ALL-CONFERENCE FIVE NAMED EXAMINATIONS WILL OPEN TUESDAY

SHIFT TO ENABLE REGISTRAR TO GET MARKS OUT EARLIER

REGISTRATION FOR SPRING TERM WILL SHOW DECREASE FROM FALL

MAIL MARKS SUNDAY

SOME STUDENTS WILL BE FORCED TO RETURN HOME TO HELP FOLKS

As a result of the referendum ballot taken during the past week by Registrar Parrott through the faculty council examinations will open Tuesday rather than on Wednesday as was first planned.

Marks Out Sunday

The reason for the change given is that the registrar's office must have the extra day in order to clear up the work of the winter term before registration for the coming term. As a result of the change all of the grades will be in the mail by Sunday night, providing faculty men comply with the council ruling regarding the forwarding of marks to the office.

The schedule is much as in former times, a regular sequence being followed. Two classes coming at the same hour will be handled in the following way: Classes meeting on the first days of the week will hold their examinations during the first part of the period, while those meeting the last half of the week will hold their examinations on the last part of the period.

The schedule of examinations as announced by Mr. Parrott follow:

- Tuesday at 8 o'clock
- Classes meeting at 8 o'clock
- Tuesday at 1:15 o'clock
- Classes meeting at 9 o'clock
- Wednesday at 8 o'clock
- Classes meeting at 10 o'clock
- Wednesday at 1:15 o'clock
- Classes meeting at 11 o'clock
- Thursday at 8 o'clock
- Classes meeting at 1:15 o'clock
- Thursday at 1:15 o'clock
- Classes meeting at 2:05 o'clock
- Classes meeting at 2:55 will be scheduled specially as will any other later classes.

STATE HIGH SCHOOL MEET OPENS TODAY

WAHPETON, WINNER OF FIRST DISTRICT, PICKED AMONG FAVORITES

Valley City, N. D., March 20—Eight high school basketball teams will draw here at 10 o'clock this morning for the opening round of the tournament that will decide the championship of the state.

Wahpeton, winner of the first district held at the North Dakota Agricultural college, has been picked among the winners after critics saw their bunch of tournament huskies work out.

The seven other teams that have arrived, in the order of the districts they are representing, follow: Jamestown, Mandan, Belfield, Grand Forks, Devils Lake, Minot and Kenmare.

Two new faces are found in the state tournament race in Belfield and Wahpeton. The Belfield quint have won their way to a chance at the state title for the first time in the history of the school from the badlands.

Semifinals of the meet will be played tomorrow morning with the final game being played Saturday night.

WORK OF CADETS PLEASES HARRELL

PRESENT CADET CORPS IS IN BETTER SHAPE THAN IN FORMER YEARS

The work of the cadets in their Friday morning showings so far this year have brought a broad smile to The reason is obvious to those 12345 the countenance of Major Harrell. The reason is obvious to those who have followed the work of the cadets during the past few years.

Practical Work Good

This year the battalion is in better form and smarter than have been for any of the three preceding inspections. All of the classes know their "stuff" better, according to the major than they have in years gone by.

At the same time the practical work has not suffered. The under classmen execute their maneuvers in excellent shape considering the earliness of the year and the little practice that has been had.

As soon as the weather permits, and also the drill field, the afternoon half hour periods will be started in order that the Bison will not lose the Gold Star from the Bison circle but rather bring another to the two already found there.

"I am more than pleased with the work of the cadets," says Major Harrell. "They have done their work well and I see no reason why we cannot win another star if the present work is kept up to the standard already established."

ERPS, THOMPSON WIN NATIONAL POSITIONS

Harry R. Erps of Fargo and Sophus G. Thompson of Hatton, senior students in the School of Civil Engineering, were recently notified by the department of commerce that they have been appointed as junior mathematicians in the service of the U. S. coast and geodetic survey.

These appointments come through the results of competitive examinations given by the U. S. civil service commission last December. Erps and Thompson will probably go to the national capital immediately after graduation to take up their duties in the government's engineering department.

Many good "mans" appear on the three conference selections which may be noted in this issue. The most prominent "man" on the three teams is Trautman. Then we have Couchman, Corneman and Hinman. The men predominate. If we had one more we could have picked a "man" team.

