BISON TRACKMEN MEET FARGO PLANS WELL UNDER WAY FOR FESTIVAL

1925 ENTRIES ARE EXPECTED TO FELL PREVIOUS RECORDS

OLD FACES AND MANY NEW ARE LIKELY TO APPEAR HERE

PAPER CONTEST ON

ANNUAL MAY CONTESTS WILL START ON MAY 14; CLOSE MAY 16

Plans are already well under way for the May Festival to be held May 14-16, according to an announcement made today by Professor A. G. Arvold in charge of the general arrangements for the event.

Many Entries
The competition this year will be many fold and it is expected that some 500 students will compete. Last year the entry list ran well over 300 and 1925 seems to promise much better.

The principal event of interest is the annual high school track meet won for the past several years by Fargo high school athletes. The Midgets again have a strong team, but will be pressed by other schools of the state and also from Minnesota, the Gopher state annually sending a delegation to Fargo for the contests.

Fargo will have an edge on the other schools in point of training. They will have four meets behind them at the time of the festival, including a novice, class, meet with the Bison, and the Dakota relays at Sioux Falls.

Valley City will come to the festival with her Blue and White clad athletes and will again attempt to push the Midgets from their throne. Lisbon, Casselton are among the old faces that will be here and they are expected to enter teams that will figure in the point winning.

Wahpeton has never had a track team but several of her athletic stars have been training for the festival and will likely be here to enter the various events. Grand Forks has always been a competitor with the other schools in the May Festival and may be figured to take points this year, although the upstaters have one of the poorest teams in many years in their history.

The events in the track meet will be the usual thirteen, including 100 and 220 yard dashes, high and low hurdles, 440 yard dash, half and mile runs, half-mile relay, shot, javelin and discus throws, high and broad jumps and pole vault.

Many Contests Carded
Other contests in the Festival will include a women's track meet, dancing contests (for the girls) forensic and writing competition, the usual play contest, the various home economics contests, a stock judging contest, newspaper and annual contests, and numerous other competitions in which the students may win points for their high schools.

The newspaper contest is attracting unusual interest this year, 10 papers entering that have never been in competition before. An annual contest is also being conducted and entries in the combined events are expected to reach 30 before the time for entering closes.

Another feature that is being held in conjunction with the paper contest is a news story and editorial competition that is open to a representative of every paper entered. Assistant Professor of Journalism Maynard Brown is seeking to have one staff member from each paper here at the college during the Festival and two medals are offered. One is to go to the person writing the best news story on the Festival as a whole and a second medal will be awarded the writer of the best editorial in connection with contests.

These prizes are under the supervision of Dean Minard, who also has charge of the essay writing contests.

Phi Kappa Lambdas To Be Party Hosts Tonight

Members of the Phi Kappa Lambda sorority will be hosts to their sister organizations of the campus tonight at an all sorority party to be given in the college Armory.

Hours for the party have been set as 8:30 to 11:30 and the Armory will be decorated with a color scheme carried out in sorority colors.

YOCUM QUILTS POST AS SPECTRUM HEAD

NO SUCCESSOR TO PRESENT EDITOR HAS AS YET BEEN NAMED

Announcement was made today by Edward M. Yocum of Fargo that he had resigned his position as editor-in-chief of the Spectrum.

The reason given by the editor for his resignation was that he was unable to give the college paper the time that it deserved in order to properly serve the students. The step was thought to be the best one in the interest of the paper.

Started Semi-Weekly
The resigned editor took charge of the paper in the spring term of 1924, acting as managing editor under the supervision of Herbert W. Herbison, then editor-in-chief, and now a post-graduate student at the college.

Since his taking charge of the paper several innovations have been made in its policy. Starting with January of this year the Spectrum was put on a twice a week basis, making a fourth step in the evolution of the paper, which was started in 1899 as a monthly sheet. It later became a semi-monthly publication and in 1914 the weekly issue was adopted.

