WHY COLLEGE, ANYWAY?

This is the time of the year when your younger friends back home are finishing High School and wondering whether or not they should come to college next fall. It is also the time of the year when some of us are apt to wonder if after all it wouldn't be just as much fun to quit school, go back home, or go to work at something else. A little thought on the subject of staying in school or going on in college is apt to make considerable difference in what you achieve in the years to come and opportunities presented us today should not be passed up.

Perhaps the most concrete and convincing, though not the highest quality of argument that can be advanced in favor of attending college is INCREASED EARNING POWER. The advantage of the man who has an elementary education as compared with one who does not, of the man who has a high school education, have been thoroughly studied and tabulated that it is possible to say with a considerable degree of confidence what the probable differences in their several incomes and stations in life will be. There will be exceptions, of course, but the law of averages will hold with Society of Mechanical Engineers, various organizations, departments of agriculture in the several states, and many other agencies have made comprehensive studies which invariably show an advantage in favor of the man with the broader education, and, what is equally significant, the results in the several studies have been of such a character as to be highly corroborative.

It is common knowledge that the professions are almost without exception closed to those who do not attend college, and that in the various vocations the chances for advancement, both in rank and in salary, are almost invariably in favor of the college bred man. The unanimous opinion of those who study the matter from the scientific point of view is that the door of opportunity to the ranking administrative and salaried positions is swinging wider and wider open to college bred men and closer and closer to the one who lacks such experience and background.

Another reason for attending college is the PERSONAL SATISFACTION that invariably comes from having completed a prescribed piece of work and from having received the approved credentials. Aside from what one may have in the way of financial and intellectual advantages from his college career, a certain satisfaction and prestige come from holding a college diploma that cannot be compensated for by any success or achievement however great. Inevitably there will come times when the person who does not hold a college degree will be embarrassed, at least in his own thoughts and feelings, whatever the cause of his failure. It is a self-evident fact that one hundred per cent of those who have not gone through college sooner or later regret that they did not do so, and, perhaps is equally as true, that no college graduate was ever known to regret having received an education in spite of the fact that many do bewail their failure to have made better use of their advantages. Along with the feeling of discomfort that results from not having had the advantages of attending college will spring up, as age creeps on, something of self-reproach, if lack of personal effort or shortcoming was a large contributory factor. Any young man or young woman who truly wills it can get a college education and it is a pretty safe prediction that happiness will never be quite at a maximum for the individual who fails to do so.

Again the CONTACTS of college careers are among the most valuable and lasting in life. The experiences which come to so many who are leaving home for their first protracted stay, the new world that opens up in work and activities of various kinds, the friendships and attachments that members of the same class and of the same institution feel for each other, and the thousand ties that bind one to the institution which are too sacred and thrilling ever to be forgotten, constitute a possession of priceless value. While we have no way to measure what students learn from each other it is certain that it does constitute a considerable and invaluable part of their mental, moral and social equipment.

Still another, and certainly the most compelling, reason for going to college is the LARGER FIELD OF SERVICE that opens up to college bred men and women. All who have a sane estimate of happiness know that the sure road to a dependable quality of life lies along the pathway of one's daily vocation. Other activities and experiences may satisfy for a time but they are temporary and ephemeral. True and lasting happiness comes through the work that one does, provided it is a work that society needs to have done and provided he brings to it the proper attitude and effort. The glow that comes from conscious ability and performance sheds a radiance over the commonplace events of the work-day world that is in proportion to the skill, intelligence, application and ideals of the individual worker.

The reasons for going to college are many and incontrovertible. Every young man and young woman owes it to himself or herself to calmly and deliberately think the matter through and to call to his assistance whatever counsel parents, teachers, and loving friends can give. This done natural decision will be to get a college education however great may be the sacrifice required. If for any reason a decision is reached not to go to college, it is a pretty safe conclusion that the person so deciding either lacks ambition or at least is hardly suitable college material.— A Farmer.

THE COLLEGE EDITOR.

