Phi Omega PIs and won by a margin of 15-12. The teams were well matched and the contest was interesting. The Thetas trounced the Kappa Deltas to the tune of 9-6. Wednesday the Independents again gained a 15-12 victory, this time over the Delta Phi Beta team. The score of the Phi Pi and Lambda game does not indicate the fight that the Lambdas put up, the Phi PIs getting the long end of the 26-6 game. The tourney will be completed next Wednesday.

FINAL EXAMINATIONS TO START SATURDAY, MAR. 20

Final examinations for the winter term will commence Saturday morning, March 20. Monday and Tuesday, March 22 and 23, will be utilized to finish up the final examinations. Registration for the spring term may be completed starting Monday of next week.

DISTRICT MEET OPENS TODAY

FARGO, FAIRMOUNT, BUFFALO AND WAHPETON QUINTS TO COMPETE FOR HONORS.

Fargo, Buffalo, Wahpeton and Fairmount quint, survivors in sub-district play in the first district, will meet at the Armory this week end for the right to represent the first district at the State tourney at Mandan March 19 and 20.

Fargo and Buffalo survived the play in the sub-district play held at the Armory last Friday and Saturday, while Wahpeton and Fairmount survived the play at Wahpeton.

The opening round will commence at 2:30, with the second game of the round at 3:30. The consolation play for the two teams eliminated will take place at 7:30 Saturday night, with the finals at 8:30.

Members of the football squad which represented the Bison on the gridiron last fall will be awarded their letters between the consolation and final games on Saturday. Faculty members of the athletic board and Dr. Coulter will make the awards. Dr. Hallenberg, a non-faculty member, will also assist.

Immediately following the final game the Bisonites will hold an informal dance to which all students, faculty members and high school students are invited to attend.

SYSTEM MADE FOR RIFLE AWARDS

SHOOTERS TO BE AWARDED LETTERS ON POINT BASIS WORKED OUT BY ANDREWS.

Awarding of letters to members of the Rifle club or team on a point basis has been worked out by Captain Andrews. The emblems, which have tentatively been planned as a design of a target, in black and yellow with green letters, superimposed, are to be awarded to the ten highest scorers in range competition throughout the year.

Points will be credited on the following basis: those finishing first, second and third in each match will each receive ten points; the next three in order get eight; seventh and eighth places and ninth and tenth bring six and five points respectively. The remainder of the team rate each four points. In five-man matches, each place credits points inversely to its position. Where tie scores conflict, the order of standing, kneeling, sitting and prone shooting scores will rule.

Boyd Cormany, a former student, is leaving for Butte, Mont., next week where he has accepted a position with a fruit stand.

CORTRIGHT QUINT TO MAKE BID FOR NATIONAL HONORS

YELLOW AND GREEN WARRIORS ONLY QUINT IN N. C. I. INVITED TO PARTICIPATE IN TOURNEY AT KANSAS CITY.

By Dick Hackenberg.

The Thundering Herd will thunder again! Not satisfied with closing their season at the top of the North Central standings, Blakely's bunch are going after the national championship in the A. A. U. meet at Kansas City March 15-20. Coach Cortright wired his acceptance yesterday and practice has been resumed to get the Bison basketballers into shape for the tough session.

Eight Men To Go.

Up to this time the Bison are the only N. C. I. team to be invited to the tournament. This invitation is an honor extended to few, and justifies the Bison claims to the conference title. Cortright will take his eight lettermen with him in an effort to bring home the national championship. Between 25 and 35 teams are entered in the Kansas City tourney and none of them are what might be called easy. Only teams of worth are chosen by the tourney directors.

The eight men who will make the trip are: Miller, Arnold, Blakely, Thompson, Newgard, Rumpeltes, McPherson and Hansen. Since the trip conflicts with the final examinations, the players will be required to take their exams before leaving. No next season's captain will be elected until after the return of the squad, Cortright said.

Business Men Behind Trip.

The Amateur Athletic Union will pay all expenses while the team is in Kansas City and a substantial amount for road expenses. Considerable more is needed for the latter expense, but the business men of Fargo are behind the team and contribution lists have been started at both the Nestor and Grand parlors for those who wish to donate small amounts to the cause.

The Bison should be the most colorful team entered in the championship meet. There is no doubt that sorrel-topped Red Blakely will be outstanding among the teams not only because of the characteristic tinge of his hair but because of his excellent ball-handling. Cy Arnold's sensational long-range shooting, and Miller's guarding and dribbling should distinguish the herd in their first battle.

Bison Show Great Form.

The Bison showed million-dollar form in practice Wednesday with the Frosh quint. Uncanny accuracy at the hoop and speedy floor work together with new out-of-bounds plays featured the scrimmage.

Loop Title Still in Dispute.

Altho the Bison finished their season at the top of the standing in the North Central loop, there is still a dispute as to whether or not they should be awarded the title. According to a conference ruling the Bison have not played enough teams in the loop to cop the honor. The decision will be made at the spring session of the directors, it was announced recently. Coach Cortright will get the opinion of each mentor in the conference before the spring meeting opens and if the result is satisfactory he will de-

A COMMENDABLE SPIRIT.

