Afternoon program of Grower's and associated meetings have much to interest A. C. students; Senator Magnus Johnson gives address today; Saddle and Sirlain host to visitors this evening at college; Grain and Livestock to take program tomorrow terminating in concert by A. C. Cadet Band; Auditorium is the place.

A number of excellent addresses by prominent agricultural leaders of the state and nation will feature the fifth annual Tri-State Grain Growers Convention opening this morning in Fargo. College officials and instructors are busily engaged in acting on the various programs and arranging hours whereby their students may attend sessions of particular interest to them.

Magnus Himself.

Students will have the opportunity of hearing Senator Magnus Johnson, famous as a Minnesota farm labor representative in the U. S. Senate when he delivers the leading address of this afternoon before the members and friends of the Equity Cooperative Exchange, now concluding their thirteenth annual program here.

Dr. Coulter Opens.

The Grain Growers Convention opened this morning at 9:30 A. M. with an invocation by Dr. D. T. Robertson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Fargo. After the appointment of committees, the president's annual address was given by Dr. John Lee Coulter, president of the North Dakota Agricultural college, and president of the Tri-State Grain Growers' association.

Other addresses were given by C. H. Eckles, professor of dairying, Min-

Eng. Comedy "Engaged" Put Over by L. C. T. Ten

The Little Country Theatre Players scored a hit Monday evening when they presented that famous English comedy, "Engaged," by W. S. Gilbert. A large audience witnessed the afternoon performance, but a capacity house watched the performance in the evening, and all agreed that the play was one of the greatest farces ever presented at the College.

The Synopsis.

The leading role was taken by Charles Wells in the character of Cheviot Hill, a rich young man who is cursed with a strangely amatory disposition and with a habit of proposing marriage, as a matter of course, to every woman that he meets. On the day of his wedding he becomes involved with another woman thru a Scotch marriage, and in a breach of promise suit by another of his loves. A false report to the effect that he has lost his fortune causes all of his friends and sweethearts to desert him. The heartbroken young man is about to kill himself when a most surprising ending settles the difficulties and produces one of the most humorous situations of the whole play.

The Cast.

The cast for the play was as follows: Cheviot Hill (a young man of property)..... Charles Wells; Belaswey (his friend)..... Jack Knapp; Mr. Symperson (his uncle)..... Donald Bishop; Angus Maenister (a lowland peasant lad)..... Dan' Dennis; Major McGillicuddy..... Walter Bohnsack; Belinda Treherne..... Mildred Sheldon; Minnie (Symperson's daughter)..... Lucille Thompson; Mrs. Macfarlane (a lowland widow)..... Helen Kruger; Maggie (her daughter)..... Helen Bergquist; Parker (Minnie's maid)..... Helen Warner.

The play was directed by Mr. Arvold, managed by Chas. Wells, and staged by Walter Bohnsack.

The Russian Cathedral Quartet Scores Triumph

One of the most enjoyable programs of the college's entertainment season was given in the college Armory last night when the Russian Cathedral Quartet presented its inspiring program as the second number of our college lyceum course. It was a rare treat to hear such a quartet, and the consensus of opinion this morning would almost demand another visit at a later date if booking is possible.

Their richly varied program of Russian chants, folk songs, operatic and light numbers was selected in view of pleasing student listeners and the hearty applause gained by them should have pleased their manager.

As an organization we know the Russian Cathedral Quartet as one of notable achievements and reputation. The late Czar Nicholas himself became interested in the singers in their native Russia, and they became a part of the choir of the world renowned Cathedral of St. Peter and St. Paul. Later they came to America and scored remarkable successes with the choir of the St. Nicholas Russian Cathedral in New York City. They have later adopted the practice of making tours and singing at leading places all over the United States and Canada.

A. C. is fortunate in having this type of entertainment, and the Thirtieth Annual Lyceum Series is bound to be the best ever if the Russian Cathedral Quartet may be used as an index as to what is to come on the succeeding numbers.

"League of Nation" Essay Contest Opens

A. C. Students Can Compete for Prizes of $100, $75, and $50. Offered for Three Best Essays on "Why the U. S. Should Join the League of Nations."

