BISON END SPRING GRID WEEK DEWEY TRACKSTERS SHOW WELL IN MEET

MIDGET HALF MILE RELAY TEAM MAKE GOOD TIME IN EVENT

FULLER AND BRIDGEFORD PLACE IN MAJORITY OF EVENTS FOR BISON

HAZEL WINS DISCUS

DAY WINS MILE HANDILY; ZEISLER SHOWS PROMISE IN HIGH JUMP

Rain and wind slowed up to some extent the practice track meet at the A. C. Saturday afternoon, but for all of that the boys managed to make good time and win high points in most of the events.

No points were awarded for placing in the events nor were the finals run off in the events where more than one heat was needed.

Fargo high's speedy half-mile relay team stepped off its distance in 1 minute and 39 seconds. Bristol ran the first 220 yards and passed the stick to Powlison. Lonsborough ran third and Rindlaub finished. The time made is only 1-5 slower than the state record and under favorable conditions Kimball's team promises to establish a new state record.

Of the A. C. tracksters Ted Fuller's time of 17.1 in the high hurdles and Harry Bridgeford's form in the pole vault event were among the best marks of the afternoon.

WILL BE GIVEN AS PART OF NATIONAL MUSIC APPRECIATION WEEK

OVERTURE FEATURES

OTHER MUSICAL ACTIVITIES FOR WEEK TO BE COMPETED LATER

The Gold Star band will give a concert next Sunday afternoon, the opening day of national music appreciation week. The concert will be given at 4:30 and will be open to the general public.

This is the first of a series of open air programs, three or four of which are planned for the spring term. The lateness of the hour is due to another program which is to be given downtown during the afternoon.

The program is made up almost entirely of the heavy pieces for which our band is famous. It follows: March, The Gold Star (Mss. new)...

.....Dr. Putnam Overture, Il Guarany.....Gomez Suite de Ballet, from "Coppelia".....Delibes I—Fanfare et Marche de la Cloche II—Valse des Heures III—Museque des Automates IV—Noce Villageoise

A Japanese Sunset.....Deppen Euphonium solo, the Heroid Aria, "Vision Fugitive," from "Herodiade".....Massinet Byron W. Hanson Invitation a la Valse.....V. Weber Fantasie on My Old Kentucky Home.....Dalbey Yellow and the Green.

Other musical activities for the week are to be announced later.

FORMAL DINNER GIVEN BY PHI KAPPA LAMBDA

Formal pledge services of the Phi Kappa Lambda sorority preceded a banquet of that organization at the Gardner hotel Saturday evening. The dinner also marked the installation of Florence Henderson as president to succeed Katherine Cockrell.

The girls taken into active membership were Coral George, Corinne Brauer and Frederika Fjelde of Fargo, and Ruth Eckstrom of Petersburg, N. D.

Decorations of the Rose room of the hotel were in pastel shades and represented a huge flowerbed. The flower note was followed in the program following the dinner. Carrie Dolphin was toastmistress. Toasts were: "Flowerbed," Ruth Briscoe, a charter member; "Queenbee," Katherine Cockrell, retiring president; "New Queenbee," Florence Henderson, president; "Sun," Christine Finlayson; "Flower," Inez Skjurdal.

Other officers installed were: Mavis Peterson, vice president; Mildred Vold, secretary; Pauline Fjelde, treasurer; Lucille Piper, historian; and Della Johnson, publicity secretary.

Honor guests included Mrs. Myrtle Gleason Cole and Mrs. John Lee Coulter, and Mrs. Roy French, Mrs. Ida Ingalls, Miss Christine Finlayson and Mrs. A. E. Minard, patronesses.

Fraternities at Colorado U hold exchange dinners every Wednesday evening, to promote inter-Greek fellowship.

Interraternity Council at Oregon University has abolished favors and corsages for house dances.

UNINVITED GUEST VISITS PHI KAPPA LAMBDA PARTY

The music fell to a crooning love song, lights were dim, dimmed couples waltzed to that throbbing strain, when the uninvited guest invaded the Phi Kappa Lambda all sorority. For a while she seemed charmed by the tune, standing there outside the group of dancers but presently she became bolder and made her way to the ladies dressing room, where she slied up a bit before returning. Some of the ladies spoke in low tones about the intrusion, others were more bold and said frankly what they thought; one girl was even heard to ask her partner if he would care to take a dance, which he quickly refused. What could have brought her there alone. Was it loneliness or did she just want to be different? Anyway, someone threw the cat out.

ENGINEERS HOLD ANNUAL WILD WEST BALL SATURDAY EVE

TYPICAL WESTERN DANCE HALL MAKES UP FEATURE OF EVENING

PRIZES AWARDED

OTTO JAGD, EVA BORDENSON WIN PRIZES FOR BEST COSTUMES

The local chapter of the American Association of Engineers held their fourth annual ball at the college armory last Saturday evening.