The action of Dr. C. S. Putnam, director of the Gold Star Band, and the members of the band in taking care of the members of the University of North Dakota Band while here on Friday and Saturday, is a spirit which is truly commendable.

A convention in progress in Fargo prevented many of the members from getting rooms at hotels, and in order that all of them might have a place in which to sleep, Dr. Putnam called on the fraternity houses to do what they could to care for them. The fraternity quarters came far from caring for all of the 52 members, and the members of the Gold Star Band then exhibited the kind of spirit they maintain by caring for whom they could at their homes.

When the fraternity houses and the members had filled their homes it was found that there were still eleven members of the University Band who had no quarters in which to sleep. Doc at once got busy and took cots from the Barracks and quartered the eleven members in the Music Hall.

The 52 members had all been cared for, but the director of the band still had no place to stay, and, despite the rivalry existing between the two bands, Dr. Putnam took Mr. Strickling, the Nodak director, to his home, and the two rival directors slept in the same bed.

Bison spirit saw that Nodaks were cared for, the Nodaks were guests, and Bison students treat their guests as guests.

MR. LOCKLIN TAKES NOTICE!

C. D. Locklin, sports editor of the Grand Forks Herald, seems to be getting a great deal of amusement out of the "crying" Ion Cortright has done on the Nodak victories.

If this said sports writer would take notice of the fact that there are few if any who can equal him at the unpopular pastime of crying over losses.

He makes certain in his writeup of the last game that readers of his writeup notices that Thompson and Blakely, high scorers in the first game, were held in check the second game. It seemed to make little difference, for Ben Rumpeltes, Arnold and Claudie Miller came through in the last game to cop high scoring honors. He noted this.

This was not just a trick of fate, Mr. Locklin; the Bison have performed this trick all season. Every one of the seven men whom Cortright has used in the majority of his games were high point gatherers in at least one contest prior to meeting the Nodaks.

A few of the other mistakes which he makes in his comments can be refuted by honest statistics on file in Coach Cortright's office. Among these are facts that prove that the Bison had many more close shots than the Nodaks, these short shots coming on both the Bison and Nodak floors. We're not crying. We saw the best team win at Grand Forks, and we also saw a much superior team win at Fargo.

Lim'rick Contest

The judges suffered a relapse from their former disagreeing tendencies, and only two votes were needed to deduce the winning last line. This is a sign of a great peace among judicial bodies, and, also, that great minds do run in the same channels—occasionally. This is the result:

"My hopes are very, very high,"
 Said Carrie, "as the day draws nigh,
 When o'er the horizon
 You'll see our Bison
 Every page will satisfy."

And again Jay Bryant won against keen competition in submitting the above line. The contest was noteworthy in that every contestant submitted lines correct in meter and clever in thought. "If you like it, tell 'Em' and I," was Dick Hackenberg's contrite suggestion. Charlotte Blake, a new entrant in the contest, caused favorable comment with: "Watch our 'ads' for the place to buy." Robert Billings' masterpiece, "Let the rest of the school go buy," went over one of the judge's head like a hair net, but demanded consideration nevertheless.

Only two contests remain before the Bison of 1927 presents the $15 to the lucky contestant. Besides that stupendous amount is the winner's picture in the annual, and the coming $2 monthly prize. One last line at this stage of the game may mean all this fame and fortune for you. Is it worth trying? Rush your answers to the following lim'rick by 4 o'clock tonight:

When rem'bring the fast Bison crew,
 There are four certain Seniors, who
 For what they have shown
 Will ever be known?—

Indoor Track to Start.

Coach Ion J. Cortright has issued a call for teams to enter an indoor baseball tournament to be held in the armory the week of March 8th. Any class, club, department, fraternity or any organization is eligible to compete providing that the members of the team are students of the college. There must be at least ten men to each team.

After the interscholastic district basketball tournament here today and tomorrow the bleachers will be taken down and the floor will be marked for indoor track, tennis and baseball. The coach wants all sprinters, hurdlers, shot putters, high jumpers and men who wish to improve their form in running, to come out regularly until the outdoor season opens. An inter-class indoor track meet will be held March 20th.

Singing was judged on the basis of interpretation and choral effect and in order for a class to qualify for the contest it is necessary for seventy-five per cent of the number to be present, according to the rules laid down by the founder. This year all classes satisfied the attendance requirement.

Dear Madam: Of course you have a chance to get married. I know a good many women who would trade their men for the canary if you wouldn't want too much boot. Of course if the canary is a good singer, I wouldn't think of trading. By the way, that picture you sent me of the battlefields of the civil war was good. Write again.

The World's Loudest Voice

On the rolling plains of South Schenectady, in several scattered buildings, is a vast laboratory for studying radio broadcasting problems. Gathered here are many kinds and sizes of transmitters, from the short-wave and low-power sets to the giant super-power unit with a 50- to 250-kilowatt voice.

