COURT SEASON OPENS SATURDAY

SCHALK, CORTRIGHT REPRESENT BISON AT CONFERENCE MEETING

TWO-DAY SESSION OF LOOP REPRESENTATIVES TO BE HELD AT MINNEAPOLIS ON MONDAY AND TUESDAY.

Coach Ion J. Cortright, director of athletics, and Dr. A. F. Schalk, chairman of the athletic board, will leave Fargo Sunday evening for Minneapolis, where they will be in attendance at the annual meeting of the North Central Intercollegiate conference, which is scheduled for Monday and Tuesday.

Meet at Nicollet.

The meeting will be held at the Nicollet Hotel, the opening session being scheduled for Monday morning at 9 o'clock. Monday's sessions will be taken up largely with the meetings of the various committees and the conference of sports managers. The meetings will all be held with Dean Marshall McKusick of the University of South Dakota, president of the conference, presiding.

The Tuesday sessions will be devoted to unfinished business, selection of the mythical all-conference football team, and the drafting of 1926 football and basketball schedules.

Coach Cortright before his departure declared that he was in favor of changing the present ruling limiting freshmen basketball teams to six games. The present ruling gives the basketball teams too few contests for them to prove their worth over such a long period, and were this limited to ten games it would more nearly reach the approximate number necessary to ascertain the qualities of each individual performer and give the team something to work toward. The practice sessions are tiresome, and over such a long period they get in but four games after Christmas, whereas they should play at least one each week, was the substance of Cortright's favoring a change.

In the selection of the mythical football choice, at least four Bison grid men will have to be given serious consideration. Rumpeltes, Miller, Thompson, and Keltner, have proven throughout the season that they are among the top performers in their respective positions, and merit much consideration on one of the two teams.

Arnold, Kneeshaw, and Augustine, three stellar performers during the past season, were seriously handicapped throughout the year by injuries sustained in early games, and were unable to prove their full worth to the team, although their absence in the lineup was felt at all times. These three, but for their injuries would undoubtedly command as much consideration as the four mentioned above.

Three Shipments of Cattle Made To Chicago By College

Three shipments of pure bred Shorthorn beef cattle were made from Fargo last Saturday enroute to the International Live Stock Exposition at Chicago which opens next Saturday and continues until Dec. 5.

George Baker, livestock man and instructor here is also making a shipment of five purebred Scotch Shorthorn cattle to the show, where he will offer them for sale.

NO ONE AS YET NAMED AS SUCCESSOR TO DYNES.

No successor to Elmer Dynes, instructor of mathematics, who was found dead in his garage on November 13 from carbon monoxide poisoning from the exhaust of his car, has been named as yet, according to a statement given out by President Coulter.

Substitute instructors from the senior class will be employed until some one is permanently appointed to fill the position. It is expected that no successor will be named to fill the position before Christmas, the students taking charge of the work until that time.

100 COUPLE ATTEND BETA ALL SORORITY

ACTIVE MEMBERS OF PHI UPSILON OMICRON ORE HOSTESSES TO SCORE OF COUPLES ON SATURDAY EVENING.

Approximately 100 couples attended the annual all-sorority party given by the Delta Phi Beta sorority in the Armory Friday evening. Decorations for the event were carried out in a black and white color scheme, enlivened by baskets of vari-colored balloons around the balcony railings. A large block of ice through which many colored lights shown, served as a punch bowl and was one of the unique features of the party.

Bagrud's Play.

Dr. and Mrs. John Lee Coulter, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Parrott, Prof. and Mrs. A. G. Arvola, Misses Pearl Dinan and Elvira Smith, Dean Myrtle Gleason Cole, Mrs. M. A. Baldwin, and Mrs. Spaulding, the latter of Jamestown, served as chaperones. Music for the dancing which was held from 9 to 11:30 o'clock was furnished by Bagrud's Royal Club orchestra.

