MILLER MAKES ALL CONFERENCE BISON BADGER GAME TO BE PLAYED MONDAY

EIGHT BISON COURT PERFORMERS LEAVE AT 2:00 P. M. TODAY

McPHERSON, FULLER, RUMPELTES, AND THOMPSON TO ACCOMPANY VETERAN QUARTET ON WISCONSIN INVASION.

CORTRIGHT ATTENDS BIG TEN MEETING

Eight Bison basketball tossers will leave this afternoon at 2:00 on Great Northern No. 4 for Waukesha, Wis., where they meet the Carrol College quint Saturday evening. The University of Wisconsin game, which was scheduled for Friday, has been postponed until Monday, Dec. 7, by Dr. Meanwell, Badger coach. The Bison basketeers will return to Fargo Wednesday.

Both Unknown.

Both Carrol College and Wisconsin are unknown as to strength on the basketball court, but the Badger quint is sure to contain plenty of opposition for Cortright's eagers. Coached by the foremost of basketball mentors Dr. Meanwell, the Wisconsin warriors have always been considered dangerous by the remaining teams of the Big Ten loop. The fact that the Badgers ended the 1924-5 season in eighth place has no bearing on this year's estimation of the team's prowess. Meanwell's men were mostly Sophomores and their inexperience accounts for their poor showing. This year the Wisconsin mentor should have developed a team of experienced and proficient in court practice.

Cortright left Wednesday evening for Chicago, where he will attend the Big Ten conference meeting which will be in session Saturday. Before his departure he declared that Miller and Arnold will start as guards, Capt. Bltely at center, and Newgard and probably McPherson at forwards. Thompson, Rumpeltes and Fuller will make up the remainder of the squad which will make the trip.

SENIORS WIN FIRST IN ONE ACT PLAY

The Senior class, presenting the one act play "In the Morgue" by Sada Cowan was awarded first place in the annual one act class play contest, held at the Little Country Theatre last night. "The Ghost of Jerry Bundler" with a Junior cast took second. Freshmen players were ranked third with their farce "The Rehearsal." "Wisdom Teeth" presented by a Sophomore cast was also a one act comedy. Tragedy prevailed in both the Senior and Junior acts. Lighting effects were accentuated in each of these settings. Jack Knapp gave a splendid impersonation of the callous-hearted undertaker "In the Morgue". Wade Boardman stood out in the ghost play.

Judges were Miss Harriet Pearson, Mr. Eric Thomsen and Professor Iverson.

COLONIAL QUINTET PLAY HERE TUESDAY

SECOND NUMBER OF LYCEUM SERIES PROMISES INTERESTING PROGRAM.

The second number on the fifteenth annual lyceum series is scheduled for Tuesday evening in the College Armory at 8 o'clock. The Colonial Quintet, an organization of five young women musicians, playing various instruments will be the attraction on this number.

The quintet presents a program of a classical and semi-classical character which combines sound musical value with great popular appeal. The five young women who compose the company are gowned and bewigged in the mode and fashion of the Colonial period. Two harps, cello, violin, organ and piano, compose the instrumentation of the group. Vocal solos with ensemble and piano accompaniment are outstanding numbers on the program.

The personnel of the company is: Miss Luella Feiertag, soprano and organist; Miss Evelyn Levin, violinist; Miss Florence Goddard, cellist and pianist; Miss Loretta Murphy, harpist; and Miss Sylvia Van Bremer, harpist.

SPEAKER TO DISCUSS WORLD COURT TUESDAY

F. M. Snyder, one of the few American speakers at the World Church Conference at Stockholm during the past summer, will be the speaker at the convocation hour Tuesday morning in the Armory. Mr. Snyder will present facts relative to the World Court, a subject upon which he is well informed. Mr. Snyder spent considerable time at The Hague obtaining the latest data on the court while in Europe.

CONCERT TO BE HELD IN ARMORY SUNDAY BY GOLD STAR BAND

A TRUMPET TRIO AND LIGHT OPERA NUMBERS TO FEATURE FIRST SUNDAY PROGRAM OF GOLD STAR BAND.

Sunday afternoon at 3:30 the Gold Star Band, under the direction of Dr. C. S. Putnam, will present their first Sunday concert of the season, in the Armory.

Fifty Pieces to Play.

The band, which will number fifty pieces, will play a varied program of classical and popular music. The feature of the program will be a novelty trio number for three trumpets called "Triplets of the Finest," and will be played by Fred Byerly, Milo Durrett, and Earl Turnblad. Another feature number will be the selections from the light opera "Rose Marie," which has a winter engagement in New York and Chicago, playing to packed houses in both cities.