A college editor should be a superman, endowed with the patience of Job, the editorial ability of Horace Greeley, the managing and directing ability of Chas. Schwab, the diplomacy of Woodrow Wilson, and the judicial qualities of former Chief Justice Marshall; he needs the keen humor of Lincoln, the dignity and philosophy of Socrates, the religion of John Wesley, and the agnostic tendencies of Ingersoll; he should have the literary ability of Shakespeare, and the lack of conscience to perpetrate the atrocities of Amy Lowell. In addition to these few qualifications he needs the physique of Jack Dempsey, the nerve of a hold-up man and Edison's ability to do without sleep. His brain should be so constituted that he could absorb the essentials of a twenty-hour credit course by means of the barest perusal of the subjects therein contained and to pass the final exams with honors so that the faculty will respect him and allow him to remain in school. He should be absolutely foreign to the needs of rest, sleep, eating, recreation, the dove of society, the inclination for glory in athletics, school activities and love. Having these few qualifications he should be able to qualify as a fairly competent editor, and there is a possibility that he would not be hauled on the faculty carpet more than once a week and kicked by the student body in general more than once a day. — Idaho Argonaut.

Theta Chi Formal Comes
Friday Of Next Week

Friday, April 4, has been chosen by members of Theta Chi fraternity of the North Dakota Agricultural college as the date for their annual formal dancing party to be given in the college armory. Walter D. Gillespie is general chairman of arrangements for the affair and he is being assisted by Verle Deach, who has charge of the music and Frank Leakey, programs.

Red and white, the fraternity colors will be the predominate colors in the decorations of the ball room and if they are up to the standard set by former years they will be elaborate. A number of the out-of-town alumni are to come to Fargo for the affair and it is expected that 50 couples will be guests.

2. Value of service performed: What value to the college resulted—or could have resulted—from the story or series? What value resulted to the publication? Did it increase subscription, evoke commendation from disinterested parties? Was it quoted in other journals?

3. Conditions under which the material was written: Did the gathering of material present difficulties? Did the element of time present difficulties? Did the story or series involve investigational work by the reporter? What sort of sources of news, and how many, was it necessary to utilize?

and woodwork. Contests in stock judging will be one of the many features of the industrial group. A declamatory contest, a dramatic contest, a presentation of a one-act play, an extempore speech contest, and an essay writing contest, together with an exhibit of high school publications will comprise the literary group.

Arts Exposition This Year.
"One of the interesting features in connection with the festival will be the Industrial Arts Exposition which will be held in Ceres Hall during the entire three days," Mr. Arnold states. "This room will contain several hundred exhibits sent in from high school and the consolidated schools in the state as well as display many interesting articles made at the state institution.

Vocational Side Stressed.
"An interesting discussion of the various phases of vocational education in North Dakota by the Smith-Hughes teachers will be one of the principle parts of the three-day program. This part of the festival will begin on Thursday and last until Saturday

"Besides the contests, the industrial arts exposition and the Smith-Hughes conference, there will be splendid programs for the entertainment of the general public. On Saturday evening, May 10, the winners of the contests will be presented with prizes by John Lee Coulter, President of the North Dakota Agricultural college.

"Suffice it to say, no pains will be spared to make the Seventeenth Annual May Festival at the North Dakota Agricultural college an outstanding event in the lives of the young people in North Dakota."

Fifty Subscriptions Are Holding The 1925 Bison From Going To The Press

students can only register 250 subscriptions. 25% school patriotism, that's all.

That the Bison is to be a splendid publication can be easily realized by glancing for a moment at one department alone. Athletics always hold a prominent place in school annuals. Ours is to no exception. Under the capable supervision of Ed. Yocum, the sports editor, who occupies a corresponding position on the Spectrum staff, the sports department has been developed into one of the especially noteworthy features of the 1925 Bison.

Each of the major sports will receive due notice. This season's basketball and football games will be written up, while the baseball games that were played last spring will also appear. There will be individual cuts of the star players, as well as pictures of the entire teams. Clever action pictures of last fall's football games have been secured from local photographers. The basketball team that won a well deserved victory in the state this winter will be featured. The athletic section alone will be worth almost as much as you are asked to pay for the entire book, which contains hundreds of other features in addition.

property might not in some way cooperate with you in putting up of appropriate signs, wires or other devices to bring this matter to the attention of the people. I have considered seriously the planting of some kind of prickly hedge but have not done this because of the drifting of snow in the winter.

Very truly yours,
John Lee Coulter,
President.

Dr. John Lee Coulter,
President N. D. A. C.,
Fargo, North Dakota
Dear Sir:

This is to ask you to cooperate with us in the matter of observation of certain of the city ordinances which appear to be violated daily by the A. C. students.

We receive numerous and bitter complaints from several of our citizens to the effect that the A. C. students cut the corners on their lawns and frequently cross diagonally thru these lawns despite the protests of the owners. Because of the repeated offenses and the ungracious attitude of the offending students, we shall be obliged to take drastic action if there is a repetition or a continuation of these annoyances. While the fine for a person convicted of this offense is only nominal, (the maximum is $20.00), we felt that no right minded student cares to appear in court even on a misdemeanor charge and we believe very few would be unwilling to comply with the city requirements regarding the preservation of lawns and parks if the matter could be brought to their attention.