This fall a campaign was begun to raise the student activity fee and make possible a twice-a-week paper. Students voted favorably on the proposition by a 3 to 1 majority and with the January 1 issue the present size and dates of issue were adopted.

While acting as editor of the Spectrum Yocum had the distinction of placing the Spectrum in the North Central press conference best paper contest. He was later elected as head of that body and will serve in his present post until next fall.

The successor to the post of editor will be named by the board of publications this week.

ENGINEERS PLAN TO MAKE 1925 DANCE A THRILLING EVENT

ENGINEERING STUDENT IS REPORTED PROSTRATE AS DATE NEARS

The annual engineer's wild west ball will be given in the Armory tomorrow night starting at 8:30. Everyone in the college is invited and asked to wear a costume in keeping with the western idea.

Student Prostrate
That the engineers have been hard at work was evident from a story finding its way into the Spectrum drop box late last night. The writer wishes his name withheld, but his story follows:

BY AN ENGINEER
Howard "Fat" Parkinson, prominent and ambitious engineering student here at the college dropped prostrate at 4:15 a. m. to the floor of his room in the Barracks after 67 hours, 18 minutes and 45 seconds of man-killing work thinking of new ideas for the Engineers Ball to be held Saturday night in the college Armory. Parkinson has been a consistent worker and a steady plugger in all activities of the local chapter of the American Association of Engineers and this sad news comes as a terrible blow to his brother members, for they feel that they have imposed more or less upon his good nature.

At noon today "Fat" was reported resting easily, though his mind is still wandering and his constant mutterings are a jumble of such phrases as "Watch Colorado Frank catch the cannon ball," "Play Bingo" and "Try Our Snake Poison." The only statement made by Dr. Fortin and Dr. Schalk, attending physicians, was the expression of their fear that a state of permanent dementia may set in, coupled with complications of innocuous vicissitude.

Is Traditional Affair
But to get to the point, "Fat's" efforts to make the Engineers Ball a success are merely representative of what is being done to make it the biggest "night out" that the Engineers have held. It is a tradition in all schools that teach Engineering that the Engineers have an annual celebration, either in the form of an Engineers day or a carnival. Since the local chapter has not as yet succeeded in obtaining a day to set aside for their activities their carnival dance has been their annual jubilee.

This is expressly an all college party and every college student is cordially invited to attend. It is desired that this party shall be distinctly different than any other college function and a special request is being made that everyone wear something out of the ordinary. The decorations and settings are to be fashioned after those found in western amusement parlors, which are no more, and it is partly the purpose of this party to revive that old spirit of frontier days when engineers were pushing civilization westward and doing their best toward claiming nature's wealthful resources.

Saturday night is the time, the Armory is the place. The admission is free, so we want to see your face. Forget the trials and privations of this transitory life and allow the Engineers to be your hosts at their annual all college party.

Publication Board To Hold Meet Today 4:30

Members of the Board of Publications will meet today at 4:30 to select an editor for the Spectrum for the coming year and also to select a successor to the resigned editor of the Spectrum.

The meeting has been called for 4:30 and all members are requested to be present. Other business will also be brought up.

TIGERS ENTER DRAKE RELAYS ON SATURDAY

DES MOINES TEAM WILL GET EXCELLENT EXPERIENCE IN MEET

By ALLAN M. HOSCHAR

Des Moines, Iowa, April 23.—The Tiger track teams have been pointing all season to the Drake relays, which are to be held in Des Moines next Friday and Saturday. With another week ahead of them, they ought to be in the best of shape for this great relay carnival. It is unknown yet what events the Tigers will enter, but it is expected they will try to uphold the honors they won last year, when they took the mile and half-mile relays in record time. This year the varsity will run in the college section for their events, and the Freshmen will carry the baton in the Iowa conference section of the half-mile relay.

