JUNIOR PROM DATE AND COMMITTEES ARE NAMED BY MANAGER

EMERY YOUNG, PROM MANAGER, ANNOUNCES DATE FOR ANNUAL JUNIOR CLASS PARTY—FRIDAY, APRIL 9, IN ARMORY.

The Junior Prom, the largest social affair at the college during the school year and which is sponsored by the junior class, will be given this year on Friday, April 9. This announcement has just been made by the prom committees which were elected at a recent class meeting.

Emery Young has been elected prom manager and by virtue of his office will lead the grand march which will formally open the party. Emery T. Putnam, who has been named assistant prom manager, will be second in line.

Committees to arrange all the details of the affair are as follows: Carrie Dolphin and Eugene Fitzgerald, Fargo, publicity; Fred Byerley, Velva, music; Walter Boerth, Fargo, floor manager; Ruth Von Sien, Fargo, Patrons; Jesse Brenden, Fargo, effects; Erle Steen, Carson and Fordyce Heilman, Fargo, programs; Dorothy Stoult, Grace Bayliss, Beatrice Sjoquist, Fargo, refreshments; Chas. Bowers, Avery Chadwick, Knute Henning, Einar Smeby, Forrest Whedon, Fargo, Arthur Sailer, Stanton, M. A. Kramer, Marmarth, Wilfred Hurt, Kansas City, Mo., Walter Clausen, Bottineau, and Jorgen Birkeland, Warwick, decorations.

PAUL BLANSHARD REVIEWS CHINA

Six thousand miles for forty-five dollars are Russian excursion rates for crossing Siberia, according to Paul Blanshard, who addressed students and faculty members at convocation Friday morning after the tumult and shouting of a rally had subsided. Mr. Blanshard is Field Secretary of the League of Industrial Democracy of New York, a student of world labor problems, and globe trotter in general.

"There is no danger of war between Japan and the United States," said Blanshard, "if we do not heed headlines too much or flourish our navy under the noses of the Japanese too often. Japan is infinitely weaker and without strong friends."

The speaker stated that the Japanese student invariably asked him the question in substance "What about your immigration law?" According to the American investigator, should war ever come it will not be over the "race question", however; but over the rich province of Manchuria.

Turning to China, he dealt at length upon the Chinese student uprising against foreign domination in government and industry. The Shanghai university rebellion was the climax of a murder of a labor representative and a British officer's move of firing into an unarmed mob.

The cotton mills of Shanghai, foreign controlled, are run 23½ hours every day. There are two shifts with a fifteen minute rest period allotted for each. Six and seven year old natives work twelve and fifteen hours a day in match factories.

FEBRUARY "COLLEGE AND STATE" BEING MAILED.

February issues of "College and State", official bi-monthly publication of the college, are being mailed to present and former students this week. The February circulation is estimated at approximately 3,500.

The February issue contains a new style cover, and a new innovation in the magazine is made with the inauguration of "Everybody's Page", which is devoted to opinion of students or faculty members. T. W. Johnson, assistant professor of journalism is the editor.

BISON, NODAK RIFLEMEN TIE

BALLARD, OF BISON QUINT IS HIGH SCORER OF FEST WITH 363—GROSS HIGH NODAK.

Bison and Nodak riflemen engaged in a no decision shoot fest at the A. C. Armory Saturday afternoon, each quint shooting a 1,768 total.

The two teams will engage in their third meeting at the Bison range next Saturday. The Nodaks took the measure of the Bison riflemen when the two teams fired at the Nodak range a week ago.

Gross, Nodak rifleman, who went to the pits last Saturday with his team 10 points behind and pulled them through to a win by sensational shooting, was high scorer for the upstate quint with a mark of 346. Ballard of the Bison was high point maker for his five with a mark of 363.

ALPHA KAPPA PHI QUINT TAKES LEAD IN CAMPUS LEAGUE

ALPHA SIGMA TAUS PULL TAPPA KEGGS INTO SECOND PLACE BY DOWNING FORMER LEADERS THURSDAY, 29-28.

Alpha Kappa Phi quint of the Campus Basketball league lead the race for titular honors as a result of the second consecutive defeat for the Tappa Keggs on Thursday evening, the Alpha Sigma Tau five copping from the former league leaders, 29-28.

