A. C. STUDENTS TO HELP IN EUROPEAN STUDENT RELIEF

Heads of College Organizations and Student Representatives organize For Campaign Next Week

PRESIDENT COULTER PLEDGES SUPPORT

Money To Be Raised By Each Student Making Some Form of Sacrifice

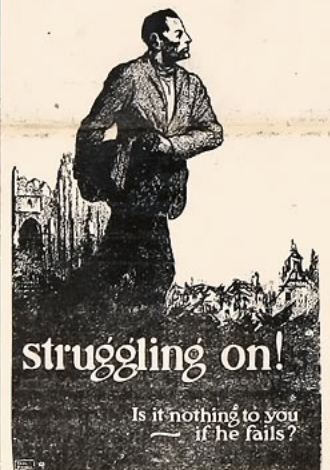

Fifty people representing all classes of the college, faculty, and employees attended a "Starvation Luncheon" in the Y. M. C. A. dining room on Monday, February 20, at noon for the purpose of organizing a campaign for student relief in Central Europe. The menu was scanty, the idea being to convey concretely something of the feeling of those who at present do not know what it is to enjoy a real-fore-sure, square meal.

Even though the financial condition of most of the students at the A. C. does not admit of donations to many relief causes, yet it was felt by all present that the pitiable condition of the Central European student was one worthy of our help even if that aid was to be secured by personal sacrifice.

The plan of the campaign was to place the securing of donations in the hands of organization representatives. Major F. B. Carrithers was appointed treasurer to care for the funds.

A message from Dr. Coulter, who was unable to attend the lunch on account of illness, was read. Miss Pearl Hollands presented figures showing what other schools had done to help the students across the sea to "Struggle On". Discussion was then opened as to what Agricultural College ought to do. It was the unanimous thought of those present that although we are none too "flush" at Agricultural College, we do not even dream of real want, and that we should do our part. Mr. Tindall, as Editor-in-Chief of the Spectrum, pledged $5.00 to start the Fund, and this was followed by other organizations. One fraternity outlined its plan to serve a light lunch for two different meals, putting the amount saved into the Friendship Fund. Individuals present pledged more than $50.00 to the Fund. One person volunteered to give the difference in the cost of having his shoes repaired and the cost of a new pair which he had intended to purchase. "We're a long way from starvation," was the remark of one, when it was related how Professors in European universities are compelled to search the gutters for food.

In The Name of Education

WHY SHOULD YOU GIVE?

—to conserve the physical, mental and moral gains resulting from the relief extended by American students during the past year;

—to carry out the ordinary implications of the Golden Rule, including the principle that the strong should serve the weak;

—to give added force to the effort to solve various interracial issues involved in the Conference to Reduce Armaments;

—because the broadly spiritual results of the relief work depend very largely upon its being a work of friendship for students BY students;

—to help meet our obligation to European institutions to which our own educational life owes much;

—to help preserve principles and institutions as well as human values essential to the recovery of Europe and the world.

IS IT NOTHING TO YOU?

—that there are 250,000 students in Central Europe struggling under almost insufferable conditions to gain necessary training;

—that large areas of Europe are almost destitute of professionally trained men and women;

—that without student relief forces indispensable to Europe's recovery will be unavailable for years;

—that disintegration of Europe's educational institutions would be disastrous to the whole civilized world;

—that further decadence of the intellectual fibre of Europe can be prevented only through aiding its present student generation;

—that the greatest opportunity ever before American students to help solve world problems and guide the future lies in student relief.

Holiday Storm Stops Thursday Classes

Nearly all Morning Classes Dismissed when Street cars fail to Function

A heavy snowfall driven into deep drifts by a 25-mile an hour wind completely tied up city traffic on Wednesday and left A. C. students living downtown without transportation facilities on Thursday morning when the street cars could not make the loop till near the middle of the morning. The campus walks and roads were impassable till nearly noon with great drifts, waist deep, barring the entrance to the main gate and piled up about the doors of many of the buildings.

A six-horse team from the farm hitched to a heavy road grader was called into action the first thing in the morning to break a path through to the various buildings. The heavy snowfall of Wednesday coming on top of the already large accumulation of the past three weeks made the job of road breaking a difficult one. Communication between all the buildings on the campus was effected by noon and classes were back to normal after dinner.

