COLLEGIANS PLAY

OVER 100 COUPLES EXPECTED TO ATTEND ANNUAL CLASS
PARTY

The annual Senior Ball plans have been completed and the party will be held Saturday, the hours being from 8:30 to 12. Informal dancing will be in order from 8:30 to 9, with the grand march, the opening number of the formal program commencing at 9 o'clock. Ball Manager J. Ogden Brauer and his partner, Miss Emma Hatlie, will be first in the line of march, followed by Leslie Narum, class president, and his partner, Miss Edith Skurdall. Music will be furnished by the S. S. McKinley Collegians.

Decorations in Blue and White

The decorations have been worked out by the committee and announce that the lights will be massed with streamers of blue and white, the class colors. The walls will be banked with foliage. The program will consist of twelve dances and two extras. Features of the party will consist of comic clogging dances by girls from Miss Andrews' class in clog dancing.

Patrons and patronesses for the party will be President and Mrs. John Lee Coulter, Dean and Mrs. A. E. Minard, Dean and Mrs. A. D. Weeks, Dr. and Mrs. C. S. Putnam and Dr. and Mrs. W. T. Pearce.

Over 100 May Attend

Between 75 and 100 tickets have been sold to date, according to the committee in charge, but a last minute rush for tickets is expected which will bring the total number to well over 100 couples.

The committees in charge of the party are as follows:

Ball Manager: J. Ogden Brauer.

Finance: Kenneth Keating.

Decorations: Vern McCaul.

Music: Donald Peet.

Programs and refreshments: Archie Gerard.

Features: Myrtle Euren.

Patrons: Elizabeth Elliott.

This dance will mark the last of the college formal parties of the year and according to J. Ogden Brauer all indications point to its being the most successful of the series of college formal parties given during the season.

Kenneth Keating, in charge of finances for the party, has requested that all seniors having unsold tickets turn them in to him at once in order that business in connection with the financing of the ball may be completed as soon as possible.

Tickets May Still Be Had

Mr. Keating announced this morning that while there are a few tickets for the ball left, anyone wishing to secure a ticket should see him at once or make arrangements for a ticket with Mr. Brauer. The party is limited to 100 couples and several people have not definitely decided on whether they will attend or not. These people will have first choice in case of a sellout and in order to make sure of a place at the party Mr. Keating requests that he be seen at once.

CHALET GIRL'S DREAM GIVEN LAST EVENING

RUTH VON SIEN PLAYS LEADING ROLE IN NORSE MYTHOL-OGY MASQUE

Norse mythology was the basis of the dance drama, "The Chalet Girl's Dream," which was presented in the Armory last evening by the department of physical education for women. More than 50 students and Fargo children took part in the presentation.

Prologue Is Good

The prologue of the play showed the chalet girl as she fell asleep on the mountain side and discovered by the trolls or elves. Immortal youth becomes attached to her and leads her through mythical places.

Hela, the queen of Nifheim, forbids mortals to pass through on their way to heaven or Osgard. Loki, god of mischief, gets possession of the immortal youth's bracelet in the first act in Valhalla. Warriors and trolls aid the pair in search of Loki in the next act, and the capture and the celebration in Osgard is shown in act three. The epilogue showed the chalet girl awakening to the realization that her journey has been a dream.

Ruth Von Sien played the leading part, the chalet girl, and was ably assisted by Katherine McKee, Loki; Margaret Olsen, Hela; Stella Sivertson, queen of the gods; Dorothy London, Baldar; Mary Ross, goddess of sleep; Catherine Cockrell, Nanna, and Edna Johnson, goddess.

SOUTH DAKOTA "U" YEARLINGS CAPTURE TELEGRAPHIC MEET

BISON FROSH TRAIL FIELD WITH 7½ POINTS; PLACE IN THREE EVENTS

FULLER COPS FIRST

NEBRASKA WESLEYAN AND NORTH DAKOTA FAIL TO MAKE REPORTS

University of South Dakota freshmen won the first annual telegraphic track meet of freshmen in the N. C. I. conference held Thursday. Morning-side was second with 30 points, South Dakota State third with 27½, Creighton fourth with 22, Des Moines fifth with 18, while the Bison yearling trailed with 7½ points. The University of North Dakota and Nebraska Wesleyan failed to turn in results of their meet.

