FARGO HIGH BASKETEERS WIN STATE TOURNAMENT; DEFEAT EGELAND 25 TO 10

Superior Offensive and Pass Game Brings Victory to Midgets over Fighting Egeland Quint

LOSING TEAM WINS ADMIRATION OF ALL IN FINAL GAME

Efficient Management and Tremendous Crowds Make Tournament Most Successful in History of State

Fargo Courier News, March 26—Egeland high school basketball team, fourth horse in the state tournament, dropped the title game to Fargo high, 25 to 10, but the quint will return home with the well-wishes of hundreds of fans, including the Fargo rooters, and a record as perhaps the cleanest and gamest group of athletes taking part in the title play.

The one-sided score does not in any measure tell the story of the desperate fight that the crack Midget squad had in winning the title. The first half ended 6 to 3 for Fargo, and at the time in the second period the northern team evened the count and captured the lead. Fargo came back, however, and held a seven point lead when Wilde, Egeland center who earned the right to the all-state center berth by his play in the preceding game, was injured and forced to leave the game. The entire crowd of fans which packed the Agricultural college gymnasium offered its sympathy to the losing team whose splendid play was keeping the Egeland team in the title race. Wilde wept when he was taken out of the game and a roar of applause and handclaps greeted him when he returned to the game, limping badly, three minutes later. H. Howel, the forward who played such a strong game in the Valley City contest of the morning, played only a short time. He was injured in a collision with Mair in the Valley contest and developed a bad leg during the afternoon.

Special Numbers Coming this Term

Jubilee Number, College Booster, Due the Last of April; Frosh and Ags. To Edit Numbers.

Plans are well under way and part of the special staff already assigned their work on the big feature number of the Spectrum, the May Festival number, which is due about the last of April. The exact date will be announced later. This issue will be a special eight page edition carrying many special features besides the regular news. Copies of it will be sent to high school seniors all over the state.

Besides the feature number there will be the annual Green Edition by the Frosh who are expected to organize their staff this week. This number is slated for issue about the time of the first dandelion or cowslip. With something fomenting over in the Ag camp these days it is expected that the Hayshakers' Numbers will make its appearance just before the big Ag Barn Dance and Jamboree which the Saddle and Sirloln boys say is to be a reality as soon as the grass gets green and the cows can be turned out to pasture.

Watch for them. Three big numbers.

OFFICIALS NAME ALL-STATE FIVE.

Rudd, Fargo, Forward.
Boe, Grand Forks, forward.
Wilde, Egeland, center.
Arnold, Fargo, guard.
Putnam, Egeland, guard.

After declaring that the brand of basketball played at the state tournament ranked among the best high school basketball they had ever seen, Bee Lawler of Minneapolis, and Lynch of St. Cloud, officials in the tournament, announced the above selection as their choice of a mythical all-state team.

LET'S MAKE IT UNANIMOUS—NORTH DAKOTA STATE COLLEGE

College Is High School Student's Opportunity

President's Message to H. S. Seniors in This Number of College and State.

"There never was a greater opportunity for high school graduates than that which lies today in going through college, both for the good of the student and for the good of the entire state and nation."—President Coulter.

Messages from leading students, faculty members, the Student Commission and the Alumni Association are features of this month's number of College and State, official college alumni publication, now being sent out to High School seniors all over the state and to adjacent schools in Minnesota. The opening message, "College Is High School Student's Opportunity" by President J. L. Coulter is an especially strong appeal to the coming high school graduates to consider seriously the opportunities of a higher education. Other articles of interest are: "Go To College" by Dean A. D. Weeks, "The First Generation at A.C." by Prof. A. H. Parrott, and articles on the various student activities by Matt Tindall, editor of the Spectrum; Phil Balsley, editor of the 1923 Agassiz; Louis Duerner, 1922 football captain; Lynn Huey, president of Alpha Zeta; and Earl Heising, business manager of the 1923 Agassiz. Besides all these features there is an interesting column of alumni happenings together with a resume of college events during the past two months.

