"Little International" Over In Fine Shape

The Most Novel Affair of its Kind Ever Put on Here; Polytechnic Society Guests

A real, live, honest to goodness, up and going "till the gong rang, "Baby International" took place last night in the Live Stock Pavilion under the auspices of the local Saddle and Siroloin Club in an effort to show their guests, The Polytechnic Society and their friends, just what takes place under the hat of a good Ag. man and what he is capable of doing.

Oscar Hanson, a junior, was superintendent of the show and ably assisted by Chester Mathiason, in charge of horses; Cap Bentley, hogs; Ben McCaul, sheep; Neal Coit, Dairy Cattle; and Ed. Eastgate, beef cattle; carried on the affair in true show ring fashion with a live example of judging, placing and discussion right before the auditors ensemble.

Entries for the show closed with 21 sheep representing Shropshire, Hampshire, Southdown and Oxford breeds, 10 hogs representing Poland Chinas, Duroc Jerseys, Chester Whites and Yorkshires; 15 head of beef cattle of Aberdeen Angus and Shorthorn breeding; 3 breeds of horses, namely Percheron, Belgians and Clydesdales and Dairy cattle represented by the Holstein Friesian, Guernsey, and Jersey breeds. Most of these animals have been consistent winners in National and State Fairs.

The affair was very unique and educational thruout, the object of it being the showing of the general public just how, on a small scale, the students in the college of agriculture are instructed in the way of livestock handling and what they are fitted for after receiving such, and being the first of its kind ever put on, is to be considered quite an achievement for the committee in charge.

W. P. Tarbell Newest Member of Faculty

Tarbell is an old A. C. Man; Takes Place of Louis Cantor as Engineering Instructor

Another change in the faculty personnel of the institution took place last week in the coming of W. Park Tarbell to take the position of Louis Cantor, one time instructor in the School of Engineering, and now connected with a Structural Design Company in Detroit, Mich.

Mr. Tarbell is a graduate of A. C. having completed his B. S. M. E. course in 1917. Since his graduation he has followed closely the engineering game in its various phases, and in the last year obtained his degree in Civil Engineering at the University of Minnesota, specializing in Municipal Sanitation, supplementing his work with post graduate work on the Minnesota State Board of Health and Public Design under Prof. Frederick Bass.

New Agassiz Office

The Agassiz staff has now moved into one of the rooms on the second floor of the college Y. M. C. A. The office will be open every afternoon until 4 o'clock or later. If you want information come and see us.

There will be an Agassiz drop box placed in the Main building soon. All information in regard to pictures, activity records of Juniors or Seniors, or other information for members of the staff may be dropped in the box. We want contributions.

Three Weeks Will Find Agassiz Near Completion

Work Fast Rounding Into Finished Shape; Editor Optimistic; Office Moved to Y. Building

The next three weeks should see the completion of the large part of the work on the 1924 Agassiz, according to information given out this week by Arthur Ostman, editor of this season's year-book. Altho there has not been much publicity given the Agassiz since sometime before the holidays the Art staff and general planning committee has been hard at work and announce the skeleton entirely completed and only three weeks of hard work left to fill in the majority of the missing pages.

"Art" Ostman promises something new in the Agassiz this year in color pages. The scenic section also promises some new features with the City of Fargo taking a prominent place in the pictorial presentation of the A. C. Campus and surroundings.

Altho but few students made entry in the photo contest a great number

Delta Sigs Petition Lambda Chi Alpha

Newest Fraternity on Campus Plan Rapid Branching Out Into Larger Fields

The unusually rapid growth of our institution coupled with its mounting publicity thru the honors brought home by our Debating teams, stock-judging team, athletes and military activities, this year, has served as the foundation, so to speak, of the launching forth of a pre-determined effort to go national on the part of Delta Kappa Sigma, the youngest fraternity on the campus. A petition from the honorable fraternity of Lambda Chi Alpha is now within the hands of the Sigs and will be forwarded to the National Secretary within a few days after due attention.

Lambda Chi Alpha is an Eastern fraternity, founded at Boston, in 1909. It has a chapter roll to date of sixty three active chapters, many of them being in the larger schools of the country, as Harvard, Brown, De Pauw, Cornell, Knox, Dartmouth, Northwestern, Purdue, Wisconsin, South Dakota University, Michigan, Chicago, California and Illinois.

