BISON ENDS SEASON WITH WIN

JOHN DRINKWATER TO OPEN LYCEUM SERIES ON MONDAY EVE

BRILLIANT DRAMATIST, POET AND ESSAYIST TO BE HEARD IN OPENING NUMBER.

IS MAKING THIRD TOUR OF NORTH AMERICA

The Fifteenth Annual Lyceum Series of attractions will be presented in the Armory of the North Dakota Agricultural College and promises to be one of the best ever offered to the student body. John Drinkwater, England's brilliant dramatist, poet and essayist, will open the course on Monday evening, Nov. 16. Mr. Drinkwater is not only an author of note, but also a superb speaker and holds his audiences spellbound by the magnetism of his voice and his striking personality. He is recognized as the leader of the younger generation of English writers.

Is Still In Thirties.

Although he is still in his thirties, John Drinkwater has earned an unusual degree of fame. In recent years he has become widely known through the production of his two plays which deal with American themes, "Abraham Lincoln" and "Robert E. Lee." His work "Outline of Literature" is ranked with H. G. Wells' "Outline of History," and has been adopted as authoritative in every English speaking land.

On his way west Mr. Drinkwater lectured at Madison, Wis., where he spoke at length on the interpretation of art and reading his poetry. He read "In Lady Street," "A Prayer," "The Vagabond" and several other of his pieces. In reading his poems Mr. Drinkwater affects none of the mannerisms of many poets, but reads in a deep, convincing voice, and delights his hearers by the musical tone of his voice and the perfection of his pronunciation. His stage experience and his thorough dramatic training adds much to the charm of his lecture. In appearance he is tall, dark, poetic and viril handsome.

Fek English writers have such an enthusiastic following on this side of the Atlantic, and his present tour, the third he has made, is being conducted in response to hosts of invitations from all parts of the country.

CHEMISTS MAKE TWIN CITY INSPECTION TOUR

Eight seniors of the School of Chemistry left Wednesday morning for the Twin Cities where they will be the guests of the Twin City Linseed Oil and Paint Co., the St. Paul White Lead and Oil Co., The Twin City Varnish Co., and Coppers Coke Co., on an inspection tour of the various chemical plants maintained by these organizations. The class is making this tour of inspection to make a thorough study of the equipment used and the processes employed in the manufacture of paints and varnishes.

Those who left on the tour include: Robert Carlson, Carl Baden, Joseph Kuhn, Allan Adams, Samuel Yuster, Thomas Caniff and Henry Wangan. The return to Fargo will be made Sunday.

DRUM, BUGLE CORPS BEING ORGANIZED AS SEPARATE UNIT

NEW GROUP GIVES INSTITUTION ONE OF THE MOST COMPLETE COLLEGE MUSICAL ORGANIZATIONS IN THE COUNTRY.

A dream has become a reality with the announcement that the College is to have a bugle and drum corps. Dr. C. S. Putnam, director of music here for nearly a quarter of a century, has tried for years to stir up enthusiasm in organizing such a group, and with eleven snare drums, one bass drum, twelve bugles and a drum major, all of which are practically assured, work is expected to commence on the proposition in the near future.

Cadet Officers Make Presentation.

The snare drums, which are being presented by the cadet officers of 1927 are of regulation size, finished in dark walnut, with green and yellow cords and tassels. The bugles are being presented by the 1926 cadet officers and are Holeon silver plated with burnished bell. These are also to have green tassels and cords.

The corps will be entirely separate from the Gold Star Band. It is believed that this corps will be the only one of its kind in the country sponsored entirely by college students and separate from the regular college band.

With the organization of the bugle and drum corps the college will have one of the most complete musical organizations of any college in the country, an orchestra, glee club and band already being in existence here. Rehearsals for the new organization will commence shortly, according to Dr. Putnam, and actual work will take place shortly after the winter term.

HOWELL NAMED WORLD COURT GROUP LEADER

OPEN FORUMS TO BE CONDUCTED EVERY THURSDAY EVENING ON SIGNIFICANT SUBJECTS; POLL TO BE TAKEN.

A World Court Committee has been formed on this campus in co-operation with similar committees on every American campus as part of the educational campaign now conducted by the Council of Christian Associations, with the idea of discovering what the sentiment of the students of this country is regarding America's entry into the World Court.

In Senate Dec. 17.