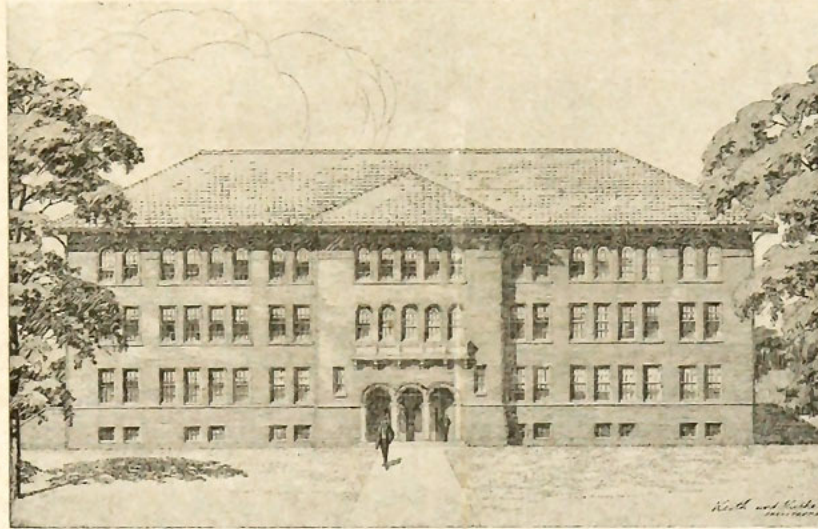

The series of stories of college departments and what their alumni are doing, which have been appearing in successive issues of College and State, will be continued in the next issue.

NEW STAFF FOR U. N. D. "STUDENT" AFTER EASTER

A new staff will take charge of the "Student," weekly student publication of the University of North Dakota, after the Easter holidays.

Vernice Aldrich will occupy the managing editor's chair while the present incumbent, Paul Samuelson, will take over the business management.

Architect's Drawing of the New Agricultural Building to Be Erected this Spring

Accommodations necessary to provide for increased number of students will be afforded by the erection of the new agricultural building, the ground for which will be broken as soon as possible.

The school of agriculture and the extension division will occupy the new three story building, according to officials. A central portion of the building will be built with the funds now available, with dimensions of 90 by 50 feet, and plans call for additional wings to the agricultural building in the future. Whereas the buildings on the grounds now extend largely along a single roadway, plans call for grouping buildings that will be erected in years to come with the present buildings to fit the new landscape design.

The new building will occupy a site including the ground now occupied by Francis Hall, which will be moved 225 feet southwest of its present location.

With the meeting of the Board of Administration and officials of the college today to award the contract for the moving of Francis Hall, the interest of the student body is focused on the new agricultural building which is to be erected this summer. Ground will be broken for the foundation as soon as Francis Hall is moved if the original plans hold good.

But the fact that the one bid submitted for moving the old building approximated $20,000, together with a recent communication from the landscape architect, who drew up the plans accepted last year for our future building policy, stating that the proposed site of the new agricultural building might be changed, has added a new angle to the present situation centering around the removal or destruction of Francis Hall.

It is a well-known fact that the students and alumni of the college will strenuously resist any effort on the part of the authorities to destroy the old building as long as it can be of value to the college as a student center. On the other hand, the present financial situation in the state strongly discourages any great expenditure of money in moving Francis Hall. This leaves the only other alternative, that of choosing another site for the new building. Pending the return of President Coulter from Washington and the action of the board of administration in the next few days, the students and faculty of the college await the final verdict with interest.

"Why Is Egeland?" Query of Basketball Fans since State Championship Battle

Where is this town of Egeland? How big is it? What kind of people live there? How many students in their high school? These are some of the numerous questions that have been asked all over the state since the playing of the state basketball tournament at the A. C. the past week. Slated by the dopsters for elimination in the early rounds of the contest, this little known team waded through Bismarck and Valley City into the final contest, only losing to the splendid Fargo quint after one of the most spectacular and hardest fought battles ever witnessed in a state tournament.

Following the announcement of the final battle in the daily papers of the state the next day came the general query, "Why is Egeland?" Very few of us had ever heard the name before. Fewer still were they who even knew that there was a North Dakota town by that name. Accordingly, there was a general examination of state maps and numerous calls at the county auditor's office for more light on the subject.

The answer to the first question listed above revealed Egeland to be a town in the northern part of the state in Towner county on Kenmare branch of the Soo railroad. Latest census reports credited it with a grand total of 300 inhabitants. Further search revealed the fact that the total enrollment of the Consolidated High School there was 18 students, nine of which were boys. Nine boys from which was developed a five-man team that gave battle royal to a team from the biggest city in the state.

