CREIGHTON CINCHES GONFALON 1926 BISON ACE CONTEST OPENS TODAY

EACH STUDENT HAS VOTE IN CLASS IN WHICH HE ENROLLS

CONTEST WILL RUN UNTIL MON-DAY NOON; WINNERS WILL BE ANNOUNCED

FACULTY GET VOTE

BISON STAFF, PROFESSORS, STU-DENTS GET JOINT VOTE
IN CONTEST

By MARIE SMITH

Balloting in the Bison Ace contest will open this week with the issue of this Spectrum. The vote will be closed on Monday of next week at noon. The ballot will be repeated in the Spectrum of Friday. Each student of the three upper classes will be permitted to select his eight choices for the contest from the class in which he is enrolled and in that class only.

Fresh Not Entered

Freshmen have not been included in the ballot as due to their short stay it would be difficult to tell which are the eight of the class that are members of the year they are enrolled in. For example, Juniors will be allowed to select eight of the Junior class; Seniors of the Senior class and Sophomores of the Sophomore class.

The student's vote will consist of one-third of the total. Twenty-five members of the college faculty will be seen and their vote also will consist of one-third of the total. The final third will be made by a committee picked by the Bison editor from his staff.

All votes must be signed by the person submitting them and no person may vote twice. Any who do not know the classification of some person that they consider outstanding can find out from the registrar's office the class in which any one is enrolled. The handbook cannot be taken as entirely authentic, as several changes have been made since that time.

Some have the opinion that the contest is open to only the men of the campus, but such is not the case. Men and women both are eligible for election and to vote. The college is a co-educational institution and the contest is meant to be all-college in scope.

The vote, as was stated before, will close at noon next Monday. The result will be announced shortly afterward by the Bison staff. The winners will have their pictures opposite the class picture and the pace will be appropriately decorated with the various card symbols. Eight pictures will be grouped on the pages opposite their respective classes.

This feature is a new one in the Bison and is but one of the several new classics that are to be included in the 1926 Bison, the sales campaign of which opened last week.

The ballot will be found at the bottom of this page and the drop box will be marked in Main building where the votes are to be cast. Any attempts at framing will be stopped by the Bison staff; this applies to professors who confine their selections to their own department, no one school having a monopoly on the representative students.

Martell who held the lead last week, is still in that position, but Keyes, who was sixth last week, has crept up into second place this week, while O. Anderson who was second last week, has been forced back into third place. Martin, who was third last week is now way down in the list.

The standings of the first six competitors are as follows:

NODAK FIGHT WILL MAKE SERIES EVEN BATTLE AT FORKS

GAME SERIES

BISON WILL FIGHT

HAUSER HAS GREEN MATERIAL
CARRYING PINK AND GREEN
THIS YEAR

The Bison-Flicker annual four game series opens at Davis's gym at the university, the first game being scheduled for Friday afternoon. The second game of the series is scheduled for the following evening.

The series this year promises to be harder fought than has been the case the past two years, when the Bison were a much superior aggregation of tossers. The Nodaks were regarded as easy victims in the pre-season dope and an overwhelming victory was forecast for the Bison.

Hauser Has Prepared

Hauser has brought his team along slowly and has them to the point now where they are one of the most feared quints in the N. C. I. loop, as their two games against Creighton proved.

The Bison, admittedly a better team for the past two years, have never made a clean sweep of the series with the Nodaks and in order to accomplish the feat this year the Bison will have to be at their best. Hauser realized at the start of the year that his chances for loop honors were very limited and has pointed his team for the Bison series, in which he hopes to get at least an even break.

Hauser's quint is made up largely of first year men, who can be depended on to offer much resistance to the efforts of the Bison to take the series. Their schedule has not been as intensive a one as that of the Bison and they will make the Bison keep moving all the time to come out on the long end of the series.

While basketball is an uncertain game as far as comparative scores are concerned, the two battles which the Nodaks gave Schabinger's Bluejays Contests are of three kinds, athletic, industrial and literary, and are open to all bonafide high school students. Athletic events for men will include the 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 440-yard dash, 880-yard run, mile run, 120-yard high hurdles, 220-yard low hurdles, pole vault, shot put, discus throw, javelin throw and one-half mile relay.