Frat Series Over
The Drake relays have come to be a gala track event in the middle west, and the entries thus far received show that more than 2,500 athletes from all parts of the United States will compete here Friday and Saturday. Practically every team in the North Central conference is entered in this great track classic. Each team will be closely watched by opposing coaches, all trying to get a "line" on his opponents for the conference meet to be held the latter part of May.

The annual inter-fraternity basketball games were brought to a close this week with the Alpha Gamma Kappa quint winning the final contest, defeating the Omega Tau Psi, runner-up, in the final game of the series by the score of 19 to 14.

MANY FEATURES FOUND IN CERES HALL LIFE

The phobias of the Ceres hall girls are mice and men. One arouses just as many and as loud screams as the other. Should there be a man in the dormitory the girls are just as excited as if there were a mouse in their room—and that quite often happens—the latter, I mean.

The hall's social diversions are numerous. They take the form of upside-down parties, valentine teas, slumber parties, mock weddings and so on down a list too long to mention. Occasionally something happens to put a kick into life for instance.

When the parlors are redecorated and the young "industrials" infest the building.

When some one tumbles into the wrong room after the lights are out.

When some wearing apparel is missing.

When after solemn promises to leave the fire escape window open for some late arrival, the night watchman locks it and some unfortunate spends the night outside.

When the noise drives you to the library to study.

Yes, altogether it's an "interesting" life, quite the kind pictured in the story book boarding schools.

COLLEGE TRACKSTERS TO FACE FIRST MEET OF SEASON SATURDAY

FARGO HIGH WILL HAVE EXCELLENT CHANCE IN MANY EVENTS

MIDGETS ARE GOOD

BISON SHOULD COP WEIGHT EVENTS HANDILY FROM HIGH SCHOOLERS

North Dakota Bison track candidates will get their first test of the season tomorrow, when they tackle Coach Charley Kimball's Fargo high Midgets on Dacotah field at 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

Points Split

In many of the events the points will be split, while the Bison should cop the majority of firsts. In the dashes, Fargo has several fleet-footed athletes who will make the competition good for Griffith, Miller and Hazel, Bison sprint stars.

In weight events the Bison, as a result of their age and size, should have little trouble in downing the high school weight heavers. Dewey has been using Kneeshaw, Rumpeltes and a number of others in these events and some excellent results have been forthcoming.

In the mile the Bison have Day and Hamilton, the latter's specialty being the two mile, but in the absence of that event he will tackle the shorter distance. Day made quite a name for himself in Fargo high school and also in Montana, where he holds the high school record for that distance. He also holds the May festival record for the mile.

440 Interesting

In the half mile the Bison will also count on day, while in the 440 a pretty three cornered race looms with Bechtel and Mortenson carrying the Bison colors, while Rindlaub, holder of the state 440 mark, will attempt to down the collegians. In an effort to cop the double furlong Kimball will not use his track leader in the 220 event which he also won at the state meet last year.

In the high hurdles the Bison should have everything their way with Fuller, Bridgeford and others making better time than the Midgets.

The same is true of the pole vault where the Bison have a big edge on the best Kimball has. In the high jump the Bison also have an edge, while in the broad jump O'Connor seems likely to cop if he can repeat his 19 foot performance of last week.

In all the meet promises to be an interesting one with the Bison copping the majority of firsts, while the high schoolers will make their bid to fame by coming in for the seconds and thirds.

Many Side Issues

Another sidelight that looks like a topnotcher is the fact that Kimball's men will be running under the Midget mentor's watchful eye in hopes that they may make the trip to Sioux Falls to enter the Dakota relays. The southern meet is scheduled for next Saturday and eight lucky Fargo high schoolers are seeking the trip to compete on half, medley and mile relay teams.

Bison tracksters will also be after showings in hopes that they may enter the North Central conference contests a month from now at Sioux City.

The Bison class meet has been slated for May 9 and the meet tomorrow will be a chance for the men to get in training for the annual classic of the Dacotah field as far as Bison students are concerned.

