SADDLE AND SIRLOIN ANNUAL LIVESTOCK SHOW OPENS TODAY

SUPERINTENDENTS OF VARIOUS DIVISIONS ANNOUNCED BY HAROLD SEILSTAD, MANAGER OF ANNUAL SHOW TODAY.

CHAMPION LAMB TO BE SHOWN

SILVER CUPS AND CANES FOR WINNERS DONATED BY VARIOUS INDUSTRIAL CONCERNS AND INDIVIDUALS AS PRIZES.

Opening of the annual livestock fitting and showing contest, sponsored by the Saddle and Sirloin Club, took place this morning, with the largest number of entries ever participating in the annual show.

Silver loving cups, donated by Prof. J. R. Dice, Goldberg Feed Co., Livestock Breeders association, Fairmont Creamery Co., Interstate Seed Co., and Magill & Co., will be presented to the winners in the various events. Armour & Co. will present canes to winners of second and third place in addition to the ribbons. The National Dairy Council are also awarding medals for the three first places in the respective classes of dairy cattle.

Harold Seilstad, manager of the show, announced the superintendents of the various divisions, appointing Merrill Burke, swine; Clyde Barks, sheep; Theo. Piper, beef cattle; A. L. Ryall, dairy cattle; Fred Schroeder, horses; and Frank Moore, poultry, to head the classes.

Champion Lamb to Show.

An attraction at today's Little International Live Stock Fitting and Showing Contest will be a champion Southdown lamb which took the sweepstakes at the Junior Livestock Show held at St. Paul last November. The animal has been loaned by the Soo Railway company for the annual husbandry and dairy week. As mutton ahoo, the lamb will be worth $4.75 per pound, as its original owner received $622.25 for it after the ribbon awardal at the Minnesota show.

ATTIC ALTERATIONS WORK PROGRESSING

Students of engineering and architecture will be somewhat relieved from congested conditions in the engineering building when plans for alteration on the second floor of the engineering and shops buildings, upon which work is soon to begin, are completed.

Two drawing rooms, one 20x50, the other 20x70 feet, are to be fitted up by altering the unused attic portions of the shop building. To permit easy access to the rooms, doorways are to be provided on the second floor by the altering of the windows on the inner court of the adjoining structure. A stairway leading up to the improvised drawing rooms is also to be built. By this arrangement, students will have more facilities for their drafting and drawing work at the same time having easy access to the rooms, said Professor Dolve, who will supervise the changes.

BETAS INITIATE FIVE TO ACTIVE MEMBERSHIP

Misses Evelyn Blakeslee, Myrtle Adams, Sarah McRoberts, Gedrun Jels-trup and Margaret Zimmerman were initiated into active membership in the Delta Phi Beta sorority at services held at the home of Miss Grace Ross Sunday afternoon. Following the initiation a banquet was served in the Rose Room of the Gardner Hotel. Covers were laid for 35.

CAMPUS TOURNEY OPENS TONIGHT

DELTA PI-KAPPA PSI QUINTS TO OPEN TOURNEY IN "Y" GYM AT 7:00 O'CLOCK.

Play in the Y. M. C. A. basketball league will open tonight when the Delta Pi basketball team go on the court with the Kappa Psi at seven o'clock.

In accordance with the three game a night schedule, the Kappa Phi quint will meet the Barracks team at 7:45, to be followed by the Pharmacist-Tappa Keg game, forty-five minutes later.

The league will be made up of ten teams representing organizations of the college. Seven fraternities and three club organizations are entered in the race that will culminate in a cup awardal to the champion five sometime in March. The opening games of the league were scheduled for the first week of the winter term but unforeseen delays have caused such games to be rescheduled for play-off at the season's close.

Forecasts are for a tight race this year as teams have had adequate time for organization and practice. Several teams have met in mutual scrimmage already and others have played games out of the city. Winners of last year's tourney were the Gamma Rho five.

Schedule:

Tuesday, Jan. 26.
Delta Pi vs. Kappa Psi, 7:00 P. M.
Kappa Phi vs. Barracks, 7:45.
Pharmacists vs. Tappa Keg, 8:30.
Thursday, Jan. 28.
Theta Chi vs. Kappa Sigma, 7:00.
Kappa Phi vs. Kappa Psi, 7:45.
Sigma Tau vs. Delta Pi, 8:30.

