Following a season featured by surprises, sensational playing on the part of individuals, and at times indifferent teamwork, the time is at hand to honor the players who really have played hard and consistent football throughout the college conference season. In the past years no official team has ever been picked except one by individuals, and the amount of criticism and ideas represented by this individual pick has made an uncertainty as to who was on the mythical all-state team. There have never been two all-state picks in the past that have been identical, because the opinions of individuals differ. Because there has been so much uncertainty in the past, The Spectrum has taken the liberty to ask all the coaches representing teams in the state conference to send in their choice for all-state and a poll was taken by the full vote of the mentors. The players receiving the highest number of ballots were given the place of honor. In one of two instances where a tie vote was recorded the pick made by Jack Horner in the Fargo Forum was used to decide the doubt. In this manner we are sure that we have an official all-state team as it represents the concentrated eleven men picked by the coaches in the state, and other all-state teams should not be considered as official because they do not represent more than the opinion of one man. In selecting an all-state The Spectrum asked the coaches to keep in mind when picking one the necessity of having a well balanced machine, such a one as can put up a stubborn defense, as well as a powerful offense; also there should be at least two men that can do the punting, one man the drop or place kicking, two men that can pass, and two men that can receive punts.

In the selection the University eleven, conference champions, supplied six players on the honorary team. The Aggies, the next strongest contender, supplied four; and Jamestown with a flashy team in its own class, supplied one. Fargo College, with a high school line and a crippled backfield, was unable to supply any, but it is thought by many that if Chaney had been able to play the full year he could not have been left off the mythical eleven. Jamestown tied the Aggies at the start of the season due to the fact that their team was in a better condition as they had two weeks' practice ahead of the Aggies. As the first week is the week when all the kinks are taken out it is remarkable that some of the men were able to play the game at all. Consequently Jamestown could not hope to be placed in the same class and have as many men on the all-state as the other stronger teams in the conference.

Four Aggies Chosen By All

"Louie" Duerner, "Smiling" Rosatti, "Cap" Huey, and "Gorilla" Latimer, the backbone of the Aggie eleven, were chosen in all instances and there can be no question as to the ability of any man to represent the state on the honorary eleven.

Richards and Sinclair Ends

Richards was chosen unanimously for the right end position due to his having the necessary football brains, the ability to get down under punts, to break up interference, and to use his exceptional basketball ability for receiving forward passes. He is equally strong on offense in getting his tackle out of the way and is to be considered one who made it possible for the University's backs to get away on their end runs. Sinclair, the other choice, was not chosen quite so easily as he did not play a spectacular game as did Richards, but from the showing made by other ends in the state there is no doubt that he is entitled to his position. Sinclair is a good receiver of passes, but slow to get under punts and is not exceptionally strong on defense, but is fair on offense. The only two other contenders for the end position were McLeod of Jamestown and Underwood of the A. C. McLeod is a good, heady player and has lots of fight but is not in the same class as the two chosen. Underwood suffered with injuries in the state conference games and they handicapped him from doing his best, but if all the coaches had seen "Gundy" play the Hamline game they would surely have placed him in the same class as Richards, for Gundy played the real game of his life at St. Paul.

Hauser and Huey Tackles

Of course there can be no question in anybody's mind that Huey and Hauser are not the two best tackles in the state. They are both adept at opening holes for the backfield at almost any time when called upon and can hold their own in breaking up plays. Huey is probably the most sensational of the two when he is in good condition and unhampered by injuries as he was this year. Huey has yet to be equalled by anybody in the state for fight, and plays a clean, consistent game. Hauser is more inclined to play "the knock 'em down and drag 'em out" kind of a game, but it seems that this liability of his gets him by the officials. He is also a good kicker and is especially noteworthy for his ability to handle passes.

Hansen and Rosatti Guards

Both of these men are out of their positions at guard as Rosatti played all the games with the exception of Jamestown in the tackle position and Hansen played most of the year at center. Both these men were all-state men in 1919 and as the guard positions were weak in the state again this year they had to be shifted to guard on this eleven to make a balanced team. Hansen is deserving of the right guard position because of his ability to mix and fight, and also because he can play the game. He has the ability to stand the gaff and is quick at diagnosing plays. Rosatti is entitled to the position of left guard, because it is known from last year that he has the ability to hold down the guard position. Rosatti has the asset of