The Chemistry Club quint took an easy victory from the Pharmacy club, 20 to 7, leaving the pharmacists at the bottom of the loop. In the only other contest scheduled the Kappa Psi forfeited to the Alpha Gamma Rhos.

The second position is occupied by five quints, the five having a percentage of .600, three wins and a brace of losses making their standing.

Games scheduled for this week:

FARGO, BUFFALO QUINTS VICTORS

FINALS OF DISTRICT TO BE PLAYED IN ARMORY ON FRIDAY AND SATURDAY.

Fargo High School Midgets and the Buffalo high quint earned the right to enter the district tournament here March 5 and 6, when the former trimmed the scrappy Hope five on the armory floor Saturday afternoon by a 24-11 score, and Buffalo nosed out the Casselton five in an overtime period 23-21.

The first round of the event was played Friday afternoon. Casselton trounced Page 14-10, Buffalo whipped Hunter 26-8, and the Midgets swamped Tower City 35-17. Hope drew a bye in the initial eliminations. This Friday Fargo plays Buffalo, and Wahpeton plays Fairmount. The championship game will be played Saturday when the winners clash to decide the title. Friday and Saturday's games will be played in the armory.

NOTICE!

Members of the Student Commission will give their annual all-college party in the college armory on Friday evening, according to an announcement made by Dorothy Stoult, Commissioner of Social Affairs, yesterday. Hours will be from 8:30 to 11:30.

JACK KNAPP HAS VOLUME OF WORKS PUBLISHED.

A small volume of poems recently placed on sale at the bookstore has as its author, Jack Knapp, senior in the School of Science and Literature. Mr. Knapp, who has dabbled in play writing and stage work accomplishes not a little in his latest role of poet.

The booklet "As I Please" numbers between its covers several poems of descriptive value besides their showing here and there traces of philosophy.

DEBATE TEAMS TO HAVE BUSY WEEK

ONE TEAM TO LEAVE ON TRIP TODAY; ABERDEEN, MONTANA STATE HERE.

Debate teams of the college meet two opponents at home and two others away from the city this week. Today a team made up of Jorgen Birkeland, Wade Boardman, and Llewelyn Howell, accompanied by Professor A. G. Arvold, will leave to debate Carleton and St. Thomas teams. At Northfield Wednesday evening, the local debaters uphold the affirmative on the question: "Resolved, That the Child Labor amendment should be adopted." They have the negative side against St. Thomas at St. Paul.

The girls' team, made up of Robina Wylder, Dorothy Kretschmar, and Treasure Kuehl, meet the Aberdeen Normal team at the Little Country Theatre Wednesday evening at eight o'clock. The visiting girls team have the negative side of the question.

On Friday evening, a two man team from Montana State college debate the local men Victor Lindgren and Chester Ellickson. The Montanans uphold the affirmative.

GERTRUDE ELY TO GIVE ADDRESS HERE

Miss Gertrude Ely, director of political education among new voters, for the National League of Women Voters will deliver an address in Ceres Hall lecture room at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The address is sponsored by the local League of Women Voters, of which Miss Leone Sands is president.

Miss Ely is on a speaking tour of four middlewest states in interest of the league, and will give her second address at the Moorhead State Teachers college this evening.

The work which Miss Ely is on at present was taken over by her, although she has been connected with various phases of the work since her return from the world war.

SENIOR STUDENTS ACCEPT WESTINGHOUSE POSITION.

Tom E. Regan and Syvert Gunness, senior students in the department of mechanical engineering, were recently accepted by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company for admission to their technical graduate training course. The work that these men will take consists of testing all kinds of electrical equipment in the company's shops at Philadelphia followed by work in whatever department they may choose to specialize in.

TWO WINS DISPLAY BISON SUPERIORITY OVER NODAK CAGERS

BISON DEMONSTRATE POWERFUL DEFENSE IN FIRST GAME HOLDING NODAKS TO FREE THROW IN FINAL PERIOD.

South Dakota University cagers by virtue of their 38 to 22 win over Morningside at Vermillion last evening pushed the Sioux City five into second place, assuring the North Dakota Bison, who have completed their schedule, first place in the final loop standings.

By Dick Hackenberg.

After being momentarily halted in their stampede for the conference title by a band of scrappy Flickertails, the North Dakota Bison herd again assumed its thundering proportions and completely crushed the Nodak machine in two games here Friday and Saturday, 33-17 and 33-24.

Nodaks Defense Smashed.