OPEN HOUSE HELD AT L. C. T. SUNDAY

Sunday afternoon a "community open-house" was held in the Little Country Theatre. About fifty persons were present at the Sunday get-together innovated by Professor A. G. Arvold.

The visitors, most of whom were students, spent the time from four to six by enjoyment of a varied program. The singing of popular songs, the words of which were projected on the screen, was varied by the review of a picture gallery on display in the newly decorated rooms on the second floor of the Administration building. Along with other sidelights of entertainment was the serving of refreshments in the Log Cabin.

Each week a complete change of pictures in the gallery are to be made along with a variant program. The response shown by the visitors at the first open house would indicate the innovation to be popular.

EUGENE LAURANT TO PRESENT NUMBER ON LYCEUM THURSDAY

STAGE SETTINGS OF MASTER MAGICIAN REPLETE WITH LAVISH EQUIPMENT.

RECOGNIZED AS LEADER IN ART

TONY SARG'S MARIONETTE'S TO APPEAR ON FINAL NUMBER NEXT MONDAY.

Eugene Laurant and company, presenting a spectacle of magic and mystery will be the third number on the program of the fifteenth annual lyceum series to be given Thursday evening at 8.15 o'clock at the Armory, according to Professor A. G. Arvold.

Mr. Laurant is recognized as an outstanding magician on the lyceum circuits of the country. Aided by Miss Greta Banes, pianiste, and his stage manager, Mr. Fred Larson, the magician runs the gamut of tricks known to masters of the black art. His work has been commended by prominent vaudeville and theatrical managers and during his seventeen years of pursuit of his profession Mr. Laurant has, according to reports, perfected a repertoire of confusing performances.

Supplementing the magician's native ability is a replete equipment of stage properties which include animate objects as well as conventional magician's paraphernalia.

Closely following the Laurent show will be the Tony Sarg Marionettes who are scheduled for the afternoon and evening of Monday, Feb. 1. They will give novel presentations of the "Pied Piper of Hamelin" and of Stevenson's "Treasure Island."

BISON TROPHY AWARDAL TODAY

PHI OMEGA PI SORORITY TO RECEIVE TROPHY AS WINNERS IN SALES CONTEST.

Presentation of the silver plaque offered by the staff of the Bison of 1927 for the most subscriptions sold in the faculty sales campaign, and won by Phi Omega Pi sorority, will be held in the Bison office Tuesday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock.

Mr. A. H. Parrot, faculty member of the Board of Publications, will be the principal speaker on the program. Mr. T. W. Johnson, of the publications department; Mr. E. Verle Deach, of the Knight Printing Company, and editor of the 1925 Bison; and Stewart Schlipf, editor of the 1926 Bison, will also give short talks. The students and faculty of the college are cordially invited to attend the presentation, the first of its kind ever to be held on the campus. Miss Eva Wilner, captain of the winning team, will accept the trophy for the sorority.

The sales contest which ended Jan. 20, after a duration of one week, set a record in the history of the Bison faculty sales, according to Emery Putnam, business manager. "More than fifty per cent of the faculty answered our call and subscribed for a copy (Continued on page three)

SIGMA THETA SORORITY PLEDGE FIVE SUNDAY

Elizabeth Powers, Dorothy Volkamer-Marion Burnett, and Agnes Schlanser were pledged to membership in the Sigma Theta sorority at formal pledging services held Sunday afternoon at the home of Miss Shirley Donovan. All of the young women are members of the mid-year graduating class of Fargo High School.

THREE HOME CAGE TILTS THIS WEEK

DANCE TO FOLLOW JAMESTOWN AND SOUTH DAKOTA STATE GAMES HERE.

Cortright's Thundering Herd will confine their activities to the home floor this week, three games being scheduled for them, only one of which is a loop tilt.