As has been the custom in former years the armory was decorated to represent a typical western dance hall with concession stands and a regular bar making up some of the features of the evening.

Costumes were another feature, among which could be found almost anything from a Mexican bandalero to an aviator. Prizes were offered to the lady and gentleman wearing the best costumes, these being won by Miss Eva Bordenson and Mr. Otto Jagd. The former was dressed as a Spanish senorita, while the latter was in the garb of a farmer.

The prizes were for the ladies a $10 box of candy, while the man received a $7 box of candy.

Numbers Broadcasted

Bagrud's orchestra furnished the music for the evening and all their numbers were broadcasted from the college station.

Informal dancing started at 8:30 and lasted until 9, the program dancing starting at this time and continuing until 11:30. Patrons and patronesses for the evening were Prof. and Mrs. R. M. Dolve, Prof. and Mrs. R. H. Slocum and Prof. and Mrs. S. B. Folk.

PHI KAPPA LAMBDA ARE HOSTS AT ALL SORORITY

Members of the Phi Kappa Lambda sorority were hosts at an all sorority party at the college armory Friday evening. The armory was prettily decorated in the colors of the sorority. Program dancing started at 8:30 and continued until 11:30, the music being furnished by the Drengson-Bacher orchestra.

The patrons and patronesses for the event were Prof. and Mrs. A. E. Minard, Dr. and Mrs. W. J. French, Dr. and Mrs. Kent Darrow, Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Black, Mr. and Mrs. George Dewey, Miss Christine Finlayson and Miss Ida Ingalls.

TWELVE LETTERMEN AVAILABLE FOR DUTY ON 1925 GRID TEAM

STAND EXCELLENT CHANCE FOR HIGH RATING IN CONFERENCE RACE

MANY TRY FOR END FIVE CONFERENCE GAMES ON IMPRESSIVE LOOKING SCHEDULE OF EIGHT GAMES

Coach Ion J. Cortright, new Bison coach, who has been conducting the spring grid work here since April 1, left for his home at Cincinnati Sunday afternoon upon the termination of the spring work which ended Friday afternoon with a scrimmage between the regulars and the "Yannigans."

Material Looks Good

Cortright seemed well pleased with the prospects for a winning grid team next fall and intimated that the material on the iBison squad was the best he has seen for some time. "I saw several promising men who are sure to make the going tough for some of the regulars from last season's eleven," Cortright said.

Among the more promising men who were out for the spring work were Ben Gorder, last fall's frosh squad tackle. Gorder is a big fellow, weighing 185 pounds and is very aggressive. Tilton, Walsh, Clasen, Davidson and Fuller look like likely prospects for filling the post at end left vacant by the graduation of Boise. Newgard and Blakely, who are not in school at the present time, are also two very likely looking candidates, leaving Cortright well fortified for wing men. Bert Hazel and Carl Hansen look like the best of the new backs. Both are from last fall's yearling team.

Twelve Veterans Return

Twelve lettermen will be available for duty at the outset next fall with Marks, Keltner and Gray for the tackle jobs, Wall and Baillie for the guard positions, and Bliss, the only letterman back for a wing berth. Cortright will have Arnold and Mach to pilot the team from the quarterback position, while "Big Munn" Rumpeltes will probably reclaim his berth at the fullback post. Augustine and miller, last year's halves, will both be in the fold again next fall and will make an effort to reclaim their berths over the host of aspirants who will probably make a bid for a halfback berth.

Cortright will return the latter part of September to open the grid work, and with prospects such as they are at the present time, the Bison should make an impressive showing in the North Central race next fall.

End Material Pleasing

Cortright was especially pleased with the host of end material, as it is at this position that the Bison have been weakest for the past few seasons. Borleske was confronted with a risk of running his team with only one pair of wingmen, while next season Cortright should have at least three good pair of wing performers. Athletic Director Stanley Borleske has arranged an impressive looking schedule, four home games and a like number of games away being on the schedule, which is as follows:

- September 26—Jamestown college at Fargo.
- October 3—Creighton at Fargo.
- October 10—Morningside at Fargo.
- October 17—South Dakota State at Fargo.
- October 24—Des Moines at Des Moines.
- October 31—University of North Dakota at Grand Forks.
- November 7—Concordia college at Moorhead.
- November 11—St. Thomas at St. Paul.

SPRING HERE

Spring is evidently here, or is here if all the signs and omens seen around the campus mean anything. After a long cold winter spring comes and seems to instill new life into the student body as a whole.

A few of the things that tell us that it is so, is the appearance of the college boys minus their caps, donning of the yellow slicker, the minor tete-a-tete around the campus, on the benches, and the meetings after classes.