The growing interest among undergraduates of American universities and colleges in the League of Nations and the World Court has prompted the College Division of the League of Nations Nonpartisan Association to conduct an essay contest, with prizes of $100, $75, and $50 each to students who desire to compete for them.

The contest is announced by Corliss Lamont, who, as chairman of the Committee of University and College Students of the League of Nations Nonpartisan Association, is in charge of the organization of branches of the association in universities and colleges. Mr. Lamont reports that over eighty universities and colleges have already been organized.

The submission of any manuscript, whether or not it receives an award, shall give to the association full rights to publish any part or all of it in such manner and at such times as it may choose.

Lew Sarett, Woodsman Is Coming on Monday

Lew Sarett is coming Monday evening, January 21, to the College Armory as the third number of the Lyceum course, being given us here this year. From advance reports he is coming from the wilds of upper Ontario to tell us the story of "The Children God Forgot." Out of ten years of thrilling experiences in the pathless forests of the north country Sarett will pour his story of wilderness folk and wilderness ways—of trails, tepees and tenderfeet.

Indian Lore.

He will take us over the vanishing Indian trails of the last frontier and under the spell of his oratory we will see the beauty and majesty of the primal woods and will learn to love the children of the forest—the laughter-loving, steel-spined, elemental types which the frontier produces.

A Character.

Lew Sarett is like no one else. His life story reads like a romance, and shows what a poor boy with ambition and a willingness to work can accomplish. He came to this country when a mere lad with his parents, poor immigrant folk, and sold papers on the streets, until one day the ambition came to get an education and be someone. It is a far call, from selling papers to holding down a chair of public speaking at Northwestern University, and would be possible no where but in America.

This forest ranger, woodsman, and guide, in the Canadian North and the Rocky Mountains, has seen life and brings into his platform work a breath of the out of doors and the pine woods and wilderness folk that is unique, worthwhile and refreshing.

Coeds! Yea! Coeds!

Coeds, don't let the he-males think that we girls have to run after them in order to have an enjoyable time, even if it is leap year. Prove it by helping to make the annual Coed Prom a success next Wednesday night. Tickets are now on sale at 35 cents apiece.

Remember the date, time, and place—COLLEGE ARMORY, 7:30-10:30 P. M., JANUARY 23.

Saddle and Sirlain To Honor Donnelly Tonight At Portrait Banquet

North Dakota Farmers, Faculty, and Students to Do Honor to Pioneer Shorthorn Breeder at Second Recognition Banquet in Agricultural Building.

Tonight, in the agricultural hall of fame maintained by the Saddle and Sirlain club of the North Dakota Agricultural college will be added the name of another North Dakota farmer, John Donnelly, of Grafton, prominent breeder of beef Shorthorns, is the only farmer to be honored this year by the addition of his portrait to those others that decorate the walls of the Saddle and Sirlain club rooms in the agricultural building.

Formal recognition for Mr. Donnelly's contribution to the advancement of agriculture in the state will take place at a 6:30 o'clock banquet to which the farmers attending the grain growers' convention and similar farmers' organizations are invited. A program has been prepared for the evening and addresses will be delivered by leading agriculturists. Officers of the club are Edward Eastgate, Larimore, president; Oscar Hanson, Valley City, secretary.

"This is the second recognition banquet at which North Dakota farmers have been honored by the club," said Mr. Eastgate. "The practice of recognizing leaders of agriculture in the state will be followed each year. It is a custom quite generally followed at Saddle and Sirlain clubs throughout the country."

Portraits of six other North Dakota farmers now hang in the hall of fame. Those receiving this honor last year were John Christianson, Holstein breeder and president of the state's famous co-operative project, the New Salem Holstein Breeders' association; Frank Sanford, Rogers, breeder of purebred beef cattle and hogs; and Sam Fletcher, Valley City, pioneer breeder of Shorthorn cattle into North Dakota. The other three men whose work was eulogized at the banquet are J. B. Pover, Leonard, deceased, agricultural leader; J. H. Bosard, deceased, Grand Forks, former Jersey breeder and farmer leader; Oscar Will, Bismarck, noted for his work in corn breeding.