On Wednesday evening the Concordia Cobbers will invade the Bison baliwack for the final game of their two-game series. Friday's game is the only loop tilt scheduled for the Bison cagers, Jack West bringing his Bunny cagers here for the third meeting between the two teams. Saturday night the Bison will face the Jamestown college quint in the second meeting of the two teams.

Cortright announced yesterday that students will be admitted at the west doors of the Armory only. The east entrance is for paid admissions only, while the side entrance is for pass holders and Bison boosters.

All games will commence at 8:00 o'clock sharp. A dance will follow the Jamestown and South Dakota State tilts it was announced by the authorities of the Lettermen's club.

RIFLE TEAM TO FIRE AGAINST MARYLAND TEN

This week the A. C. Rifle Team will fire their fourth match of the year against the riflemen representing Western Maryland college. According to Captain Andrews, range instructor, the following fifteen men are up for this week's shoot: Hack, Town, Cramer, Millard, Shook, Revell, Wahl, Bredson, Fuller, Ballard, Wolfe, Borge, Debing, Laing, and Nygard. G. Laing, Peightal, Bryans, Barney and Little will act as alternates. Scores for each match are reckoned on the basis of the high ten of the fifteen men firing. The members of the succeeding week's team are determined in like fashion with alternates included.

Show Slump.

Results of last week's shoot showed a slight slump, but are not to be unexpected. In the match, firing against the University of South Dakota, and the College of the City of New York, the A. C. marksmen finished with a 3139 total as against a score of 3209 for the week previous. The falling off in the team's percentage for the past week is easily traced to their low percentage of hits from the standing position. For the prone and sitting positions, the best ten showed a team percentage of 88 and 89.5, respectively. Ten points are lost at kneeling with 78.4 percentage. But where the figures would seem to be higher, shooting from a conventional position, the team drops to a standing poise (Continued on page three)

BLAKELY AND McPHERSON GRAB SCORING HONORS WITH SIX BASKETS APIECE IN BUNNY OPENER.

BISON DEFENSE NIGH PERFECT

SMOOTH PASSING, ACCURATE SHOOTING, AND CONSISTENT SCORING OF BISON AMAZES SOUTH DAKOTA FANS.

By Dick Hackenberg.

"To win the conference hunting The Bison went a-hunting For a little rabbit skin To hang up in the A. C. gym."

In fact, Captain Blakely and his crew returned from their southern invasion Sunday with two Bunny exteriors dangling from their belts. Jack West's South Dakota State Jackrabbits were no match for the versatile attack of Coach Cortright's "thundering herd" and dropped both ends of a two-game series at Brookings last Friday and Saturday, 51 to 21, and 35 to 13, respectively.

Bison Amaze.

The smooth passing, accurate shooting, and consistent scoring of the Bison cagers amazed the Brookings fans and the Bunny Basketeers alike. Blakely and McPherson did most of the point producing for the Cortright men. The sensational shooting of these elongated gentlemen brought the crowd to its feet on several occasions. Miller and Arnold performed brilliantly at the guard jobs besides aiding the down floor play of the Bison offense. Ulyot, Bunny guard, was the outstanding individual on the State squad.

The shrill screech of the referee's whistle in opening Friday's contest started something more than an ordinary basketball game. It started the anxious Bison on a stampede that refused to be halted until the largest score of the season had been hung up against a team that came within a few points of defeating the Creighton Bluejays. The Cortright clan amassed two dozen points in the first period and led at the half 24-14. Consistent scoring in the second frame more than doubled the Bison count while the Bunny offense was having a hard time scoring half as many points as they had in the first half.

Bison Led at Half.

The Bison started the second game with two goals in rapid succession, but a Buny rally halted things for a while and with seven minutes of the first half yet to play the count remained 4-0. Then the invaders uncorked a dazzling offense, counting two points a minute for the remaining seven, and finished the first period 18-1. The second half was more closely fought with an injection of Buny substitutes sinking the leather for a total of 12 points while the Bison basketeers scored their remaining seventeen, ending the game 35-13.

The smooth, effortless game presented by the Bison was in marked contrast to the long pass and fast breaking offense of the Jackrabbit quint. In both games the Cortright (Continued on page three)

"THE BISON ACES."