Another sign is the cadets again drilling on the campus parade grounds at noon and all classes set back as they were last fall. With the cadet drills is seen and heard the band which adds to the spirit of the drill and also seems to draw the student body which is not involved in the drill back to school early to lounge around on the grass and in cars to watch the drill and to listen to the band.

Spring is Here!

GOLF OR BASEBALL?

With the closing of the spring football season baseball has come into prominence almost over night, and regardless of all earlier predictions it does not appear that golf is taking the place of baseball. Last week while football practice was going on hardly a baseball was to be seen while Sturday morning, the day after spring practice was over, there was to be seen about fifteen men on the college diamond working out and getting in shape for the campus tournament which starts May 1st. The prospects of some very good ball teams is very noticeable and before the league is over competition is likely to be very keen.

Not only is the college baseball diamond the only place where you can see the boys out limbering up their arms, take a walk by the different fraternity houses and you will see them working out at all times. Some are playing catch while others are perhaps swinging the old trusty bat trying to recover the hitting eye of the previous season.

Not it hardly seems that golf is going to take the place of baseball at least it isn't on this campus.

REVERSING THE TABLES

At a recent compilation of the fitness of the teaching force of Antioch college of Ohio, the students were asked to give their opinions on various members of the faculty.

The grading was done on a basis of three major points: Ability to present subject matter clearly, willingness to advise the students on personal, religious and vocational matters, and the value of the faculty member to the college.

The plan is certainly one which would cause the faculty of any institution to think seriously of the manner in which their classes were being conducted, and of their real value to the institution which they represent, their value to the student body, and their ability to get away from the cut and dried lectures which are all too common nowadays.

Many a professor of the average educational institution of today, State college included, thinks that just because he is getting across the absolutely clean-cut points of his curriculum, believes that he is doing his full and unadulterated duty by the class on whom he is inflicted.

The average student wants a professor who "puts out," but in a human, kindly manner, and not as a human dictograph who reels off his lectures with the monotonous regularity of a machine. They approve of the professor who keeps abreast of the times and is able to illustrate his lectures with slang which is not only humorous but thoroughly to the point.—Industrial Collegian.

North Dakota Bird Notes

By O. A. STEVENS

The past week has been a little less productive of new reports. This is not surprising as the writer has observed in various years that after the first period of two or three weeks, there has seemed to be a pause in the migration movements. Often it seems that warm weather had pushed on the early arrivals and the next group had not yet arrived. The fact that few of our late April birds have appeared is further evidence that weather alone is not the cause of migration.

The layman might be inclined to say that it was the birds' apprehension of bad weather which held them back. The scientist regards the physiological condition of the birds' body as the explanation. The impulses of mating and nesting develop at a certain time and these rather than the weather cause the birds to seek their nesting grounds.

Song Sparrows Evident

An early Easter morning visit to the nearest grove seemed to justify our choice of the song sparrow as a representative of last weekend, for they were singing vigorously in the hedges and trees. Mourning doves also were fairly abundant. A brief inspection of the nearby sloughs failed to show any snipe or yellow legs which are to be found there about the last of April.

A visit to the river later in the day found the woods decidedly quiet with neither song sparrows nor doves in evidence. A few juncos flitted about in the trees. Some robins and a pair of nuthatches were seen. A couple of new records finally were obtained in a single bird each of phoebe and hermit thrush. No other reports of these had been received to date, except the phoebe at Argusville on April 4.

Longspurs Seen

On April 13 a large flock of longspurs was seen in the fields, showing again that our early migrants had not all gone on northward. The writer heard once or twice more the shrill call of the kinglet but had not time to locate the bird. They have not been reported further and evidently have not been abundant so far. Bluebirds, also, have been uncommon. The writer has seen but a single one, and others have reported the same.

Geese have been reported as not common this year. Snow geese and blue geese were observed at Carrington on April 5, the former also at Jamestown on March 31. Herring gulls, the large ones found about the lakes in summer were found at Jamestown on March 25 and Carrington on March 31. A second report of the kingfisher came from Jamestown on April 5.

The Phoebe is the first of the flycatcher group to appear in our region, for the flycatcher family is largely tropical. Our species in general, like the kingbirds, do not arrive until the weather has become warm enough for flying insects to be abundant. Most of them retire to the tropics for winter, but the phoebe remains quite commonly in the southeastern United States. It is one of the best known birds, as it is not shy and builds its nests about houses and other buildings.

The phoebe is hardly as common with us as in many parts of the eastern states, since we are at about the western limit of its summer range. Sometimes its call is confused with a similar one of the chickadee. The plump little black capped chickadee is too well known to need description and since he remains with us the year round we may be sure that the calls heard in winter are his. The phoebe's high pitched, drawing call is quite different from the clear whistle of the chickadee.