Congress has already passed on this measure which will be up in the Senate on December 17. Previous to this date prominent speakers, including ex-President Taft and Secretary Hughes will tour the colleges in support of the World Court. The speakers in this territory include President Glenn Frank of the University of Wisconsin and Governor Sweet of Colorado.

Llewellyn Howell is the chairman of the World Court Committee of the agricultural college; the committee includes among its student members "Cy" Arnold, representing the student commission and Alice Dahlin, representing the Y. W. C. A.

Poll to Be Taken.

A poll will be taken of the student opinion the nation over, regarding the World Court, and it is expected that the votes will be presented to Congress prior to Dec. 17.

Open forums will be conducted every Thursday evening on some subject of wide significance, and the forums will be absolutely "open" in the sense that everyone may freely speak his honest conviction on the subject of the evening.

JOHN ELMER DYNES VICTIM OF CARBON MONOXIDE POISONING

INSTRUCTOR OF MATHEMATICS, GRADUATE OF 1921 CLASS, WAS MEMBER OF DELTA PI AND PHI KAPPA PHI.

John Elmer Dynes, instructor in the department of mathematics since 1921 was found asphyxiated in the garage at the rear of his home, 1134 13th St. N., shortly before eight o'clock this morning.

Graduate of 1921.

Mr. Dynes had been practicing with the shrine band last evening and failed to arrive home last evening. Members of the family upon investigation found him lying on the floor of the garage this morning, where he had apparently been overcome by carbon monoxide gas.

The victim was a graduate of the Agricultural College of the class of 1921, his graduation being deferred due to the war. Mr. Dynes was a member of a band in the navy during the war. He was a member of Delta Pi, local engineering fraternity, and Kappa Phi, national honorary scholastic fraternity.

Mr. Dynes was also a member of the El Zagal Temple of the Shrine, and Fargo Lodge No. 260, B. P. O. E., also a member of the bands of both organizations. He is survived by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John Dynes, one sister, Fern, and a brother, Roy.

Was Brilliant Student.

Mr. Dynes was student assistant in mathematics before his graduation after which he became permanently connected with the department. During his school career he was considered one of the most brilliant students of the college and well thought of by both faculty members and students.

SADDLE AND SIRLOIN MEET WELL ATTENDED

MAJOR WENTWORTH AND DEAN SHEPPERD ARE SPEAKERS AT MONTHLY MEETING OF AGRICULTURAL CLUB.

The regular monthly meeting of the Saddle and Sirloin Club was held in Room 308 of the Agricultural Building, Friday evening.

Dean Shepperd, who has been abroad for the past year gave a short account of his experiences in the British Isles. He brought out the point that the reason so many breeds of livestock have originated from there is their great fondness for animals as pets. He introduced the main speaker of the evening, Major E. N. Wentworth who is at the head of the extension division of Armour & Co. Dean Shepperd and Major Wentworth are both graduates from Iowa State College at Ames.

Wentworth Talks.

Major Wentworth gave a talk on the subject of "Hog Prices." The theme of his speech consisted of explaining the factors that must be taken into consideration by the packer for setting prices. These factors were: 1. Price of product. 2. Relation of market runs to rate of consumption. 3. Distance from point of slaughter to the point of consumption.

A lunch of ice cream, cake and coffee was served after the meeting. This was the largest meeting which the club has had this year, over one hundred faculty members and students being present.

ANNUAL ALPHA GAMMA RHO BANQUET GIVEN SUNDAY

HAROLD BACHMAN, LEADER OF MILLION DOLLAR BAND IS AMONG ALUMNI GUESTS.

Alpha Gamma Rho gave its annual banquet in honor of the alumni faculty members and pledges Sunday afternoon at 1:30. Forty-five were present.

Dean Shepperd, toastmaster, and a member of the fraternity who has recently returned from a trip around the world, gave a very interesting account of his experiences in China. Dean Waister gave a very instructive speech on "Opportunity," which was followed by a short but valuable talk on fraternalism by Dean Waldron.

CADETS TAKE SHORT END OF 14-7 COUNT IN FINAL CONTEST

GAINS BY ARNOLD AND MILLER PLACE BALL IN POSITION TO SEND AUGUSTINE OVER FOR TWO BISON COUNTERS.

WIN GIVES BISON CLEAN 1925 RECORD

RUMPELTES AND AUGUSTINE TEAR OFF GAINS THROUGH CADET FORWARD WALL.