"It isn't done" you say. No, ordinarily not. But you have to know what kind of people these Egelandites, or Egelandians or Egelandish, are to understand "Why is Egeland?" In most respects they are quite like the ordinary type of human in that they tend to their own business, pay their taxes, educate their children and obey the law. But in one respect they are different. To prove it they chartered a special train to Devils Lake at the time of the district tournament there and went down 246 strong to cheer their team to victory. Only the aged and infants remained at home, business ceased for the day and Egeland moved down to Devils Lake to win the tournament. With such civic spirit is it any wonder that the youths who were to uphold Egeland's name in basketball, trained conscientiously all season by taking long runs and setting no exercise each day to condition their bodies. There weren't enough men in school or players in town to form a second team for scrimmage so the handicap had to be overcome by the means at hand.

According to sport shoe accounts Egeland was the dark horse of the tournament. We think fast horse would be better, for Egeland's performance in basketball for several years past has been of the same high order. The present coach modestly affirms that it is due to his predecessor and the spirit of the men; others say it is the unusual, but we think it is the Egeland spirit as manifested in the support of the team in the district tournament. That's why Egeland is what she is.

DR. SPARKS WILL ADDRESS PHI KAPPA PHI

Dr. E. E. Sparks, national president of Phi Kappa Phi fraternity, and president Emeritus of Pennsylvania State college, will address the local chapter of Phi Kappa Phi this evening. The members of the fraternity will meet in the College 'Y' dining room for luncheon and afterwards will be given the opportunity of listening to one of their fellows who has spent much of his time in the touring of the country with the best interests of higher scholarship and the Phi Kappa Phi fraternity at heart. Many of the more important phases of college life here, in connection with scholarship, will undoubtedly be dealt with at this time.

Melvin Hodge New Track Mentor at A.C.

Well Known Fargo Official Secured to Coach Track Men This Spring

With spring football and baseball on the regular athletic schedule this spring, college authorities came to the timely assistance of Director Borleske by securing Melvin Hodge, well known Fargo official and athlete as assistant coach to have complete charge of the A. C. track activities.

Our entrance into the N. C. I. conference calls for a track meet this spring. With football and base ball demanding the attention of both Coach Borleske and Watkins, it became necessary to secure the assistance of a third coach. A conference meet in which A. C. athletes will participate is assured for May 27, at South Dakota State College, and with a contemplated meet with St. Thomas May 29 our trackmen will need much attention and intensive training.

"Mr. Hodge, while not having experience in coaching in this section is perhaps the only man in the state who has made an actual study of athletic work," said Coach Borleske. Mr. Hodge graduated from the International Y. M. C. A. college of Springfield in 1918. This college is recognized as the leading college in the United States on physical education work, with such notables as Stagg of Chicago and Jones of Illinois being among the alumni. Hodge was a member of the baseball and hockey teams of the college and in his senior year was captain of the hockey team which played Yale, Harvard, and the Army.

During his high school days, Hodge was a member of the Fargo high track team and was second high man in the state meet during his senior year. After leaving college he went into the physical education work at Camp Dodge and with two other men under the direction of Van Loo, physical director of the camp, supervised the school of physical education at the camp.

SIGN THE PETITION FOR NORTH DAKOTA STATE COLLEGE.

The final count of all test ballots received at the Spectrum office up to Thursday evening on the contemplated change of name of the North Dakota Agricultural College gave a total of 449 votes cast, 437 of which favored the name of North Dakota State College, 14 preferred Agricultural and Mechanic Arts, 6 were satisfied with the present name and two wanted other than those suggested on the ballot.

The test ballot made its appearance in the issue of March 9th following renewed agitation on the campus on the part of numerous students for an expression stating whether or not the change of name was desired. The vote represents a good majority of the college enrollment which at the present time is 560 students. The total dissenting votes are so few that the returns are considered practically unanimous for a change to that of State College.

The next move which will be put into effect immediately is to prepare a petition bearing the signatures of all interested students to be submitted to the Postmaster General at Washington. This petition will be placed on the desk to the left of the entrance to the Administration Building on Monday. If you want our name changed sign it.

In their first meeting since taking office the new Student Commission went on record as unanimously in favor of a change of name to that of North Dakota State College. The Editor of the Spectrum was appointed to head a committee which will take up the matter with the president and the college authorities. Their approval is expected. United States Senators Ladd and McCumber will be appealed to and their support asked in placing the matter before the postal authorities at Washington.

