INCREASE FAVORED

ATHLETIC BOARD FINDS NO OPPOSITION FOR PLACES ON BODY

Cyril Arnold was named as president of the Student Commission for the coming year, and athletic and publications boards named, an increase of $1.25 in student activities favored and a student commission elected at the campus election held Friday.

The vote for the election was light, only 268 votes being cast of a possible total near 1,000.

The increase, if favored by the faculty will provide for compulsory subscription to the annual by every student registering. At the same time it will also lighten the burden of the various heads of the subscription campaigns and will form a definite working basis for the managers and editors of future year books.

The votes cast in the election follow:

BAILLIE WINS PRIZES IN STOCK JUDGING CONTEST

By scoring 621 out of a possible 750 points, Alden Baillie won first place in the annual all collegiate stock judging contest which was held at the college on Saturday.

Beef and dairy cattle, horses, swine and sheep were the classes of stock judged. Thirty-five entrants competed.

The other prize winners were as follows: Second, William Toussaint with 615 points; third, Leroy Lillie with 610; fourth, George Landwork with 607, and fifth, Clyde Challey with 616. The next five in order of placing were: Charles Fleming, Lloyd Ryall, Louis Moe, Howard Lewis and Raymond Douglas.

Baillie and Harold Sielstad with 149 out of 150 points won the swine and beef cattle classes, respectively. William Toussaint took the dairy cattle judging with 143 points, and Howard Lewis with 137 captured the sheep class. The honors for horse judging went to Greg Montgomery with 133 points.

Judges were: William Hammer, Cooperstown, horses; W. W. Brown, Amenia, swine; Mrs. Marsden, Hendrum, Minn., beef cattle, and Obert Skrei, Glyndon, dairy cattle.

COLLEGE WILL NOT SUFFER UNDER CUT

MODEL HIGH SCHOOL WILL RECEIVE BRUNT OF APPROPRIATION REDUCTION

The several departments of the Agricultural collegewill not suffer to near the extent at first feared despite heavy reductions in appropriations, according to Dr. John Lee Coulter.

"The most important change will probably be the elimination of freshman high school work next year and of both freshman and sophomore work the following year. The two upper classes would remain as before and would serve as a practice school for the school of education. The budget board wished to eliminate the whole high school but I protested that we had to have a practice high school of at least 100 students.

To Build Sewer

"The appropriation was increased from $515,719, of two years ago, to $543,000 this year, but this increase meant additions to the repair fund and to the School of Mechanic Arts. The increased repair fund, among other things, will enable the college to construct a trunk sewer to the river. This will relieve the partially flooded condition of the campus in the spring. Graveled roads and new sidewalks between Science hall and the Agricultural building will also result from this fund. The Mechanics Art school will be provided with additional generators for necessary electric power."

The principal reduction in the experiment station appropriation fund was in the substations and demonstration farms which were cut from $40,000 to $15,000 and from $10,000 to $2,500, respectively.

With respect to these slashes Dr. Coulter said: "The government at Washington feels it is a waste of money to try to run a lot of small stations. It is more important to concentrate in a few. The substation at Dickinson will doubtless be continued since the soil and temperature are different there and it is desired to keep one main station in the western part of the state. The substation at Williston will also be continued. The stations at Langdon, Hettinger, Edgeley and McLeod will be turned into branch farms for the purpose of increasing new varieties of stock and seed. The college never thought these stations necessary and did not fight to keep them.

Farms Eliminated

"The demonstration farms will be gradually eliminated and the county agent and extension workers will do this work. Contrary to current opinion we are not apt to lose any of the county agents. In fact, in 10 years I expect to see county agents in all of the counties.

"The pure seed laboratory was reduced $4,000 but the college is authorized to charge for all samples tested in excess of 10. Ten samples are considered a sufficient number for the average farmer and it is believed that fees received for the testing of additional samples will balance the reduction. Formerly, some seed houses were in the habit of sending in a thousand samples to be tested. This new law eliminates this procedure.

"One appropriation, that of $10,000 for the farmers institutes, which consisted of traveling lecturers, was entirely lost."

The total appropriation for farm work this year is $873,400, as compared with $952,260 of two years ago, a reduction of $78,869. But most of this reduction either deals with work out in the state or else can be made up in fees.