The band has been working on the concert for some time and received many compliments when they played it at the recent Scottish Rite Reunion banquet at the Masonic Temple. The complete program, which is open to faculty, students and the general public, is as follows:

ONE THOUSAND VOLUMES IN DISCUSSION LIBRARY

Recognized as being one of the best of its kind in the northwest, the public discussion library of the college now attracts much attention, according to Prof. A. G. Arvold, head of the department.

Numerous books relating to every phase of the department is found here. These include books on the drama, oratory, public debate, special day programs, the theatre, and play production. In addition, the package library and a large number of plays ranging from one to four and five act plays, magazines dealing with public speaking, play production, and others of interest to those engaged in this particular work may be found here.

Books and other material for the library has been furnished by the department, the Board of Public Speaking Control, and the Edwin Booth Dramatic Club. A large number of plays have been recently added, increasing the number to one thousand.

ELUSIVE BISON IS NAMED OVER KEANE, BLUEJAY HALFBACK

RUMPELTES, THOMPSON, AND KELTNER ARE PLACED ON SECOND MYTHICAL SELECTION OF COACHES.

FOUR BISON RATE THIRD SELECTION

By Dick Hackenberg.

Claude Miller, elusive Bison halfback, was placed at the right halfback position on the official all-conference team picked by the football coaches of the North Central Intercollegiate Athletic Conference at their annual meeting at Minneapolis Tuesday. The first and second teams selected by the coaches follow:

First Team.

Geston, N. D. U.....LE
Huick, Neb. Wesleyan.....LT
Leitch, Morningside.....LG
Starbeck, S. D. State.....C
Seeley, S. D. State.....RG
Malone, S. D. U.....RT
Lang, Creighton.....RE
Funston, S. D. U.....QB
Miller, N. D. A. C.....RH
Fitzgibbon, Creighton.....LH
Bertoglio, Creighton.....FB

Second Team.

Anderson, Des Moines.....LE
Simpson, S. D. U.....LT
Keltner, N. D. A. C.....LG
Thompson, N. D. A. C.....C
Powers, Creighton.....RG
Henderson, Morningside.....RT
Eggers, S. D. State.....RE
Boe, N. D. U.....QB
Bach, Morningside.....RH
Keane, Creighton.....LH
Rumpeltes, N. D. A. C.....FB

The coaches and student managers of the teams represented voted that the 1925 season ended in a triple tie. The three teams given equal ratings at the top of the Little Eight standings were Nebraska Wesleyan and Creighton University with three victories and one tie each, and North Dakota Bison with three victories and two ties. The coaches were unanimous in the statement that the past season was one of the best in the history of the conference.

Keane All-Western.

Miller, one of the outstanding stars of the loop this season as well as last year, was given the all-conference halfback job in preference to Sas Keane of Creighton who is rated as a second all-western man by Knute Rockne, Notre Dame mentor. Claudies broken field running, kicking and passing have been the features of nearly every Bison encounter. In selecting the 1924 all-conference team the coaches ignored the speedy Bison half entirely, some even stating that he was not good enough to make their team. Miller, who was almost as big a star last season as he was this year has proven in the 1925 campaign that there can be no doubt as to selecting one of the best halfbacks in the conference. After two years' of success on the gridiron, the Bison back can hardly be ignored by the North Central mentors. And next year these same coaches can figure out new defenses to try to stop this fellow.

AGAIN OR YET?

We are not sure whether this is a case of "again or "yet." At Tuesday's convocation we observed about twenty-five students trying to find a place where they could squeeze into the Armory through one door. We called attention to these doors some three or four weeks ago, but again we are compelled to bring it to someone's attention. There is no use having two doors at the entrance to the building if everyone is compelled to use but one of them. We suggest boarding up this other door or fixing it up so that both will work.

We are not just looking for something to find fault with. A door which will not open may cause a serious calamity some day. Our Armory is not fireproof, in fact it just the opposite, and if a fire should break out it seems more would perish in the rush for the door than could ever get out. If the doors are out of order, let's have them fixed. We are going to have some big crowds in that building from now until the middle of March, and a crowd doesn't care to spend five or ten minutes in an effort to crowd through a single door to get out. Let's have it fixed. We crave action.

LET'S HELP HOCKEY!

The announcement that a hockey team is to be organized under the direction of Captain Thomas Smith opens up an entirely new field of athletic enterprise that has been neglected on the campus thus far. We have never had any actual winter sports. Basketball, played in a tropical costume in a steam heated gymnasium, can hardly be called an actual cold weather game.