If this is successful the change of name must go before the next legislature and be passed on twice and finally to a vote of the people of the state. The change of postoffice, however, is the most important step in the process. Once the name is changed by them the rest will follow eventually from the very use of the new name through the mails.

14-Event Track Meet Feature of May Festival

With the state high school basketball tournament completed, Coach Borleske, is making preparations for the athletic events of the fourteenth annual high school festival to be staged at the college May 11, 12 and 13. The splendid results of the tournament plays here, both state and district, in point of management, finances and satisfaction to the contesting players, gives promise of a large entry list in the field and track events. The athletic events will be a part of a four-phase contest including industrial literary, musical and athletic.

Fourteen different track and field events will be participated in. The program of events includes: 100 yard dash, 880 yard run, mile run, 230 yard low hurdles, 120 yard high hurdles, high jump, broad jump, pole vault, shot put, discus throw, javelin throw and half mile relay.

A GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY

Recently a group of A. C. students visited the new Fargo High School on a tour of inspection of the new building. In the main hall, gracing one of the walls, they noted a large composite picture placed there by our sister institution to the north. It was a picture showing campus views and buildings of the University—a commendable piece of advertising. But nowhere in the building was there a sign of A. C. interest other than a catalogue in the library and the files of the Spectrum in the Cynosure office. Yet this last school year there were 110 students from the city of Fargo registered in our Freshman class and at the present time 230 students from this city are attending the A. C. They represent an important percentage of our enrollment. The number of Fargo High School students attending the college is increasing rapidly each year. Both the institution and the city are coming to a realization of the mutual relation each bears to the other in the advancement of community interests.

No better form of appreciation or interest in the High School could be shown than the framing of a picture similar to that of the one already mentioned. This for its advertising value if nothing more. Here is a golden opportunity for certain departments in the college to show a little interest in the welfare of the school. We have a college photographer second to none in the country for the quality of work turned out; our campus is far prettier than that of the University and our buildings equal to theirs.

What about a little cooperative spirit for the good of the school between the College photographer, architects, art students and manual training department, in promoting a little healthy propaganda. We are sure that both Fargo and Moorhead high schools would welcome an addition of this sort to their hall pictures.

A WORTH WHILE SPORTING EVENT

In commenting upon the recent state high school basketball tournament, the most successful in every detail seen in this state for many years, we can find no more appropriate expression of our feelings than the following editorial which appeared this week in the Fargo Forum:

"Once again Fargo has good reason to be proud of its high school athletes.

"No gamer, cleaner team of good sportsmen than the Fargo 'Midgets' ever stepped on a basketball floor in this city. They came through the final rounds Saturday with two notable victories, and established their claim to the state high school championship beyond all question.

"They won because they were the best team in the tournament, even though the margin seemed uncomfortably close.

Their victory is all the more pleasing because of the calibre of their opponents. The Egeland boys who opposed Fargo in the final round put up a far better struggle than the score of 25 to 10 would indicate. They fought Fargo to a standstill for half of the game and at one time had a lead of 7 to 6. Fargo doubtless would have won the game in any event, but the margin would not have been so great but for the injury of the captain of the visitors, Wilde, a real star. The crowd naturally was with the home team, but the visitors won the hearty admiration of even the most partisan rooter by their good sportsmanship.

"And our old rivals from the Forks gave a splendid account of themselves in the morning, making the Fargo team extend itself to the limit to nose out a 22 to 18 victory. Nor do the Valley City boys need feel disgraced at taking a 20 to 11 trimming from this Egeland team.

The tournament was a splendidly managed affair throughout, and it is to be hoped it can be made an annual event. If the boys put up the brand of basketball displayed this year, they need not worry about the little matter of attendance and incidentally of their expenses. It should be possible to pay the expenses of all competing teams to Fargo, and thus give the winners of each district title a complimentary trip to Fargo each year.

"The tournament made a lot of new basketball fans, and revived the interest of many old ones, and those who did not attend the games missed some of the keenest and most spectacular sport seen in many a day."

Fargo High Basketeers Wins State Tournament

turned out for every session offer splendid inducements to the state high school league to fix the agricultural college as the permanent state tournament site. From the attendance mark it is expected that Director Borleske will be able to cover expenses of all teams during their stay here and also traveling expenses.

Egeland started out to play the same style of ball that defeated Valley City in the forenoon. They kept the ball under the Fargo basket, passing back and forth, hoping to draw the Fargo team well down the floor and suck in the defense preparatory to a speedy spurt down the floor by the fast Egeland forwards. This play, which worked with Valley City, was unsuccessful against Fargo as the Midgets refused to be drawn in.