Work on the 1927 Bison according to latest reports is progressing rapidly, and from what we have seen, been shown, or observed, it looks like the outstanding yearbook in the history of the college. Perhaps it is a little early to make such predictions, but we feel safe in saying that it will at least be the equal of any annual published.

We feel assured that the book is in capable hands, and if plans now under way materialize, the book will be in the hands of the students on May 1. The faculty subscription was pleasing, nearly half of the members subscribing in the recent campaign. The faculty are to be congratulated on their splendid support.

Perhaps the outstanding thing, noticeable by its absence, in this year's annual is the abolition of a "Vanity Fair" or "Bison Ace" section. We have long known that the heads of the annual were going to do away with this section, but we have been just as long in commenting on it.

A "Vanity Fair" or "Bison Ace" section is probably one of the most interesting sections of the yearbook, but when the problem is diagnosed it is perhaps the quickest way to kill the popularity of those who are "unfortunate" enough to be named in such a section. It is not good fortune to happen to have a mere handful of sorority or fraternity associates get together and decide to vote for one of their own organization to further that organization along.

In such a section, there can be no doubt that the students represented therein are of the most representative of the student body but not to such an appreciable degree that they are worthy of mentioning, and leaving out some other student who has every bit as much right to be represented in the section.

This opinion is not mere hearsay, but is actual experience the opinion gained from the majority of those who were named to this section in years past.

No section to displace a "Vanity Fair" or "Bison Ace" section has been planned for this year's annual, and, if we may suggest, we think it would be feasible to dedicate a page in the book to the death of such sections in this institution forever and anon.

JUST A REMINDER.

Don't forget about the band playing the "Yellow and Green" after each game. There are three games this week and at the conclusion of each one the band will play the Alma Mater of the college, and each student is expected to stay until it is finished, and while it is being played each student is also expected to sing it. If you don't know it, learn it.

If you make an attempt to get out before the band has finished playing, don't be surprised if you catch a left hook, or some other of the more scientific methods of hitting known to the trained ring general.

Every student should have enough loyalty to sing his school song, regardless of whether his team wins or loses.

We are making this suggestion now in hopes that some student, who is "all dressed up and no place to go" tries to make his exit in an unmannerly fashion. We may even save you the trouble of catching a few well intended smashes to your anatomy.

WE APPRECIATE your past patronage and solicit your future work. When you think of laundry call the DIXON for service and quality. We darn sox and sew on buttons without extra charge.

Clifford A. (Luke) Moher, one of the first members of the Bison Booster club, was born in Fargo, Sept. 29, 1897, and while not old in years, Luke is old in experience. Luke attended both the Fargo public schools and the high school, and in 1914 went to work for the Union Transfer Company, where he remained until last April, at which time he and Stan Borleske bought out the interests of Mary S. Hart in the sport goods store at 205 Broadway, now known as Moher & Borleske.

Luke joined the Bison Booster club when the organization was founded and has been one of its most ardent boosters since that time.

Luke, while never having played basketball or football, was somewhat of an amateur pitcher while in the grade schools, and later did successful hurling for amateur teams in and around Fargo. Luke gave up the pitching game a few years later to become a manager. He claims that the thing which made him take the step from player to manager was the fact that he was too heavy for active duty, but we suspicion that he is holding back the fact that he is a little brainier, and is a better promoter than player. Altho it is a fact that Luke is too fat to run any more, we really believe that he has a few good games left in his old soupbone, and he is just about due to get out and throw a game again, Luke believing that he should hurl one game every five years.

Luke managed a Fargo semi-pro club in 1916 with a fair amount of success, and when Fargo got its first real good ball club, for the first time in several years, he was chosen secretary of the club, remaining in this position until a group of Fargoans secured the Redfield franchise of the South Dakota league, and placed it in the new Dakota league as the representative of Fargo in that circuit. He was named vice president of this organization.

Baseball is not the only sport Luke takes an active part in, bowling occupying quite a portion of his time during the winter months. He is quite adept at the ten pin game, having led the Fargo Commercial league in 1923, and at present he is a member of the Moher & Borleske quint of the City Handicap league.