The holiday social events scheduled for Wednesday evening suffered from the storm but none were cancelled. The annual dinner dance of the Delta Phi Beta sorority given at the Commercial Club was delayed for nearly an hour waiting for taxicab parties that had become stalled in various parts of the city. The dance at the armory given by the Disabled Veterans of the World War was late in starting due to the inability of Farrell's Orchestra to secure transportation to the college. The abatement of the storm before midnight started all taxi lines running again and everyone who ventured out for the evening's festivities was able to get home again without serious difficulty.

Architects Take Lead In "Y" Tournament

Rhos and Engineers in Hot Pursuit; Tournament Closes March 3.

With another week to play, the Architects, Rhos, and Engineers are furiously battling for first place and the promised banquet in the "Y" Basketball tournament. Last week's games bringing about the defeat of the Architects by the Farm Husbandry quint, and the downfall of the Engineers to the Alpha Gamma Rho five, upset the dope considerably and leaves all three teams with an equal chance for final honors. The tournament now stands as follows:

| | Won | Los t | Percent |
|-----------------|-----|-------|---------|
| Architects | 7 | 1 | .875 |
| Alpha Gamma Rho | 6 | 2 | .750 |
| Engineers | 5 | 3 | .737 |

| Farm Husbandry | 5 | 4 | .655 |

JOHN T. STEWART TO ADDRESS LYCEUM OF ENGINEERS

Mr. John T. Stewart, of Chicago, representative of the Portland Cement Association, will address two special meetings of the Lyceum of Engineers next Tuesday, February 28.

Mr. Stewart has been in the engineering game since graduation days and his afternoon talk will be concerning his many interesting personal experiences and intimate glimpses of life in an engineering camp. In the evening at 7:30 o'clock he will address the meeting on "Concrete Products" especially the hard-surfaced street and highway.

Visitors are invited to attend both meetings and should be especially interested in the afternoon session.

New Conference Will Include Seven Midwestern Colleges

St. Paul Meeting of Athletic Heads results in Formation of New Athletic League; Dr. A. F. Schalk named Vice President.

The North Central Intercollegiate Conference is the name of the new athletic league that was formed at the recent gathering of the athletic heads of seven midwestern colleges in St. Paul on Monday, February 23, and of which the North Dakota Agricultural College will become a member if approval of the new league is given by the college Athletic Board of Control.

The new conference will begin functioning next fall with the opening of the football season, and in a general way will follow the rules of the Big Ten and Missouri Valley groups, with the probable exceptions of freshman participation in collegiate games, and the approval of summer baseball. While first year men will be permitted to play for at least the initial year in which the conference is in operation, the meeting went on record as favoring a rule by which a student to be eligible for participation in any conference game, must be doing satisfactory or passing work in three fourths of the total hours specified as the minimum for his course of study, this proportion not to be less than twelve hours a week. The rules on summer baseball will permit a student to play baseball during summer vacation, except with an organized league club, the representatives and faculties holding that a student should be permitted to earn any money he can, while on vacation.

Next year's football season will find the conference championship determined on a percentage basis, regardless of the number of games a team has played, but after that, a team must have played at least four conference games to figure in on the championship consideration.

The agreement to form the new conference was signed by: C. A. West for South Dakota State College, H. M. Baldrige of Creighton University, M. J. Gillen of St. Thomas, S. E. Borleske of North Dakota Agricultural College, H. M. Bell of Des Moines University, E. F. Chandler of University of North Dakota, and J. M. Saunderson of the Morningside College. The next conference session will be held immediately after the close of next year's football season. A resolution was drawn up and adopted at the session to invite Michigan State College, University of South Dakota, and Marquette University to join the new conference and further strengthen it.

The officers of the new conference are as follows: President of the conference—H. M. Creighton, Vice Pres.—Dr. A. F. Schalk of the North Dakota Agricultural College, and Secretary—C. A. West of South Dakota State.

South Dakota State tossers handed the North Dakota Aggies their first defeat of the season in the basketball play of last week, but not until the Yellow and Green had first bested the visiting basketball team in the first contest, 28 to 27. The Aggies broke even in the two game series with Coach West's quint. The visitors' win was not even as great a victory as the score indicates for the South Dakota team as the count was 21 to 19, three minutes before the end of the contest, but pretty shooting the last minutes of play brought the visitors' score up to 27.