Miss Helen Newton had charge of the arrangements for the party and was assisted by Miss Madeline Parrott and Mary Ball. Miss Norma Edwards, an alumnus of the sorority, was an out of town guest at the party.

The active members of the Phi Upsilon Omicron sorority were hostesses to several girls who live at the house and are not members and to those girls who only take their meals at the house.

The hours for dancing were 8 to 11:30. Mr. and Mrs. Al Severson and Miss Minnie Anderson chaperoned the party. Decorations for the affair were carried out with the Thanksgiving idea, and light refreshments were served to the 25 couples in attendance.

Miss Dorothy Stoudt was in charge of the arrangements for the party.

KAPPA PSI INITIATES EIGHT NEW MEMBERS

Eight students in the School of Pharmacy were initiated into active membership in Kappa Psi national medical fraternity, at a formal initiation held at the chapter house, 727 Eleventh Street North, Saturday afternoon.

The new members taken in Saturday include: Theodore Hagen, Hillsboro; Victor Ramstad, Hixon; George Sampson, Fargo; George Lee, Glynndon, Minn.; Theodore Eyclfson, Park River; Ernest Nelson, Hatton; James McCarty, York; and Stanley Wold, Enderlin.

HON. R. A. NESTOS IS SPEAKER AT MONDAY CONVOCATION HOUR

"EUROPEAN LEADERS ARE POLITICIANS AND NOT STATESMEN," SAYS FORMER NORTH DAKOTA GOVERNOR.

"The trouble with post-war Europe has been that the leaders of the different countries have proved to be politicians rather than statesmen," said former governor R. A. Nestos in addressing students at convocation Monday upon the progress made by the European countries since the war. Mr. Nestos recently returned from a seven weeks' tour of Europe in which he had opportunity to confer with some of the prominent figures in the rehabilitation of Europe.

Talk With Houghton.

The former Governor took opportunity to discuss with Mr. A. H. Houghton, United States ambassador to England, and with others there the universal problems. After visiting his mother in Norway, Mr. Nestos journeyed into central Europe. At Copenhagen he studied the cooperative system through which Denmark has become noted as an exporter of dairy products.

Czecho-Slovakia, the Slav republic amalgamated from portions of Austria and German territory, was discussed by ex-governor Nestos. He stressed the example of its financial recuperation through the foresightedness of three of the Slovakian leaders, one of whom was to fall victim to the enemies of the present regime's policies.

"The larger countries have failed to make the progress that have the newer and smaller nations," said Mr. Nestos. In explanation of this lack of recovery he advanced several beliefs.

"The health and welfare of the warring nations was not only undermined but the feeling of bitterness among the nations prevails.

Looked for War's Close.

"With America's entry into the war these European nations looked to us for aid after the war's close. They failed to help themselves, languishing in the thought that we would come to their rescue.

"Many nations, as Germany, have chosen the path of least resistance by inflating their currency rather than (Continued on Page Four)

DR. COULTER ELECTED TO HIGH POST AT CHICAGO

Dr. John Lee Coulter, president of the college, was elected vice president of the Association of Land Grant College presidents, at the annual election of officers of the association in Chicago, Thursday afternoon.

Besides Dr. Coulter, Alba Bales, dean of the Home Economics school; Dr. H. L. Walster, dean of the School of Agriculture; G. W. Randlett, director of the Extension Division; Dr. P. F. Trobridge, director of the Experiment Station; and E. S. Keene, dean of the School of Mechanic Arts, were delegates to the meeting.

Dr. Coulter gave an address over the radio from Chicago Thursday evening telling of some of the services contributed by the land grant colleges in the United States.

STOCKWELL TO SPEAK ON W.P.A.K. FRIDAY PROGRAM.

W. L. Stockwell, grand secretary, A. F. & A. M., will speak from the college radio broadcasting station, WPAK on Friday evening. The subject of Mr. Stockwell's address will be "Washington, the Man and the Mason." The address which was scheduled to be given earlier in the week, will commence at 7:30.