Peculiar Brand of Ball.
 The first half brought a peculiar brand of ball. The score at the end of the period was 6 to 3. Neither side appeared anxious to try for any scoring, although the Fargo team missed a large number of shots. Rusch did all the scoring in the first half for Fargo, getting two field goals and two free throws. Wilde did all the scoring for the Egeland five in the first half and in the second period as well. He caged four field goals and two free throws. Only three fouls were called on Fargo during the game and Egeland fell under the referee's displeasure only six times.

The second half of the contest brought out the real sensational play of the evening. The period opened with the same style of play as in the first half, Rusch seemed unable to get going and Powers did not go well, either, however, and Rusch came back into the game. After about four minutes of play Wilde sent in two pretty field goals in rapid succession and Egeland took the lead, 7 to 6. Rudd brought Fargo back into the lead with a field goal and Rusch made the margin two points by adding a free throw on a technical on Wilde. The Egeland center then evened by getting a field goal and the count was knotted, 9 to 9. Two free throws by Rusch and one by Wilde. Miller scored a pretty field goal and Rusch scored again after some pretty work. Arnold put a pretty one handed effort through the hoop and the score was 17 to 10. It was at this point that Wilde was hurt. Rusch and Arnold each scored once after this and Rudd put in two more before the game ended.

::: LETTERBOX :::

Dear Editor:
 We boast of students that learn how to do things and then go ahead and do them. We believe in the laboratory method of learning how to do things.

South of the Main building is a walk made of a composite mixture of cinders and mud, mostly mud. It is a disgrace to the campus, the cause of a lot of tramping on the grass, wet feet and much cussing. We need a real sidewalk there.

In the Engineering department and also in the Agricultural department a number of students who are taking or have taken a course in concrete construction. These men need practical work.

Why not bring these two needs together, the need for a walk, and the need for practical work. Let the college furnish the necessary sand, cement, and machinery, and the student body can furnish the necessary brains and brawn.

Wouldn't this be a worthwhile task to improve our campus, make it more neat, attractive and cleaner? It is a chance to practice loyalty to A. C., instead of preaching it. What do the rest of you men say, engineers, agriculturists, scientists and pharmacists? Are you willing? If you are, let's do it.

Annual "Y" Installation Next Sunday

Officers and Cabinet Men to be installed at Morning Breakfast; Rex Bell of Minneapolis to Assist.

The Annual Installation service for officers and Cabinet men of the Young Men's Christian Association will be held in the Association Room Sunday morning, April 2, at 8:00 a.m. A light breakfast will be served to those in attendance at the service, just previous to the formal exercises. Breakfast tickets will be sold for 20 cents, just enough to cover the cost of the food.

Every man on the campus, both student and faculty member is most cordially invited to this service, whether members of the Association or not.

Besides the elective members to be installed, the members of the Cabinet for 1922-1923 will be formally recognized. The Constitution provides that the president elect shall appoint the members of his Cabinet. These men are being selected this week, and embrace chairmanships of the following departments: Finance, Bible study, Deputation Team, Sick Visitation, Athletics, Boys' work, Desk Service (including Rooms, Employment and information), Hand Book, Reading and Writing Room, Socials, N. D. A. C. in China and Childrens' Moving Pictures. Prof. W. F. Sudro, the newly elected board member, will begin his term of office April first.

Two student members of the board will also be elected Sunday morning, to take the places of Jonas Sturianson and Merritt Hoffman. Nominations and election will be by ballot.

Rex E. Bell, Interstate Student Secretary for Minnesota and the Dakotas, will be present and will have a prominent part in the Installation Service.

A. C. Enrollment Show Increase Over Last Year

According to figures given out by the registrar's office this week the spring term enrollment at the institution has made a big increase over the corresponding term of a year ago. The total for all branches of the college shows 560 students enrolled this term, an increase of 82 over the spring term of 1921 which had an enrollment of 478. The big increase is in the college where a gain of 100 was made. The Model High advanced 15 while the Industrial courses dropped back 33. The cause for the decline in this part of the college is due to the changes effected by the Disabled Veterans Bureau which last year sent a large number of vocational men to the A. C. for spring training. The enrollments in the various branches for the two corresponding terms is as follows:

	1921	1922
College	303	403
Model High	116	131
Industrial	59	26

Passion Week To Be Observed

Christ'an Associations Plan Vesper Service Each Day; Union Service in State Theatre Easter Morning.