The first South Dakota contest was the prettiest game of basketball seen here this season. Captain Sivertson scored eight field goals in this game and was easily the individual star of the contest. The Aggies showed real fight and splendid team play. The second contest found the Aggies unable to fight. The South Dakota team had a lead of one point at the end of the first half in the second contest and Aggie supporters looked for a comeback like the night previous but the local boys did not have the fight. In the first contest the Aggies had a nine point lead to overcome in the second half.

West Has Great Team
Coach West's South Dakota warriors are undoubtedly the best players that have struck the state this year. They showed a splendid pass game and their individual work, in pivoting, dribbling and handling of the ball was of the first order.

Free throws started the counting in both games. In the opening contest, Carey, the visitors' stellar forward and foul shooting ace, dropped one through the net at the start. Trowbridge made a double counter for the Aggies, however, and after that the game was fast and furious. During the latter part of the opening period the visitors scored heavily and they were on the long end of a 19 to 10 score when the half was up. It was in the second period that Sivertson did his sensational scoring and brought the Aggie count up to 28 while South Dakota was held to nine points.

Flem scored first in the second contest and Carey evened with a free throw. The first goal was scored by South Dakota but the locals soon evened and the half ended 9 to 8 for the visitors. In the second half the touring five took a lead but the locals came back and looked as if they were going to win out but the spurt stopped with the count of 21 to 19 for the visitors. South Dakota annexed six more points in the last three minutes.

A CORRECTION

In last week's issue of the Spectrum there were two errors in the tables of averages for the fall term. An error in calculating in the registrar's office displaced Theodore Sundstrom, a Sophomore in Agriculture, from the list of the ten highest college grades. Sundstrom was in seventh place with an average of 92.7. A printer's error was made in the average for the Alpha Kappa Phi fraternity which should have been 80.3 instead of 78.1. The order in rank on the list of organizations remains unchanged.

WHY NOT MORE OF THEM?

The address of Dr. Zaring a week ago Monday, the one and only Convocation address of the new year, was inspiring and worthy of its hire, to say the least. Why not more of them? Is not the Convocation or Chapel idea a recognized part of our college system, or do we get it, like the C. C. pills of army fame, when indisposed?

The ever-present, daily philosophy of our profs, though most of it is good stuff, we do ween, is inclined to go high and dry about the time the mid-term marks roll around. Convocation gives us a new personality to whom we are inclined to give a ready ear, and if a message is forthcoming such as the only one, (we are sorry to say) we have had this term; who is so pertinent as to measure its value?

What is the status of convocation in other colleges? What place has it in the educational life of their students? There's Michigan U where they have Convocation every day; they are famed far and wide for their school spirit which is not a common thing in so large a school. We are told that they sing their songs and yell their yells of old Michigan U, and for support in games they're Johnny-on-the-spot. St. Olaf has chapel every day. Show us a school that sends out a more loyal body of sons and daughters than our Scandinavian sister of the south.

The gods of war have been rightfully dipping their editorial pens in blood, and the chorus leaders of the Yellow and Green have a reason to call for a rising crescendo on all four verses when recent student gatherings have given every appearance of a funeral rite.

The small attendance at our rallies has been a shameful advertisement of what appeared to be the true expression of our student spirit. But the magnificent support of our basketball team in the recent games with South Dakota State has led to the conclusion that the root of the evil lies elsewhere.

After the demonstrations of last Friday and Saturday nights no one can do else but say that every A. C. student is loyal to his school, and that he does have her interests at heart. The spirit of loyalty is there, but the choice of times for expression (our rallies) seem inopportune.

Where, then, is the seat of the malady? Is it entirely within the student body or is it possible that the cause is external? After the expression of student opinion, which was stirred up last week by the editorial on "The Loyal Two Hundred," is analyzed, it becomes apparent that the fault cannot be charged to our students.

Can we rightfully ask a student to turn out to a rally forty five minutes after he leaves his noon class when that student (as many of them do) lives some distance from the campus? Can no time be found in our schedule for these occasional expressions of youthful spirit that mean so much in creating a really loyal student body? How can larger institutions with a greater number of schools or courses perfect a schedule of classes that still admits of an hour each day or week when the student body can come together and cultivate that enviable spirit of which some colleges may rightfully boast? Is ours an institution of learning that believes in the pernicious formalism that numerous courses or subjects of a certain number of hours per week are the "all-essential" to a college education? Are a certain arbitrary number of credit hours the final goal of our endeavor here?

No right-minded professor or student dares to say it is. And yet one Convocation hour where we have had the opportunity to go and hear something other than the drone of classroom formulas is the total time given to the spiritual side of our college life this term.