Our Dakota winters offer unexcelled opportunities to work up a varied program of winter sports and to perfect clever performers with the skates and hockey sticks. A definite program should be outlined, a determined bid should be made for student support. The campus individuals and organizations should be hesitant in extending to Captain Smith and the athletic department their help and cooperation.

Portable Power Plant Makes Movies Easily Accessible

NEW UNIT EASILY TRANSPORTABLE FOR USE AS SOURCE OF POWER FOR MOVING PICTURE MACHINES.

A "Homelight", a miniature power plant, has been purchased by the Extension division of the North Dakota Agricultural college. This plant will be used as a source of power to supply moving picture machines. Due to its compactness and lightness it can be very easily transported in any car to places where heretofore moving picture shows have been an impossibility.

Aids County Agents.

It is intended that the machine will greatly aid county agents throughout the state in the way of educating the farmers in rural districts by giving them moving pictures of the latest developments in agriculture. A county agent can put this unit and a moving picture machine into his car, then he can drive out into the country to a farm or school house and set up the "Homelight." He may leave the power plant outside, running a cord into the house to a portable moving picture machine. Then by shooting the picture on a small sheet or plastered wall, small groups of farmers may be entertained and instructed as they would be in modern theaters in towns and cities.

The "Homelight" generates 110 volts and 5.5 amperes, making a generator load of 605 watts. This is sufficient for portable moving picture machines which require from 450 to 600 watts for successful operation, according to experts.

Is Queer Looking.

At first sight the unit looks like an overgrown tadpole, nothing being visible that represents a gas engine or generator, as the generator and engine are housed in a metal case. The gas tank is placed below the cylinder and forms the base of the unit. Underneath the tank are four springs which form the legs of the unit. These springs also absorb vibration from the engine. Contrary to the ordinary method of starting a gas engine by use of a crank, a small rope is wrapped around a grooved pulley and the engine is turned over by pulling this rope. The unit will burn gasoline, kerosene, furnace oil, and the cheaper grades of gasoline. It burns kerosene better than any other grade of fuel.

G. W. Randlett, head of the extension division, Dean E. S. Keene, engineering, and W. C. Palmer, head of the publicity department of the A. C., viewed the unit in operation. When three reels of moving pictures were run through a portable DeVry moving picture machine the unit functioned perfectly, without attention during the showing of the reels.

Walter Augustine spent the week end visiting friends in Minneapolis.

Meet the Bison Staff.

"Let's see, what'll I give the Bison for Christmas?" mused the Spectrum reporter.

"About Christmas time the old fellow will be worrying his shaggy head off about getting twenty-five per cent of the copy for the annual into the printer's hands by Jan. 1, so as to keep faith according to the contract. A little Christmas gift will cheer him up, maybe."

He entered the Bison office, still musing, which was fortunate, or he would have noticed the startled manner in which the Bison jumped up shielding a small table from the reporter's view. So engrossed was he that he did not even notice the red and green Christmas ribbon and bit of white tissue paper hanging over the table's edge, that the buffalo was unable to conceal.

"Well, well, press," said the buffalo uncomfortably, "why pop in on one so unceremoniously? I was just er—unpacking a few baskets of choice hay for my little nieces and nephews for Christmas." Nevertheless, he did not budge an inch from his shielding position. Could it be possible that the fierce old Bison was preparing a Christmas gift for the Spectrum reporter?

"Chief, I came today to ask about Ralph Hollands, editor of the Activities section, and his assistants, Albert Moore and Gerald Hunter," announced the reporter pleasantly.

"Sit down, my boy," invited the buffalo with amazing geniality. "Get the old pencil out, give me your attention, and words of information will flow freely forth from these lips."

"F. Ralph Hollands is a graduate of the Moorhead high school. He was editor of the 'Spud', the monthly magazine there. The Activities section is one that is varied and difficult to handle, inasmuch as it covers a wide range of campus subjects. Ralph, however, with his experience in student publications, in his interest in the work, and in his general capacity for responsibility is handling the work in excellent fashion. The average person doesn't in the very least realize the amount of work represented in one of the larger sections of a college yearbook, so the average person perhaps will not appreciate the problems confronting Hollands or his achievement when the section is in.

"Albert Moore, his first assistant, was associate editor of the 'Cynosure' at Fargo High School, and is now a student in journalism under T. W. Johnson at the college. Gerald Hunter, second assistant, comes from Golden Valley. He was a graduate of Bismarck High School. You know, of course, that your paper carries him on its roster as a reporter. Ralph, with such able assistants as these, should turn in some memorable work."