"A Growing Achievement to Agriculture" Marks Dedication of Agricultural Hall

"THIS BUILDING IS DEDICATED TO THE AGRICULTURAL MAN'S AMBITION, AND MARKS AN ERA IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF OUR STATE," SAYS DEAN C. B. WALDRON IN CLOSING DEDICATION CEREMONIES FOR A. C.'S NEWEST BUILDING, FRIDAY.

"Surely, the timely erection of this building in this period of depressed agricultural and business stagnation is a place in which to educate its people in the gift bestowed upon them by a considerate power.

Going further into the plot and history of the department and its need for a place to expand in, Dean J. H. Shepherd, one of the college pioneers gave a short history of the development of the Agricultural Department in the institution and brought out the rapid growth that has taken place despite inadequate space and facilities that should accompany that growth.

Speaking from the standpoint of the student, Burton Oederkirk, President of the Saddle and Siroloin Club, expressed thanks and gratification to the men who made this building possible. He outlined to the farmers present what the Saddle and Siroloin Club stands for and the work it is doing, the influence and results it hopes to attain in developing interest in the profession in the state as well as in the college.

C. B. Waldron Dean of the School of Agriculture, in closing the dedication ceremonies said "The new building will stand for an ideal and will in still the necessary enthusiasm into students of agriculture and put their surroundings on a par with that of any of the students in other departments. This building is dedicated to the Agricultural man's ambition, and marks an era in the development and expansion of our state."

SOPHS, FROSH—ATTENTION!

"Please aid in making the class pictures at least part way representative of the large enrollment we have at the college" is the plea of the Agassiz staff. So far plans for group pictures have gone awry. Get this announcement: "All freshmen may leave their classes at 11:30 on Monday and gather in front of the Main building for the class picture... On Tuesday, the Sophomores may leave their classes for the group picture. Let's remember and be there!"

North Dakota Bisons took their first dip into North Central Intercollegiate conference honors last Friday night when they defeated the South Dakota U quint at the armory, 30 to 16 and added one more victory on Saturday night by taking the second game from the invaders by a score of 31 to 12.

Followers are well pleased with the work of the Bison quint as seen in these two conference tussles. The Coyotes, altho showing the effects of playing two hard games with the Flic-kertails, and their long trip, played an exceptionally fast floor game.

The effects of the "Dewey system" have already begun to appear in spite of the fact that the Bisons got away to a late start and each member of the squad has been drilled before in an entirely different system of play

Jackrabbits Clash With Dewey Machine Tonite

Double Series with Much Touted Rivals first Clash of Trip; Dewey Takes 8 Men

Yesterday morning the Bison basketball squad, composed of eight men and their coach "Ad" Dewey left for Brookings, South Dakota, where they will tussle with the S. D. state quint in a two game series tonight and tomorrow night, the 28th and 27th respectively. From there they will journey to Sioux City, Ia., where they will meet the Morningside aggregation on Monday evening, the 29th then to Des Moines "U" at Des Moines on Tuesday, and to Indianola, Ia., the 31st to play Simpson college in their fifth conference game of the trip.

Five Hard Games

This trip with its schedule of five hard games will have an important effect upon the standing of North Dakota state college in the conference. Each team that will be played is a member of the North Central conference and the results of the trip that our team is making into the southern schools are of vital importance to us.

PLAY YOUR PART OF THE GAME

The students and faculty of A. C. have always upheld loyally our athletic teams in the past. We must stand back of the team to the last degree of true fighters, to the last student, during the basketball season. It is a matter of honor, of tradition, and loyalty that we give them our best in the way of support and encouragement, pulling for the team always, and they giving their best in return for us.

We as students of A. C. expect them to keep in good physical condition by training consistently and living up to the rules laid down by the coaches. It is part of an athlete's training to develop a will power that will enable him to sacrifice, for a few months, those things which the coach prohibits. Any student who encourages an athlete to break training rules is a traitor to the school and should be thrown out, likewise anyone who associates with any of our athletes who does not observe the rules. They have been given the honor and privilege of wearing the Yellow and Green, they should uphold the high standards for which those colors stand. The team is dependent upon its weakest member, fight hard to uphold your position. A. C. always fights, A. C. never quits, and A. C. always plays the game fair. Built upon tradition, so may it ever stand.

of excellent prints were obtained and several pages of excellent snap-shots will be shown in the Agassiz. A splendid satire section has been worked out by Frank Chaney, a known master of cartoon work and humor.