Speaking of adding color to things, Redfield and Greenfield add color to the second team.

Is it true that some of our co-eds have stooped to stealing? From what we could get of a conversation heard yesterday, we take it that it is true for we heard one of the fair sex state, "I am taking home economics." They should leave things alone that belong to the school, and don't be taking them home.

A sports writer on a Grand Forks paper always refers to athletic teams from this institution as "Farmers," "Farm school athletes," "Aggies," and makes reference to arguments of coaches from this institution. After all he probably thinks the boys from the "Farm school" played a little basketball as soon as they got the furrows out of the way and got used to a hardwood floor.

We certainly further take exception to his most recent statement to the effect that Dewey would resign if he did not receive the athletic directorship here. He may be a good forecaster, but he better get out that old crystal and gaze more closely after he has wiped it off.

Dame Rumor plays some queer tricks at times and what we like to read on a sport page is news not unfounded forecasts.

Well, to sum up this little "difugility," Dewey has not resigned yet nor even intimated that he would. Well, all in all we might jog his memory to the fact that the Bison look like repeaters again.

Maybe "Ad" is waiting until April 1 to play a little April fool joke on the upstate scribe.

LITERARY TALENT MEETS AT IOWA U

NATION'S NOTED CRITICS WILL CONCENTRATE AT IOWA CITY

Iowa City, Iowa, March 20.—Literary talent of the country will be concentrated here in large quantities on March 25, declare officials of the writers' conference which will be held at the University of Iowa on that date. They report answers to invitations coming in rapidly. Henry Seidel Canby of New York, editor of the Saturday Review and one of this country's foremost literary critics, will talk on "Literary Criticism in America" and will lead round table discussions. Leonard L. Cline, literary editor of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, has informed local officials that he will be here for this conference.

Edwin Ford Piper, the poet; John Townner Frederick, novelist and editor of The Midland, and Hardin Craig, head of the University of Iowa department of English, will preside at the conference sessions. Mr. Piper and Mr. Frederick are also members of the university's English faculty.

The first session at 9 a. m. will consist of discussions led by Nelson Antrim Crawford of the Kansas State Agricultural college journalistic department, a well known author and alumnus of Iowa; Jay G. Sigmund of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, the poet; Helen Cowles LeCron, literary editor of the Des Moines Sunday Register, and others.

3 CREIGHTON, 2 BISON CAGERS ARE ON FIRST QUINTET

1925 SEASON SAW TWO OUTSTANDING TEAMS, A. C., CREIGHTON

ARNOLD, BLAKEY PLACE

MORNINGSIDE ONLY SCHOOL FAILING TO PLACE ON FITZGERALD "5"

By EUGENE FITZGERALD

Three Bluejay and two Bison cagers place on the Spectrum first mythical all-conference selection for 1925. Confining the selection to two teams may seem a bit unusual, but the superior class shown by the Bluejays and Bison over their other rivals make it very obvious why the choices have been so made.

3 Outclass Field

Arnold, Mahoney and Trautman were easily the class of the loop in their respective positions, and are placed on the first team with little hesitancy. Speicher was easily the second choice as Arnold's running mate and is given the other guard position. As in former years, a shift was necessary to fit in the most capable performers, this shift sending Mahoney to a forward berth, while Blakey is given the pivot post.

The most difficult selection came in placing Blakely at the center berth, Redfield, South Dakota star performer, being a strong rival of the big Bison. Redfield would perhaps add a little to the scoring ability of the team while Blakely's presence would make the combination stronger defensively. Blakely, while not the heavy scorer Redfield is, would offset this disadvantage in his defensive and floor play. Blakely, however, is not a weak scorer and in addition would be the main cog in the offense of the quint, because of his clever ball handling. Arnold is a natural leader and is given the captaincy of the quint, while Redfield holds down a like position on the second team.

Redfield is given the pivot position on the second team without argument, while Couchman and Greenfield handle the forward berths. Couchman gets the all off for shots at the basket faster than any man who appeared on the Bison court all season and is a strong defensive player who exhibits a good brand of floor play. Greenfield takes the other berth because of his scoring ability. Greenfield is tall and rangy and makes an ideal under-basket performer.