Luke is still one of those single "fellers", as he says, and resides at 16 13 1/2 Street North with his parents and a sister. He may be seen pushing his Ford sedan around the streets of Fargo most any day during the summer months, and in order to be able to do this, it took him quite some time to get onto the method of having control over one of the "gol blinked" things.

EBULLITIONS OF EBONY BLOTT

By Ebony Blot—Himself.

"Where is my wandering boy to-night?"
 Was the mother's frantic cry.
 "Don't sob," he yelled with all his might,
 "I've come to home to eat and die!"
 "WATCHA GOT?"
 "CORN."
 "I-O-WAY?"
 "NUTHIN DOONE! CASH."

"It doesn't seem long since the war" noted the absent minded Prof. after he emerged from a conflict with his bitter half.

Twinkle, twinkle, little star.
 What a sight you are, by gar!
 Blackened eyes and greasy paint,
 Make you look like what you aint.

Fire seemed to blaze from the eyes of the athletic hero. He appealed to his trainer frantically that he might be permitted to go out and practice before the big game. The trainer was firm—almost brittle. He argued that to practice at that time would probably make him stale. Pleas turned to threats, as the hero doggedly attempted to gain assent. His love for the game, made him long to enter the arena to engage in combat. To see his protege in such excitement before a game moved the trainer to tears. He could withstand him no longer.

"Go!" he said with an effort. "Go!"
 The player's eyes danced with anticipated pleasure. "Oh, thank you, sir," he cried. "Now, where are the marbles?"

Headake, Iva. Born in the state of ignorance, and has held his own ever since. Gained fame through the invention of the water-proof soup strainer. Knew a fellow who had a second step-son who thought he recognized a person who had an uncle who has hook hands with a man who was jostled by 'Red' Grange. Hobby: Playing leap-frog with tadpoles.

Dear Ebony: I think I have been the victim of a base fraud. In answer to an advertisement, I bought three bottles of hair restorer. I had two little bald spots on my head when I started taking the treatment, and now I have no hair. I wish it would have left one hair at least for then I could part it in the middle. Something tells me that the company didn't do right by me.
 —Vit A. Min.

Dear Vi: Your hair-breadth escape intrigues me greatly and though I sympathize with you, I am afraid you have no case. You had two bald spots when you started taking the treatment, and now you have only one.

Dear Eb: I am going with a very nice boy, and he is very nice to me but for one thing. Every time I say or do anything that he does not like he invariably says: "Be yourself!" I loathe that saying. How can I cure him of it? If you will answer this for me satisfactorily, I will embroider you a cute little jack-knife.

Lotta Nerve.
 Lotta: Be yourself.

Dear Ebony: I am a college boy with an ambition. I don't know why, but none of the other boys seem to want to associate with me. I haven't any bad habits. I go to bed at nine o'clock every night, except on Friday nights when I stay up till ten minutes after nine. Who should I keep company with?
 O. G. Gosch.

Mr. Gosch: If I hear of anyone of your characteristics I'll be glad to let you know. I think you are in very good company when you are alone.

Lim'rick Contest

There's no two ways about it: a habit is a hard thing to get away from. Jay Bryant got in the habit of wining contests, and it seems that he can't get away from it. Two judges voted first for the last line printed below, although about 15 last lines were submitted.

Three cheers for Fitzgerald our boss!
 'Round whose form there gathers no moss.

"I like him a lot,"
 Said Ebony Blot—
 "His pen gives the Spectrum it's gloss."

A last line by Stewart Schlipf, "And the Irish line he can toss," tickled the stoical judges. Logic was the theme of Thomas Palmerlees' contribution: "To lose him would be a great loss." "And that there ain't no apple sauce," by Ruth Resnick Bavly was also given mention by the judges. The subject of all this ado, Editor Eefy, expressed his thanks to the entrants for keeping questionable last lines such as "He resembles our dapple grey hoss" out of the suggestions.