Contests for girls will include track events, a tennis tournament and folk and interpretative dancing. The Industrial Arts exhibition will be held in Ceres hall and several hundred exhibits from high schools and consolidated schools will be on display.

COYOTES, 51-24

By EUGENE FITZGERALD

North Dakota Bison broke even in two N. C. I. games here, Friday and Saturday nights, with the University of South Dakota Coyotes and the Creighton University Bluejays.

The Bison downed the University of South Dakota quint on Friday evening, 51-24, but found the going tougher in Saturday's game against Coach Schabinger's much touted Creighton Bluejays and dropped this contest, 32-25, after one of the hardest fought and fastest games played on the Armory court for some years.

Bison Force Jays

The Creighton Bluejays copped their second start against the Bison, 32-25, but in doing so found the Bison a much better gaggregation than the one they defeated at Creighton a week previous. The Bison battled along for half of the last period with the Bluejays holding a two to one advantage for the greater share of the time. The Bison stepped out in the last 10 minutes and forced the Jays to call out time. The Bison ran the score up to 25 and with two minutes left to go Brown found the ring for his first basket and ended the scoring.

Led by "Ike" Mahoney the Bluejays started their shooting from mid-court and Mahoney found the ring with almost clock-like regularity, dropping in eight counters in the course of the evening's play. The Creightonites tried most of their shots from mid-court, not through choice, but because of the inability to get in for close shots due to the splendid defensive play of Miller and Arnold in the back court.

Miller Scores First

Miller scored first for the Bison after four minutes of play. Dewey sent in Greenfield and Newgard in place of Thompson and Bechtel with the score 5-2 for the Jays. Mahoney found the basket for four double counters in this period, while Corneman and Arnold found it for a single double counter, the first period ending 15-9 for the Schabinger five.

The Omaha quint started their bombardment at the opening of the final

THETA CHI SECRETARY VISITS AT PHI CHAPTER

Bernard A. McIlhany of New York, field secretary of the Theta Chi fraternity, will leave tonight for the west coast after spending a few days as guest of Fargo in general and Phi chapter of Theta Chi fraternity in particular.

Mr. McIlhany arrived in town Saturday afternoon. He was entertained at dinner at the fraternity house and later was a guest at the Creighton-A. C. basketball game. Sunday his fraternity brothers familiarized him with the campus and the city and in the afternoon he was entertained with the house orchestra. Last night Mr. McIlhany was the honored guest at a banquet given at the commercial club for active and alumni brothers. Other guests included H. A. Clifford of St. Paul, treasurer of the N. P. railroad.

Most of Mr. McIlhany's time yesterday and today is being spent in going over the fraternity records.

While on the coast Mr. McIlhany will assist in installing chapters of the fraternity at the University of Washington at Seattle and the University of Oregon at Eugene, Oregon.

BISON ACE BALLOT

The following consists what is to be known as the Bison Ace ballot, eight members to be selected from each of the three upper classes. All ballots are to be cast in the Spectrum drop box. Every student has a vote in his own class only. He need not be a purchaser of the Bison to vote; every one is included; it is an all-college affair.

The official ballot follows:

(Names to be filled in by voter.)

WHERE'S THE OLD ZIP?

On Friday and Saturday of this week the Bison cagers will tackle the fighting Nodak team at Grand Forks.

Early season scores pointed to four easy wins for the Bison. Such is far from the case now. The Flickers held Creighton on practically even terms for two games and that alone shows that the Bison will need every student there to win for the local team.

Why not have a special train? Why not send the band? Twelve hundred fighting Bison students should be there; all of them can't, of course, but at least enough for a special should go.

Let's have a special train. Talk it up.

A GOOD START

Basketball, football and track have been the only sports that have seen the full attention of the North Central conference.

Baseball has been talked. The Bison have always had good teams of the great American game and the worthy effort of Creighton to promote a "Little Eight" league deserves mention.

Their editorial follows. Other schools should fall in line and make a league a reality:

THE CALL OF THE DIAMOND

"Will the athletic board decide in favor of varsity baseball?"

While crossword puzzles, basketball dope, and even the examination ogre are neglected, students are asking each other this question. Petitions advocating the formation of a university team have been signed by nearly every student in the school and endorsed by the Union governors. These petitions have been presented to the athletic board, and now the fate of intercollegiate baseball, at least for this year, depends on the decision of the board.