With football in the background and basket ball taking the floor, perhaps a review of our season will not come amiss. From scores and defeats registered against us during the past season it seems that football has meant nothing to the school this year, but the showing made in the second half of the Hamline game proved that something was wrong with the team and not that we did not have the men to win our games, because the eleven that came back in the second half at Hamline would prove to anybody that the A. C. had a real team, but could not get the breaks in luck in any one game. The defeats registered during the season were not because of inefficient coaching, because the coach gave his men every bit of football knowledge that is needed to win any game. To prove this point he asked the team to hand in to him anything that he neglected to dwell upon per-

CLASS PLAYS MIGHT BE GOOD

STUDENTS WILL PLAY SANTA

Christmas Tree, Goodies, and a Real Feed for Youngsters

One of the most attractive coming events to be put on by the Christmas Associations will be the Kiddies' Christmas Program, Christmas Tree, and Supper, Saturday, December 18. It is expected that at least 75 students, both men and women, will have as their guests on this occasion an equal number of the poor children of Fargo—children who otherwise would not have an opportunity to really enter into the Christmas spirit and good cheer.

Arrangements are being made with the Glad Tidings Mission and other Social Service Agencies of the city whereby these organizations will gather together into one place the children who are to be the guests of the evening. The names and addresses of these children will be secured and one will be given to each student who desires to play Santa Claus for a youngster. Each Santa will send to his particular Kiddie, a letter containing a self addressed envelope. The return envelope will have on it the address "Santa Claus, Box 38, Agricultural College, and will bear on the corner some recognition mark. In the letter Santa Claus will ask his Kiddie to indicate what he would like to have for Christmas. Although no Santa Claus will be likely to meet all the wishes of the little one, he will see that he gets at least one present.

The Kiddies will be brought up from the city about five o'clock, when the gaieties will begin. There will be a Christmas tree loaded with presents, one for each tot; a short program, tableaux, Christmas Carols and some lively games for the youngsters. This part of the festivities will be in charge of the Scipione Class. Director, Hubert Wolfe.

3. "The Clod" by Lewis Beach—Junior Class. Director, Katherine Blake.

4. "Circumstances." By Archie Waldie. Senior Class. Director, Archie Waldie.

The management wishes to announce that a thorough search will be made of all spectators for eggs, rotten bananas, and other things that might be set off at centrifugal force from one's throwing arm. We wish to suggest that all laughing should be done away with until the time when it is meant to bring a laugh by the author. All the girls like to receive flowers from the footlights, so if your particular lady friend is acting and you are in doubt as to your standing with her it might be a good idea to get a few

DON'T FAIL TO SEE BENCHOOFF AND DARLING

Leave Eggs, Etc., at Home

Next Friday evening, Dec. 10th, at 7:30 in the Little Country Theatre, the different classes of the college will stage their plays which they have selected for the first annual Class Play Contest. This is one treat that the students of the college cannot miss due to the numerous lounge lizards and jazz hounds that will be seen in the cast. Such noted actors as Elmer Darling, the popular band master and jazz hound; Bill Benchooft, the tromboning dancing quiet barber; Ralph Irick, the lady killer; and Bernice Noyes, the college vamp, are all to be seen. The price of admission will alone be offset by seeing these noted celebrities and others under paint and before the eyes of our admiring student body.

These plays with their cast were chosen by committees from the various classes by various manner of means. In some instances they were chosen by getting some great actor as Benchooft to read a few lines and then picking him unanimously. It is with pleasure that we are seeing some of our great professionals entering into the spirit of college life, who before have not been willing to sacrifice their ability on mere amateur theatricals.

The class which gives the play judged to be the best will be given a prize. If they are all rotten the one giving the poorest will be given the prize. The Seniors will give a play written by Archie Waldie, the deep thinker of the college. If anyone has noticed the far away look in Archie's eyes the last few weeks it has been due to his thought on this great masterpiece. We don't know whether it has a plot or not, but will have to get in the line, buy our ticket, and go and see.

The gate proceeds will be given to the classes to help defray their expenses in the May Festival next spring.

The plays and the directors follow in the order of presentation:
1. "Spreading the News" by Lady Gregory—Freshman Class. Director, Ralph Irick.
2. "Kara" by George A. Crain—

Life of Jesus to Be Reviewed in Pantomime

Will Consist of Two Settings

"The Man of Galilee," the annual Christmas pantomime of the North Dakota Agricultural College will be presented in the College Armory, on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock December 12. It consists of a series of pantomimes depicting a few of the well known incidents in the life of Jesus as set forth in the paintings by some of the world's great artists.

There will be two settings in the Armory. At one end will be the stage for the pantomimes. At the other the chorus of voices will be arranged before a group of evergreen trees in half circle fashion. The singing of Christmas songs and carols will form a definite part of the program.