When final results are tabulated there may be a shakeup in the results as Don Thompson of the Flicker frosh pole vaulted 11 feet 9 inches, the same mark as stands for the present conference record, and jumped 21 feet 7 inches, both of which would give the Flicker yearlings firsts. The Nodaks copped another first when LaVoy heaved the javelin 171 feet.

Fuller Wins High Hurdles

Fuller, Bison yearling high hurdler, was the only local athlete to cop a first, taking his favorite event in 15.4-5 seconds, which is 1-5 of a second faster than the time made by Simpson of Des Moines in the event at the conference meet last year, which stands as a record.

Fuller holds the state high school mark in this event and with another year's experience he should be able to lower this mark to a point where it will be hard for competitors to touch it. Hazel tied for a third in the century dash, while Leier took third in the discus throw and Zeissler took a like position in the broad jump.

Following is the summary of the meet, which does not include marks made by North Dakota and Nebraska Wesleyan:

100 yard dash—Won by Cross of Morningside; Dubel of South Dakota university, second; Hazel of N. D. A. C. and Bleedle of South Dakota State tied for third. Time, 10 1-10 seconds.

220 yard dash—Won by Cross of Morningside; Noddings of South Dakota State and Stephens of Des Moines, tied for second and third. Time, 22 9-10 seconds.

441 yard dash—Won by Stephens of Des Moines; Gorthy of Morningside, second; Kamphoefner and Vandyke of Morningside, tied for third. Time, 55 3-10 seconds.

Half mile run—Won by Sorbel of South Dakota State; Boyer of Creighton, second; Rogers of Morningside, third. Time, 2 minutes, 5 seconds.

One mile run—Won by Cobb of South Dakota State; Kempton of Des Moines, second; Giessen of South Dakota university, third. Time, 4 minutes, 54 seconds.

High Jump—Won by Madden of Creighton; Crill of South Dakota university, second; Hayes of Creighton, third. Height, 5 feet, 10 inches.

High hurdles—Won by Fuller of N. D. A. C.; Dubel of South Dakota university, third. Time, 15 4-5 seconds.

Broad jump—Won by Williams of Des Moines; Cross of Morningside, second; Zeissler of N. D. A. C., third. Distance, 20 feet, 7½ inches.

LEGIANS PLAY FOR AN-NUAL FORMAL

The Delta Kappa Sigma fraternity will be hosts at their fourth annual dinner dance at the Country club this evening from 7 to 12 o'clock. Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Hunter, Dr. and Mrs. L. L. Carrick, Dr. and Mrs. C. S. Putnam and Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Parrott, patrons and patronesses of the fraternity, and Dr. and Mrs. John Lee Coulter will be guests of honor.

Features Planned

Several novel feature dances have been planned and during the evening guests will be entertained by a special program which will be presented by pupils of the Early School of Dancing. The program will include an acrobatic jazz dance by Jeanette Euren, Grecian dance by Audrey Du-Beau, and a bubble dance by Marie Early and Helen Cameron.

James McGurren is in charge of general arrangements for the party. The S. S. President McKinley Collegian orchestra will furnish the music.

On Saturday the fraternity will hold their annual banquet and business meeting at the chapter house, 711 Tenth av. N. Dinner will be served at noon and an active business meeting will be held from 1 to 3 p. m. Several out of town alumni are expected to attend the annual dance and business meeting.

BISON READY FOR DISTRIBUTION SOON

WORK ON ANNUAL PUBLICATION
IS RAPIDLY NEARING COMPLETION

Proofreading on the 1926 Bison is finished and the entire book is on the presses, thus making the date of distribution only a few days distant. Stewart Schlipf, the editor, reports the work proceeding at a favorable rate and promises the completed book on the campus ready for distribution to the subscribers by Gay Cat day.