OUR SWAN SONG

With this issue of the Spectrum the writer ceases as editor-in-chief of the paper. His successor is not known as yet but whoever he may be he has the heartiest of well wishes and the deepest of sympathies of the departing editor.

In passing it might be well to in some small way thank those that have helped me in the work as chief of staff of the paper.

Richard V. Cripe, who will continue as business manager, deserves untold praise for his work as business head of the paper. He has managed the paper well nad despite increased costs he has managed to make the semi-weekly paper a reality. He has been ably assisted by Paul Revell.

Too much credit cannot be given Eugene Fitzgerald for the work he has done as conference editor. He has served the paper well and his articles have all had a "kick" that have made the Spectrum one of the widest read papers in the North Central conference. His picking of mythical teams has been faultless or nearly so, something few doing the same thing can be told.

His column entitled "Brilliant Stuff" was the most popular feature column that any paper in the conference could boast of and also it was one that despite his witty and cutting satires, made no enemies.

A host of others are due credit for their work on the paper, including the members of the campus editorial staff and general staff members and reporters as well.

The printers come in for their share of eulogy. In some 40 issues of the paper they have been late upon only one occasion, that being due to a broken press, which could not be helped.

A record such as this is unusual even on the most metropolitan of dailies. Especially deserving of praise, little as it may seem, are "Stad" Stadden and Harry Rusch of the Rusch-Boyd company, who print the Spectrum.

And then in closing. The departing editor appreciates the co-operation and backing of the students that made the change of the paper from a weekly to a semi-weekly. Faculty are also to be thanked for their work in this connection.

The writer is well aware of the fact that some measure of criticism has come as the result of some articles but the paper would be a poor one if it did not draw comment and at least provoke an occasional thought and discussion.

It is with a feeling of pleasure and yet regret that I close my term of editor by resignation. I thank the students for the support they have given the paper, but while doing my "damndest," if the phrase be permitted, I realize that all has not been done that might have been.

State Will Feel Loss Of Timber Says Dean Waldron

North Dakota will be one of the first states to feel the acute shortage of timber that seems inevitably confronting the nation, declared C. B. Waldron, dean of horticulture and forestry at the college, when asked of the part this state might take in the observance of American Forest week, April 27-May 1.

No Forests Here

Although this state is practically without forests, yet Forest week is of great importance to residents of this section, Mr. Waldron insists, as those states that are farthest from the wooded regions will be first to feel the want of timber and its products.

"The rapid settlement of North Dakota during the '80s and '90s was largely due to the cheap lumber imported from Minnesota and Wisconsin forests," he said. "This cheap lumber enabled the farmers to put up a comfortable set of buildings for a few hundred dollars. The same conditions allowed the rapid growth of the towns with their elevators, business blocks, school houses, churches and residences at only a fraction of the present building costs."

The eastern and Great Lakes forests are nearly exhausted and the Pacific coast timber will soon also be gone, the forest specialist reports. Because of the limited rainfall here and the high agricultural value of the lands, North Dakota will never produce timber commercially so residents of the state will some day face a timber shortage that may be serious unless tree planting is started now on a definite scale.

Wait Is Short

"We can grow our own fuel, posts and poles at a smaller cost than this class of timber will be selling for in another 15 or 20 years," Mr. Waldron says. "Five acres of common willow in the eastern third of the state will cut approximately 200 cords of wood in 20 years, or its equivalent in posts and poles, and will furnish 15 cords each year thereafter for an indefinite period.

"The farm owner will not have to wait 20 years to realize on his investment. Each year the grove will add to the value of the farm and as timber of all kinds becomes higher in price, a farm with a good thrifty grove only five to 10 years old might easily bring $1,000 more than one not so supplied.

"This does not take into account the protection afforded by a timber plantation to the gardens, orchards and farmstead nor the improved appearance that trees give to any home.

"The only way to avert a timber shortage that shall be anything but a national calamity is for every land owner to plant trees. Many will at least make the start by laying off a few acres of land and cultivate it through the season so as to prepare it for planting next year. Willow cuttings and ash seed planted in the garden will provide trees for planting next year."