The pictures chosen to present are:
The Last Supper.
The Rich Young Man.
Christ Blessing the Little Children.

Healing the Sick.
The Last Appeal.
Mary and Martha.
The public is cordially invited to attend.

will take place in the "Y" auditorium. Then, the children, each with his "Santa," will sit down to a Christmas feed.

After the feed each Santa will take his Kiddie home and get acquainted with the parents and brothers and sisters, and find out whether he, (Santa) can be of any further service to the family during the winter.

A great deal of enthusiasm is being shown by those who are already at work to make this a pleasant Christmas for a few children in Fargo who might not otherwise taste the Christmas cheer. Any student who wants to play Santa Claus should call the Y. W. C. A. or Y. M. C. A. at once.

At a Joint Conference of men and women the following committee were appointed:

All English classes will be excused on Saturday as our far seeing English teacher realizes that no lessons will be prepared for the next day.

We hope that no such comments on the show will be made as there was in the Milton college paper about a show which was pulled off and is likely to disrupt college activities. The remarks were "Good leg show," "Bum leg show."

Dodds Picks All-College Team

HUEY GIVEN BERTH

In following up an all-college pick made last spring of all football teams of the institution, we have taken the liberty of asking Warren Dodds (N. D. A. C. '17), a former student manager of our college athletics, all-state water carrier in 1916, treat-em-rough rubber in 1915, as necessary to an A. C. game as the goal posts, follower of athletics in this state for nine years, and a coach himself for two years, to pick an all-college football team. We are sure that "Doddy" has expressed what we think is one of the strongest teams that could possibly be put together in the state.

 Dick Bjornson ..... Left Guard
 Lloyd Kelly ..... Center
 Lynn Huey ..... Right Guard
 Bill Nemzek ..... Right Tackle
 Ed Parizek ..... Right End
 Shorty Calkins, capt. .... Quarterback
 Ray Bolsinger ..... Left Halfback
 Sliv Nemzek ..... Fullback
 Rex Odell ..... Right Halfback
 In picking an "all-college" football team for a period of several years there are many things to be considered. Many a good man that might have made good is not given a place because he has not had the experience or the opportunity. On this mythical eleven should be placed men according to the ability that they showed when playing at their best. Many men must be left off who really have been of more value to the school because of their longer service or more consistent playing than those picked, but they have not shown up as well for a short time.

At the wing positions, Rex Dann and Ed Parizek make the fastest combination that ever played those positions on an A. C. team. Both were aggressive players that go down fast under punts and were good at breaking up interference. Both were good at receiving passes and could carry the ball well on fakes.

Happy Peterson and Bill Nemzek at tackles were a veritable stone wall on defense and always dangerous in breaking thru the opposing line on spilling plays. On the offense either one could be depended on to open up holes for the backs to go thru.

Dick Bjornson and Lynn Huey make a combination at guards the few gains would be made thru. Both are fighters who were a menace to the opposing backs who tried to gain thru them.

At center Lloyd Kelly stands out as the most finished player at his position who has ever donned the Yellow and Green. He was an accurate passer and a fighter of the first water. He was equally strong on defense and offense and was seen in every play.

As a field general Shorty Calkins stands out above all other commanders. He was always cool and sized up the defense of the opposing team with unusual ability. On the defense, he was a sure tackler and handled punts very well. Altho not very speedy, he was shifty and a hard man to stop.

Sliv Nemzek was one of the hardest hitting backs that the A. C. ever had. He was a consistent ground gainer and a good passer. On the defense, he backed the line up in good shape and was a sure tackler.

Ray Bolsinger and Rex Odell were both hard hitting backs that were hard to stop. Either one could carry the ball well and handle passes cleverly. Both were fast and seldom allowed runners to get around their side of the line.

ALL STATE MEN

aggressiveness and due to his weight and fight has the ability to spill many plays before they are started and to open holes for the backs. He is also a good passer and kicker.

Latimer at Center

Latimer was picked by all for this position due to the showing that he made in the University and Fargo College games. "He got down on the punts, tackled well in the open, was aggressive and played well on the defense and offense, and did some great work during the entire season on breaking up running plays and passes."