O. A. Barton, instructor in the department of animal husbandry, was the speaker on Monday's program from the station. Mr. Barton told the poultrymen how to prepare their poultry for market.

HOCKEY TEAM TO BE ESTABLISHED HERE

TEAM TO BE COACHED BY CAPTAIN SMITH; RINK TO BE ERECTED ON DACOTAH FIELD FOR WINTER SPORT.

Announcement that a hockey team will be organized under direction of Captain Thomas Smith, commandant of the local unit of the R. O. T. C., was made by Coach Cortright last Saturday.

Much Material Available.

If the experiment is a success the sport will become one of the major sports here. Captain Smith is a recognized figure in hockey circles, and with the large amount of material which seems available, a good aggregation of ice stars may be collected together and molded into a formidable unit.

Much interest has already been evidenced if the large number of men who have signed up for the sport may be taken as a criterion. Upwards of 30 men have signified their intention of entering into the new sport, many of whom have had high school or amateur experience.

A rink in the southeast corner of Dacotah Field will be flooded as soon as the weather is cold enough, and portable bleachers placed alongside the enclosure which will be constructed. It is possible that curling may also be taken up as a winter sport later on in the season.

Captain Smith introduced the game at Fort Snelling while stationed there and it is now a major winter sport at the camp. He was also a leading figure on the Lake Portage team, recognized national champions of 1908. Establishment of sport relations with several of the leading Northern Michigan colleges, where hockey is a leading winter sport, have been made, and games may be played with some of these teams late in the year.

DELEGATES RETURN FROM Y CONFERENCE

Delegates from the college Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. who left Thursday for the Minnesota Student's Conference, at Northfield, returned to Fargo Monday.

Eric Thompson, general secretary of the Y was in charge of the group which included Donald Hay, Byron Bernston, Llewellyn Howell, Warren Tewksberry, Eva Wilner, Doris Stewart, Robina Wilder, Constance Melchior, and Emily Freemtn.

The conference was a combined meeting of Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. students, at which subjects of common benefit to all colleges were taken up.

VIKINGS ARE BISON OPPONENTS IN FIRST BASKETBALL CONTEST

FOUR MEN TO GET TRY AT FORWARD JOB; MILLER, ARNOLD, BLAKELY AND NEWGARD ALMOST CERTAIN STARTERS.

NEW INNOVATION TO BE TRIED SATURDAY

Basketball will be inaugurated on Saturday evening when the Bison and Valley City Teachers' College quints meet in the Armory at 8 o'clock. This contest will be the first of the season for both quints.

Cortright Likes Prospects.

Cortright was well pleased with the showing made by his proteges in practice tilts held the latter part of the week and so far this week. The passing, shooting and floor work of the squad was good for so early in the season, and with the conditioning which all members of the team received during football, they may be expected to go at top speed during the entire contest.

Saturday's game will serve as a conditioner for the Bison's Wisconsin invasion on December 4 and 5. Little is known of the ability of the Viking cagers, but inasmuch as they have ranked high in their loop last year the game should put the Bison in top form for their trip.

Frosh Get Chance.

Miller and Arnold are almost sure starters at the guard posts, while Captain Blakely and Newgard are almost certain fixtures in the opener at the pivot and forward posts, respectively. As to who will start in Greenfield's vacant post is a problem. Thompson, Rumpeltes, Fuller and Hanson will probably see service during the contest, none of whom will receive first call on the job until game time. All four are capable of giving a good account of themselves, and a hard tussle may be expected for the post.

Riley, Tilton and Millard, of last year's yearlings will get a chance at a guard post, while McPherson, also from the yearlings, will get a chance to perform at Blakely's pivot position.

Students will be admitted to the game on presentation of their athletic tickets, and under a new ruling made last week, no student will leave the building after the game until the "Yellow and Green" has been sung. The singing after the game of the school song is a new innovation here and will be carried out at all games this season, according to Fred Sorkness, who is in charge of the pep activities of the college. The band will strike up the tune as soon as the players leave the floor, and the crowd will disperse immediately after the singing is finished.