The highly touted Nodak defense was smashed to bits before the powerful offensive drive of the stampeding Bison. Blakely's bunch scored a total of 28 field goals in the two games to 1 for the Boe basketeers. It was the Bison defense that won the first game, however, and played a big part in winning the second. In the Friday contest the Nodaks were able to count only one free throw in the second half. That was all the stellar guarding of the herd would permit. It was the best defensive exhibition that has ever graced the armory floor.

Wad Thompson and Red Blakely were the outstanding herdsman in the third of the four game series for the state championship. Wad, single-handed, piled up as many tallies as the whole University quint, many of his baskets coming from follow-up shots under the net. Blakely was close on Thompson's heels with seven field goals for a total of 14 points. The two players chalked up 31 of the Bison's 39 counters. The floor work of Arnold and Miller was a feature of the game, Arnold dribbling through the whole Nodak defense for a basket in the closing stanza. Cy and Claudie were also the Cortright luminaries in the Saturday contest each coming through with seven tallies apiece besides turning an otherwise peaceful basketball game into a nightmare for the visitors. Ben Rumpeltes was the scoring ace of the game with four field goals and a foul toss to his credit.

Miller Scintillates.

Saturday night was Miller's night. Those who have seen Claudie's football stunts can fully appreciate the spectacular work of the little fellow on the basketball court. After three minutes of scoreless play Miller took the ball in his own end of the floor, started to his left, drawing the whole University defense with him, and then reversing his field and pounding the leather at a fast clip, dribbling around the entire team for an under-basket shot. Arnold followed up this piece of work with a beautiful long shot and from then on the Herd had no trouble in running the score to 15 (Continued on page three)

CONGRATULATIONS, RED AND GANG.

Congratulations are in order for Red Blakely and the members of the basketball team which he captained during the season completed Saturday. The Bison, last night, won undisputed right to first place in the final conference loop standings when the University of South Dakota five downed the Morningside Maroons at Vermillion by an overwhelming mark of 38 to 22.

A technicality, one which cannot discredit the Bison victory, keeps the team headed by Harry Blakely from winning their first N. C. I. cage title. Rules compiled by officials of the loop state that a team must play five opposing teams in the loop to qualify as contenders for the title.

The Bison failed to schedule five loop games, only four consenting to meet them. No criticism can be fired at Ion Cortright for failure to schedule a required number of schools, for Creighton refused to play the Bison at home or away, the Blue Jay officials evidently feeling that they could win the title if they did not have to face the Thundering Herd. To top off their refusal they would not consent to a contract after having agreed verbally to play the Bison. South Dakota and Nebraska Wesleyan also failed to meet the Bison, refusing to consider Bison overtures for a game or games.

Morningside, second place holders in the loop race, has not yet been officially awarded the title, and it is still possible that the loop directors will refuse to do so. Creighton's action in refusing to honor a verbal contract with the Bison may have an important bearing in the final disposition of the loop title.

We would specifically call the attention of Ed Yocum, athletic editor of the Dakota Daily Student, and formerly editor of the Spectrum, to the fact that the Bison are the best team in the loop.

Yocum, in a column in Friday's issue of the Student, belittles the Bison as most he can. Not one sentence of his column is founded upon fact. Inasmuch as the column bears his name, we can only believe that he wrote the article contained in the column, altho knowing Yocum as we do, we were at first disinclined to believe that he would allow such misstatement of fact to go into anything under his name. Journalism is thrown aside in the column, "mud slinging" being the instruments used by him to belittle THE BEST TEAM IN THE N. C. I.

It must be a bitter pill for Yocum to swallow, to see the Bison at the head of the loop after he had made assertions to the effect that the Nodaks were a better quint.

At no time have alibis emanated from the Bison stronghold to the effect that the lighting was poor, the beams were low, and the officiating was poor. Such a remarkable team as the Bison proved themselves to be, need no alibis to help them, and this they proved.

Yocum justly claimed the Nodaks to be a powerful defensive five. But the Bison, in the first game here, scored more points than the Nodaks scored in two games on their home floor. As for the perfect defense of the Nodaks we might remind Yocum that the Bison defense is nothing to be sneered at. The Nodaks scored one point in the final period of the first game, this coming on a free throw scored against the reserves. Had Cortright chosen to start his best lineup against the Nodaks, the Bison may have tripped the score on the Nodak defense.