Is it any wonder we accuse ourselves of having no spirit? Why don't we have a convocation, rally, student spirit, or chapel hour more often? Not an hour when silver tongued spellbinders are brought before us to recite patent speeches, but an hour when occasional men like the speaker of two weeks ago, can bring to us a real message, when we can swarm in and yell and sing without having to be informed that it is a rally, and develop that inherent loyalty for old A. C. that needs only the opportune time and place. Of the powers that me, we ask you: WHY NOT?

TO HELP A BROTHER

There is no closer bond than that of kinship whether it be by ties of blood, creed or race. During the coming week an appeal is to be made to every student in the college to help his kinsmen—the college students of Central Europe—in their terrific struggle against appalling odds. You will be asked to help according to your ability. Let none of us refuse, even though it demand a sacrifice, for no greater service can be done to mankind than the preservation of his educational institutions and the assisting of his future leaders. When education fails all fails. Our European student brothers are fighting a mortal battle that the days of Attila shall not return to destroy the structure of Christian civilization. Stand by the students of Europe that the Christian principles and institution as well as human values essential to the recovery of Europe and the world shall not be destroyed.

WORLD BROTHERHOOD

We often do not know who our friends are until we have some misfortune. Sympathy for those in misfortune is one of the strongest traits of our nature, provided only that circumstances come about which bring this trait to the surface. In the busy round of our duties we seem to forget that there can be any considerations outside of our own selfish interests. But let only a real need, a genuine case of suffering be brought to our attention, and the veneer of selfish striving disappears like magic.

As with us as individuals, so with races and nations. National jealousies, racial strivings, political bickerings are forgotten when a sister nation finds itself unable to sustain its life. Color and creed do not weigh when human beings are suffering.

This has been beautifully illustrated in the present situation among the students and professors of Europe. Help has been sent from practically the world over. Twenty-six countries have expressed their sympathy in more eloquent language than words can convey—namely by sending money.

Next to a christian world, the most important factor of civilization is an educated world. It took centuries of wars and suffering to establish the ten commandments, the golden rule, and other items in the christian faith as the foundation of modern civilization. But it is now doubtful if a christian civilization can long be maintained unless it is coupled up with education. Without education we strive for freedom by revolution, civil war, and constant conflict. By this process we have developed from slavery, serfdom, peonage, from the life of "dumb driven cattle". Gradually there is developing a universal christian democracy based upon a common understanding. But with the breakdown of educational systems in a few great countries we may easily see again the breaking down of modern civilization in these countries, the disappearance of democracies, the development of selfish rulers, etc. If Europe should go in that direction how fast and how far would it spread? No one can answer. We only have the terrible stories of moving hordes of history to warn us.

In order that we may do our small part to keep the movement of civilization on the upward march, we must not only keep marching onward ourselves, we must look over the field and find some who are weary, about to give up the struggle, and share with them a little of our bountiful store of food, clothing, and all else needed to keep the lamp burning.

Except that it marked the 14th victory of the Aggies the Ellendale Normal contest, played at the armory Monday night, was of little special interest. The Aggies played good ball but the game was uninteresting as the visitors were completely outclassed.

NOTED SCENE ARTIST PAINTING STAGE SETTINGS FOR HADDA PADDA

Unusual interest has been attracted to Hadda Padda, the Icelandic play to be presented next month, by the arrival of Mr. Frederick Swanson from Winnipeg. Mr. Swanson who is one of the foremost interior decorators in this country, was secured by Prof. A. G. Arvold to come here and paint the settings for Hadda Padda and also additional scenes for the Little Country Theatre, one set of which will be used in the play, "Clarence," which is to be presented February 24th. Mr. Swanson, who is himself an Icelander, has painted all the scenery for the Icelandic plays staged in this country. He has also been instrumental in bringing the most noted Icelanders of the acting profession to America.

The Engineers at Harvard

The Harvard Engineering School has put into effect an industrial cooperation, a plan by which students have an option of six months of industrial cooperation without any diminishing of class-room instruction. A five-year program of engineering administration, of which the industrial cooperation is an essential part, also has been inaugurated.

After the students have completed the first two years of the engineering curriculum students may elect the industrial program. The students are placed in those industries for which they express a preference, and for which they seem to have the necessary qualifications. The object is to give them a broad vision of the business, therefore they are rapidly placed in the different departments.