The completed layout for the book included 202 pages, an increase of 30 pages over last year's Bison. The annual is splendidly illustrated, according to advance reports, the engraving work, done by the Brock Engraving company of Madison, Wisconsin, being especially fine.

Out Gay Cat Day

While the actual assembling and sewing is still left to be done, the final work should not take a great deal of time and the book will be on hand for the traditional appearance on Gay Cat day.

There is still a great opportunity for those belated purchasers who have not as yet signed up for a Bison to buy theirs at once. In fact, sale of annuals will continue until the last day of school in the spring. Those who desire to purchase one should see either Mr. Schlipf or Byron Hanson on the campus, or should come in at the Bison office any afternoon. To make this year's sale reach a record number more Bisons must be purchased by the students and faculty members. This should be done at once.

FRESHMEN NON COMMISSIONED OFFICERS TAKE THEIR NEW POSTS

A formal review of the cadet battalion was held on the drill grounds at 8 o'clock this morning. At this time the transfer of the battalion by the senior officers to the juniors and newly elected sophomore commissioned officers took place.

Two gold stars and two gold streamers were placed upon the colors in recognition of the distinguished rating won by the local unit in 1923 and 1924 by President Coulter.

Dr. Coulter Speaks

The senior commanding officers had charge of the platoons at the start of drill and later marched up to where President Coulter and the military staff were reviewing where Dr. Coulter gave a short speech bidding the old officers farewell. The colors were then decorated while the band played "The Yellow and the Green." The new officers then took their posts in command of their companies, after which a review was held in quick and double time. The battalion was then marched to a platform on the south side of the field where President Coulter gave another short talk.

The sponsors for the band and the various platoons were present and received a salute from their respective platoons. At this drill the new non-commissioned officers from this year's freshmen class also assumed their new posts. THE TENNIS COURTS

For the second time in two weeks the Spectrum is in receipt of a student opinion letter regarding the tennis courts.

The Spectrum agrees in every way with the two men in question who are the sources of these letters. Upon numerous occasions the tennis courts are in use by people who are in no way connected with the college, while students and faculty members are forced to sit around and wait for them to finish their games.

There seems to be but one solution to the problem, that of fixing up the courts in the rear of Ceres hall. These courts have never, within the knowledge of the editor, been in fit condition to play upon. Just who is to blame for this situation the Spectrum does not know, but surely some action should be taken to put these two courts in shape. If the school cannot find some method of fixing the courts, the players themselves should do something. It does not seem impossible that a number of players could get together and fix these courts up within a very short time.

The courts should not be public, but rather should be for the benefit of the students and faculty who wish to play. The students are paying for the privilege of playing and it does not seem fair that down town people should come and take the right away from those at the school who wish to play.

Someone is responsible for either keeping outsiders off the courts, or fixing up the two in the rear of Ceres hall, or both. We have a tennis team, but they are forced to go to down town courts in order to secure practice. Is it fair? The Spectrum thinks not. Let's have something done, whoever is responsible.

WHAT IS THE N. C. I. CONFERENCE?

We hear a great deal about the North Central Intercollegiate conference. We know what schools make it up, but are they all really a vital part of it?

Morningside, Creighton, South Dakota State, University of South Dakota, University of North Dakota and the North Dakota Agricultural college are truly a part of the N. C. I. Are the rest? The Spectrum believes the rest are, only to a certain extent.

Nebraska Wesleyan and Des Moines are members of the N. C. I., but are also members of another conference. Which one are they most interested in? We cannot say for certain about Nebraska Wesleyan, for we have never seen a paper from that institution. Des Moines sends their paper to this office regularly, and we glean from the way they write up athletics they have more bitter rivals in their Iowa conference than they have in the N. C. I. We take from the wide separation of this school, and we understand from other N. C. I. schools, that Nebraska Wesleyan is more interested elsewhere.