The question of varsity baseball is not a new one. Last year there was much agitation for the formation of a team. The board decided against it chiefly because of one important objection. Track was still undeveloped and every effort had to be devoted to its advancement. This year the board will not have to consider this objection. The victories of the track team last year placed it on a firm foundation as a major sport. This spring track will not require all the attention; some of the surplus energy can be used for the establishment of intercollegiate baseball.

Never has there been a more opportune time for starting baseball. No other university in this part of the country can boast of better material than is to be found on the campus. It can truly be asserted, that if Creighton has varsity ball this year, the university will be represented by a squad without peer in the middle west. Creighton as a pioneer in the undeveloped field of intercollegiate baseball would be able, because of the caliber of its team, to schedule games with Big Ten or Missouri Valley schools. The athletic relations thus formed would gradually lead to similar athletic relations in other sports. Even next year they would be of considerable advantage in scheduling football and basketball games.

Baseball will never prove self-supporting, but this difficulty is not as serious as it might appear at first blush. It is not necessary for the athletic board to arrange an elaborate baseball schedule, this year. If baseball is merely given a start, much will have been accomplished. Three games would be sufficient for the first season. Even these three games, of course, would involve some loss, but this could be greatly minimized by the co-operation of the student body.

The deficit that would be incurred should not be regarded by the athletic board as the sole factor determining its decision. The attitude of the students should have an important influence on the action of the board. The student body is solidly behind baseball. Last year the baseball tournament received more support from the students than any other intra-mural activity except basketball. This year the fact that nearly every student in the university signed the petitions is ample proof of the overwhelming sentiment behind intercollegiate baseball. Although the members of the board cannot disregard the financial problem, neither can they disregard the wishes of the entire student body.

Before the board decides whether or not Creighton will have a varsity baseball team, it should carefully consider the great advantages to be derived from baseball, the splendid material for a team, and the widespread student sentiment for the sport. If the members of the board give due thought to all of these considerations, there can be no doubt that they will decide in favor of intercollegiate baseball.

ONE FULL GAME STANDS BETWEEN FIRST FOUR TEAMS IN RACE; KAPPA PHIS, GAMMA RHOS TIED FOR SECOND PLACE

Several close races are developing in the Y basketball trophy tournament and a game won or lost from now on in the first section may place a new champion at the top.

The most interesting game of the past week was the contest between the Tappa Keggs and the Delta Sigmas. The Sigs won the bout and raised themselves into first place by the victory. Jendro and Larson did yeoman work for the Keggs, while Peterson was the strong offensive man for the Sigs with Bliss looking after the defense in first class order.

The standings at the end of the week's play were as follows:

Team	W.	L.	Aver.
Delta Sigma	5	1	.833
Kappa Phi	4	1	.800
Gamma Rho	4	1	.800
Tappa Kegg	4	2	.666

SCIENTIFIC SPIRIT
SHOWN IN READING

MODERN LITERATURE TENDS TOWARD SCIENCE SAYS IOWAN

Iowa City, Iowa, Jan. 26—"The scientific spirit of the age is reacting upon modern literature, and guiding it toward realism," declared Prof. Frank L. Mott of the English department of the University of Iowa in a talk before the Matrices, an organization of women journalism students. Professor Mott is associate editor of the Midland magazine.

"People have a divine curiosity about the world and the people in it, which the realists strive to satisfy," he said. "The story writer no longer feels it his duty to uplift the human race and point moral. He is satisfied with presenting some phase of human life and emotions in a vivid and realistic manner."

Realists scorn "chocolate fudge" fiction, according to Professor Mott. He says that the happy ending is always popular with the majority of the reading public.

H. S. SENIORS MEET

High school seniors held a special meeting Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of selecting a committee to read plays and choose one suitable for presentation as part of the graduation program of the class. Morris Jones, president, was authorized to appoint a committee of two for this purpose but his decision has not yet been announced.

Supt. Iverson gave a short talk with regard to the importance of the individuals participation in high school activities.

HIGH SCHOOL RINGS

Members of the graduating class of the A. M. A. H. S. received their rings and pins late last week. The rings are made of white gold with the emblem, consisting of a large M with a small A above and below it, set in a raised yellow gold ellipse surrounded by a band of black with the numerals set in gold.