Library Fire Scare Saturday Short Lived

No little commotion was caused Saturday afternoon when fire in the basement of the college library brought the fire department on the run to see what it was all about. No damage was done to speak of other than a lot of concentrated worry at the time on the part of Mrs. McVetty.

Some paper in a waste basket in the basement caught fire, probably traceable to a cigaret or match thrown carelessly into it and started all the trouble. Being surrounded by fireproof walls little chance was offered for any serious conflagration. This is the first fire scare experienced at A. C. for several years of any consequence serious enough to prompt the authorities calling on the department down town.

Dean Bolley Chosen

The editorial staff of the Purdue University annual (The Debris) in preparation of the annual with the view of aiding the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the founding of the University has written Dean Bolley as follows: "The 1924 Debris will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of Purdue University by adding several new features. One of these is a section containing articles of twenty-five successful Purdue graduates. Upon information from the heads of all the different schools and departments, we find you to be one of the twenty-five most prominent men."

Bison Whip Cobbers 23-15 In Forty Minute Go Mon. Nite --Large Concordia Delegation

Concordia Kept on the Defense for first half; Cobbers instructed to rough things in second Go and Game become faster and faster; First half ended 13-7; Bison defense almost air tight, Minnesotans being forced to long shots almost entirely; Blakely back at pivot position preformed in fine style; Eakright hands C. C. two.

Bison-Jackrabbit Games Replete With Thrills In Both Sessions Here

RIVAL STATE COLLEGES SPLIT TWO GAME SERIES, FIRST GOING TO JACKRABBITS BY A MARGIN OF ONE POINT LEAD FROM FREE THROW IN LAST SECOND TO BISONS WITH FINAL LEAD OF 17-14; BLAKELY DIDN'T PLAY.

Air tight basketball furnished the greater part of the thrills in the Bison Jackrabbit contests last week and at Brookings. The Bisons, in the opening game, were forced seconds of play. South Dakota won the first contest 22-21, but took a beating in the second 17-14.

Capacity Houses.

During the contents the capacity audience was constantly kept on their feet, either by long shots or by the sterling work of the contestants defenses in holding down the score.

Bisons Aggressors.

In the opening contest the Bisons were the immediate aggressors and covered the Southern Farmers basket (Continued on page 3.)

Moorhead's best, the Concordia Cobbers, were not the team to stop Coach Dewey's Bisons Monday night

even though the Bisons had just finished a long trip and a stiff two game series with South Dakota State. The Bisons won 22-15. Red Blakeley, Bison ace, was back in lineup after an absence of two weeks.

Defense Airtight.

For the first five minutes of play, the Cobbers were unable to carry the ball into offensive territory, while the Bisons were lowering a barrage on the basket. Arnold opened the scoring with a few throw and Birkeland retaliated trying the score.

Red Heads There.

Greenfield scored the first field goal and Arnold followed suite. Greenfield scored again giving the Bisons a 7 to 1 lead. At the end of ten minutes the score stood 9 to 2 for Bisons, and at half time the Bisons led 13 to 7.

Between halves the Cobbers were given instruction to rough things and at the resumption of play the game, already fast became faster. The air- (Continued on page 2.)

A. C. Gold Star Band Takes Trip Next Week

Dr. Putnam and His Crack Musicians Have Good Booking for Week of Concert Playing; Several Novelty Numbers Supplement Classical and Lighter Numbers.

"GOLD STAR STUFF, WELL BOUND AND IN TUNE," is the advance cry being heralded to the towns being hit by the North Dakota Agricultural College Cadet band on their state-wide tour next week. Dr. C. S. Putnam, musical director, is mighty proud of the outfit he is taking and says the boys will outplay any collegiate band in the Northwest. Fully uniformed, with first class polished instruments, and with the stuff to put a big program across, Doc's bandmen leave here Tuesday morning to begin their constructive advertising campaign for old A. C.

Minot Tuesday.