Following the plan inaugurated in the spring of 1920, the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. are planning the observance of Passion Week. Each day of the last week of Christ on earth has a vital significance, and great attention is given to the observance of this season over the entire Christian world.

The business men and women of Fargo are planning to observe the week with a thirty minute service daily at the Commercial Club Rooms. Prominent men of the city will make a short address at each of these meetings. President Coulter will be one of the speakers.

The services at Agricultural College will probably be only ten minutes in length, as formerly. The time and place are being worked out by a committee. Each service will open with a song, followed by scripture reading appropriate to the day, and prayer. A six-minute talk by a selected speaker will close the service.

On Easter Sunday morning, the young people of Fargo and Moorhead will meet at the State Theatre. This service will be at seven A.M. The committee in charge hope to have the active cooperation of all the colleges of the two cities.

The Labor Alliance

The miners, railroad workers and longshoremans have drafted an agreement at Chicago whereby if any group is "attacked" it will become the duty of all to consider and apply ways and means best suited for the emergency. This agreement includes two million men and is strong enough to put the American government to a severe test. The representatives say that is a "closer cooperation of our forces which will operate to more effectively protect the union workers in wage struggles. "By joining hands," says President Lewis of the United Mine Workers, "rail and mine workers can present a more unyielding front to the forces which are slowly pressing labor and which have already caused breaches in its solid ranks."

The College Girl Has Had Hers

Many of the writers in our popular magazines have commented on the American college girl, saying that she is a flapper and is not in school for serious work. The new attacks are on the college men. Professor Sihler of New York university, says, "a good spanking and a pair of stout shoes would be better for the college boobs than a racing car and silk shirts." Later Dr. John Hibben, president of Princeton University, addressed a letter to parents requesting them not to give motor cars to their sons for their use while in college. One magazine says "he is concerned, it must seem, about the whole slack scheme of university affairs and about the habits of thought and feeling which in many colleges tend to displace a desire for work and learning with a craving for ease and more than oriental luxury." The professor that wrote this probably received the same advice when he was in his college days. The old Chinese sage, Confucius, said that the past is the only ideal time, people are degenerating.

Higher Standards

Elihu Root suggests that a college training of two to four years be required for entrance to a law school. Some oppose this plan as great lawyers like Abraham Lincoln, Henry Clay and John Marshall would have been barred. Mr. Root says, "The legal profession is flooded with undesirables who do not appreciate their own place and the law's place in society. Too many lawyers today are under the belief that law is an exact science, a set of formulas to which life must bend. They are searching books to cover their cases. The law grows out of human conditions and changes with them. The law has shifted from individual control to social function."

The Genoa Conference

Premier Lloyd George will have as his main plank at the Genoa conference the political recognition of Russia. He will also urge a treaty between Russia, Poland and Rumania.

Among Our Men

Did you know we have:—

An Archer who never bent a bow.
A Baker who has never kneaded dough.

A Ball who is neither rubber nor ivory.

A Barron without title or estate.

A Benchoff or on the campus who prefers an easy chair.

A Biggs who is really rather small.

A Berkeley that never saw California.

Two Bishops that have never been ordained.

Two Bohligs that arn't the least deformed.

And Boise isn't plural at all.

A versatile Brush that cleans teeth, shines shoes and scratches its back.

Three Cooks that can't boil water.

A Darling—somebody's, we don't know whose.

Deyoe? We don't.

A Freeman who is a slave to work.

A Greenfield with a sorrel top.

A Greenside who is generally on the right side.

A Grieves who is always happy.

A bald topped Hill.

Heer who is generally somewhere else.

A little Ladd.

Jaynes who isn't the plural of flapper.

Nayes can't whinny at all.

A Pike called Fish for short.

An unmusical Piper.

Roth was never as angry as all that.

Rue has nothing to regret.

Two Strands that do not make a rope.

Stubbee but not short.

Non-electrical Watts.

Welch prefers grape juice when there is nothing else to be had.

Wright is sometimes wrong.

A Trotter who has never run a race.

A Janowski. We don't know what-inheliski.