DEBATERS CLOSE SEASON TONIGHT

BISON ARGUERS WILL TANGLE WITH CARLETON, OXFORD CONQUERORS

The last men's debate of the season was held last evening, the A. C. debating Carleton college, whose team last fall defeated Oxford university of England. The subject debated upon was: Resolved, that Congress be given the power to overrule decisions of the Supreme Court by a two-thirds majority, which declares acts of Congress unconstitutional.

The members of the A. C. team were Jorgen Birkeland, Wade Boardman and Charles Wells. This was Charles Wells' fourth and last debate for the A. C.

Notice!

The first of a series of historical moving pictures will be shown in the college Armory Wednesday afternoon at 3:45. The first production is entitled "Daniel Boone" and an admission charge of 10c will be made in order that expenses will be paid.

"Daniel Boone" is the first of a series that will be given during the remainder of the year and according to Dr. Hunter, who is in charge, the last numbers will be of the free variety if the receipts at the first pictures more than cover the expenses.

NEW ARMORY GONE; TO ADD TO OLD ONE

LEGISLATURE FAILS TO APPROPRIATE MONEY FOR NEW BUILDING

By ROBERT A. HAMILTON

All hopes for a new armory for the college for at least four years were blasted at the last session of the state legislature. But to aid in soothing the sorrows of the disappointed ones President John Lee Coulter is considering methods of enlarging the present armory and expects to have a definite plan to submit to the board soon. This was the gist of an interview with the president on Thursday afternoon.

Brought Up Once

In regards to the appropriation for the new armory Mr. Coulter said, "We did our best but failed. We succeeded in getting the appropriation ($200,000) in the budget report and once Senator Rusch of Fargo brought it up on the senate floor but we could get it no further.

"The board of administration and the budget board were of the opinion that the two buildings most needed in all institutions of the state are the Liberal Arts building at the University of North Dakota and the armory here. Since the next legislature does not meet for two years and it would take at least two years more to erect the building, four years is the shortest time that we can hope for a new armory. But by that time the situation will have become acute and therefore about the only plan of relief is to enlarge the present building.

In the past four years while I have been here the enrolment has increased from 376 to approximately 1,000. This increase has made it more difficult to house those attending the social, athletic, and other gatherings and in four years time, at the present rate of increase in enrolment, there would be many that would be unable to attend these functions.

"For this reason I have been considering two plans for the enlargement of the armory. One would mean an addition on the west end, while the other, the more probable, would add an annex on the north side. This would be where the present gun room of the military department is now located.

"I have estimated that we could pay for the addition from the added receipts in the next four years." The cost would be between $7,500 and $12,000.

Dr. Coulter was to discuss the plans with members of the athletic board on Thursday afternoon. If approved, which is almost a surety, they will probably be completed this week. There is a possibility that the adoption may be ready for dedication at Homecoming next week.

FORMER COYOTE HEAD WILL ASSUME CHARGE HERE ON APRIL FIRST

I. J. CORTRIGHT, NEW DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS, HAS GREAT RECORD

HIGHLY RECOMMENDED

NEW MENTOR HAS OKEYS OF LITTLE AND ROCKNE OF NOTRE DAME

I. J. Cortright, formerly on the football coaching staffs of Michigan Agricultural college, University of South Dakota, University of Cincinnati, and later engaged variously as special coach and gridiron official, has been selected to direct the athletic destinies of the North Dakota Agricultural college.

Mr. Cortright was unanimously chosen for the position by the athletic board and the board's action was endorsed by President John Lee Coulter, the president recommending to the state board of administration Cortright's appointment as professor of physical education and head football coach. The state board confirmed the appointment this morning in an executive session.

M. A. C. Graduate

The new athletic director graduated from Michigan Agricultural college in 1911 after having made an unusual record as a star athlete in several sports. For the next two years he was assistant coach at the Michigan school, leaving there in 1914 to become football coach at South Dakota university. While at Michigan he worked with Brewer, now athletic director at Missouri university. Mr. Cortright coached there for two years and then became athletic director at the University of Cincinnati during 1916-17.

During the World war he was engaged in physical training work in the army and returned after the war to his alma mater, where he again helped develop the teams that made M. A. C. famous.