Super-power and simultaneous broadcasting on several wave lengths from the same station are among the startling later-day developments in radio. And even with hundreds of broadcasting stations daily on the air throughout the land, these latest developments stand for still better service to millions of listeners.

Only five years old, yet radio broadcasting has developed from a laboratory experiment into a mighty industry. And alert, keen young men have reaped the rewards.

But history repeats itself. Other electrical developments will continue to appear. And it will be the college man, with broad vision and trained mind, who will be ready to serve and succeed.

From the studio of WGY in Schenectady, six miles from the developmental station, there may be controlled a great number of transmitters, one of which is the first super-power transmitter in the world. WGY, together with its associates, KOA of Denver and KGO of Oakland, is the General Electric Company's assurance to the American public that radio broadcasting shall be maintained upon the highest standards.

A new series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for booklet GEK-1.

Blissful Ignorance: Oh, so you're attending the Cow college, are you?

Beautiful but Dumb: Please, sir, don't call us the Cow college. Yes (deep sighing), it's true that we have a school of agriculture here, but it's forced upon us and we wouldn't have it if we could help it. Besides the Ag. students are sadly in the minority in more ways than one.

Curtain.

We Ag. students are getting tired of being apologized for. This school was founded as a College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts and as such we should rather apologize for the Schools of Science and Literature, Education, etc., which have crept in. These schools, which were put here primarily for the use of the Ags. and Engineers are now apologizing for having us around the school.

We're not ashamed of the industry which furnishes eighty per cent of the wealth of our state nor should anyone be. Altogether too many of you are ready to walk around in clothes (the materials in which were raised by the farmers), sit down and gorge yourselves with food raised by the farmer, go out and spend money which was probably made in agricultural pursuits, and then within five minutes apologize for agriculture. We who have chosen to live in one of the greatest agricultural states in the Union should certainly boost agriculture for our own good.

Now having waxed hotly on the subject between scenes we are ready for Scene II.

Verne Archer, a graduate from the School of Agriculture, says, "Most of the people throughout this state think that Agriculture is the only course offered here, although there are other departments just as great. A change in name would not lessen the importance of the Agriculture department, it should benefit by the change. The N. D. U. enrollment is increasing more rapidly than the enrollment here because our name is a drawback."

"The school is laboring under a handicap with the present name," Stewart Schlipf remarked. "We aren't ashamed of the name, but the name carries a wrong impression. I am heartily in favor of the change."

Philip Nelson, Agriculture student, believes that 90 per cent of the high school students of this state imply from the present name that Agriculture is the only course offered here. A change in name would bring increased enrollment.

M. A. Cramer, an enthusiastic journalist, offers an effective way of changing the name. He said: "Every student should always refer to this school as the State College. If the students want the name changed they can put it across by a united effort. If Agricultural college is not used, except where official obligations arise, the name will soon die out. Resolve today to always say North Dakota STATE."

Ion J. Cortright, Athletic Director, is much in favor of us adopting the name, STATE college. "The name is shorter and can be better used by officials and by opponents. The present name is long, so it is shortened by opponents into names which are anything but complimentary. There isn't anything students are more susceptible to than ridicule." Mr. Cortright, a graduate from Michigan A. C., informed us that the alumni, faculty and student body were practically unanimous in voting for changing the name of his Alma Mater to Michigan State, last year. He concluded, "Only seven state institutions in the United States have retained the name 'Agricultural college,' and all these seem to be considering a change of name. The trend of thought for this college, city and state favors a change. Let's not be the last institution to adopt a new name."

A. H. Parrott, Registrar, states: "I am heartily in favor of changing the name to State College. Such a step in other states: Michigan Agricultural college, the oldest of all the land grant colleges, has recently made the change. Of the fifty-one land grant institutions for white people, listed by the U. S. Bureau of Education, only the colleges of Colorado, Connecticut, Kansas, Massachusetts, North Dakota, Oregon, South Carolina and Utah in any way retain the restricted name and of these Connecticut, Massachusetts and very largely Utah are offering very little besides agriculture in their curricula. Kansas has the name 'State' inserted before the word agriculture and passes as Kansas State College. Outside of ourselves, then, there remain only Colorado, Oregon and South Carolina which retain the restricted name and none of these has apparently developed such strong curricula in the sciences, notably in chemistry, as we have.

"The inclination to so generally abandon the restricted name undoubtedly comes from the realization that the Morrill Act which established and endowed these institutions, nowhere uses the restricted name. The Morrill Act places just as much emphasis on home economics, mechanic arts and the sciences as it does on agriculture—it is a protest against the futility of the old liberal arts type of education.

Also this movement toward changing recognizes the unfairness that the limited name imposes upon those who take their degrees in engineering, home economics, etc., from these so-called agricultural colleges.

"Locally, the movement should receive favorable consideration because of the eagerness with which those who could suppress the North Dakota Agriculture College in the advancement of another institution apply to it the epithet 'cow-college.' It is a form of competition that is simply not fair and one that every sense of justice to the institution demands shall be removed."