Wednesday afternoon the freshman track teams of the conference engaged in a telegraphic meet. The results were compiled by the Minneapolis Tribune. All the schools sent in their marks with the exception of the University of North Dakota and Nebraska Wesleyan. Perhaps the two schools have a good excuse for their failure to do as other schools in the conference did. North Dakota cannot be accused of being interested elsewhere, for they play as many conference games as does any other member of the loop. Nebraska Wesleyan with her failure to send in the marks made Wednesday and the failure of that school to send its paper to this school is certainly reason enough for the Spectrum to accuse it of being interested elsewhere. We would like to know the name of the paper and see them live up to their promises made at the paper meet at Sioux City last fall, that of supplying copies of its paper to every other school in the conference.

The N. C. I. will never be a strong conference if some of the schools have their interest divided. St. Thomas has petitioned for membership in the N. C. I. The Cadets were one of the original members of the conference, but when they saw that their rivals were really in the Minnesota conference they dropped out. They have now dropped out of the Minnesota loop and are ready to line up with the N. C. I. again. The Cadets have always proven a big drawing card in games against the university and this school and we are of the opinion that they are ready to come in the loop again and be boosters for it. At least they would have only one conference in which they would be interested. Why not one conference for all the schools?

Warmer Weather Causes Many New Bird Arrivals

STEVENS SAYS BROWN THRASHERS WIDELY DISTRIBUTED OVER STATE

By O. A. STEVENS

Cool weather and lack of activity in the bird world is a common thing in early May. We know that this delay will give way to a rush of new arrivals the middle or latter part of the month, when the weather takes another distinct turn for warmer. Some further reports on birds noted recently have been received and a few additions to the season's list.

Sapsuckers Arrive

Sapsuckers were observed at Argusville April 22 and another report from Fargo is April 25. The writer saw their work in several places, especially in one large spruce tree where an exposed part of the trunk was quite thoroughly peppered with holes. In some places they seemed to have opened up the old holes of a preceding year.

Quite a few tree swallows were noted flying over on May 3. They were reported also at Argusville on April 27. They are distinguished readily from the barn swallow by their pure white under parts. Often they are found in large numbers resting on the telephone wires. In the fall after the nesting season they gather in great flocks to roost in the marshes. On a day last spring at the lakes hundreds of them were flying close to the water. It was a cold, raw day but the birds flew continually back and forth picking up insects from the air and water.

Only very few white throated sparrows were noted last fall but they seem to be common as usual this spring, and the trees and thickets ring with their cheery whistles. They were reported at Bowman on April 21; Fargo, Wahpeton, Jamestown and Argusville on April 22.

The white crowned sparrow has much the same general appearance but the throat is gray like the breast and the white stripes above the eye and on top of the head are broader. These stripes join at the back so that the top of the head has a decidedly white aspect. Still another bird is the Gambel sparrow, a variety of the white crowned, in which the white stripe over the eye extends quite to the base of the bill. In the white crowned the black stripe above comes down in front of the eye.

White Crowned Sparrows Return
The white crowned sparrows were reported at Bowman on April 21, at Jamestown April 23, Flaxton April 24, Fargo April 22 and 25.

They nest in southern Canada, in the northern parts of the eastern states and the mountains of the west. Writing of western United States Mrs. Bailey says there are characteristic sparrows of the mountains as far south as Arizona. The white throated is chiefly an eastern bird and the Gambel is western. Since North Dakota is in the central region we see both eastern and western birds.

Brown Thrashers Observed
The writer saw a couple of brown thrashers on May 3 and they were seen at Argusville also. This is a characteristic bird of early May and few are more widely known. They are found all over the eastern states in summer and in the southern states in winter. West of the Rocky mountains several kinds of thrashers are found.

The thrashers very often are called "brown thrush," but they belong to a family of quite different habits and appearance. The thrushes are stocky birds with quiet habits and soft, clear songs. The thrashers are of longer form and decidedly noisy. The nests of the thrashers are bulky structures of coarse twigs. Those of the thrushes are well built of rootlets, leaves and other fine material.