Phoebe Found

The nests of the phoebe are placed under banks or bridges, on beams under buildings or frequently under the shelter of porches. Probably they have found the association with man to be a protection from robbing birds or animals. The bird is rather slender, nearly white below, grayish brown above, darkest on the head, but without contrasting markings. Through our western prairie region we find Say's phoebe, a more brownish bird, to take its place. A late arrival which nests in the trees and is common in the Detroit, Minn., lake region is the wood pewee. The call of this bird, which is heard commonly at evening, is still more drawn out than that of the phoebe.

BALL LOOP OPENS 4:30 FRIDAY

CAMPUS BALL TEAMS GETTING IN SHAPE FOR FRIDAY'S OPENER

SEVERAL STAR HEAVERS MAY BE UNCOVERED IN SEASON'S PLAY

DELTA PIS-SIGS OPEN

DARK HORSE MAY LOOM IN OPENING GAMES; CRIPE BACK FOR RHOS

Friday afternoon at 4:30 will witness the opening game of the campus ball tournament. The opening game is to be played between the Delta Pis and the Delta Sigs. The outcome of the game cannot be predicted although it promises to be a very good exhibition of the national pastime. The Sigs have Caroll Lund, former Bison first sacker, who plans to have his team in first class shape before the closing of the league.

Of the other teams not so much is known, although the Teta Chis may be seen on the campus nearly every evening limbering up and getting in shape for their first game of the season on May 5, when they meet the Kappa Psi ball club. Although little is known of the Kappa Psi club it is said that they are to be a very strong contender for the cup.

Rho Receiver Unknown

The Gamma Rhos with Richard Cripe on the mound are also going to make a very strong bid for a place. It is not known who is going to take the place of John Mach, who did the receiving for the Rho team last season.

Gorder Back

The Kappa Phis will have several veterans in their lineup, among these being Bill Benschopf and "Nosey" Trumbull, both being former Bison baseball men. Ben Gorder, who was slated for the mound job and who sustained a sprained ankle in spring football, plans on being in shape so as to do the mound work in most of the games, while Bert Hazel is the most likely contender for the receiving job on that team.

CADET BATTALION WORKING HARD TO GET THIRD RATING

MUST COMPETE AGAINST 45 OTHER SCHOOLS IN AREA

INSPECTION MAY 14

NOON DRILL WILL CONTINUE UNTIL DAY OF FINAL INSPECTION

To again win the distinguished rating as one of the best cadet corps in the United States the cadet battalion of the North Dakota Agricultural college must compete against 44 other colleges and universities. Only 12 colleges in the entire area west of the Mississippi river are selected from the 45 in the district. The North Dakota Agricultural college cadet unit has won this distinguished rating for the past two years and is again hopeful of the rating which will permit them to wear the third gold star.

The inspection by military officers is set this year for May 14 at which time the college makes its showing for the final rating. South Dakota university and the North Dakota State college are the only two institutions in this territory that qualified last year, according to Major W. F. Harrell, regular army officer in charge of the cadet training.

Noon Drill Continues

Noon drill will continue until the final inspecting by the board, according to an announcement made this morning by Major Harrell.

So that men who "drag" dates to games will not be pestered by questions, weekly lectures are being given to co-eds at the University of California, Southern Branch.

SON OF FARGOAN IS PROMINENT CONSULTING ELECTRICAL ENGINEER

David H. Moore is one of the prominent consulting engineers of Philadelphia. He is the son of E. J. Moore of Fargo. He graduated in mechanical engineering from the North Dakota Agricultural college in 1909 and since that time has been connected with electrical manufacturing and construction companies in the east, particularly with the General Electric company. For several years past he has been connected with the engineering corporation of Day & Zimmerman in which he has had supervision of the service in electrical engineering.

Has Varied Experience

Mr. Moore has been identified in the design and electrical equipment for power and lighting generation of a number of mammoth enterprises of the eastern and middle states. The International Harvester company's works, Fort Wayne, Ind.; the Silver Springs branch of the United States Finishing company at Providence, R. I.; the Mercer Motors company and the American Type Founders company at Elizabeth, New Jersey—these are representative enterprises in which he has been engaged as consulting engineer in matters of arrangement and construction.

In his position as consulting engineer Mr. Moore is the director of the design and construction of all the electric power generation and distribution. This construction represents an investment of many millions of capital. He represents a type of engineer toward which technical engineering is now tending, that of an advisor and consultant in matters that have to do with large constructive enterprises.

University of Tennessee students each year confer the degree of "Bachelor of Ugliness" upon the senior who has done the most for the university during his undergraduate years, in athletics and scholarship.

Recent research revealed that only three out of ten freshmen at Ohio State use tobacco.

Ten per cent of the men attending Indiana State Normal at Terre Haute, including a number of the "lights" on the campus, are married.