"Only forty rings and pins have been given out to the class so far and all those who want rings will be supplied by leaving their order with me," was the statement made today by Leonard G. Rygg, treasurer.

BABY BISON'S NOTICE

Get out those "snaps" of yourself or classmates in your less studious moods and hand them over to Leonard Rygg, high school Bison representative, and they will be shown to the world at large through the first collegiate life book that ever gave two pages to their Prep school for a feature of this sort.

"There is no expense connected with this at all," says Leonard. "Just give the snaps to me and I'll see that you will see them in the "big book."
Take advantage of this Preps and turn in some truly representative pictures of Prep school life at the A. C.

AG. COURSE TO BE WIDENED

ELECTIVE COURSES WILL BE FEATURED BY REVISED STUDY

NEW STUDENTS WILL BE URGED TO ENROLL IN DEFINITE COURSES.

MAJORS LESSENERED

ONLY 125 HOURS WILL NOW BE REQUIRED IN PLACE OF 178.

In order to bring the courses of the School of Agriculture up to date and give the students a more liberal choice of electives through lessening the total amount of work required in any major, its curricula has been materially changed for 1925, according to Dr. H. L. Walster, dean of the school. Under the new plan students may elect their major outside of the School of Agriculture, as long as they follow its general rules.

Must Have Basic Hours
All students will be required to take a basic course of 156 units, inclusive of military instruction, throughout the four years. This leaves, in the sophomore, junior and senior years, 69 elective units from which to choose a major.

Department heads are permitted to prescribe 30 to 40 units within their major study or closely related subjects and 18 to 20 units in other departments. The remainder of the work is left entirely open to the choice of the student.

In the most liberal course under the old plan 178 units were prescribed while under this plan only about 125 are non-elective. The total number of hours taken each term have been reduced in the freshman year from 23 to 20.

Persons registering in the School of Agriculture will be urged to select their major in agricultural economy, agricultural education, crops and plant breeding, soils, or in animal, poultry, or dairy husbandry, and will be given opportunity to elect subjects in agriculture, agricultural engineering and agricultural entomology.

Students expecting to major in agricultural engineering will be required to elect a large part of their work from the engineering department, those majoring in entomology, agronomy or horticulture from the biology and chemistry departments, and those majoring in the animal husbandry or dairy and poultry courses from the veterinary department with allied courses in chemistry and biology.

Will Tell of School
Five hours of agricultural engineering have been added as required work, one hour in drawing and the other four in farm structures and farm sanitation, while M. E. 26, gas engines, has been dropped as required, although still available as an elective.

For the first time in the history of the institution a course of 12 freshman lectures will be required in this school, which are designed to teach the freshman how to study and to acquaint him with the organization of the institution. Only a few colleges have this course, which is rapidly becoming recognized as essential to an agricultural college.

period, and ran the score up to 18, when Arnold called out time. After 10 minutes of play the Bluejays held a 21-10 lead and the Bison started a little scoring party of their own and came within five points of the visiting quint. With two minutes of playing time left Brown got a basket inside the circle and ended the scoring for the evening with the Omahans leading, 32-25.

Mahoney Too Good

Mahoney was somewhat of a team in himself, gathering in 17 of the Schabinger quint's 32 points, with eight field goals and a gift shot. The Creighton guards, Corneman and Speicher, kept the Bison scorers moving fast in an endeavor to get in close to the basket and cut off many well intended passes of the Bison.

Arnold was the outstanding performer of the contest, however, his clever, all around play keeping the Bison in the running. Besides playing a splendid defensive game, Arnold left his post long enough to go down the floor to drop three field goals through the hoop, and also took advantage of five free throws given him by counting on three of his tries. Arnold seemed to be in every play and outdid every performer on the floor in basketball ability. In only one respect was Arnold behind any performer, and that was Mahoney, who gathered in over half of his team's points. The defensive and floor play of Mahoney was not up to that displayed by Arnold, however. Arnold held Trautman, all-conference forward and scoring ace of the Creightonites to one field goal, an achievement heretofore unaccomplished by any guard who has opposed the Omaha quint.

Miller's defensive play was also very good and he kept many of the opposing players who ventured near the basket from getting an easy try at the basket. Blakely played a good defensive game and exhibited some good passing. Greenfield and Newgard kept the Creighton guards on the move at all times in an effort to cover them and on several occasions got behind the Creighton defensive pair but were quickly covered.