Only Two Shifts Made

The guard berths are given to Coffey and Corneman because of their defensive and scoring ability. Corneman incorporates both ends of the play in his game, while Coffey is primarily a long short artist. Coffey is not as good defensively as Corneman, but can cover a man in good shape. Miller proved Coffey's toughest opposition for the berth, but Miller's game is not up to the standard he maintained last year, and is placed on the third team with Hinman, who is made captain of the quint.

Hinman and Miller rate third team places over any other guards who showed in the season's play because of their speed in taking the ball down the floor for a shot or pass and getting back to cover any forward who may get near their basket. Exclusive of Mahoney, Boe, Flicker star, gave Blakely the toughest opposition the Bison pivot man received all season, and takes the center post on the third team. Ekern, Bunnie star, was Boe's only rival for the honor. Knapp is the second performer on the three teams who was shifted from his original position. Knapp starting as a guard on the Des Moines quint, took care of most of the up-court play

THE TERM IS DONE

By the time that this issue of the Spectrum reaches the students the term will be closed. The grades for many are already decided. For others there still remains a fighting chance to make the hours that are sought.

At this time it is probably well to pause and reflect on the causes of failure. For those who have not "made the grade" they themselves, better than anyone else, know the cause. The instructors can not be blamed. With a rare exception they have done all that they can to aid a student. Every effort is made to put the student through the work with a passing grade if that is at all possible. Remember that it looks just as bad for a faculty member to have a student fail as it is a reflection on the student not to pass.

Instructors are not hired for the purpose of failing students, although we'll agree that occasionally some find their way in and sometimes have reasons for their actions.

With the close of the term make your grades as good as you can, honestly—if you fail and don't make the hours profit by the experience; it is not an entire loss.

MAJOR HARRELL RECEIVES LETTER

The following letter from Major Harrell to the Spectrum and a letter that has been received by him are well worthy of the consideration of every student. The letter of the late Robert E. Lee is indeed interesting, his advice is of the best.

To the Editor:

I have just received copy of a letter that contains such pleasant and profitable advice that I am sending it to you for possible publication. The advice was good in 1852, it is better today.

W. F. HARRELL.

The following letter was written by General Robert E. Lee to his son, G. W. Curtis Lee, toward the close of the latter's yearling year at West Point, and just a few months before the father arrived at West Point to become superintendent.

Arlington House, April 5, 1852.

My Dear Son:

I am just in the act of leaving home for New Mexico. My fine old regiment has been ordered to that distant region, and I must hasten to see that they are properly taken care of. I have but a little to add in reply to your letters of March 26, 27 and 28. Your letters breathe a true spirit of frankness; they have given myself and your mother great pleasure. You must study to be frank with the world; frankness is the child of honesty and courage. Say what you mean to do on every occasion, and take it for granted you mean to do right. If a friend asks a favor, you should grant it, if possible; if not, tell him plainly why you cannot. You will wrong him and yourself by equivocation of any kind. Never do a wrong thing to make a friend or keep one; the man who requires you to do so is dearly purchased at a sacrifice. Deal kindly but firmly with all your classmates; you will find it the policy that wears best. Above all, do not appear to others what you are not. If you have any fault to find with anyone, tell him, not others, of what you complain; there is no more dangerous experiment than that of undertaking to be one thing before a man's face and another behind his back. He should live, act and say nothing to the injury of anyone. It is not only the best as a matter of principle, but it is the path to peace and honor.

In regard to duty, let me, in conclusion to this hasty letter, inform you that nearly a hundred years ago there was a day of remarkable gloom and darkness—still known as the dark day—a day when the light of the sun was slowly extinguished, as if by an eclipse. The legislature of Connecticut was in session, and as its members saw the unexpected and unaccountable darkness coming on they shared in the general awe and terror. It was supposed by many that the last day—the day of judgment—had come. Someone in the consternation of the hour moved for adjournment. Then there arose an old Puritan legislator, Davenport of Stamford, who said that if the last day had come he desired to be found at his place doing his duty, and therefore, moved that candles be brought in so that the house could proceed with its duty. There was quietness in that man's mind—the quietness of heavenly wisdom—an inflexible willingness to obey present duty. Duty, then, is the sublimest word in our language. Do your duty in all things like the old Puritan. You cannot do more; you should never wish to do less. Never let me and your mother wear one gray hair for any lack of duty on your part.