The next limerick in line does not deal with any certain person, but it may deal with a great many. Your imagination may wander profusely in making up your last line. This may be the limerick that suggests the last line that wins the monthly prize that wins the $15. Just like the house that Jack built. Here it is. Start now:

"Of old dates I know not a thing,"
 A history student did sing.
 The Prof. said "Forsooth
 You're speaking the truth—"

As usual, Friday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock is the closing time for your last lines. As long as there is a limerick left, there is always a chance of winning the money. Let's all make this a banner lim'rick.

Prep Notes

A Queer Rumor.

It is generally known by the powers that be that a centralization of the high school is being considered. The plan runs something like this: A rebuilding of the south wing of the Barracks into classrooms, and an office for the head of the school. All classes, except strictly departmental work, would be conducted there amidst the groans of the saws of the woodshop.

Te centralization of the high school in one building would be a fine thing, for it would mean closer association among the students. But the Barracks—what a thrill would be had from sending a picture of "my school" to the folks back home.

Hesperians Booming.

An important case is up. One of the members will be tried for abduction of a very prominent young lady. Every old member will be at the mock-trial Tuesday evening, and every fellow in the prep school is invited. You can't afford to miss this.

Buy a Bison.

Emery Putnam, business manager of the school annual, has announced that all those desiring a copy of the Bison must order it before February 1. Not only will the college section of the Bison be superior, but the Prep's will have a better section than ever before. Those desiring a book should see either Emma Keyster, Lillian Nelson, Elizabeth Schultz, or Anne Studlien this week.

A Sporting Proposition.

At the present time games have been scheduled for the Prep basketball team with the N. W. School of Agriculture of Morris, Minn., and the Leonard High School. Other schools have written for games, but the old question of finances has asserted itself. Since we Preps have the privilege of attending the Varsity games, we can hardly expect the athletic department to properly finance a Prep team.

We could have games with these various schools if we would be willing to pay a small fee to see them. A petition is being circulated to that effect by certain members of the team. If you favor this plan better sign the petition.

 average of 58. The loss is accounted for in part by the lack of heat in the gun room where the men fire. To forestall cold weather shivers, Captain Andrews has arranged for the heating of the range room.

In their second start of the week previous, the Bison riflemen dropped a match to the University of Kansas and the Virginia Military Institute teams. Shooting a good average team total of 3209, their score fell short of the Virginia school's total of 3498 and the phenomenal tally of 3677 made by the Kansas marksmen. Armstrong of the latter team made 384 of a possible 400.

Student Opinion

Editor of the Spectrum:

Like all great pieces of art, the word picture of the college ten years hence, as given us by Dr. Coulter at the last Convocation, was more than the audience was able to grasp at one sitting, as was evidenced by its failure to applaud as each new addition for the campus was mentioned. To fully appreciate the importance of having on our campus a completed Agricultural building, a new Physics building, a Women's building, a new Armory, a new dormitory, a new machine shed, more rooms for the English, Economics, History, Language, and Public Discussion departments, more equipment for biology, chemistry and engineering,—to fully appreciate having all of these necessary buildings and equipment is like trying to appreciate a dream that we want to have come true. As students we want to have something to do in helping to make this dream come true, and yet we don't know just how to begin.

But it occurs to me that two very important details are not now in the picture. Perhaps it was the inevitable bell that rung at an inopportune moment that was responsible for these omissions. I have reference to a library and to professors' salaries.

It would seem to me that a library with five or six times the floor space and the volumes that our present library possesses is the very first thing and the very least that we should expect. Or should I put it that it is the very first and the very least that we deserve? This detail which is lacking in the picture is so obviously lacking that little need be said to justify putting it in the picture.

The other detail that seems to be lacking is the matter of professors' salaries. North Dakota should take a pride in bringing into the state educators that are well paid. I assume that thinking people will agree that the teaching profession deserves to be well paid,—to be paid better than it is now being paid in North Dakota. Since he state is so anxious to induce new settlers to locate here, it would seem to me that one of the best ways of doing that would be to offer the children of these settlers unsurpassed educational advantages. Among such advantages would be included capable teachers, which means well paid teachers.

Therefore, if the student body can assist the president in putting into the picture those two important details, and in calling to the attention of the people of the state, or the legislators, or to whose attention these details should be called, the president should feel free to call upon them, and to expect the help that they might give him.