Robertson at Quarterback

Robertson is without doubt the only real quarterback in the state, due to his ability to choose plays at the right time, and his ability to run the ball, to pass, and his excellent interference given for the other backs. He is a fast man on his feet and can return punts with ease. He is a hard tackler on defense and rarely misses his man. He can break up passes and can receive them. He is a good open field runner and can dodge thru the line with ease. Rathman of Jamestown is a close second to Robertson, due to his ability to find flaws that might appear in the opponent's line. He hits the line hard and is a good defensive man and, to some, looks as good as Robertson. He might be if he had the same team to work with as did Robertson, but from the comparative showing of the two, as it stands, Robertson has the edge. Duerner and McKay of Course Half-backs

Both of these men were picked by all coaches and from the showings made there can be no doubt. Duerner is one of the greatest open field runners that ever played a college team in this state. He is light and takes a great deal of punishment in the course of the game and practice, but always jumps up smiling. He is one of the fastest men in the conference, which makes him a valuable man at the safety position where speed is needed to catch fast men that have eluded other tacklers. Duerner has nabbed all his men this year and with no exception has let one get by him for a touchdown. He can pass, dart thru the center of the line, and is a fair drop kicker. He can also take the position of quarterback and run the team with good headwork. McKay is all that can be asked of as a half back. He is a quick diagnoser of plays, quick on getting up to the line to meet plays, and can stay back until the opportune time to break up passes. He is a sure open field tackler, runs good interference and can carry the ball with speed around the ends in long and short end runs. He can pass fair and receive punts. Chaney and Duggan are strong contenders for this position but Chaney was playing with a team that he could not show his true form with and Duggan is not quite the man that Duerner or McKay is. Chaney is a good open field runner, possessing a stiff-arm that can't be beat, and is an excellent man on defense.

Worthy of Mention

Munkey of the A. C., Cassell of the University, L. Moore of Jamestown might be considered as the best guards in the state as they were actually lined up. Bruegger might be mentioned at end, and with another year's experience should be of an all-state caliber. Nemzek of the A. C., if he had been able to keep up the pace that he set in the St. Thomas game, would undoubtedly have made a name for himself, but injuries prevented him from doing so.

FUTURE POLITICIANS (?) ATTENTION!

The class in club organization at the North Dakota Agricultural College will demonstrate the organization of a convention and the rules of procedure at The Little Country theater at 4 p. m. Thursday. Thirty-six delegates from each college class will represent the communities in each of the four northwestern states as follows: Freshmen, North Dakota; Sophomores, South Dakota; Juniors, Minnesota; and Seniors, Montana. This is to be a model convention and all students and faculty members are extended an invitation. Exhibits of community buildings have been loaned The Little Country theater by Cornell University and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Old Organization Re-established

The Architects, after a period of inactivity, have reorganized the Architects' Club. The first meeting was held in the drawing room on Nov. 23rd, and the following officers were elected: President, Phil Moe; vice president and secretary, M. E. Hoffman; treasurer, J. Howe. Professor Stanley Smith, instructor in architecture, is the advising member. It was thru his effort that the club was reorganized. Briefly the plan of the club is

MISS BALES AND MISS LEWIS ENTERTAIN

On Saturday afternoon, December 4th, the Phi U's were entertained at a luncheon given by Miss Bales and Miss Lewis.

Ceres Hall Parlors were used for the affair. Luncheon was served at two o'clock, and consisted of grape fruit cocktail, creamed chicken, mashed potatoes, hot rolls, olives, a sherbet, cake, coffee and mints. The color scheme was carried out in the fraternity colors, yellow and white. After the lunch, cards and needle work was enjoyed the remaining part of the afternoon.

BETA'S ENTERTAIN

The Delta Phi Beta's entertained their rushees at a box party at the Garrick last Saturday evening, Dec. 4th.

Misses Hildur Sorenson and "Bones" Mikkelson spent the week end as guests at the Phi U. house.

"STAR PARTY" IS FEATURE OF ACHOTHS

The active members of the Achoth Sorority were entertained by one of their members last Saturday evening at a "Star Party." The exact nature of the affair was kept secret until about ten-thirty, when the surprise was sprung and the girls actually saw stars, they claim. However, they have promised not to tell the "secret" for a while yet, not at least until after Christmas.

The decorations throughout the rooms were in red and the same color note was carried out in the luncheon.

The members of the Achoth Sorority will entertain their rushees and friends at an old fashioned turkey dinner next Saturday. The party plans to motor to Prosper, North Dakota, where the dinner will be served at the home of Florence Isensee's sister.

ALPHA KAPPA PHI FRATERNITY

Kappa Phi Dance Well Attended Friday evening the Alpha Kappa Phi Fraternity entertained the other Fraternities and the Freshmen at an informal party. The music was furnished by Farrell's Orchestra. Frappe and wafers were served. The patrons and patronesses of the evening were Dr. and Mrs. Pearce, Mr. and Mrs. Sudro, and Mr. and Mrs. Minard.