Since 1921 Cortright has lived in South Bend, Ind., where he was engaged in the automobile industry. He often assisted Knute Rockne, famous coach and trainer of the "Four Horsemen." Rockne, in recommending Cortright for the position at the North Dakota college, declared that the latter was an excellent coach and that he had shown an intense interest in the game. He has thoroughly mastered the Rockne system and some of the Notre Dame plays may be used by Cortright next fall. Rockne admitted that Cortright's team at South Dakota university had given the Notre Dame team the hardest gridiron battle the latter team had had in years.

Dewey to Return

Other coaches who praised Cortright's ability are Director St. John of Ohio State university, Fielding Yost, Michigan; Brewer, Missouri; George Little, Wisconsin. Little declared that Cortright was the best coach available for the North Dakota post.

The new football coach will report April 1 to train the squad during spring football period. His regular duties do not commence, however, until July 1, when he will take over the department of athletics from Stanley A. Borleske, Bison coach for the past six years, who had resigned to take effect the coming summer.

Mr. Cortright in accepting the recommendation for his new position, declared "It would be hard for me to find a school that offers a better opportunity for a coach to step in and deliver more decisively during the next three years."

George Dewey, basketball mentor, has been offered his same post for another year so that the Bison athletics are in capable hands for another period.

WHY?

Last Friday a campus election was held. In all 268 votes were cast out of a possible total of nearly 1,000.

Such a vote is peculiar to say the least. Last week a letter appeared in the Spectrum from Einar Leifson saying that the girls on the campus should be disenfranchised. Possibly the sweet young things thought that the great sage and solver of campus difficulties had had his ideas carried out. Such is not the case nor is it the reason for the small vote. The women on the campus voted just as heavily as did the men.

The student body should not be disenfranchised, but rather should be given a right to vote. It is true that they have a student commission but as a student governing body little is done in the way of legislation.

It is true that tickets are sold under their management, a task certainly necessary to be handled by a governmental body. An occasional notice is put on the bulletin board which says that the signs shall be this by that and no larger. This too must take a great deal of cogitation for adoption. They even go so far as to give a party or two during the school year. Once in a decade or so a new bulletin board is put up that is held up as a monument to the work of the student commission. If they are able to get the money for even a bulletin board they deserve a monument.

Again the student body are not to be condemned for their lack of interest in the student commission. What has the student commission done as a body to bring themselves to sufficient attention to deserve a vote. The student commission will say in turn—what is it possible for us to do? As a true governmental and legislative body the present rulings prevent the student commission from functioning in a manner that their name deserves.

The fault of lack of interest is not with the voters but rather with what they are voting for, not the individuals, but the offices that they are to hold.

North Dakota Agricultural college students are not far from the average and if a 75 percent vote can be gotten in other schools for student governing bodies that govern, there is no reason why students here would not vote were they voting for an active organization, active because they were liberally enough governed to act.

WHY I BELIEVE IN FOOTBALL

"I believe in football," says Dr. John M. Thomas, president of Pennsylvania State university, "because it fixes in every student the spirit of fight and the will to win.

"It is all a mistake to say that the men on the bleachers get no benefit. They receive incalculable benefit in the spirit that surges through them in support of the team—the spirit of determination and irresistible attack.

"I believe in football because it fuses the college into a unity. Before the first home game each year, the college is only a mass of individuals, but with th long yell that greets the team for its first big fight, a new and living entity comes into being. In the game the soul of the college is awakened anew, and he is no man at all into whose heart the thrills of the contest do not send currents of devotion and loyalty which will flow till his heart no longer beats.

"For these reasons I believe in football—especially football led by big-hearted men, hard, clean, strictly by the rules and with every ounce in the fight to the last whistle."

THE TWENTIETH CENTURY STUDENT

College life is often criticized because of its complexity. It is a common occurrence to overhear students bewailing the fact that they are inordinately busy; so very busy that it seems impossible for them to crowd all their activities in the hours not allotted to sleep. The days when students dwell in the sheltered walls of a university, protected from the disconcerting world without, seem to have flitted away with the past.

Sweet meditation in one's chamber, silent and apart from the outside, is no more. Now we study to the tune of the piano next door as it jangles forth a cacaphony of sounds. There is literally "music in the air." It is no longer allowed to stay there, however, but is pulled out of the atmosphere via the radio and transmitted into noise.

The upshot of the whole matter is that the world has changed. And along with the world have gone the conditions of student life.