Ending their 1925 grid season with a 14-7 win over St. Thomas Wednesday, the Bison completed one of the most successful seasons enjoyed by a yellow-clad eleven for some time. The Bison came through their schedule without a setback, two ties being charged against them, one a scoreless fracas with the Creighton Bluejays, who with the Bison and Nebraska-Wesleyan are tied up for the leadership of the loop, and South Dakota State Bunnies, who held the Bison to a 3-3 tie on Homecoming Day. To Coach Cortright must go much of the credit for the success of the team, the Bison mentor turning out a remarkable machine in his initial year at the helm of Bison athletics.

Bison Quint Finish.

Five Bison gridmen closed their college football career Wednesday, Captain Thompson, center, Allen Keltner, guard, Ben Rumpeltes, fullback, Cy Arnold, quarterback, and Walter Augustine, halfback, making up the quint lost to Cortright's 1926 grid machine. To this quint must go much of the credit for Wednesday's victory. Each member of the quint gave all he had to make the victory possible and the five veterans played spectacular football, their individual work along with that of Claudie Miller accounting in a large measure for the Bison victory. Miller's punting was one of the features of the game, his long boots usually being good for from 15 to 25 yards gain on each exchange.

The Bison scored first in the second quarter when Miller broke away for a 58-yard run on the first play after Arnold entered the game, carrying the ball to the Cadet 2-yard line where he was brought down from behind by Corcoran. Augustine made a yard at right guard and on the next play Rumpeltes was stopped on the line. Augustine made his second try at the line and followed Rumpeltes and Keltner over Manion for the first counter. Rumpeltes added to the Bison total with a place kick.

After the next kickoff, three consecutive first downs by O'Rourke placed the ball on the Bison 18-yard line. Three lunges at the Bison for (Continued on Page Three)

MRS. SHEPPERD ADDRESSES WEDNESDAY CONVOCATION.

Mrs. J. H. Shepperd, who accompanied her husband on a trip around the world, spoke at the Convocation on Wednesday morning. Mrs. Shepperd spoke chiefly on India, and the customs of the Indian people. One of the most interesting cities visited by their party was Madura. In Madura a twenty-seven acre temple is located. In this temple is a bazaar where the natives sell everything one can think of. The temple is surrounded by a wall and much ceremony is performed before the people enter the temple. These people worship animals, such as cows, elephants, and bats, the latter flying around among the rafters and causing much consternation among the Americans. Mrs. Shepperd also spoke of the trysting place for lovers in Taj Mahal. "There were many trysting there, too," she stated.

NICE GOING GANG!

Wednesday, Armistice Day, in St. Paul the football season closed suddenly, untarnished. An undefeated team returns to Fargo, to turn in their uniforms, to turn to other pastimes; football is over for another year.

To every member of the eleven, to the entire squad, is due the praise and glory rightfully theirs. Two and a half months of rigorous training, of stern self-denial, of darn hard work, is the price of the victories won.

For the second time they have won the state championship in as many years and now they are joint holders of the conference title. No end of credit is due Coach Cortright for the wonderful results achieved in his first year at the A. C. and to each man of the team for his individual sacrifice and effort.

THEY WORK HARD TOO.

In the overwhelming interest in athletics we are prone to forget the fact that other teams beside the grid eleven are representing the Bison intercollegiate contests. Tuesday evening one professor and six students, composing the A. C. stock judging team left Fargo for an extended tour. They will attend and compete in two livestock shows of national importance. Their records and achievements there will reflect on the reputation of the school. They will fight, like every team on Dacotah Field or in the Armory, for the glory of the college. So when credit and honors are being passed around they should not be forgotten.

LET'S START RIGHT.

Unavoidable vagaries in the schedule of John Drinkwater, poet and lecturer, have forced his appearance here on Monday night in the first number of the Lyceum course. Monday night, of course, directly conflicts with the recognized fraternity and sorority meeting night. Meetings on Monday are traditional and hard to abandon; any ordinary college event scheduled for that night courts failure and no recognition. But in John Drinkwater, we have an attraction whose claim to precedence cannot be denied. His coming on this night is not an intentional affront to fraternity tradition but rather circumstance, and circumstance only. Rather than miss the privilege of hearing this lecturer, the campus organizations should be willing to postpone their weekly meeting for the one occasion. Fraternity meetings, of course, are of local importance, no one denies that, but John Drinkwater is of national and international fame. The organizations should appreciate the scale of values.

HELP THE BISON.