Extension Agents To Meet Here Early In January

The eleventh annual conference of county and state extension agents will be held here January 5 to 8, according to an announcement made recently by G. W. Randlett, director of the North Dakota Extension division.

GET THIS RIGHT.

A new innovation in Bison pep will be tried out at the Saturday's game. After the game is over and the teams have left the floor everyone will stand up and sing our Alma Mater. This is done in every large school, and is a mark of respect to the team. You are expected to stay in the Armory until the last note of the "Yellow and Green" has died out. You just try to get out before they sing, and if you are pushed in again don't be peeved; because you are a traitor.

The editor witnessed the University of South Dakota and South Dakota State football game at Vermillion three weeks ago, and when the final whistle blew not a sound was heard until the band struck up the tune of the University Alma Mater. Not a student made a move toward the exits, but each remained in his seat until the band played and all arose and sang it just as loud as if they had won. That's spirit, and spirit that can't die out. Are they any better than we are? We think not, and for proof we will use Saturday's game.

THE DES MOINES CASE.

Announcement was made in the Sunday papers of the bombshell exploded by the Dean of Des Moines University, in Friday chapel. The Dean accused certain members of the team of gambling, breaking training rules, and fraternity politics.

We cannot help but take the side of the players in this case as it looks like a purely timely excuse to lay the blame of the poor showing on the team. Des Moines has not won a game this year. But there are hundreds of other colleges in the same boat that do not have some professor getting up in a chapel where student support for the team should be asked and accuse the team of various inactivities related to football training. The poor loser always has to lay the blame on someone, never taking into consideration that all other teams they have played may have been much their superior, and it was just a case of lack of material and inferiority that caused the loss of every game.

The Bison this year came through the season undefeated, and student spirit has been at a high pitch all season. It is easy to get behind a winning team, but when the team is losing it is not so easy. No one can accuse the students here of lack of support toward the team, but we must be warned against this if the team should hit a losing streak. If at any time in a game the team is behind, they need support. When they are ahead everything is all right. Let's not let our enthusiasm die out because the team is behind. That's the time to yell louder. Again, let's not let our enthusiasm get the best of us and quit the team. No team is invincible.

LONG LIVE THE KING!

The king is dead! Football's brief days of glory are done and the swirls of white November snows spread a shroud across the now deserted fields of sport. And justly so. The changing seasons bring us changing sports and relaxations, a round of varying joys.

To think that any one or other is the greatest sport here on the campus, in the world, is to deny the rest their due. As each passes, another comes to claim our fickle praise and fancy, to charm our thoughts from dull, prosaic things. King basketball, about to mount the throne is a worthy successor to an honored lord. The king is dead! Long live the king!

Ayrshire Breeders Offer Cash Prizes For Essays

ESSAYS MUST BE SUBMITTED TO OFFICE OF AYRSHIRE BREEDERS ASSOCIATION BEFORE JUNE 1, 1926.

Offering $200 in cash prizes The Ayrshire Association of Brandon, Vermont, makes announcement of an essay contest for college students during the current year. "The economic Value of Production Tests" is the subject selected, which permits the discussion of the merits of the various types of tests, including cow testing associations, Scottish, Danish, Advanced Registry, and the new Herd Test plan. It is suggested that the essays be limited to 2,500 words and particular attention is called to the point that no breed partisan limitations are imposed upon these papers. Freshmen Ineligible.

The purse is divided into prizes of $100, $50, $25, $15, and $10, which will be given by the Ayrshire Breeders' Association to the first five students. Any student who has completed the work equivalent to the Freshman year's requirements, and is in good scholastic standing is eligible for this contest.