MOVIES AID TEACHERS OF COLLEGE HISTORY

Learning history by watching the movies is the latest wrinkle in collegiate education. Battle scenes, famous characters of the olden days and such stirring events as the signing of the Declaration of Independence are among the epochs of history to be presented to college students by the medium of the film instead of the printed word.

This is possible through the Yale Press, which has prepared films on various historical themes, according to W. C. Hunter, professor of history at the college, where the classes in history are viewing several of the films. The pictures are called the "Chronicles of America."

"Seeing Is Believing"

That this new method of teaching history is valuable and should be used more by all colleges and other schools throughout the country is Mr. Hunter's belief. "Seeing is believing," he says. "A picture of a famous battle cannot leave the student in doubt as to which army was victorious. Too often the printed word failed to make the student remember which side won, who were the generals, and what were the results.

"Another great advantage of filming history for the benefit of students is that the great and famous characters of the past are brought vividly before their eyes. In a second of time pictures can do more to imprint impressions on the mind than can paragraphs of description."

Historical films in the present list that are being viewed by students at the state agricultural college include the following: Doniel Boone, Jamestown, Eve of Revolution, Frontier Women, Wolfe and Montcalm, Declaration of Independence.

MANY STATE SCHOOLS ENTER PAPER CONTEST

Twelve North Dakota high schools have already entered the newspaper contest to be held at the time of the May Festival at the college, May 14-16, reports Maynard W. Brown, assistant professor of journalism at the college. This number is expected to be greatly increased in the next two weeks as several schools who have been entered each year since the event was organized have not yet sent in their 1925 entry.

Annals, weekly papers, quarterly magazines, monthly publications, and school columns in weekly newspapers are the classifications listed in the contest. The following have been named as judges: R. L. Spry, Associated Press correspondent for North Dakota; R. O. Nefziger, Fargo Forum staff; M. W. Brown, journalism staff of the college.

The twelve schools which have already entered are Anamoose, Wimbledon, Hamilton, Cooperstown, Egeland, Bowbells, Fargo, Montpelier, Hankinson, Underwood, Mahitou and Plaza. In 1922 and 1923 Dickinson high school won the first prize and last year the "Pep," Bismarek high publication, was given first place.

Silver loving cups are to be awarded to winners of first place in the weekly paper and the annual classes and suitable awards will be made for the other classes.

CAMPUS BALL NINES READY

RIVALRY GROWING AS OPENING NEARS FOR FIRST GAME

DELTA PIS AND DELTA SIGS MEET IN SCHEDULE OPENER

TEAMS ARE EVEN

CHAMPIONSHIP SERIES WILL CLOSE WITH FINAL GAME JUNE 6

Campus John McGraws and Miller Huggins' have been grooming their campus ball nines for the past weeks in preparation for the opening of the season next Friday when the lid will be tilted.

Picking of favorites at this time would be like picking the winners of the nation's world series. All of the teams will have stars for nucleus and a number will find a constellation numbered in their ranks.

Cripe Here Again

The Gamma Rhos with the strong arm hurling of their champion twirler of last year, Richard Vaughn Cripe, the curly haired lad, are favorites to cop their division while the Delta Sigs, Theta Chis and eDita Pis will all have good teams in the other circuit.

The Sigs have not announced their hurler as yet, but the receiving end of the battery will be well taken care of by George Bliss, the mustached catcher, who will also play city league ball with the Grand Recreation nine.

The Delta Pis, or filthy engineers who live in ditches as they are sometimes termed, have been too busy to do any concentrated work as the result of their preparations for the wild west ball tomorrow. They will, however, put a strong team in the lineup.

The problem of the Theta Chi team to be able to find a hurler to replace Osman who twirled in the titular series last year. Boyd Carmony has found time to leave his saxophone long enough to blow a few over the plate and looks like a good underhand artist.