We are asking that the College authorities cooperate with us to the extent of giving a chapel notification to the students to please keep off the lawns or grounds of city residents as a little care now will prevent considerable trouble and expense to the owners of these grounds later on. If chapel notification is not expedient, perhaps the matter could be brought before the student body in some other way.

Kindly let us know if you can help out in this matter as if not, we must take action at once.

Very truly yours,
Louis Dahlgren,
Chief of Police.

Inter-Organization Teams Must Enter League By Monday

for the 1924 team by the next season they will be in the veteran class as football is a game that the players can be taught in a comparative short time.

Ball Winner Gets Cup
As yet not enough men have been on the field for a scrimmage which should be forthcoming soon. The team is green and following an old adage of football men, "the greener the team, the more scrimmage". The practice will be continued until the weather becomes too warm for the boys in the heavy grid togs and then the suits will be packed up until fall.

At the present time little is known about the campus ball league but the four teams that have already entered should be represented by good teams as no one is barred from playing, this leaves a number of letter men eligible to play in the league. The only restriction is that no man can play on more than one team. This will keep a man from playing on both a class and a fraternal team.

A splendid team trophy has been offered by the athletic board and will be awarded to the team having the highest percentage of games won when the schedule is completed.

Phi Omega Pi Formal On Saturday April 5

Announcement made by members of Phi Omega Pi sorority of the North Dakota Agricultural college of the date for their annual spring formal. The party will be given Saturday, April 5, at the Masonic Temple, hours from 8 to 11:30 p. m.

Miss Kathryn McKee has been made general chairman of arrangements for the affair and the other committees are as follows: Music, Miss Mildred Sheldon; programs, Miss Mable Hoveland and decorations, Misses Viola Larson, Edna Mae Johnson and Leone Sands.

Patrons and patronesses for the affair will be Dr. and Mrs. John Lee Coulter, Dr. and Mrs. C. S. Putnam, Mrs. Myrtle Gleason Cole; Miss Christine Findlayson and Mmes. F. O. Olson, A. H. Hammerude, W. D. Gillespie and Alex Bruce. Plans are being made to entertain 50 couples.

Fargo High Wins State High School Title

For the third time in three years Fargo High school, winners of the first district title which has been decided on the A. C. floor for the past three years, came away from the state tournament winners of the High school cage title.

Fargo drew what were probably the three best teams in the meet, defeating Valley City in the preliminary and Mandan in the semifinal. The final game placed Grand Forks against Fargo and the Midgets came away with victory only after a brilliant battle of a confident champion against a determined but bull dogish loser. Fargo won by a clever passing game and hard driving offensive team which could not be stopped. In addition they placed three men on the all-state high school five. Valley City placed one and Grand Forks placed one on the mythical five.

Go to Chicago
As a result of their winning the state title the Fargo High team are eligible to enter the National Inter-scholastic tourney which is being staged at the University of Chicago April 1-5. The Midgets went to this last season and had the misfortune of drawing the team that finally won the meet in the opening round. Claude

Miller, who shown at guard on the Bison team last season was a member of the Midget team last year and the Fargo high team of this season looks even better than last year.

The Midgets have received and accepted their invitation to compete and will leave Fargo either Sunday afternoon or evening.

Alpha Gamma Rho Initiates.
Epsilon chapter of Alpha Gamma Rho announces the formal initiation into active membership of the following men: John Mach, Grafton; Cprus Gorder, Grafton; Howard Lewis, Binford; Clyde Challey, Lisbon; Alvin Oederkirk, Fargo; Olaf Lade, Fosston; George Landsverk, Fosston; Russel Widdifield, Leal; Raymond Douglas, Eckman; Allen Mortenson, Mandan; and Elrey Young, of Marion. Services were held at the chapter house Sunday afternoon.

Setting a Prestige.
As the first ardent supporters of Coulter's plan that students keep off other peoples' grass, we refer you to Boots Anderson, Verne Archer, or John M. Tis rumored that these gentlemen were so enamored with the plan that they went down town one morning not so long ago to talk it over with Louis Dahlgren himself, and added something in the way of filthy lures to the city's coffers as added impetus to the new drive. Yes, and they no longer cut the lawns on their way to school, we notice, but Keating says that is only because they're broke and not because of any mental qualms.

