BORLESKE ESTIMATES SQUAD OF FORTY OUT BEFORE WEEK IS OVER—SPRING TRAINING IN PROGRESS

Coach Borleske has the baseball squad going through the inductory stages of the spring training and the number of candidates that have reported makes good the prediction that there will be a hot race for positions on the nine. Up to date 28 men have been issued uniforms and according to Borleske the number will easily total 35 in a few days. With about four men for every position the Bison baseball club should take on huge proportions. The work so far has been confined to light batting practice and limbering up exercises. The battery men have been tuning up for almost two weeks and as soon as the weather permits and the diamond is in shape the squad will be ready for real concentrated training out of doors. As yet the schedule is in the formative stage but Borleske announces that it will be completed soon and that it promises to be a real one.

"Ted" played a great game at forward for the Bisons this year. His consistent work on the scoring end of the machine did much towards landing the state title and giving the Bisons their high rating in the conference. Dashing style of play was a feature of the Bison offense with the added experience, he should be a high light in the conference next season. "Ted" is a sophomore and his new role was well earned.

Playing fast clean basketball in every frame of the game the Bison girls basketball team took the clever Concordia outfit down to defeat Saturday evening by a count of 21-19. Songsters Compete At Valley City Tonite on be instituted as an annual event to be looked forward to.

Sort of a Directors Tangle
 The glee club members are not the only ones especially interested in the outcome tonight either, for the wits and skill of directors Prof. A. S. Ebersole, University, Prof. G. C. Ringenburt, Jamestown College, Dean K. Froysoa, Valley City and Dr. C. S. Putnam will be matched in formal combat on the stage with the same numbers and judges to be taken into consideration in reaching the decision.

The Judges Are Keen
 Judges will include: Prof. Earl Killen, choral conductor of the University of Minnesota; Rev. Peter Edwards B. Mus of Lisbon, N. D. and Dean A. J. Stephens of the Fargo College conservatory.

Combined Clubs Sing
 Each club will sing "Invictus" by Huhn, and three other numbers. The program will open with the singing of "America" led by Dean Froysoa, by the combined glee clubs and audience. Each club will then sing the selection "Invictus" and a humorous number, the order of appearance being determined by lot. The second group of each club will include a standard number and a college song. At the close of the contest the combined clubs will again sing "Invictus" under the leadership of the director of the winning club.

Each club, according to the contest rules, will consist of not less than 16 not more than 24 voices.

The contest has been arranged by various music departments of the colleges, working with Prof. E. H. Wilcox of the university. A definite association probably will be organized at Valley City, according to Dr. Putnam.

Let's Have Everybody For Prom Theatre Party

 make the Pre-Prom Theatre Party, billed for Saturday night at the Orpheum theatre a decided success. Everybody at school is cordially invited to be there whether prom-goers or not. The party is decidedly informal you pay your thirty five cents just to help pep things up for the big event April 6.

The Co-ed Prom, which was to have been held that night has been postponed and in its place there will be held an all-college dancing party in the college armory to which every student and staff member is to come and make the night one of merriment.

As to the theatre party again, tickets are still to be had on reservation at the bookstore or may be obtained thru Viola Larson, in charge of the event. Make sure of being there and come anyway you please—alone, in groups, or with your steady—makes no difference just so you get into the game and help boost for the best Junior Prom and swellest social event of its kind ever held here, the same to materialize in the 1924 Prom, Friday evening, April sixth.

Watch for them—the first special comes next Friday.

All material for the book is now about ready for the printers. A few organizations have received extensions of time until Saturday noon but no material will be accepted this week unless special arrangements have been made with the staff for an extension of time, it was announced.

 atory division, as well as the schools of agriculture, chemistry and technology, education, home economics, mechanic arts, pharmacy, veterinary and literature, on display to the visitors this week, each department being in operation to show its everyday sort of activities.

Visitors who expected to see only students engaged in classroom work were surprised at the wide range of industrial activities going on daily and many misconceptions as to the true nature of the college were corrected as the tour of the various departments and branches of the institution progressed.

Fargo Takes Hottest Tourney Staged in Many Years

of the teams played an improved brand of basketball an indication that N. D. high school basketball is becoming more finished each year. Mandan, as expected put up a strong bid for the honors and won the right to compete in the final game which they lost to the Fargo Midgits by the score of 29 to 16. Both teams showed considerable form throught the tournament. The Midgits proved their superiority by their finished style of play, their consistency and cleverness sending them through the race by taking each contest with a good safe margin.