A total of 1,680,000 automobiles and motor trucks were made in 1921, a decrease from the 1920 production of 24 per cent. Of this total 1,535,000 were cars.

Fire Losses

Three hundred and thirty-four thousand dwellings at $5,000 each, sufficient to house 1,700,000 persons, could be built with the money lost in fires in the United States from 1915 to 1920 according to the figures of the National Board of Fire Underwriters. Sixty-seven per cent of the total loss was classed as strictly or partly preventable, this is based on the examination of over 3,000,000 reports of fires.

The Allies Debt to Us

Seventeen nations owe us over ten billion dollars, England comes first with over four billion, France next with over three billion and Liberia last with twenty-six million. The job of congress is to play fair and just to these impoverished nations and to the American taxpayer.

The Soldier's Bonus

The soldiers' bonus bill is still before congress and it seems that congress is sufficiently impressed to be committed to the passage of a bonus bill at an early date if a practical way can be found to finance it. It is interesting to note that the bonus will cost the taxpayers as much as to keep an army of 650,000 men for one year. Under the present bill there are five options for the bonus, (1) cash, (2) Insurance, (3) Vocational training, (4) Farm or home aid, (5) Public Lands.

The Soldiers' Bonus

The Fargo Forum states in an editorial very clearly the bonus question in "To state the soldiers' bonus dilemma of congress in its simplest possible terms, it would seem that congress is afraid to turn down the bonus for fear of the wrath of the service men; it is afraid to levy a general sales tax to provide the money needed to pay a general bonus to all service men for fear of the wrath of the tax-payers; and it knows to pay the tax out of the proceeds of the loans to Europe would disgust both service men and taxpayers. President Harding played the role of "goat" a year ago and relieved congress of its embarrassment by urging postponement of action on the bonus. But the president doesn't seem inclined to assume the role again."

Student Health Program To Be Enlarged

Practical Work for Pharmacists and Prescription Service to Students is Aim of Dispensary to be Installed Soon.

For some time the Agricultural College has maintained on its staff a College Physician. This is done in order that the health and consequent welfare of the student body may be attended to in a systematic and convenient manner. Now, to further facilitate the supervising of the health of students it is proposed to establish, in connection with the regular work of the School of Pharmacy of the North Dakota Agricultural College, a Dispensary. The establishing of this Dispensary is just a step further in the student health program of the institution.

This new phase of student health work is in line with that carried out in many other Universities and Colleges. The College of Pharmacy of the University of Minnesota, pursuing this same plan, filled last year, for the students of the University of Minnesota, twenty-five thousand prescriptions. While the Agricultural College Dispensary cannot for the present at least, aspire to such proportions it is hoped, by the authorities in charge, to make this Dispensary the equal in service of any institutional Dispensary in the country.

The Dispensary is being planned to serve a two-fold purpose, the first of which, is that, all students of the Agricultural College, who receive medical aid and treatment from the College Physician, may have these prescriptions filled at the College Dispensary, which will be under the supervision of a Registered Pharmacist. This feature has proven itself at other institutions to be of much convenience to the student body.

The second purpose for the establishment of the Dispensary is to furnish practical instruction in prescription compounding to the senior students enrolled in the various curricula of the School of Pharmacy. As the organization of the Dispensary proceeds the senior students will be given definite assignments to this work. It is expected that the students will compound the prescriptions under the guidance of trained pharmacists thereby securing for themselves excellent practical experience in this all-important phase of their profession.

INSTITUTIONAL RALLY AT NINE O'CLOCK TUESDAY

All classes will be dismissed at 9 A. M. Tuesday morning, for an hour to be devoted to a big institutional rally to be held in the armory. The orchestra, glee club and cheer leaders will be on the job and President Coulter, Dean Keene and Dean Waldron will be the speakers on the general topic of North Dakota Agricultural College's relation to the state and its people. The big event is to boost A. C. to sell it to the state so completely in the coming year that they will come to realize how important the college and all its branches are in the welfare and progress of the state. Everybody out. Everybody.

Gusties Take Holiday When Faculty Refuse

Because they were refused a holiday on Washington's birthday, the students of Gustavus Adolphus College absented themselves from classes on Wednesday afternoon.

This action was decided upon at a mass meeting of 300 students of the college at noon Wednesday, after no mention had been made in assembly of any observance of the day.

President O. J. Johnson of Gustavus Adolphus explained that the reason in not giving holidays is to reach an early commencement and also that the faculty believed in work during the school year instead of remaining idle.