He further states that the Bison were glad to win a game wherever they could, citing the two Des Moines games as examples. Yocum should note, though it might be with much sorrow, that Cortright used a number of untried youngsters against Des Moines for over one-third of the game. As for the overtime win at Des Moines, it is possible that the Nodaks might not have attained such success on the Tiger floor.

Ion Cortright never pushed the idea of a fifth game between the Nodaks and Bison. He merely offered it as a suggestion to settle the controversy as to which team was entitled to recognition as state champions. The results of the conference race and the outcome of the two games on the Bison floor leaves no doubt in anyone's mind as to which quint is the best in North Dakota, unless of course, Yocum has failed to see the light. That is entirely possible.

As to where he ever dug up the idea that Bison followers, "cried like a bunch of school boys" we know not. We were fully as wide awake as he, and we failed to see anyone shedding any tears over the losses, unless it be the players themselves, and they were fully justified in so doing.

We never made any remarks uncomplimentary to the five developed by Coach Letich, and we never will. We have only the highest respect for Coach Letich's ability as a coach and hold a like opinion of the team developed by him. It is composed of a wonderful bunch of fellows, good sportsmen, good players. As for the one who writes up their feats, we say it is too bad that they have to have their ability marred by one exhibits so little of the spirit of fair play, or, at least, tries to be clever at the expense of good judgment. He not only belittles other teams, but has already been brought to task for the articles about his own team in the paper for which he writes.

We have meant to say nothing uncomplimentary of Yocum unjustly, but we surely hold a different opinion of him as a sportswriter than we held of him previous to reading the column in question.

At any time the columns of this paper are open to him to defend himself against any unjust remarks, which we might have made. If he fails to take advantage of the opportunity of using them, we take it as an admittance of the fact that he had no foundation upon which to base his claims.

In spite of all, the Bison are today enjoying the distinction of first place holders in the North Central Intercollegiate conference. There is no way by which it is possible for Yocum to juggle the figures so that the Bison are not at the head of the race when the final standings are compiled.

A conference ruling, one that could prevent any strong team in the loop from winning the title in future years, as it may the Bison this year, can keep the CHAMPIONS from being officially regarded as champions, but mere juggling of facts or futile attempts at humor, cannot.

Instead of depriving the CHAMPIONS of their glory it is entirely probable that the unfortunate ruling will be discontinued by the loop directors in the future, especially if it is found that scarcity of conference opponents is occasioned by admitted strength and not by fear of the foe. At least it should. Light springs from darkness.

Inquiring Reporter

We have heard much discussion on the campus recently regarding changing the name of this institution to "North Dakota State College." We want to obtain individual opinions in support of this contention.

Bill Gray, Bison athlete, states: "If the name would be changed, there would be increased enrollment and give the college more prestige. There is a lot in a name after all."

"Absolutely," was the forceful answer of Dick Hackenberg, sports writer "Why name the college after one of the many courses offered here?"

C. B. Waldron, professor of Horticulture and Forestry, believes a change of name would be an act of justice to the other departments of the school.

"I know of several students who would attend here if we would assume the name of 'State College,'" said A. B. Converse, pharmacy student, when approached by the Inquiring Reporter. "The general public judges by our present name that all of the students here are taking agriculture."

Leonard Reager, architect student: "A degree would mean more from a psychological point of view. Fargo is an ideal location for a college. Why should we let the name of the school hinder its growth? It is unfair to represent the minority in name," he added.

Norman Welch, pharmacy student, says: "Students here should always speak of the school as North Dakota State college and forget 'A. C.' Eventually, why not onw?"

EBULLITIONS OF EBONY BLOTT

By Ebony Blott—Himself.

"COW COLLEGE! COW COLLEGE! COW COLLEGE!" JEER THE BISMARCK VENDORS PLAYFULLY IN AN ATTEMPT TO MAKE US FEEL DISCOMFITED.

Not that we are ashamed of the belittled bovine. The only way in which a cow is lowly is that she lows once in a while.

A lot of the upstate jectors who are most hysterical in their denunciations have just completed a course in milking on their dad's farm.

But just think what a lot of names they would have called us if we had won the two games at the University by 2 to 1. We probably would have been a whole ranch.

Slip Shod insists that it wouldn't be quite fair to call the "U" a normal. They aren't normal.

Their method of nicknaming a school is as queer as a floating opportunity in pajamas. We teach agriculture, and therefore this is a cow college. Deducing from their own standards the "U" must be a hash college. They teach everything.