Donnybrook Springs Surprise

In the preliminary games, Donnybrook sprung the first surprise by defeating Grand Forks in a close, exciting and hard fought battle by the score of 21 to 19. The hard fight and the manner in which the Donnybrook quint came up from behind after the Forkers had piled up a good lead, was a feature of the contest. King and Cinninger played well for Donnybrook and the work of McCracken was outstanding for the Forkers.

Mandan Takes Second

Mandan defeated Dickinson in the second game of the tourney by the score of 24 to 17. Mandan displayed a smooth steady style of play and an ability to drop in more points whenever needed. The Dickinson quint fought hard and made the play interesting but they were unable to overcome the lead of their larger opponents. Roberts played in a stellar role for the Dickinson team. Newgard and Burdick were the outstanding performers for Mandan.

Williston Beats Jimtown

The first game in the evening spilled the dope again when Williston defeated Jamestown in a hard fought battle by a score of 28 to 19. The ability to find the hoop from long range was a big factor in the Willisson offense. Jamestown fought hard and displayed some pretty passing but could not stand the pace. Proctor played a fast floor game for the Jimmen. Kulas was the individual star for his quint.

Maddock Loses to Midgits

Fargo Midgits defeated Maddock in the next game, 28 to 26. It was undoubtedly the fastest game exhibited in the preliminary games. The Midgits started out with a burst of speed that surprised even their most loyal backers and although they completely overwhelmed the small Maddock quint

Maddock displayed real flashes of team work that would have been hard for any of the other teams to have counteracted. Had Maddock played the opening game against any other team than the Midgits, they would have made a strong bid for the finals. Miller and Rusch were easily the star performers for the Midgits.

Mandan Takes Semi-Finals

The semi-finals on Saturday morning opened with a hard fought game between Mandan and Donnybrook, Mandan winning after a sensational comeback in the second period by a score of 20 to 17. Donnybrook fought hard and lead at the end of the first period. The little fellows were a little over anxious and two of their first string were removed on fouls. This weakened them considerably and the Mandan crew came back with a punch that put them in line for the finals.

Williston Bows to Fargo

The Fargo Midgits had little trouble in defeating Williston. The clever work of Miller and Rusch completely baffled the westerners and the Midgits won the right to play Mandan in the finals by taking the game with a score of 26 to 14. Williston fought hard throughout but consistent team play which they displayed the night before was lacking. Miller and Rusch were the star performers of the contest. Captain Scott played a strong game for Williston.

Large Crowds Present

All of the games drew large turnouts in spite of the weather. It is certain of course, that there would have been much larger attendance had the weather been less disagreeable. Interest in the games ran high throught the tournament and the people were well satisfied with the style of ball that was exhibited. Lawler and Thomson of the twin cities, officiated the games. While here at the A. C. the various teams were guests at the hands of different organizations and also of some of the clubs of the city of Fargo. Doc's band furnished the music for the final game. As a grand finale the military department conducted a cadet hop at the armory with the members of the teams as their guests. Without exception, it was undoubtedly the best state tournament ever held at the institution.

ARTHUR JOHNSON WINS CHECKER TOURNAMENT

In the checker tournament just closed at the Y M C A, Arthur Johnson of Price, won in the finals over Lester Hulet of Sawyer. Twenty men took part in the tournament, and much interest was evident throughtout. Nine teen games were required to settle the match in the finals. Of these Johnson won 8, Hulet won 5 and 6 were draw games. A medal was given the winner.

"John Ferguson" Goes As Winter's Best Production

institution may be said in all truth of "John Ferguson" a tragedy of North Ireland, presented by the Edwin Booth dramatic club Wednesday evening as their winter term play. Something different from what we have been having, and a tragic production of the highest sort was Wednesday's play and the cast and sponsors are to be given much praise for the work they did with what must have been a difficult production.

Absence of laughter, and an intense atmosphere of something—just something hanging over and around hung with the play from beginning to end and stuck with the crowd for considerable time after the final curtain. The four acts were the work of St. John Ervine who had this play presented for the first time on the stage in the Garrick theatre, New York, in 1919 by the Theatre Guild.

The cast of characters acting Wednesday evening were as follows:
John Ferguson, a farmer—Robert Gardner.

Sarah Ferguson, his wife—Helen Kruger.