In order to aid the staff in the completion of the final work the editor has announced the following instructions to the student body:

"Old Master's Studio is offering the best rate on individual pictures and are co-operating with the staff in every way. It is urged that Juniors Seniors, fraternity and sorority members, and others who are to have individual pictures in the year book patronize this studio.

"All fraternity writeups and pictures should be turned in by the end of next week.

"Organizations, other than fraternities, are to have their group pictures or layouts, with writeups, completed by the end of next week. Harry Swanson is in charge of this department and will assist any group in every way possible.

"Juniors and Seniors are asked to see Miss Viola Larson or Miss Violet Erickson in regard to individual writeups or leave their college record at the Agassiz office in the Y building.

"Verna Owens is head of a new department, "College Women" and all activities devoted to women will be included in this division. Organization wishing to be represented in the Agassiz are urged to get in touch with Miss Owens at once.

Howard Bateson is head of the staff art department and organizations desiring suggestions for layouts will receive help from him. Adolph Nordgaard, associate editor, will also aid in this work. Inquiries regarding photography and miscellaneous matter will be handled by Arthur Richardson, associate editor.

"Verle Deach is in charge of the department of athletics. Leo Osman is handling the military department and Clarence Sagmoen music."

It is the plan of the staff, Mr. Osman says, to get the book to the students early in May. In order to do this all material must be in the hands of the editors by March 15, it is declared.

Miniature Show to Include All Features of a Real Fair

most clever and unusual array of agricultural and industrial exhibits coupled with a continuous program of knockout speeches and exhibitions of talent ever presented to a student body. Come and let La Palmonivra read your past, present and future, (she reads your mind like a book); get a hot one, so hot they haven't stopped barking yet; see everything the law allows in the way of drinks! All for the price of a smile, gentlemen. Who's going to be next.

Tomorrow all day from ten o'clock in the morning till midnight the Third Annual County fair will be in full sway and session on the upper floor of the Main Building, under the sole direction and management of the students registered in the Industrial Courses. In addition to the grain and vegetable exhibits of County Fairs, each Industrial Course will have live demonstrations of the work being done by them in the class room as building plans and models, machine shop work, drawings, blue prints, pastry, needlework, and electrical exhibitions.

Then there are to be regular performances or programs, one in the afternoon and another in the evening featuring the best available talent in the way of speakers, and entertainment in the state and nearby counties. And on top of it all a sale of the good things being prepared by the "ticklers of man's appetite" will take place, needing no further discussion to those who witnessed the sale and eating of the monster pie of last year.

Owing to the superior fitness and care being exercised in putting on something really high-class this year, a small admission charge of thirty-five cents will be charged to defray in part, the heavy expense connected with the presentation of a work of this kind.

In brief, the day's program will be something as follows: Forenoon—Judging of exhibits, general rounding into shape and exhibition; Noon—dinner will be served on the grounds with plenty of eats and entertainment during the noon hour; Afternoon—The first program gathers headway promptly at 2:30 with the opening selection of Ingebretson's band followed by the opening address of Mr. Snyder, President of the Fair Association. Addresses by President Coulter, Dean Sheppard, Alba Bales, Frances Robinson of Des Moines, mingled with selections by the band, moving pictures, a meat cutting exhibition and other features follow. In the evening a program made up entirely of entertainment features takes place with a sprinkling of surprise acts and music. Make it a point to be there for sure.

Howard Bateson is head of the staff art department and organizations desiring suggestions for layouts will receive help from him. Adolph Nordgaard, associate editor, will also aid in this work. Inquiries regarding photography and miscellaneous matter will be handled by Arthur Richardson, associate editor.

Short Courses Open In Elevator Management

Twenty students, the first of the influx of short course men to register this week for the winter courses in agriculture and elevator management at the college, composed the first class held in the new agricultural building, which was dedicated last Friday, Jan. 19.

Most of the new students are enrolling for the entire eight weeks, Jan. 22 to March 9, although a considerable number are expected to come for the one week in which they are especially interested, according to C. B. Waldron, dean of agriculture.

"Y" Religious Service Well Received Sunday

Dr. E. P. Robertson, President of Wesley College, gave the address at the College religious service held by the two Christian Associations in the "Y" Auditorium last Sunday at 3 p. m. A highly pleased audience heard the address which was a most timely one for college people.