The mocking bird and catbird belong to the same family as the thrashers and also the wrens which are quite similar in habits, even if much smaller. The writer had thought of the thrashers as birds of the orchard and home grounds, so it was something of a surprise to him to find them very common in the thickets along the Missouri river. The sage thrasher has been found in the western part of the state. This is the grayer bird of the sage brush country, but with characteristic thrasher habits.

RHOS THETA CHIS WIN GAMES

THETA CHIS CINCH AMERICAN LOOP BY WIN OVER SIG NINE

RHOS VIRTUALLY CINCH NATIONAL LOOP BY WINNING FROM PHIS

ERRORS HELP RHOS

THREE GAME SERIES FOR CAMPUS CHAMPIONSHIP TO START MAY 30

Play in both the American and National loops of the campus baseball leagues was virtually settled this week when the Theta Chis playing the Delta Kappa Sigma nine for the American title came out on the long end of a 4-1 score.

Gamma Rhos Win

The Alpha Gamma Rho nine in their first start of the season downed the Kappa Phi aggregation, 6-2, after being on the short end of the score for two innings.

In the third inning the Rhos hit the ball and the Kappa Phi infielders accorded "Big Ben" Gorder poor support, the last year's champions trotting five runs across the platter before Gorder finally struck the last two men out.

Despite the fact that Gorder made two wild pitches, which accounted for two of the counters marked up by the Rhos, he was in no way responsible for the victory, for the winners were able to find him for but two hits, all but one of their runs coming as the result of errors.

Triple Tie Possible

The Rhos still have one game left with the Barracks nine which will be played early next week. In case the dormitorians down the Rhos the National loop will be in a three cornered tie, necessitating another round in this loop.

Morrow and Bliss formed the battery for the iSgs in Tuesday's battle, while the Theta Chi battery was composed of Zimmerman and Johnson.

Student Opinion

More information on the campus tennis situation would not be amiss. On all fair weather days there is nearly always two to six players hanging around the college courts for every possible place that there is for one to play. These are not always limited to students either.

Also, most students are backward about forcing other people from the courts, especially in the case where outsiders are playing in company with students or faculty members. It does seem as though the board of athletic control or some one who has some authority could draw up some sort of rules or regulations that would be fair to students in this respect.

Tennis is the one sport that is open to the rank and file of students to participate in and it does not seem fair that their chances at that should be preempted by a few parasites with more nerve than manners.

Sincerely, M. A. CRAMER.

WORMS INFEST CURRANT AND GOOSEBERRY BUSHES Currant and gooseberry foliage is often defoliated by worms in the spring, according to R. L. Webster, entomologist at the North Dakota Agricultural college. "The imported currant worm is without doubt the most destructive insect attacking those plants," Dr. Webster says. "The eggs, which are deposited along the veins of the leaves, are placed there by an insect known as a sawfly. "The young worms grow rapidly and attain the length of three-quarters of an inch when mature. Usually the head is black, while the body is marked with many black spots. As the worms become full grown they enter the soil, where they spin brownish, oval cocoons. From these cocoons the adult sawflies emerge early the following spring." If the currant and gooseberry foliage infested with these insects is sprayed or dusted with hellebore the bushes may be saved and fruit borne. If applied as a spray, one ounce of hellebore may be used to a gallon of water. Hellebore may also be used in the dry form. This material must be fresh; it deteriorates rapidly. "If applied early in the game, an arsenical poison may be used with safety to control these worms," says the entomologist. "However, many people object to using arsenic in any form and the application of arsenicals after the young fruits have attained any size is not advised. When an arsenical poison is used lead arsenate is preferable, mainly because it adheres better to foliage than most of the others in common use."

First, it is a smart frock, either of plain or fancy material. Next, it is a fashionable coat which may be worn with any dress. Then, it is a most charming combination of coat and frock together in the form of an Ensemble suit.