Andrew Ferguson, his son—Charles Wells.

Hannah Ferguson, his daughter—Lillian Thompson.

James Saesar, a grocer—Walter Bohnsack.

Like last fall, weather permitting, afternoon drilling will resume soon and this added practical drill instruction.

tion is supposed to put the finishing touches on what already stands as a pretty well drilled corp of cadets. The spring instruction is nothing else but interesting and will be more in the nature of sport than class work. Machine gun, trench mortar, automatic and field rifle practice will be resumed next week on the range, classes being organized for the same.

Major Harrell is strong in his belief that after the spring inspection and grading of the colleges in the country the war department will honor A. C. with a distinguished rating as evidence that we are one of the ten percent best R O T. C. units in U. S. and officers and cadets in the outfit are going to be sure that he is making no mistake in thinking so.

Every Track Prospect Must Come Out At Once

with outdoor practice only a short way off Dewey is putting the squad thru a snappy curriculum of early season training. The number that have reported to date is small and the coaches have issued a call for more candidates. The track schedule is one of the best in years with the extra efficient coaching system it is expected that many more will report soon.

According to Dewey, it is necessary that there be a much larger turnout in order to develop a track squad that will compare favorably with those of the other schools in the conference. Those interested in track are insured a thorough training if they report. Freshmen should be especially interested in this work for track bids fair to be one of the best spring sports in the conference and youngsters will be developed with that in mind. Any experienced track men who have not reported should do so at once. There is very little time left before the opening of the schedule and it is necessary that all candidates start now, as the training season is under way.

ANCIENT HISTORY

For the sixteenth time we notice in the columns of the U. N. D. Student the same old familiar line and lest each and everyone of you haven't heard it yet we'll tell you how it starts and you can ask Evans about it next summer. Here it is—moss and all: "Altho Coach Davis' men will not take first place in the conference standing they are the only team which—The Varsity played only mediocre ball while the A. C. improved and ran away with them—through better luck in shooting the Bisons were able to win in the last minute—Burkman outplayed Flem in all respects including the foul shooting—Prospects for next year seem brighter than this year—Playing as poor a brand of basketball as they have put out this year the Flickertails could not hold the Aggies, the second half was a repetition of the first with the University not playing good basketball at all—They were the only team to defeat Creighton and in several other games sport writers declared that the Flickertails displayed the best form they had seen this season—In all single contests the Varsity was victorious—Third place is just about where the Aggie belong in the final standing (but we fooled 'em)—and so on ad infinitum— We would like to hear a different line for a while now that a new staff has taken things over but the old abibi stuff seems to be a favorite up north and Fargo and Brookings would seem to be Lady Luck's natural hang-out. Oh, well we might get a ball game out of them sometime and next fall's football game will drift around not so far away now with some new wrinkles for Davis and his crowd to howl about.

"Larks" Honor Guests At Volley Ball Dinner

ANNUAL FACULTY DINNER FOR TOURNAMENT TEAMS HELD IN Y BUILDING TUESDAY EVENING

The winter term faculty volley ball dinner was held in the Dining Room of the Young Mens Christian Association Building on Tuesday evening, March 20 at six o'clock. Members of the eight teams, with their wives or lady friends, made up the party.

The honor guests of the evening were the members of the "Larks", the winning team. This team was composed as follows: H. L. Foust, captain, R. S. Amadon, C. I. Nelson, C. A. Allen, W. G. Cooney, R. T. Hance.

The members of this team received complimentary tickets for the dinner and in addition were granted the privilege of being waiters at the banquet. Clad in white waiters' suits, the team appeared in real uniform for the first time during the season.

After the dinner, a hot game was witnessed between the "Larks" and the "Ewald Outing Club" who had challenged the winners.

A third short tournament will be included in by the profs before the end of the season.

At present the First A. C. Faculty Team stands a fine chance to win the City Tournament which is now on. The A. C. team have met all but one of the seven teams in this Tournament and to date have not lost a single game. The final game of the Tournament will be with the "Twilight" team which won the Northwest Volley Ball Championship at Minneapolis last year.

Mention should be made that the "Orioles," Captain Severson, won second place in the local tournament.

Deach Says--

Spring sports now hold the center of the stage on the athletic program. They promise to run us into plenty of competition and to give the Bisons a chance to again display their ability around the conference loop. Under the splendid coaching facilities now offered, every ambitious athlete in the school will have opportunity to try out for a position of prominence. The spring term will find no let up in the full program of athletic events at N. D. A. C. The Bisons are out to put their name in the first division in all conference sports and activities at present seem to indicate that they will succeed.