The 1927 Bison has made its first public call for contributions in asking the Juniors and Seniors to submit their individual pictures by November 15. This is no empty gesture meant for publicity or exercise, not at all. The engraver, eager to begin work, awaits the first batch of copy. By now each upper classman and woman, who is not afraid to have his or her picture taken, should have mustered up sufficient courage and money to visit the photographer. This is a mammoth job for one person or group of persons to handle, without your support they cannot carry it through.

IT'S NEVER TOO LATE—!

Another milestone; another midterm. Again the higher powers take a reading of the scholastic thermometer and foretell with more or less acumen and accuracy the amount of effort and pressure that will be needed to bring the required figures.

A lot of us passed, some with honors, some with luck, some by stealth and guile. Some of us didn't. This is not final, which is lucky; but this is indicative, which is noteworthy. This is a good chance to be cheered without becoming overly elated, and to be warned without being discouraged. Continue to march.

Nodak Cage Prospects Are Promising, Say Reports

CAPTAIN OLSON IS ONLY VETERAN MISSING FROM LAST YEAR'S FLOOR QUINT.

By Wm. S. Moeller

A dozen Nodak cagers have been at work on the court for almost a month under the tutelage of Coach Letich, former Yankton High mentor, who is making his debut at North Dakota this season.

Prospects for a winning Nodak machine this year are exceedingly rosy, for every man from last year's squad has returned and is ready for action with the exception of Captain Archie Olson, who was graduated last spring. Those who will represent North Dakota will undoubtedly be chosen from fifteen of the most prominent performers who are practicing daily.

New Center Due.

The lettermen who have returned are: Captain Ed Boe, who scintillated at center last season, but will no doubt be placed at forward this year. Bill Edwards, Loughlin, Goldberg, and Wild, forwards; and Busdicker, Veigle and Woutat, guards. Other prominent candidates are Jacobson, stellar campus center who was ineligible last year, and Yoder another campus pivot man, who will probably fight it out for the center post. Hammerickson, Eilson, Doerr, and Geston, forwards; and Arndt and Booty, guards. Among the most prominent sophomores are Lavoy and Thompson, forwards, and Bonser, Watkins, Bjorklund, Moore and Rabe, guards. Boe, Goldberg, Arndt, Watkins, Rabe, Geston, Bjorklund, Moore and Benser are still out for football but will report at the end of the month to Coach Letich.

Meet the Bison Staff.

(Ed. Note—This is the second of a series of interviews with the Bison on members of the Bison Staff, conducted by the Spectrum to make public information concerning the people responsible for this year's annual.)

"Well, let's see," said the Spectrum reporter, looking over his assignments for the day. "This matter of the Bison Staff—'closeups of the people responsible for the Yearbook'. I'll visit the old buffalo and see how approachable he is today."

He entered the office of the Bison in the basement of the Administration building cautiously. The Bison was snorting and champing within, his eye darting menacing fire. As they lighted on the unfortunate reporter, he burst out:

"Sure! Fine stuff! Do you realize that this is to be a junior publication? Are the Junior cooperating with the staff in getting their pictures taken this week so that the Junior class section in the annual will be a good representation of the class? No! and again no!" He stopped and sniffled pathetically, shaking the sudden tears out of his eyes with a twist of his shaggy head. The reporter backed away hurriedly, thinking the movement to be threatening.

"Please, sir," he faltered, "what I wanted to know was—that is—well, I'd like some information about your business manager, Emery Putnam."

The ire in the beast's eye faded out as if by magic; the impatient foot ceased its stamping on the floor; the animal became almost gentle. "Well, he began, with an emphatic nod of the ponderous head, "Putty is one of the reasons why I still have faith and hope and enthusiasm in this annual business."

The reporter, encouraged, glanced hurriedly at his notes, and then persisted: "Where was he born? What was his training for the position? Are you able to give me a statement on his plans in conducting the business campaign for the book?"

"Stop!" roared the buffalo, crossly. "I suppose you will ask me next where I was on the evening of June 5th. This isn't a cross-examination."

The Spectrum reporter turned chagrined to go, and then the Bison said hurriedly: "Well, he was born in Fargo, then. Don't get so huffy!"

He went on: "He is a product of the famous High School. Last year he reported for your paper and was assistant business manager of the Yearbook, besides being secretary of the board of publications."

"The outstanding project for the business campaign for the annual this year is the advertising contest, by which plan all the advertisements will be written by the students, and signed with the students' names in the annual. Putty tells me (and I agree with him) that this should make the advertising section a feature of the book that will be read, and besides, the section will be representative of student work."