"Well, how's that, press?" concluded the buffalo good-naturedly. His eyes twinkled as the reporter stammered his appreciation. "I haven't much time for interviews with Spectrum reporters, but Christmas is coming and I suppose we must all try to do our good deed a day in preparation," he declared jocularly.

His good cheer left him momentarily, as he added somberly, "I hope it will be a good Christmas and a Happy New Year for the Bison. The first deadline to the printer for finished cuts and copy is Jan. 1, you know. It will be a sad day for me if the work isn't in on time."

"Cheer up, sir!" cried the reporter eagerly. "I went to a fortune teller last night and asked her how things would be for you, and she said the future was rosy and bright as could be."

"Well, press, I hope so," said the anxious old beast.

"I hope so, too, sir," replied the reporter, and for the second time in their lives they shook hand and hoof on that hope.

Of course, we know you really don't care about the $15, or any amount of $2's, or having your pitcher featured in the Bison, or nuttin', but anyway, and even so lim'ricks are fun, and there's always a kick in winning, isn't there?

TAPPA KEGS, GO DEVILS LEAD Y BASKET TOURNEY

Play in the basketball league sponsored by the college Y has gotten well under way. Six teams are entered, but with the opening of the winter term after Christmas, the entry list will doubtless be swelled by various fraternity quints.

Teams entered to date are: Barracks, High School, Black Cats, Tappa Kegs, Go Devils and Farm Husbandry. A schedule of play has been worked out by Adolph Wall, who has charge of the basketball tournament. Teams meet every Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 9. The Tappa Kegs and Go Devils have made strong showing in the last week despite their appalling titles.

After all there is a difference between a college student and a miser. A college student isn't tight all the time.—Black and Blue Jay.

She: "Nothin' doin', kid; I want a regular meal."

Elusive Bison Is Named Over Keane

Keltner, Thompson and Rumpeltes were placed on the second team. Big Ben and Bertoglio of Creighton tied on the first ballot for first team selections. The coaches finally placed the Creighton fullback on the first string although agreeing that the two plungers are of equal value. Thompson was one vote behind Starbeck of S. D. State for the center position. Keltner is not as fast as Leitch of Morningside and Seeley of South Dakota State and was placed on the second team.

Walter Augustine, halfback; Rae Kneeshaw, tackle; George Newgard, end; Cy Arnold, quarterback, were placed on the third team. Augustine and Kneeshaw would have rated higher had they been in shape to go their best all season. Newgard, a sophomore, is one of the best end prospects in the conference and should displace some aspiring first string all-conference man next season.

The imagination of the North Central mentors must have been stretched to a considerable extent in selecting Funston of South Dakota University for the quarterback post. The Coyote field general displayed his qualifications for an all-conference job in less than half the games played by his team and at a half post which is hardly enough to warrant his selection to such an important post. Funston was injured in the Flickertail tilt and was out of it with the exception of short periods the rest of the season.

It is interesting to note that the entire Bison backfield was placed on the three mythical elevens, also that four of the seven linemen were given honorary positions. The entire left side of the Bison forward wall is included in the three selections: Thompson, Keltner, Kneeshaw, and Newgard.

FOUR LOOP CONTESTS ON BISON 1926 GRID CARD

Four conference and two non-conference games have been scheduled by Coach Ion J. Cortright for the 1926 Bison football team, with four open dates yet to be filled to round out the program for next season.

Members of the Little Eight loop who will face the Bison gridders next fall are Creighton, Des Moines, South Dakota State, and North Dakota University. Nonconference games will be played with St. Thomas and Concordia.

The schedule as it now stands, follows:

SCHEDULE.

- Sept. 25—Open.
- Oct. 2—Creighton, there.
- Oct. 9—Des Moines, here.
- Oct. 16—South Dakota State, there
- Oct. 23—St. Thomas, here.
- Oct. 30—Open.
- Nov. 6—N. D. University, here.
- Nov. 13—Concordia, here.
- Nov. 20—Open.
- Nov. 25—Open.

Prospective Bison gridders will report on Sept. 6 for their first fall training and will start the campaign September 25 against some nonconference foe, probably the Valley City Vikings. The following week the Aggies will entrain for Omaha to meet Creighton on the latter's field. Des Moines will appear on Dacotah Field again next year on October 9. Jack West's South Dakota Jackrabbits will do their best to repel the Bison invasion of Brookings on the sixteenth.

The twenty-third of October brings St. Thomas to Fargo for one of the biggest clashes of the season. It is rivalled only by the Flickertail tilt on Dacotah Field, November 6. Oct. 30 is open and will probably be used to prepare the squad for the University clash. Concordia meets the Bison on the thirteenth. November 20 and 25 are still open dates in the schedule.