Your affectionate father,

"To G. W. Curtis Lee.

R. E. LEE."

Time Will Bring New Land Policy To Nation

NEWER PHASE OF AGRICULTURAL PROBLEM FELT IN EUROPE ALREADY

The time is not far distant when it will be necessary for the United States to substitute a policy of trying to find land for people in place of its traditional policy of finding people for land and handing out large pieces of the public domain to them, says an article in the American Bankers Association Journal. The executive departments at Washington, particularly the Department of Agriculture, are working on the determination of probable future needs and a classification of the land.

Started Abroad

"The consciousness of the land problem has not yet developed in this country as it has in England and on the continent of Europe," Dr. L. C. Gray, in charge of the division of land economics, is quoted as saying. "The subject of land economics has not yet become in this country, as it has become abroad, the central theme of agricultural economics.

"Our problem in this country has been largely one of disposing of a great reserve area of public land, attracting people to the land and keeping them on it, rather than a problem of providing land for clamorous multitudes of people who are seeking to become farmers. This, of course, has prevented the subject of land economics from being foremost in the consciousness of those who are interested in the agricultural problem. But we are entering this newer phase of the land problem, and so rapidly does our population increase that this other aspect of the land economic problem is just around the corner."

The objective of the division, according to Dr. Gray, is to provide information that will enable the people to understand thoroughly the situation as to the agricultural land resources of the nation and to see the situation in its true light, divested of temporary considerations, propaganda and sentimentality. The article says:

Question of Expression

"As rapidly as possible we must be able to answer such questions as: 'How fast should our agriculture expand?' 'What proportion of our surface area should it occupy?' 'What should its relation be to the other great usages—pasturage and forestry, and what areas are best suited for these various uses?'"

"A statistical study of the rate of return on investments in farm land has been completed and published as a contribution toward a satisfactory basis for framing policies for land appraisal, for taxation and for rural credit. Other projects include a survey to measure the effect of such factors as yield per acre, distance to market and road type on land value, and extensive data have been collected on trend of land values in relation to prices of farm products, rates of interest and improvements. A system is being developed whereby upwards of 60,000 selected correspondents will report four times a year on land values and turnover, land tenure and occupancy, land utilization and farm labor conditions."

"Y" PUG MEET IS FINISHED

QUAM, ANDERSON, HOWDEN, OLSON, WIN IN THEIR EVENTS

BOUTS END "Y" PUGILISTIC TOURNEY; SEASON HAS BEEN SUCCESS

The final bouts in the Y. M. C. A. winter term boxing tournament gave the sports fans some of the biggest kicks that they have received this season, when one match was lost on a foul, the next was won by a knockout and the last was a tie and went an extra round.

Quam Wins on Foul.

The first scheduled event on the card was the bout for the lightweight championship of the A. C. between Raymond Quam of Fargo and W. E. O'Connell of Glenburn. O'Connell had Quam outweighed by several pounds and would have won the bout handily only he became over excited in the last round and in swinging wild hit Quam low and the little fellow won on a foul. Quam put up a game fight throughout and as he was outweighed the bout terminated in about the only manner that it could to give the smaller boy the recognition which he deserved for his spirit.

The next event for the welterweight championship and found Milton Wiltzie of Sheldon opposing Jack Anderson of Napoleon. Throughout the tournament the competition in this class has been exceptionally keen and both boys were out to win. The bout was hard and fast the first two rounds with Wiltzie having a slight edge in the battle. In the third round Anderson began to weaken and Milt seeing his opportunity, slipped over a series of punches that dropped Anderson for the count.

The middleweight bout featured Wade McNeil of Malta, Mont., and Edward Hoden of Cooperstown. These boys were evenly matched, both as to weight and aggressiveness. Neither of the boys had much advantage at the end of the first two rounds. In the third round Hoden began to obtain a slight supremacy, which he held throughout the fight. At no time was either fighter a clear cut winner over the other as both were landing more blows than they were blocking, and it was only due to a rugged constitution that both of them lasted the entire four rounds. Hoden was awarded the judges' decision of 4 to 1.