"The advertisers get their money's worth, and the section will go toward making a 'bigger and better' Bison?" suggested the reporter brilliantly.

"Exactly. Just what I said," responded the buffalo confidently. "A section that all the readers will read." He paused a moment to beam conceitedly. "That's pretty good, isn't it?" he demanded.

Rather than perjure himself by agreeing and afraid not to agree, the Spectrum reporter nimbly skipped into the hall and escaped.

Easy to Suit.
"What kind of a woman do you want for the party?"
"Get me one that's good and lively. If you can't get me one like that, get me one that's lively."

Margaret: Why is getting up at six o'clock Sunday morning like a pig's tail?

Doris: I'll bite, why?
Margaret: Because it's twirly.

Lim'rick Contest.

Lim'rickers! Today's the last day to get in your last line for this week.

We acknowledge that the word "Claudie" was a rather hard running-mate for a rhyme last week, but this week's lim'rick ought to be duck soup for the jingle experts, and especially for those individuals who have had training in cross-word puzzles. (That covers everybody, doesn't it?)

In case you haven't already joined the ranks of those who go about with that "far-away" look in their eyes and with lips mumbling, "now lessee, would 'fairy' do? now lessee....." join 'em now. The limerick's last line for this week will be due at or before 4:00 o'clock this afternoon. Here's the lim'rick again:

We know a young man from the prairie
A keen judge of things literarie
Said he "You're a wise 'un

Submit as many last lines as you can think of. Each suggestion goes to the judges, without a name, so there can be absolutely no partiality shown in awarding the prize.

Jump on the Lim'rick Limited! Maybe you'll be the one to get off at the town called "Grand Prize—Fifteen Dollars" with bands tooting and colors flying. Anyway, don't forget the little burbs along the way—the "Two-Dollar" burbs. In case this fancy language isn't clear to everyone, remember the two-dollar monthly prizes and the grand prize of fifteen dollars.

Al aboard!

In an isolated region, almost inaccessible in winter, this 6500 h.p. hydro-electric plant located on the Deerfield River in New England, starts, protects, and stops itself.

A Self-Starting Power Plant

Dawn—the slumbering city awakens and calls for electric current. Many miles away the call is answered. A penstock opens automatically, releasing impounded waters; a water turbine goes to work, driving a generator; and electric current is soon flowing through wires over the many miles to the city. This plant starts and runs itself.

Power plants with automatic control are now installed on isolated mountain streams. Starting and stopping, generating to a set capacity, shutting down for hot bearings and windings, gauging available water supply, they run themselves with uncanny precision.

Thus another milestone has been reached in the generation of electric power. And with present-day achievements in power transmission, electricity generated anywhere may be applied everywhere.

The non-technical graduate need not know where electricity comes from—nor even how it works. But he should know what electricity can do for him no matter what vocation he selects.

The General Electric Company has developed generating and transmitting equipment step by step with the demand for electric power. Already electricity at 220,000 volts is transmitted over a distance of 270 miles. And G-E engineers, ever looking forward, are now experimenting with voltages exceeding a million.

A new series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for booklet GEK-1.

Cadets Take Short End of 14-7 Count

ward wall failed and on the fourth play Mero took the ball from center, tossed it to Falk and Falk hurled it into the waiting arms of O'Rourke who crossed the line for the Cadet touchdown. O'Rourke made the extra point good, knotting the count.

Bison Count Again.

In the final period the Bison counted again. A 5-yard penalty after Augustine made an 8-yard dash placed the ball on the Cadet 27-yard line. Arnold dropped back to pass on the next play and four Cadet tacklers dashed through at him. Unable to pass, he pivoted to his left and saw the right side of the field open. He at once took advantage of the opportunity dashing sixteen yards to the Cadet 7-yard line. Augustine lugged the oval three yards on the next play, added another yard on his next try and dove through a hole opened by Keltner for the Bison's second touchdown. Rumpeltes increased the Bison total with a place kick.

A belated Bison rally was started by Tilton when he intercepted a Cadet pass on the Bison 49-yard line. Rumpeltes dashed off 14 yards before being stopped, placing the ball on the Cadet 24-yard line. Augustine and Miller made five yards, and Miller contributed another five on a criss-cross, but two penalties, one for offside and one for holding put the ball on the the Cadet 39-yard line, the game ending shortly thereafter.