Officials Good

Despite the dissatisfaction expressed by the crowd on several occasions, the officiating of Dick Holzer was good. Fans did not seem to realize that such a game is almost an impossibility for one man to handle, and as the situation was the officiating was all that could be expected.

night, after a long lapse of seeming scoring inability, and took the Coyotes for a neat drubbing. Dewey started Thompson and Bechtel in the fray, and left them in for 10 minutes of the opening period. When Dewey inserted his regulars, Greenfield and Newgard, the Bison held a one point margin, 4-5, due to two field goals and a free throw by Harold Bechtel, who showed great promise in this contest.

On the first tipoff, with Greenfield and Newgard in the fray, the Bison got a basket when Newgard sneaked behind the Coyote defense and took a perfect pass from Greenfield and converted it into a double counter. Greenfield duplicated a moment later and the Coyotes called out time. Both teams battled along for the remainder of the half and when the gun sounded the Bison held a 14-9 lead.

In the second half the Bison struck their stride, and led by Blakely who garnered seven double counters in the period, ran the score up to 51. The superb defense of Arnold and Miller gave the Coyotes few chances for short shots and the Montgomerymen were content for the largest share of the game to try their bombardment from long range.

Blakely Accommodates

As the game drew to a close the score stood 49-24 for the Bison and the crowd was clamoring for a 50 total. Blakely responded with a neat goal under the basket, when the final gun was but 20 seconds distant.

Blakely, at center, was the "Big Buffalo," leading his mates with seven field goals, besides playing a splendid defensive and floor game. Arnold and Miller both played good ball and kept the Coyotes from getting in near the basket for easy tries. Greenfield and Newgard performed in good style, getting their quota of the points and also responded well in floor play.

The play of Zellhoefer at guard was good, although at times he failed to take the ball off the board as well as he might have. Captain Hinman, Zellhoefer and Redfield seemed to be very much in evidence on every offensive attack launched by the Coyotes. DeKlotz showed very good in streaks but his play was not of the consistent variety.

Harold Rogers of Minneapolis handled the game in a very pleasing manner.

Fund Donated

The Faculty Women's club has established a Student Loan Fund, which they hope to be able to increase from year to year.

This fund is available to the young women of the institution who find themselves in need of small amounts of money with which to complete courses undertaken here at the college.

Application for such loans should be made to the Dean of Women, who will explain the conditions under which the money may be secured.

A friend of the college, who wishes to remain unknown, has set aside a fund to be used as a Student Loan Fund, available to either men or women students at the A. C. Information concerning this fund may be obtained from the Dean of Women.

Costumes were of the Hawaiian type and Goodrun Enger, priest, sheik, or whatever it is, performed the ceremony.

Nodak Fight Will Make Series Even

cannot be overlooked. Should the Bison relapse into the slump they had in their first home games, the Flickers will stand more than an even chance of taking the long end of the series, or at least of getting an even break.

The Bison, in their two week-end games against the Coyotes and the Bluejays demonstrated that their heavy schedule has hampered their work but little.

Bison Have Improved

The Bison were a much improved team over that which met the South Dakota State and Jamestown quints. The Bison, before a home crowd had shown little in the way of scoring ability, but their two most recent performances showed that they are still a team to be feared.

Even though the Bison should be at their best in the Nodak series, the Northerners can be depended upon to offer as strong a resistance as they have in past years. The Bison were bigger favorites the past two years, but despite this the Davis-coached aggregation always found a way to sneak out of the series with one game.

Should the Bison get away to a flying start the first game, the Bison will stand a better chance of copping the entire series, for it has been this first game each year that has proved a stumbling block to Bison hopes of emerging with a clean sweep.

PLEASANT PEOPLE

"Store manners" may not be as important as ballroom manners but we think they are. Every store that has become an Institution holds to the same doctrine. When you come to this store, every one here becomes your host as truly as though you visited them at their own homes. As a guest you expect courtesy without stiff formality, careful attention to your wants without impertinent suggestion, and a pleasant echo of the welcome that greeted your arrival when you leave. All this is assured you whenever you call, but you are reassured NOW, because we want you to know that we are glad to have you come and see the new spring shoes and other merchandise, just arrived, even though the thought of purchase may be weeks away.