The band will play their first concert in Minot Tuesday evening. On Wednesday they will be booked for Mandan, and will play in Bismarck the following day. Friday will find the Bison musicians playing in Jamestown, and Saturday will find the band on their way home again. Matinee programs will be given at the various stops. At Minot, the band will be on the regular Artist Lecture Course program.

Novelty Numbers.

Dr. Putnam is using Jimmie Stamp as soloists. In the way of novelties he has Byron Hanson, (baritone), and Jimmie Stamp, (cornetist), in a duet arrangement, and he has a Triumphant Trumpet Trio, comprised of Stamp, Ryerly, and Dickey, in something entirely new.

Classical Selections.

As to what will be played, we have it that this band can do justice to anything. They will play symphonies, classical numbers, and a few lighter selections. One movement from "The New Work-Dvorka," and the first and second movements from Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony" are numbers being played especially well by the Gold Star men and ones that are expected to make a good impression on their listeners.

A. C. Proud of Them.

As an organization, the cadet band is perhaps the most truly representative of our college of all the student supported activities on our campus. The band is always on hand for everything, rain or shine, and in the past, at the present, and in the future the student body has had and should have great pride in the N. D. A. C. Gold Star Band.

NORTH DAKOTA WEATHER.

Last fall we congratulated ourselves upon the unexpectedly fine weather that lasted until the day after Christmas. Even the oldtimers say they never experienced such a long period of mild weather at that time of the year. But after all, now that North Dakota weather has come at last, aren't we just a bit glad. It's this cold, snappy weather that makes you move, and puts real pep and vitality in you. It fills you with the instinct and spirit of "get up and go". North Dakota weather is hard on the loafer, and the indolent palefaced lounge lizard. But it simply sends the blood surging a bit faster thru the veins of a healthy red blooded person. It paints your cheek in hues that rouge can never match. It puts snap in your step, cheerfulness in your soul and selfconfidence in your character.

The southern climates are wonderful for ease, luxury, indolence, play, and malaria; the North for work, healthy vigorous sports, and strong vigorous ambitious men and women.

Yes—we grant you—the California touch was nice—but let's be glad we have North Dakota's vigorous bracing climate, and let's keep it a part of our lives, our actions and character.

As North Dakota's climate is not made to suit the lazy and the shiftless, let our lives and characters be unfit for lazy thots and shiftless motives.

THE TEAM NEEDS SOME SUPPORT.

In place of giving our stockjudging or debating teams the same loyal support we have in the past given our athletic teams, it seems we are going to the other extreme and handing the athletic team the same indifferent support we give to other activities.

We need a Cheer Leader—a Rooter King—someone to preside over a couple other live wire leaders. Ted Greenfield is busy on the basketball floor. We need someone for his place. It isn't good theory and it's rotten practice to send a team on a conference trip like the one to South Dakota State without a rally or a word of encouragement before they go. It's hard on the team and arjd on our own school spirit. If we haven't pep for these little extra meetings when needed most; if we lack a real honest to goodness Rooter King;—let's have a prayer meeting BRETHREN—WHO WILL LEAD US IN PRAYER???

RIP VAN WINKLE SAYS:

Page 51, our satalog, under the hed of "Physical Training for men:—Provision is made for giving gymnasium instruction to all students in the college who desire it. In addition to this optional attendance, students in the first year are required to take two hours a week of physical exercise under the direction of the instructor in physical training."

In as much as A. C. has no armory or gymnasium large enough to begin to take care of even the freshmen, it would seem about time to tell the inquisitive fresh who inquired about this part of our curriculum that this is only a little bit of history on which the departments dote as significant of the fact that A. C. once had facilities to give athletic instruction to the whole student body—(all twenty-seven of them)—and we still have the same old place it was done in and one more instructor. Verily, this is the age of Practice with Science.

GETTING UP TO DATE.

We oft times hear it said of an individual, "he is way behind the times. He's out of date." Usually the meaning is that this man has failed to keep up with the times, that he is in his ideas and especially that he is behind the times in the information he gets and imports.