Home For Spring Work.
Howard Lewis, Frank Greenside, Ed. Eastgae, and Cy Gorder have gone home for the springs work on their respective paternal farms. Eastgae and Greenside have completed their collegiate work in the school of Agriculture and will be back for the commencement exercises.

A New Smith-Hughes.
Fred Willson has taken over the duties of Smith-Hughes instructor in the Cavalier High Schools in lieu of his completing his collegiate work in the school of Agriculture here. He has taken the place of Lynn Huey, '20, who has accepted a position with the Fairmount Creamery Association. He says he has plenty to do to keep him busy; he will be back for commencement exercises in June.

A Rho Visitor.
Vard Sheppard, of Lambda chapter, spent the week end with his Rho brothers.

Alumni Back.
Bill Mortenson, Ching Challey, Edgar Olsen, and Ralph Rullifson spent Sunday with their brothers at the Rho house and stayed over for the ball Monday evening. Mortenson is working for his Doctor degree in Agricultural Economics at the University of Minnesota this year.

An Exclusive Bird.
"Cornwallis," alias Ernest Mortenson is spending the nice spring days in the "nest" house, where he is confined with a nice case of Scarlet Fever. Mort came down right at Examination time and from all indications will be out in the near future again if an appetite is any index to recovery.

Kelley Dropped In.
Stewart Kelly of Lakota stopped off at the Theta Ch house last week while on his way back to Omaha, being called there by the death of his mother.

Who is The Youngest.
Edris Probstfield, pretty little Freshman coed, has announced her intention of filing a claim as the youngest person in the collegiate courses in A. C., contest it who may. According to information gained she registered at the age of fifteen last fall, attaining her sixteenth birthday last November.—Step up, you rest of you infant prodigies, and see who is it.
Miss Probstfield comes to us from Moorhead High School. She is registered in the school of Science and Literature and has appeared a number of times in programs at the Little Country Theatre. She is something of an amateur potteress and humorist, too, we guess for the Spectrum has been favored off and on with some of her writing and its pretty good.

A LAMBDA PLEDGE.
Miss Marion Lillico, of Nekoma, has been pledged to Phi Kappa Lambda sorority.

Omega Pi's Entertain.
Active and alumni members of Phi Omega Pi sorority were hostesses at a delightful affair Saturday when they entertained at luncheon in the Rose room of the Gardner Hotel in compliment to Mrs. Frank Ployhar of Valley City, grand matron of the North Dakota chapter of Eastern Star. The luncheon table was very attractively appointed with the sorority colors, blue and white. Blue candles and huge bowls of sapphire colored tulle were used while a mass of white tulle in a huge basket tied with blue tulle centered the table. Informal talks were given at the close of the luncheon by Mrs. Ployhar and Mrs. Rusk.

Home Between Terms.
Pete Holland, Clayton Rust, and Oscar Hansen are spending the week at their respective homes prior to another term of hard work.

Fans AS RHO FAVORS.
Blue ostrich plume fans bearing the fraternity coat of arms were given the ladies as favors at the Twelfth Annual Installation Ball of Epsilon Chapter of Alpha Gamma Rho Monday evening. Dinner was served at the Commercial Club rooms at seven o'clock after which a program of formal dancing was enjoyed until twelve o'clock.

Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Coulter, Dr. and Mrs. H. L. Walster, Dean and Mrs. C. B. Waldron, Professors and Mms. Cap. E. Miller, O. O. Churchill, and E. J. Thompson were patrons and patronesses for the occasion.

Howell Is New President Of The College Y. M. C. A.

Llewellyn Howell, sophomore student in the school of Science and Literature, was elected as president of the college Y. M. C. A. at the recent election of officers for that organization and will take office the first of April, and other officers elected at the same time were as follows: Professor C. I. Nelson for Advisory Board member on the expiration of Professor I. W. Smith's term; Milo Brannmeyer, Vice-President; Victor Sturlaugson, Recorder; Max Hopkins, assistant treasurer; Roy Lawrence, Student Board Member; Theodore Haneson, High School Representative; and A. Sturlaugson, Industrial Representative.

"Lies slumbering here, one William Blake.
He heard the bell, but had no brake."
"Beneath this stone lies William Raines;

What Other See
You look through your glasses—others at them. Glasses are about the most readily seen of anything about you.
IN YOUR GLASSES
Your glasses can be made good to look at as well as to see through. We consider both viewpoints when we fit you. We are fully qualified to satisfy you in every particular.