Little is known of the Sigma Tau team, although "Coach" Gerard, star of the city commercial basketball league, may do their hurling.

The Kappa Phis will have several veterans in their lineup, but seem to lack someone to put the ball over the plate. Gorder, a big fellow from Bottineau, had been counted on to bear the brunt of the defense, but has suffered a sprained ankle and may be out for the season. Bill "Willie" Ben-shooof, the New Rockford gash, looks like a possible successor, doing the twirling for the Phis last year. Nosey "Snoot" Trumbull is one of the best outfielders in the loops, having played two years of varsity ball and he will form the basis for the attack of the Phi nine.

In all the race looms as one of the best in years and with the Barracks unheard of the race will find its dark horses and disappointments.

RAMSEY COUNTY COW MAKES GOOD RECORD

Aaltje Johanna Lottie, a purebred Holstein cow owned by Sorenson Brothers, Webster of Ramsey county, North Dakota, has just completed a notable record, reports J. R. Dice, dairy specialist at the college.

This cow, at the age of seven years produced in one year 22,553 pounds of milk containing 670.28 pounds of butterfat, which is equivalent to 837.85 pounds of butter. This is the second highest Holstein milk record ever made in the state, and the third highest butterfat record.

A daughter of Aaltje is now on test and will break the state senior two-year old record for all breeds when she finishes her year record.

BEEES BEGIN WORK EARLY THIS YEAR

North Dakota bees have been working overtime this spring, on account of the exceptionally mild weather recently. A report from Bottineau county states that they have been working on the "crocus" blossoms in that vicinity. Around Fargo the bees have been working on soft maples and also on elms, from which trees they obtain both nectar and pollen in abundance, is the report of Dr. R. L. Webster, entomologist at the college.

"The nectar from such sources is used within the hive, and together with pollen, is converted into beeswax," he reports. "Occasionally some surplus dandelion honey is stored away during May, but this is usually considered as less desirable for human consumption. It is inferior to the sweet clover honey for which North Dakota is gaining some little reputation outside the state."

College Tracksters To Face First Meet of Season Saturday

A definite line on the chances of the teams in the class meet will also be gained and at present the dope favors the Frosh with their galaxy of former high school stars.

Freshmen will not enter regular varsity competition this year but will compete with other freshmen of the "Little Eight" in the telegraphic meet that will be held in May.

The Bison Frosh have an excellent chance to go well in this event with a number of men who have made names for themselves in high school

Original Poetry

But you can't blame the sophomores,
For they were freshmen too,
And last year's sophomore class
Left them all black and blue.
So please don't think the only one
That's getting it is you.
Your sophomore year is dawning;
Look forward to your fun.
Then you'll turn 'round the other way
And after freshies run.
Your friends are always just the same,
They'll like you all the more,
If you will grin through thick and thin
Till freshie trials are o'er.

The kids around me yawned and stretched;
I heard a gentle snore.
I longed that I would never see
A school room any more.

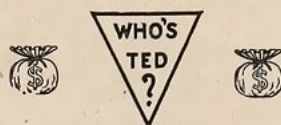

I saw the sun shine in the sky;
I heard a robin sing;
I felt in that sweet, lazy mood
The fever of the spring.

I felt my head nod to and fro;
I felt my eyelids close;
And drifting off to quiet dreams,
I slept in sweet repose.

I dreamed I lay beside a brook
And lazed the time away;
That there was never any school,
Just playtime all the day.

I dreamed a bird took me on high—
But, oh, 'twas a hearty shake
The teacher's hand upon my arm,
Brought me full awake.

HAVE YOU BOUGHT YOUR NEW ENSEMBLE?

Fashion favors the Ensemble for most occasions and one's wardrobe, to be complete, must have one.

First, it is a smart frock, either of plain or fancy material. Next, it is a fashionable coat which may be worn with any dress. Then, it is a most charming combination of coat and frock together in the form of an Ensemble suit.

A beautiful and most complete showing at Black's.