Dr. Robertson drove home the idea that all education should be of one piece. "We need a scientific approach to religion," he said, "and a religious approach to science."

Dr. W. C. Hodgson will be speaker on Feb. 4.

a close contest. The first game was exceptionally scrappy. Both teams showed spurts of real team play and floor work, especially in the first ten minutes of play. The Coyotes showed plenty of fight but seemed to be playing in hard luck. Many times they carried the ball down the floor with terrific speed only to lose their impetus when they struck the Bison guards. The work of Captain Flem and Arnold at guard positions was outstanding on the Bison quint. Hinman at forward and McKinnon at guard carried the brunt of the play for the invaders.

Lineup is Changed

The second game found the Bisons with a changed lineup and Dewey's first string aggregation started off with a rush that swept the tired Coyotes entirely off their balance. After the first 13 minutes of play with the score 17 to 2 in favor of the Bisons, Dewey sent in five of his second string men. This slowed up the game somewhat but the southerners lacked the drive to become at all dangerous.

Arnold and Flem Star

The defensive work of Arnold and Flem again featured the game. Greenfield, who started at forward in this game, proved to be a dangerous man on defense. In the first ten minutes of play he dropped in four counters from difficult angles and his work in following up shots under the basket was pretty. He was high point getter for the Bisons with five field goals to his credit. "Red" Blakely, started at center for the Bisons and gave evidence that he will be a dangerous man with a little more conditioning. Hughes proved the high score man for the Coyotes.

Mentor is Handicapped

In the two contests, Dewey tried out several combinations and it is still doubtful as to which is the strongest. Considering that the Bison mentor has been handicapped because of the fact that the team was late in getting started, and that it is difficult to introduce a new system of play and get immediate results, the Bisons disposed of their first conference games in fine shape. However, while also making allowances for the fact that the Coyotes were well tired out when they arrived here, we can arrive at no other conclusion than that the prospects are bright for a team that will live up to reasonable predictions and place some where in first division conference honors. It seems reasonable to predict that the team will make a good showing this year. No matter who they play or how badly they are outclassed they are sure to leave a good account of themselves and we all know that they will give us all that we can ask of them--a good showing in the conference.

But what do we expect of our team? What have we a right to expect and do we realize what we owe the team even if they return without having won a single game? A little look into the inside, a reasonable "once over," as it were, into the real facts about our basketball team may put us right and bolster up our student morale-- that which must be real and strong if we are to turn out successful players.

Team New at Plays

In the last three years the A. C. has had as many coaches in basketball. Each coach has had a different system of play. The Bison coach this year has his own style of play and it has been necessary to change the style of play of every man on the squad with the exception of Blakely, Flem and Trowbridge, the only last years' letter men to make the trip have had a different coach every year that they have been at A. C. Greenfield has played with teams whose system has been different from any ever used around here. Duncan, with two years experience on the Fargo College varsity, played under two different systems there. Robbins and Rumpeltes have had varied experience and all under different systems. Our squad got a late start and to take all of these men and drill them into a Dewey machine in a few weeks is an impossible task. We have already noticed concrete results of the new system but we cannot expect that we can have a championship team with only one year in which to build it.

We're Building for '24

Why can we be content with a good showing this year? Because we are and should be looking towards the future. Our coaches have that in mind and they are working with that end in view. Of the eight men to make the trip, three are freshmen, one Sophomore and two Juniors. They will form a basis upon which to start work next year, they will be the exponents of the new system, we will be all set and wait and see if it doesn't bring results. There needs be no discounting of our team. We have a good team and they will be playing a game with last year's championship team and it will be composed of five of last years' regulars, five men who were selected as the mythical All-State five of South Dakota. They have high hopes for conference championship honors this year. And to other school that the Bisons will meet on their trip--they all have strong teams but we know that when our team comes home it will have let them all know that we are in the conference and must be reckoned with.

Don't Ask Too Much

We already have two conference wins to our credit. We can't expect too much from our team but we are out for all there is in it. A. C. never quits and we won't be beaten until the last whistle blows. A. C. works hard and always does its best. Let's hold to our tradition and "be there" every minute for the Yellow and Green.

The following men will make the trip: Arnold, Flem, Greenfield, Rumpeltes, Blakely, Duncan, Robbins and Trowbridge.