The university is preparing its children to go forth to tilt their lances at the windmills of the twentieth century. They must learn to concentrate; to make their mental natures oblivious to the noise and confusion without. —Daily Californian.

Several former state agricultural college athletes, coaching high school basketball teams in the northwest, met success in district basketball tournaments completed within the past few weeks, two winning their districts, one winning half of his state, while another former N. Roth Does Well

Frank Roth, a graduate of the science and literature course in 1923, who handles the Glendive, Mont., high school court destinies, won the championship of the eastern half of his state by downing Miles City recently. Roth's quint will meet the winners of the western half of the state for the title and lost, 15-8.

The agricultural college was represented in the third district tournament by Gregory Moore, agricultural college graduate of 1924. Moore is coaching at Wilton and his team lost the opening game to Bismarck, 24-9, after holding an 8-6 lead on the Capital City crew at half time.

Horace "Buck" Robbins, tackle on the 1922 Bison football team and forward on the basketball crew of the same year, took the title in the fifth district of the second region in Minnesota with his Bemidji high school five. Bemidji, besides winning their district title, also holds a win over the Fargo high school Midgets, considered as one of the most versatile teams in the state of North Dakota for the past four years.

Ebling Won 16

Besides being represented by teams coached by former athletes in the various districts, the Bison were represented in the capacity of officials by Ted Greenfield, forward on this year's state championship quint, who worked the third district tourney at Bismarck March 6 and 7. Coach Dewey, Bison basketball mentor handled the games in the second district held at Jamestown college.

Other Bison athletes who have had varied success with their basketball teams include Earl Bute, who handles athletics at the State School of Science at Wahpeton. Bute's court team finished well up in the Interstate Junior College conference, which was won by the Jamestown college quint.

Claude Miller is handling the court team at the Benson County Agricultural high school at Maddock, while Oscar Hanson, a fraternity brother, handles a like position at the Walsh County Agricultural high school at Park River. Both are graduates of last year's class in agriculture. Fred Wilson, who played guard on the 1922 court team at the Bison school, has charge of athletics at Cavalier high school. He is also an agricultural graduate of last year.

BISON COPY BEING TURNED IN RAPIDLY

YEAR BOOK WILL APPEAR ON CAMPUS IN SECOND WEEK OF MAY

The material for the 1926 Bison has been coming in to the year book office in rapid fashion. A great deal of the copy and cuts are in readiness for print and the staff hopes to have the book out the first or second week in May. The sales of Bisons is still progressing and five hundred copies of the book will be printed.

Brock Does Art Work

The engraving for the 1926 Bison is being done by the Brock Engraving Co. of Madison, Wis. Mr. Brockhausen, the president of this firm, is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin. The staff is indeed fortunate to be in contact with Mr. Brockhausen. Innumerable suggestions as to make-up and new ideas of interest are constantly being received from him. Brock has had unusual experience in the planning of annuals and his firm is composed of experts in the planning and art work involved in college annuals.

Brock has a large plant in Madison, which is fully equipped for the engraving and planning of college annuals and any commercial engraving and advertising. Mr. Brockhausen is the advertising advisor of the large battery firm of Frenchmen, which is located in Madison. This firm has a payroll of $75,000 every two weeks and invests large amounts in advertising.

The printing of the Bison is under the supervision of J. J. LeTourneau Co., Duluth, Minn. The Duluth Chamber of Commerce recommends LeTourneau as the best printer in Duluth and fully equipped to undertake the printing of our annual. Mr. Russell Mather is supervising with personal interest the production of the 1926 Bison.

With the engraving and printing of the Bison in such worthy hands, the production of a real book may be assured. The staff is pleased with the promptness with which the various organizations are handing in their copy for the book. Look for a real Bison!

PLEASANT PEOPLE

"Store manners" may not be as important as ballroom manners but we think they are. Every store that has become an Institution holds to the same doctrine. When you come to this store, every one here becomes your host as truly as though you visited them at their own homes. As a guest you expect courtesy without stiff formality, careful attention to your wants without impertinent suggestion, and a pleasant echo of the welcome that greeted your arrival when you leave. All this is assured you whenever you call, but you are reassured NOW, because we want you to know that we are glad to have you come and see the new spring shoes and other merchandise, just arrived, even though the thought of purchase may be weeks away.