We are also told, that the aim in education is to acquaint the individual with the latest and best methods in whatever vocation he may pursue, in other words to give him correct and recent information. In this connection it is rather interesting to open one of the college catalogs and read it. To be very mild and say the least, our 1923—24 catalog is woefully out of date. For example, listing the probable expenses of a student, we find on page 50. "The total necessary expenses for a term are as follows: For books, stationery, etc.—minimum $1.00—Maximum $10." The minimum we will concede is low enough, plenty low enough—but the maximum.—How about the Pharmacy students who pay ten or fifteen dollars for one book? Few books cost less than two dollars. Most of them are from three to four dollars in cost and it is indeed a fortunate student who doesn't have to buy three or more books each term. The constant changing of textbooks makes it impossible to buy many second hand copies.

Where is the $10.00 maximum? And at that we haven't mentioned stationery, and "etc.". The "etc" item often gets pretty big, as do the expenses for notebooks, blue books, drawing sets, lab utensils, etc.

Then on page 51 we find a list of literary societies and among these (and most of them are dead now) we find one that died peacefully six or seven years ago—The Pythian Literary Society.

We can find other examples but these are enough. Anyone who has attempted to arrange his course according to catalog knows the difficulties. These difficulties are perhaps hard to avoid, but surely our catalog need not be more than five years out of date. It doesn't seem right to have it much older than that.

Bison Whip Cobbers--

tight defense of the Bisons with every man playing the game made it difficult for Concordia to bring the ball within scoring distance. All the Cobber tallies with one exception were made from outside the 17 foot line.

Bisons Miss.

On the other hand the Bisons were able to outsmart the Cobber defense and carry the ball into easy scoring distance.

The Bisons were unfortunate in their shooting, a number of the short shots being thrown wild.

As in previous games individual honors were divided, Arnold led the scoring with nine points. In addition he played his usual heady, aggressive defensive game. Ted Greenfield, another Bison ace and captain, played a pretty game, with his work under and near the basket featuring. Greenfield shoots accurately from nearly every position.

While not leading in the scoring Blakely's return made the Bison floor game cleverer and harder to stop. The biggest Red Head outplayed Edwards, that the Cobber center appeared lost on the floor.

Captain Tad Anderson of the Cobbers, while not playing a spectacular game, gave an excellent account of himself on the defensive end of the game. "Wad" Thompson, the Bison back guard, played the ball well in addition to scoring twice from the field.

Eakright Pulls One.

The comedy for the contest came late. With six minutes to go Dewey substituted Eakright, the Egeland pride, for Thompson who had thrown a shoe. Eakright took the ball on the tip-off and dropped the ball neatly through Concordia's basket. This made the Concordia total 15 while the Bisons finished with 23.

What Do Students Read

Five questions were asked the Freshman class in Library Methods during the fall term and from their answers is based the following article. The questions ran as follows:

"What newspapers do you read regularly?"

"What magazines do you read regularly?"

Give a list of books not required in your school course that you have read from choice the last year.

Who is your favorite and why is he your favorite?"

What is your favorite class of books and why do you choose this class?
 The Freshmen were promised that no names would be revealed in this confession but each one was requested to tell the truth, "even though it hurt."

The majority of the class read one or more of the Fargo papers daily; a large per cent read in addition either a Minneapolis or a St. Paul daily; a third group do not want to forget the home folks, so glance through their country paper every week. A very small per cent of the class never read a paper, these are generally girls.

Many Never Read
 It is surprising to know that quite a number of students do not read any magazines regularly. The favorites read seem to be Literary Digest, Saturday Evening Post and the American magazine. The young women also enjoy Ladies' Home Journal, Woman's Home Companion, and Good Housekeeping; in contrast the young men prefer Popular Science monthly and the Country Gentleman. Light reading is selected from Cosmopolitan, Hearst's, Red Book, and Life. Occasionally one finds a student whose hobby is shown by his magazine reading, for example, Radio News, House and Garden, or Physical Culture appeal to certain individuals.

And We Have Bookworms.
 Many students admitted that they have not read one book outside of their school course; whereas, others go to the opposite extreme and read so many that they cannot remember one title.

The favorite author ranged from the sporting editor of a daily paper to Dumas, Irving, and Kipling. The majority of votes, however, were cast for James Oliver Curwood or Zane Grey with Gene Starbuck Porter, Peter B. Kyne, and Harold B. Wright running a close second.