Do You Know That:

If all the endearing epithets jibed at the A. C. by the "U" students were put in one straight line, you wouldn't see anything, because no one can see epitaphs?

If this is a "cow college" in the strict sense of the word, the upstate institution is no school of etiquette?

IF OUR RIVALS GET A LITTLE FUN OUT OF CALLING US A CALF CONGREGATION, WHY DON'T THEY CALL US A PACKING PLANT AND HAVE A HELUVA LOT OF ENJOYMENT?

And now, ladies and gentlemen, we will have a little song by Slip Shod, the curator, who will sing with pathos and a cracked voice, "Red Nose, why are you blew?"

If this stuff evolution is all that it's cracked to be, we should be fast developing a race of web-footed Bison. The chain of lakes between the gate and main building alone are worthy of a summer resort. Our campus is a miniature "Minnesota ten thousand lakes."

Now that the University has got their mammoth super-stadium built, it will take a forced levy of the entire able bodied population of the nineteen northern counties of the state to help the "U" fill it.

Who Isn't Which In America.

Falfa, Al.—Just a lad nineteen years of age who entered the "U" this winter term fresh from the farm and didn't yell "cow college" at the Bison.

One noticeable thing about this "Cow College" is that it isn't lacking in the milk of human kindness.

Some day Slip Shod is going to write a story entitled "Three Minutes to Go." He is probably going to tell about our impromptu convocation on Thursday last.

Dear Ebony: I have a cow on my farm, and she has expressed her intention of getting an education. Having read in the Dakota Daily Student that your is a cow college, I wonder if our Bertha could attend. I would send her to the University, but this creature looks intelligent. Answer by return oxen. TIM. HAY.
 Dear Timothy: Send her right down. We promise her the most courtesy possible a queen.

Lim'rick Contest

After the basketball classics have been concluded, the student's fancy lightly turns to lim'ricks. That should be the case with only three more contests to compete for previous to the conclusion of the series when $15 and the individual picture in the Bison exemplifies the winner's cleverness. The last "athletic" lim'rick is next in line. Honor is due to Arnold, Blakely, Thompson, and Rumpeltes, if honor was ever due anyone. Here's your chance to express your appreciation of the wonderful work done by them for four consecutive successful years:

When rem'bring the fast Bison crew There are four certain Seniors, who For what they have shown Will ever be known—

Answering last lines to the above lim'rick must be in the contribution box by 4:00 o'clock Friday.

A chance to win two contests in one week is the heretofore unique possibility offered lim'rickers. The following limerick must have a last line by Wednesday, this week. Only one solitary lim'rick remains before the prizes are given out, so glare your meanest at these two. Remember the old saying: "Where there's a will, there's a relative." Here's the other one:

"My hopes are very, very high," Said Carrie, "as the day draws nigh When o'er the horizon You'll see our new Bison—"

Have the last lines in by Wednesday and Friday respectively and watch the next Spectrum for results.

Triangular Debates Lost.

Friday afternoon the affirmative high school debating team, consisting of E. Woolsey Pease, Lynas Lloyd, and Lawrence Zink, was defeated by a two to one judges decision. The boys put up a good fight and showed originality in their arguments, but as long as the debaters of the A. M. A. school stick to the policy of not memorizing their constructive arguments, they can hardly expect to win over other schools whose debaters have memorized their arguments. However, win or lose, there is only one policy, that of showing originality. Memorized speeches, though beautifully constructed and frequently delivered, can never take a higher place than original speeches less elegantly delivered.

Both teams who debated Friday brought out good points, tho the debate was made burdensome with the excessive use of statistics.

Lynas Lloyd proved his ability as a debator, especially in his rebuttal. Mr.

Saturday Lewis Beals and Carroll Anderson left for Crookston, where they debated the team of the N. W. School of Agriculture. This debate was also lost by a two to one decision, but good original work was displayed by both teams.

Because of a change in the business location of the Fargo Battery Co., Al Bordeleau has had to abandon the more pleasant class rooms for high pressure business the past few days.

Clinton Morgan was unable to accompany the A. M. A. negative debate to Crookston Saturday. Had he been able to do so the chances to win would have been greater. Mr. Morgan has been ill with measles but he will soon return to classes.