Essays must be submitted to the office of the Ayrshire Breeders' Association on or before June 1, 1926. Judges will consist of a representative of the American Dairy Science Association, a member of the editorial staff of a recognized agricultural paper and a representative of the Ayrshire Breeders' Association. Presentation of prizes will be made at the 1926 meeting of the American Dairy Science Association.

Meet the Bison Staff.

The Spectrum reporter paused in amazement before the door of the Bison's office in the basement of the Administration building. He went out and then walked in again, just to see whether he really had seen such a thing, or had imagined that he did.

But his eyes had not informed him falsely. Solemnly, almost fearfully, the shaggy Bison within was dancing a jig, in time to some unheard but exultant music in his heart.

Now the Spectrum reporter was a tactful thing, and rather than have the beast discover that a reporter was present at this strictly private little jubilee, (the venerable beast's dignity would have been so hurt) he again backed quietly out, and then came in skipping merrily and humming "Oh, where, oh, where is my littul dog go-wan, oh, where, oh, where can he be-ee-eee?"

After taking all this trouble to be so tactful, the Spectrum reporter was quite hurt and considerably astonished when the beast, instead of taking advantage of such a noisy entrance to compose himself and appear as usual, went right on jiggling. He merely raised his head and said: "Hello, press! That's a good tune; seems I can get more up-and-down, sort of, to that tune. Sing it some more."

"The old fellow isn't the same," thought the reporter as he obediently began to sing the tune about the departed little dog. He was a little sad, thinking of the old days when he never came into the Bison's office without a nervous flutter at the heart. Grown reckless, he interrupted his howling to inquire: "Why so happy, Bison?"

A roar filled the office in reply.

Address me as sir, young puppy!" cried the outraged beast. The reporter fumbled nervously at his pencil seeing at once that one should be careful about his regrets and wishes. "Yes, sir, oh, indeed, sir," he faltered.

"Well, then, its because I've got a new limerick editor," offered the beast grudgingly. "The limericks have been coming in so fast that it needs the attention of one person to conduct the contest properly. His name is Everett Wallum, a Freshman who has been very much interested in the contest from the beginning, and who submitted some splendid suggestions for last lines.

His work begins in this issue, and will continue al the limerick season. It is from his gifted typewriter keys that most of the limerick first four lines will come. By the way, he's got a good one for the next issue of the Spectrum.

"He graduated from Lakota high school, and gained publication experience by being satire editor of his high school annual. He has worked as a reporter for the Lakota American, too, so he should be quite familiar with the wily art of journalism. Everett is only 19 years old, but already he has what might be called a 'type-writer with a punch.' You want to watch his stuff, its good.

"Any general statement for the press on this contest?" inquired the reporter, efficiently.

"Why, I believe .he did mention something like that," replied the buffalo thoughtfully. "He said as long as cross-word puzzles seem to have left us for some other gullible world that this contest will fill a great void on the college campus."

winning last lines for the three weeks just past, and they are in the running for the monthly $2 prize which will be announced as soon after the next contest as possible. With one limerick to go, it is quite possible for anyone to step up and win the sheckels. Remember that if you don't win the monthly prize, there might be a grand reward of $15 awaiting you.

After holding a consultation, we have come to the conclusion that to print a limerick for you to work on during Thanksgiving recess would be very discourteous to the noble turkey, who should command your undivided attention during that time. So, be on the lookout for the Spectrum next Tuesday, when the final contest of the 'month', but not of the year, will be published. Here's hoping you sink a mean brace of molars into some gobbler.

Student Opinion

In the classification of educational institutions there are those who refer to us as a "cow college." This is because the "bossy cow"—sometimes symbolizes agriculture and some think she is vulgar. We consider it poor taste to attempt to disprove the little sneer, but really, now, do we deserve it? Maybe we are enough that way to merit the name. We wonder. What about a little self-analysis to see if there is any grass seed showing. Some of us did come out of the bushes but it isn't necessary to advertise it by practicing bush etiquette on the campus. Now is it permitted to spit on the walk and scatter cigarette stubs in the doorways? Does it show good taste to stand on the front steps and force people to push their way into the building? Does it show the bushman mark when they refuse to walk on the sidewalk? Well, well, maybe we do have some of the marks but it isn't necessary to keep them. And say, who owns all those autos that use the front lawn for a parking space?