Bruns Loses Chance

The leading battle in interest was the bout in the heavyweight division between Henry Bruns of Valley City and Peter Olson of Mekinock. Both of these fellows were in the two hundred pounder class and both were out to win. This bout brought the fans to their feet time and again. Olson was the more aggressive of the two but Bruns excelled on the defense. Bruns was showing up a shade the better at the end of the first round, while at the end of the second round Olson had a slight edge. The next two rounds were slower but neither fighter was able to gain an edge over the other. At the end of the last round both fighters were tired and battered. The judges decided that the fight had been a draw and as both fighters thought that they would rather depend upon their physical resources in going another round than to the goddess of luck at the flip of a coin they were started out on a fifth round. In the fifth round Burns maintained a slight edge for about 39 seconds, when Olson started a swing from his home town that landed in fine shape and devitalized Bruns to such an extent that Olson was able to obtain a clean cut decision at the end of the round.

The tournament proper was preceded by an exhibition bout staged between Frank Dvorak who has considerable reputation as a pugilist, and some other lesser lights in the fistic pastime. Dvorak boxed two rounds with M. A. Cramer and a round each with Targer Soma and Lee Hoff. All four rounds furnished the fans with a great deal of entertainment.

The committee of judges was composed of Professors MacConnel and Iverson, while the student members were "Tubby" Jones, "Jug" Newgard and "Greek" Malarian.

The third man in the ring was Warren Magnuson, who kept the ring square in his usual pleasing manner.

3 Creighton, 2 Bison Cagers Are On First

for that team and is an excellent shot and would prove an ideal forward. Knapp's defensive play is not strong enough to give him a guard berth, but his shooting ability is too good to leave him off one of the three teams. The only man on the three teams not seen in action by the writer was Hurlbut of Nebraska Wesleyan.

Hurlbut placed as a forward on the second all-conference mythical selection last year, and his record this year entitles him to a place on one of the three teams.

Maroons Are Even

The only school which failed to place a man on any of the three teams was Morningside. The Maroons have a very evenly balanced aggregation with no class outstanding star, and therefore fail to place. The writer has not seen the Maroon aggregation in action, but from reports received through players who have faced the Sioux City quint, feels that the Maroons are not being neglected in being left off the mythical teams. All the players mentioned in the above three teams were outstanding men on their respective teams and seem to fit in admirably with the other members.

Honorable mention goes to the following named performers: Wilde and Veigel, North Dakota; Owens and Ekern, South Dakota State; DeKlotz, South Dakota; Newgard, North Dakota Agricultural college; Van Citters, Metcalf and B. Rogers, Morningside; Toay, Des Moines; Brown and Ryan, Creighton; Alabaster, Nebraska Wesleyan.

SIGMA THETA SORORITY INAUGURATE NEW FUND

The Sigma Theta sorority has recently instituted a student loan fund to be known as the Irene Leimbacher Memorial fund. This fund has been established for the purpose of assisting Junior or Senior girls who find it necessary to borrow money to complete their education. Any girl who is interested may file her application with Miss Frances Lamb.

The sorority has taken this means of honoring the memory of one of its members, Irene Leimbacher, who gave her life during the World war. Miss Leimbacher was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Leimbacher of this city.

The black-tipped, Chinese lacquer-red beauty that's harder to lose than plain black pens
Point Guaranteed for 25 Years

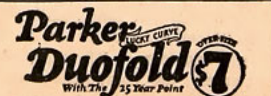

THOUGH classic Duofold is made in plain black too, we recommend the black-tipped lacquer-red because it's hard to mislay.

Only the Parker has these creations that abolish long-standing pen faults:

- 1—The Ink-Tight Duo-Sleeve Cap
- 2—The Press-Button Filler concealed inside the barrel—out of sight—out of harm's way
- 3—The Lucky Curve Feed providing an instant flow and a steady flow by capillary attraction
- 4—The Duofold Point, so smooth and quiet-going that it makes your writing a luxury—a Point no style of writing can distort.

And Duofold's Over-size Barrel holds an extra supply of ink to tide you over longer stretches of writing. Step in to the nearest pen counter and taste its "writing urge."