A few had no favorite author; one young man admitted that he did not care who wrote the book, as long as it held his attention.

Tennyson a Favorite.
 A minority of students had more than one favorite author, choosing these according to their different moods. Tennyson was on favorite because "he was a great emotional disturber." Edgar Allan Poe's "spooky, unearthly atmosphere appealed to another."

Fiction Appeals.
 Fiction seemed to be the class of books from which students made their selection of favorites. Why? Because most of them read for recreation, because they think that type of book is most interesting, the most thrilling and the most perfect picture of real life.

One young man who evidently has not been near a library read fiction because it is the easiest to obtain, not because he liked it the best. A member of the opposite sex read fiction, "because it was recommended by everyone around."

Along Comes Miss Tragedy.
 A serious young woman preferred tragedy; in contrast a serious young man who has received many jolts from the "university of hard knocks," chose humor for his leisure reading.

Old Fashioned Still Here.
 Only one member of the class said she enjoyed the old standard novels such as Ivanhoe, although some have not forgotten George Elliot.

Next to fiction probably history and travel received the most votes, again because the love of adventure appealed. It is surprising how few chose biography as a favorite, however, some became interested in Hamlin Garland and Edward Bok the last year. Several students confessed that they were particularly interested in one class of non-fiction works, in fact it has become a hobby with them and they devour everything they can find in the way of drama or science, as their particular hobby may be.

It is very seldom that one finds a student who reads no fiction, but occasionally one admits that his leisure time is devoted to works of poetry or psychology, one choosing Schopenhauer, Nietzsche, and Kant for recreational reading. James Whitcomb Riley seemed to be the favorite poet and O'Henry the choice of the short story writers. Many of the class enjoy a good laugh over their books with Mark Twain as the usual provoker of mirth.

Bad Habits Formed.
 Such a quiz is of great satisfaction, not only to the librarian but to the English teacher for it shows that students are, or are not forming regular habits in their reading. It is unfortunate, however, that the majority of readers feel that fiction is the only form of recreational reading. Many of the biographies of today cannot fail to impress the reader with the indomitable strength and perseverance of a struggling youth who has won his way to success and they are often written in a style as fascinating and as thrilling as any novel. Books dealing with the great social movements, vivid travel and spicy essays will often entertain as much as any story and leave a thought that is worth while. DuBois' "Souls of the Black Folk" is a significant work with a great human interest that appeals. Dana's "Two Years Before the Mast" is a remarkably vivid and practical record, descriptive of the life of the American sailor, and has deservedly become a sea classic.

Leisure Time Understood.
 Not only students, but others often make the mistake of putting a wrong estimate on leisure time. "If we do not have an hour a day or five hours a week, we decide it is not worth the effort to try some outstanding work. What is leisure? It is time. "It may be seconds, it may be weeks or it may be considered on the basis of a while year," says a recent writer. It is when the mind is free to follow its own inclination. Everyone has more of it than he realizes; we think we have none because it comes in short stretches. Shall we use our leisure or waste? Shall the result be growth or decay or stagnation? If we do not read more than one or two masterpieces a year great steps may be made in the formation of opinion, in the widening of one's point of view and in the moulding of character.

Bison-Jackrabbits Games

with the ball but were unable to count. At the end of the first half the Northern Bisons had a lead of 14-10.

State Recovers.
In the second period State come back and attempted shots from all over the court. Enough of the counters found the basket to give the Jackrabbits a two point lead with but two minutes of play left. Rumpeltes, posed, took a shot from the center of the floor and the ball dropped neatly through the hoop the score 21 all. Just as the final whistles blew "Red" Callahan, a dead shot from the free throw lane was fouled. Callahan kept his high school reputation and potted the winning counter from the free throw lane.

Ten Good Men.
To place individual honors for either team would be hard. The State team won the opening game as a result of Patterson's ability to score from the field while Owens, the colored rabbit kept the Bisons away from basket. Greenfield, the Bison corrot-topped Captain and forward led. Every Bison scored while Arnold and Thompson, Bisons guards were easily on par with State's veteran defense. Jim Duncan, starting at center in place of Blakeley, played an excellent game until forced from the floor with an injured knee.