Lim'rick Contest.

Of course you want to know how it came out. Never let it be said that the Limerick editor kept you in suspense for a paragraph of type longer than necessary. Here's the results:

The pride of Doc Putnam, his band
Without doubt the best in the land
At game or inspection
You'll see its complexion
It's fame rests on Doc's guiding hand.

What do you think of the above perfect limerick? The author of the winning last line is none other than Ruth Resnick Bayly who accomplished the hitherto impossible feat of receiving the judges' unanimous decision. This was no easy matter as there were sixteen other last lines to contend with, all of them good. This makes Miss Bayly's second triumph in three weeks, as she has one tie to her record. Those receiving honorable mention were: Harry Wold, with "Praise and glory they'll always command," while C. R. Reed scored with two last lines, as follows: "When he takes his baton in his hand", and "From the best in the West it is maned." All of the above named will gain recognition in the Bison.

Believing that merit should not go unheralded, we would like to mention that the following last lines were excellent, and deserving of consideration: "Oh, my, but the drum major's grand," an appreciative expression of Miss Becky Keene's; and "And notice, it's of the Gold Star Band", which was conjured by Miss Effie Hans. As Witwer would jocularly assert, there were others too humerous to mention. We don't want any of you to become discouraged, however, as they were all so good that they would make Shakespeare blush with mortification.

(Continued from Page One) bring it to parity as has Czecho-Slovakia. As a result, inflation has wiped out all internal mortgaged and bonded indebtedness at the expense of the well-to-do class. People who had scraped and saved for oncoming old age are now penniless because of inflated money and ruination of securities." They are left holding the bag in the shape of paper money running into multiples of thousands. Ex-governor Nestos spent eleven days at the session of the League of Nations at Geneva. He again had opportunity to observe the League's operations and its problems. While there he "sat in" at two of the six principal committees. Sir Robert Cecil, Mrs. Andrew Carnegie and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, widow of the League's founder were among those the Dakotan Governor met there.

BOY AND GIRL CLUB MEMBERS MEET SOON

Approximately 250 boys and girls will be guests of the college at the annual meeting of the North Dakota Boys and Girls Club, which will be held here December 15 to 18, according to H. E. Rilling, who is in charge of the club work in this state.

This year's meeting is the fifteenth annual get-together of those who achieve high rank in some form of club work. The club has its own officers and conducts its own business.

The object of the annual meeting is to further an educational program along the lines laid down by the club.

The boys will be accommodated with sleeping quarters in the college Y while the girls will be quartered at down-town hotels. About 25 counties are expected to send representatives to the 1925 meeting of the organization.

THIRTEEN GIRLS ON VARSITY SOCCER TEAM

Despite the fact that no outside competition could be secured, a varsity soccer team of those girls who showed the most ability during the season was chosen. Myrtle Adams, Mary Ball, Helen Ballard, Grace Bayliss, Gladys Bockwoldt, Esther Boyer, Mary McGregor, Sarah McRoberts, Evelyn Morrow, Ruby Oscarson, Nellie May Root, Marion Trowbridge, and Robina Wilder compose the team which was chosen.

Miss Cole, girls' athletic director, has announced that basketball practice will commence at once. Monday night the three upper class members reported for a short drill, and last evening witnessed the Freshmen go through their first practice. The annual interclass games will start soon, all games being scheduled for the girls' gym in Ceres Hall.

A Timely Tip

Keep an eye on your eyes; they're barometers of your personal efficiency. And they also govern your measure of health, happiness and comfort for the years to come. Care for them as you do your teeth and your skin—only far more so. Have them examined regularly.