Track men should get out at once. The early training is vitally important and is worth while even though the candidate does not place high the first year. All men who intend to graduate as competent coaches should try out for track, the inside information gathered there will be worth much to the man who expects to take over the athletic department in some high school after his graduation here.

Baseball seems to be the popular diversion these days. Borleske appears to be facing one big problem in that department and that is the finding of sufficient uniforms to supply all of the candidates. With over 30 out now and more coming the athletic field will look like another Catalina island. It looks as though Borleske anticipates putting us under the watchful eye of some of the big league scouters. Never can tell.

The Fargo Midgets are still in training, awaiting the decision of those who have the say so of sending them to the national high school basketball tournament at Chicago this spring. It would be a fine thing for them, the city of Fargo and the State of North Dakota if they could go. The champions of the state over a group of teams such as were represented in the state tournament should be sent. There is no doubt but what it would put N. D. high school athletics on the map down east. It would be worth the price to send Claude Miller down there to display some of his smart basketball. Fargo high can well be proud of this year's quint. No team should feel badly because they were defeated by them. Such players as Rusch and Miller are exceptional and by the work which they and their team have accomplished under Coach Kimball merit an opportunity to try for national honors.

The play in the tournament brought out a wealth of promising high school athletes from the state. The teams were evenly matched thruout and each quint certainly deserves honorable mention. The coaches are all to be complimented upon the splendid sportsmanship shown by their quints in the tournament. The right type of coaching in the high schools, gives the youngsters a huge start for success while in college.

All-state teams seem to be looked forward to by everyone but they sure do stir up plenty of discussion. This year's college all state team, while only picked from two teams was not so easy at that. One of the largest mistakes in picking such a team seems to be in taking a man from his regular position and placing him in another when there are at least two or three men who are qualified for that position. In leaving Greenfield of the Bisons or Harris of the Flickers off the team, it opens up plenty of chance for discussion. Both played at forward and knew that position, both were big scorers, and were important factors in the offense of their respective teams. They were logical candidates for the position as a running mate for Burkman.

Officials Give Fargo High Three Men on All-State

Fargo's second successful campaign. Rusch, Newgaard Good

"There were several good forwards in the tournament and it is too bad that all of them could not be named to the first or second team," the officials stated.

"Rusch and Newgaard stand out head and shoulders over other forwards. Rusch was the high scorer of the games and his floor work is commendable. Rusch knows how and when to get rid of the ball and is a dangerous man on short shots. He has a knack of getting rid of the ball quickly and does so.

"Newgaard is picked as the other forward for the same reasons that Rusch was chosen. He is not as spectacular a player but is ever dangerous. He is a trifle wild at times but gets rid of the ball quickly by either shooting or passing.

Center Play Weak
"Center play in the tournament was the weakest of the three positions. Of the centers, Bowman of Donnybrook stands out and is awarded the position because of his aggressiveness. He is somewhat awkward but has

Cap Miller and his Ag. Economics crew finally found themselves located in the new Ag. building on the third floor after several attempts to leave old Francis last winter. Save for the absence of tables and the like the boys are pretty well fixed now for a while.

fight and cling to the ball when necessary. He is a fair shot.

Miller Big Star

"Miller is the best individual man in the tournament and wins the guard position and captaincy unopposed. He is a cool head on the floor, handles the ball marvelously and sacrifices chances to score if he sees that a team mate is in a better position than himself. His dribbling is spectacular and he is on the whole a remarkable player. His smart basketball playing wins for him the captaincy of the mythical five. His defensive play is of the highest order and he can be counted on to hold his man to a minimum. "Watkins saved his team many times from being scored on. His work under the basket resulted in the ball going out of Fargo territory and down the floor to teammates."

Honorable Mention

Players who deserve honorable mention for their work in the tourney are Fuller of Fargo, Boe and McCracken of Grand Forks, King of Donnybrook, Burdick of Mandan, Moore of Maddock, Roberts and Brown of Dickinson, all forwards, the officials declared.

Guards whose work showed up well are: Robinson of Dickinson, Shaver of Williston, Haagenstad of Maddock, and Larson of Donnybrook. Rabe of Dickinson and Olson of Maddock did well at center.