Any student interested in Bible Study should leave his name at the Y. M. C. A. desk.

ATHLETICS AT THE "Y"

"Doc" Winberg visited at the Fraternity this week end.

"Crabby" Ross dropped in for his week end "nap."

"Ernie" Johnson spent a day at the fraternity house.

"Sid" Hooper stepped in from the "Forks" last Saturday.

Earl G. Ferguson arrived on the campus the last part of last week after a two weeks' absence on a very eventful trip to Chi to the International. The Fat Steer Pullman that Fergy rode did not have a diner attached and it is said, on good authority, that Fergy's food supply was about two days short. The cushions were enjoyed coming homeward.

The Rho alumni has two marriages among their numbers of late. The first is that of Al Kelly, married on Thanksgiving Day. The other is that of "Billy" Wilson. The young lady in the latter case is Miss Clara Tucker, a former student of A. C. All A. C. wishes to join in the hearty congratulations of these fortunate (or unfortunate, as you please) former students of A. C.

FOOTBALL SEASON
REVIEWED

COACH BORLESKE

Former Michigan Star and All-Western End Guides Aggies Destiny in Physical Training

taining to football. There was nothing that the team thought was neglected. The real handicap of the team was the fact that we did not have a real quarterback that could pick his plays with good judgment in every play. This is not meant to ridicule any one person on the team, because the men playing quarter for the year did their best, and what few mistakes that they did make are excusable because it is their first year in college at this position. The backfield were slow in learning signals and getting their man on defense, but got going the later part of the season. The line did splendid work and although at times was broken up would hold in pinches and prove its real strength. Our ends were crippled all year.

From the comparative scores of the 1919 team and 1920 team it is shown that we had a little the better offense, but a great deal weaker defense. It might be explained that due to weather and field conditions we were more able to use a varied style of play, which fooled our opponents, and so were able to make more ground. The weak defense might be blamed a great deal on the Minnesota shift, because the coach was unable to spend enough time on the second team to make it efficient enough to put up any opposition to the first team. Another reason is the loss of "Hanny" Peterson, who was a tower of strength at tackle and made a good share of the tackles in every game.

Men Go to Lakes

Starting with fifteen men, Coach Borleske began the training at Lake Detroit on Sept. 20. A few of the men were regulars from last year, but the majority were new men.

Returning to the A. C. on Sept. 27, the team was put at real work on Dacotah Field and on Oct. 3 we played our first game with Jamestown College. As first games go, it was fairly good. We scored in the early part of the second half and held a lead of 7 points until the last ten seconds of play, when Thomas of Jamestown picked up a fumble and raced 60 yards for a touchdown. A goal after touchdown tied the score.

Our second game was played at St. Thomas. Bound to remove any doubt as to its ability to play football the team brought back the game by a 21-6 score. Our next game was again away from home, South Dakota State taking the game 27-6. The University had beaten them the week before by three points and this was the first chance to compare the two teams.

Our fourth game came at home again, the University playing us for the championship. Handicapped by the lack of Nemzek's passing and line plunging, due to a broken shoulder blade, the Aggies fought a game fight and kept them guessing until the final whistle. The U took this game by a 14-7 score.

Fargo College came next on the schedule and we trounced them 7-0. Although the score would indicate a real game our bunch was still under the influence of the reaction due to the U. game. Fargo College, with the help of the officials, managed to keep us between their own 1 and 40-yard lines.

The final game was played at Hamline on Nov. 19. Hamline scored three times in the first half but the Aggies outplayed them in the last two periods, altho they lost the game 21-6.

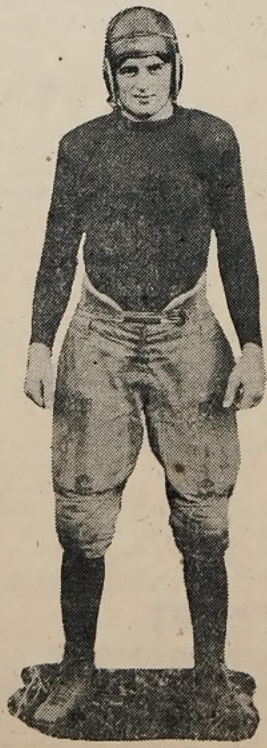

A chance to play Valpariso at Valpariso on Thanksgiving was turned down by the team as the trip was too long and hardly worth while.