For President: Letitia Jones
For Vice President: Faythe Brandmeyer, Marion Pannebaker
For Treasurer: Olga Gruah, Myrtle Euren
For Secretary: Helen Fuller, Marion Bender

Junior Prom Tonight

Promptly at eight thirty, the Armory doors will open for the classic of A. C. social events, the annual Junior Prom, under the auspices of the class of '23. More words are futile in the portrayal of the splendor of this affair, but with prevalent rumors and hints dropped by the committees in charge, the public can expect the most nearly perfect social event of the year. Informal dancing will begin at eight thirty. Promptly at nine, Farrel's orchestra will play the first number of the sixteen dance program. By special arrangement, on the part of the committee in charge, all flowers and dress suits, usually associated with an event of this kind, will be dispensed with.

"President's Guards" Is Newest Military Organization

"The President's Guards" the name of the new military organization listing all cadet and non-commissioned officers as active members. The newly formed "Guards" have for their purpose the bringing of the Cadet Corps to the front in collegiate activities. Their first effort will be an "All R. O. T. C. Mixer" Thursday evening, April 6, in the College 'Y'—Major Harrell expects to see at least one hundred and twenty five live cadets out for the evening's frolic and promises the best stag in college history. Boxing, wrestling, singing, sleight of hand, impromptu games, and speeches (humane) by Maj. Harrell, Col. Steele, Capt. Evans and Capt. Anders, will constitute the greater part of the evening's entertainment. To top it off a feed consisting of fourteen gallons of cider (aeriated), doughnuts, hot dogs, and chocolates will be given to each and every hungry wielder of a wicked appetite. To every cadet the "Guards" extend their most cordial invitation to be present.

REV. J. D. RUNSVOLD SPEAKS

One of the most enjoyable meetings of the year was held in the Association Room, Monday evening, March 27th, when Rev. J. D. Runsvold, pastor of the First Lutheran church, spoke to a group of men. The meeting was well attended, and a spirit of interest and enthusiasm was created by the speaker and by the Male quartette. The speaker had as his subject "The Claims of Christ on the Life of the Young Man." By a few well-chosen illustrations it was shown that the religious instinct in man is as marked and as unmistakable as the instinct to seek food or water. Man even in his primitive stage of life, worshipped. The man who neglects his spiritual cravings may kill his religious instinct but in so doing he starves and dwarfs one side of his nature. Music was furnished by the Male quartette.

SPRING PROGRAM AT THE "Y"

With the close of a successful winter program in the Y. M. C. A., plans are now complete for the Spring indoor sports. The main event is indoor baseball and teams are being formed for this branch of sport.

The teams will meet every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights, at seven o'clock. It is planned to form a tournament similar to the basketball tournaments and contests held during the winter term. The classes in indoor sports will be under the supervision of Philip Boise.

All men students of the Agricultural college are invited to join one of these teams.

HOORAY FOR THE BACHELORS

Last week the joyous and irresponsible bachelor members of the A. C. Volley Ball Tournament challenged the work-weary benedicts in such sarcastic and biting terms that the latter were irritated into rashly accepting the dare, and a battle royal was staged in the gym of the College Y, on Saturday, last.

As was to be expected, the unshackled and unregenerate celibates galloped merrily away with two games, and were well on the way to winning the third when a question arose over a decision. In the discussion which ensued, the benedicts, because of their much practice and long experience in this field, proved beyond doubt their superiority in verbal combat. Their brave opponents, not being held down by the weight of many cares, rather went up into the air, and before they descended the married men had carried away this game. However, the honors of the match go to the single men, and they have forever demonstrated their greater efficiency—sixty-six and two-thirds, as against thirty-three and one-third. Here's to the bonny bachelors. Long may they wave.

Acoth Annual Next Monday Evening

The Acoth Sorority will give their Annual Dinner Dance on April 3rd. Dinner will be served at the Waldorf at seven, and dancing will begin at 8:30, at the Masonic Temple.

The color scheme will be carried out in blue and white, the sorority colors.

Patrons and patronesses are: President and Mrs. Coulter, Dr. and Mrs. Putnam, Mr. and Mrs. Stockwell, Mrs. Geo. Rusk, Mrs. C. C. Ladd, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Olson, and Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Lincoln.

Committees arranging for the dance are:

Music and Programs—Margaret Bishop, Dolores Smith, Rose Lane, and Violet Erickson; Refreshments—Huldah Skjelset and Ruth Dawson; Decorations—Emma Barnes, Edna Johnson, Dorothy Tucker, Viola Larson, and Frances Root.