Two Wins Show Bison Superiority Over Nodaks

while the Nodaks were collecting two points via the free throw route. With the score 15-2 the Flicker forwards began to function and two long shots found their way through the loop. Blakely tipped Miller's free throw into the basket and the half ended 17-6. Nodak's Open Scoring.

The visitors were the first to score in the second half when Boe donated two free throws. Arnold came thru with a basket and the University team found the hoop for two long shots and one short one to bring the count to 19-14. Cy made it 20 with a foul shot and Miller added two on a brace of them. The Nodaks missed a gift toss and Miller took the ball off the backboard, dribbled the entire length of the floor and dumped into the Nodak basket, raising the count to 24-14. Rumpeltes and Boe scored and the Flickers flicked another into the net making it 26-18. The Nodaks again sounded from the foul line and Newgard, Miller and McPherson, each donated one point. Boe made another gift good and the score stood 29-20. McPherson scored two straight short shots and the "U" made two free throws ending the game 33-24.

Student Opinion

TO Whom It May Concern.
The Alpha Phi Omega Fraternity is a professional Chemistry organization, which was originated to promote interest in chemistry and to encourage scholarship.

Its foundation and existence is based upon Industrial Chemistry of the specific nature now being carried out in our college.

For these reasons the fraternity believes itself justified in presenting the following statement of facts.

1. The development of the School of Chemistry is seemingly not encouraged, for:

(a) No adequate consideration has been made for the growth of the school in the ten year program as outlined by the president of our institution, despite the fact that the School of Chemistry has shown as much growth as any school on the campus.

(b) Appropriations made for this school are much less per student than for any other school in the institution; which has made it impossible, without the aid of interested manufacturers, to provide students with proper equipment necessary for their adequate training.

(c) This is the only school whose growth and importance has not been officially recognized, inasmuch, as no Dean has been appointed as its head. This is not because it has no instructors whose education, experience, and prominence have not aided the development of the school enough to warrant such recognition.

2. The School of Chemistry should remain a permanent part of our institution, for:

(a) The institution has been given almost nation-wide prominence because of the School of Chemistry's development of its particular line of chemistry. This development being due both to its graduate students and to the scientific research carried out and published by it.

(b) It has a body of over sixty graduates, among whom are some of the institution's most prominent alumni, while nearly all of them have made rapid advancement in their particular profession.

(c) The present, first, second, and third year students would, of necessity, be deflected from their present course, which was the reason for their entering this institution, since it is the only institution offering this particular course.

(d) Owing to the prominence and reputation gained by this school many students now in the high schools of this state have avowed their intentions of entering this institution for the sole purpose of taking this course, many of whom would, if this course were abolished, be deflected to institutions outside of the state.

tutions outside of the state.

From the foregoing statements be it resolved by the Alpha Phi Omega Fraternity, that:

I. The School of Chemistry is not being given sufficient support and encouragement to maintain its growth or even its existence.

II. The continuance of the School of Chemistry is desired by a representative body of voters and taxpayers of this state.

III. Its present head has not received the encouragement which is his due, as the outstanding authority in this particular branch of chemistry.

IV. The present status of the School of Chemistry is due to his efforts, partly supported by the Industry which realizes his contribution to Industrial Science.

Be It Further Resolved: That a copy of these resolutions be published in the school publication and that a copy be forwarded to the President of the institution and to the Board of Administration.

F. S. BYERLY, Scribe.

To Whom It May Concern.

It is a matter of record that each school in the college, with the exception of one, has been recognized by there having been placed at its head a Dean of that particular school. That one exception is the School of Chemistry.

We, students in the School of Chemistry, feel slighted in this respect, and also feel that its permanence and credentials may be injured by this neglect. Using all other schools in the college as a basis of comparison, the School of Chemistry has: (1) an enrollment of more than seventy students and offers service courses to more than five hundred others, making the school large enough to warrant a Dean; and, (2) a reputation and accomplishments in its field equal to any other school in the college.

Why haven't we a dean?

Ted Arndt, of the University, is visiting at the Kappa Phi house this week.

President John Lee Coulter was a dinner guest at the Alpha Kappa Phi fraternity house Monday evening. Dr. Pearce and Burt Oderkirk, Ames, Ia., and several alumni members also were guests of the evening.

"Mother," cried little Mary, as she rushed into the farmhouse they were visiting, "Johnny wants the listerine. He's just caught the cutest little black and white animal, and he thinks it's got halitosis."