Bisons Hit Fast Pace.
In the second contest the Bisons started faster and played a tighter defense. During the first half the Jackrabbits were unable to score from the field until the final ten second of play. The Bisons led 9 to 4 a halftime.

If the second half the Bisons performed brilliantly against the State crew and when the final gun sounded the score sheet showed the Bisons victors by three points, 17 to 14.

A Five Man Team.
Again the Bisons won as the result of five men working together. The Bisons sifted thro the Rabbit defense for short shots, but a number of the closeup attempts were wild, keeping the score down.

Woman's Club Host To College Seniors
An entertaining program was given the Senior Class of the N. D. A. C. by the Woman's Club Friday afternoon, in the Ceres Hall parlors. Features of the entertainment were "The Argentine Tango" demonstrated by Ruth Briscoe and Senor Cumeo; vocal selections by Mrs. Edwin Mayland, violin selections played by Betty Sheldon, and concluded with a group of Scottish songs admirably sung by C. B. Aumödt, former student of the A. C. A tea and informal social gathering followed the entertainment.

In the receiving line were: Mmes. John Lee Coulter, Myrtle Gleason Cole, A. E. Minard, P. F. Trowbridge, and Miss Alba Bales. Mmes. H. L. Walster and E. A. Wilson presided at the tea table. Assisting hostesses were Mmes. Trowbridge, Stanley Borleske, Ethel McVeety, Emma Kelsey, D. M. Bolny, and Misses Alba Bales, Constance Leebly, Elvira Smith, and Mayme Dvorak.

Ed Says---

History is a great little repeater. Last year the Bisons won one and lost one game at Brookings. This year we took a grid game from them by one point, and they reciprocate and give us the same on the basketball court.

Jamestown was forced to take defeat twice from the University last week. Jack Stewart, sport dopeater, immediately predicts dire results for the Bisons when they come to the Forks. To delve in History. Last year the Bisons weren't conceded a ghost of show with much touted Flickertails. We beat them 30-15 the second game. Of course as Jack says the Flickers were away off that night.

If comparative scores are worth much, and they aren't, Creighton will have a comparatively easy time in the N. C. I. Conference, Indiana, Iowa, and the Haskell Indians have been defeated by the hilltoppers.

The University Paper says, "If Baldy Burkman—he will take the loop by storm." The reference is no doubt to the Grand Forks interurban service which Baldy will board as the flood breaks following the Bisons win in the opening game.

Is the A. C. going to have a football Captain next season? For some reason the leader of the 1924 eleven has not been chosen. The students would no doubt like to congratulate the next leader of a victorious eleven over the upstate Normal.

Ted Greenfield showed the people in Brookings that he can still find the loop. Many pessimistic sport followers that this years faster competition would be too much for the Bison quint and their leader. The competition is better, but take a look at the score sheet in the opening contest with state. Twelve points, not bad for a red-headed captain.

Tennis is minor sport at the A. C. Three Bisons qualified for monograms last year. They are Ed Wright, Les Narum, and George Foster. The only remaining difficulty is the deciding of the style monogram to be given.

The Spectrum sports editor believes that the new armory problem is solved. When the Bisons play at home the crowd will yell their hands off and lift the roof. The members of the legislature will want to speak to the school before the next election and the place will be roofless. A new building will be forthcoming.

BUT WHO'S GOING TO LEAD THE ROOTING. That's a deep question. Ted Greenfield is the only member in school of the crew that were the yell extractors last year and Ted says that he wont have time between halves to lead the yelling.

Enough for mirth(?) The A. C. needs yell leaders, and needs them badly. Anyone who can expend a little excess pep is urged to try out. Complete outfits have been bought for six and six capable leaders can be found they will be supplied with the yellow and green regalia. If the A. C. is to win games they must yell and yell hard. Who'll lead.

Final Joke. From the University Student. "We ADMIT WE ARE GOOD". We're glad you do, we don't, neither does anyone else.

Didn't they look nice against the Cobbers?
