Noted Fargo Talent Before Large Crowd on Friday, Feb. 27.

Last Friday evening, February 27, in the Agricultural College Y. M. C. A. auditorium a very delightful and entertaining program was rendered by students and some of the leading talent from Fargo and Moorhead. The Auditorium was crowded when the program commenced and a very entertaining evening was enjoyed by all present. The solo by Mr. De Haven was especially good and called forth much applause as did also the singing of the Y. M. C. A. quartette. Following is the complete program:

GOV. FRAZIER DELIVERS STIRRING ADDRESS

Last Monday, February 23, the student body of the State College assembled in the Armory and had the pleasure of hearing an exceptionally interesting talk by the Hon. L. J. Frazier, the governor of the State of North Dakota. The main topics dealt with were in attune with the spirit of the day, which was Washington's birthday, which actually fell on Sunday, but was observed in the nation's schools in form, on the following Monday. As most of the readers have heard the speech at this gathering or the similar one delivered the night before at the Gerrick theatre, it is unnecessary to repeat the thought of the talk in full, but suffice it to say that no higher compliment can be paid to the efforts of the governor than that which his own personality won for him in the hearts of his hearers, and which it is impossible to express fittingly in vain words.

CO. B. WINS GOLD SWORD

Keen Competition in Drill Held Saturday Evening.

CAPT. ERNEST FJELSTAD LEADS WINNING COMPANY.

The Competition Drill held Saturday evening, Feb. 28, was marked by the close competition afforded by all the competitors. Each company showed much practice and hard work under able leadership. The event was the Sixth Annual Competition Drill and has each year brought forth much effort and interest from the men. The gold sabre offered each year to the best drilled company was presented by Pres. Worst to be given to the winning company of the annual competition drill and to be worn by the captain of that company. If the same company wins the sword three years in succession it is to be kept permanently by them; otherwise it is worn by the captain until the following year at the next competition drill.

Capt. Fjelstad Deserves Credit.

Company "B," the winning company is composed of students in the High School section and is under the able command of Captain Ernest Fjelstad, a veteran of the World War who won a first lieutenantcy in France. He was in the service eighteen months leaving Fargo as a member of Co. B, the First Regiment of North Dakota National Guards. Co. B excelled in the neatness and appearance of the men and the unison with which his men executed the manual of arms. There was a snap and determination in the minds of the men that could not be frustrated.

Although Co. B won, it was only by a close margin above the other two companies. Co. C, composed of

"TOO MUCH JOHNSON" IS HUGE SUCCESS.

Edwin Booths Stage Snappy Comedy in a Very Excellent Manner.

Playing to packed houses last Monday and Wednesday evenings, the cast producing "Too Much Johnson," the Edwin Booth Dramatic Club's winter term play, covered themselves with glory in putting over one of the snappiest comedies ever presented in the Little Country Theater. The play more than lived up to its reputation as a scream, being a modern play brim full of side splitting dilemmas and comical incidences.

The plot centered around a somewhat frivolous young married man, who attempted to cover up a bit of scandal and escape the wrath of an infuriated husband whose wife he had previously been too intimately acquainted with. He escaped from one difficulty only to encounter another but the fact that he was gifted with that rare element known as wit, served to bring him finally to still waters, though we feared at times that his ship of state would never be able to weather the rough sea or circumstances.

The cast as a whole deserves the highest commendation as a fitting memorial to their hard work but some characters were outstanding in their perfection and deserve considerable mention.

Mr. Walter McKim, playing the heavy lead, was excellent in his interpretation of Mr. Billings, the young married man who caused all the trouble. His part called for concentrated practice and study in order to clearly bring out all the humor intended by the author and Walter deserves much praise for his work.

Mr. Hubert Wolfe did full justice to the character of the young Cuban plantation owner who happened to be the victim of circumstances and nerve racking imposition. He carried his part very cleverly throughout the entire performance.

Miss Margaret Chandler and Miss Grace Kotchian were the two prominent female characters. Miss Chandler as the stately high and mighty mother-in-law and Miss Kotchian as the unskeptical wife of Mr. Billings, left nothing undone in speech or action to put the play over in triumph. Both played their parts to perfection.

Others due worthy commendation for clever work are: Mr. Tom Akeley, Miss Esther Woldy, and Mr. Archie Waldie. Mr. Waldy was exceptionally good in his interpretation of an infuriated Frenchman, especially in regard to the dialect.

This completes the series of comedies to be given this winter term, but Prof. Arvold has planned some high class performances to be given in the coming spring term, which, we all look forward to with great anticipation.

HIGH SCHOOL PARTY HELD FRIDAY EVENING.

The Agricultural and Manual Training High School held a dancing party last Friday evening, Feb. 27, in the College Armory. The Alumni of the High School were invited and several were present. There were about forty couples present and dancing was enjoyed from eight-thirty to eleven o'clock. Music was furnished in a pleasing manner by Malchow's orchestra. In the end of the hall there were tables on which cards were played by those who did not dance. Frappe and wafers were served by four little girls throughout the evening. The patrons and patronesses were Mr. Carlson, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Miller, Miss Marjorie Lieberg and Miss Sorenson.

WOMEN'S CLUB HOLD SOCIAL GATHERING

Last Friday evening in the Ceres Hall parlors the Women's Club of the college and station, which is composed of the wives of the faculty and the women employees of the college, held their third party of the school.

Diversified entertainment consisting of readings, games and cards made the party a very enjoyable affair. Two very delightful readings by Miss Eleanor Farr and Mr. Kopleman were given, after which light refreshments were served.

ACHOTH ENTERTAINS

The Acoth sorority of the college entertained the other sororities and their rushies at a formal dancing party held in the Masonic Temple on last Friday evening. The guests were further entertained between dances by three asthetic dances ren-

Industrial Course students did very well under Captain John McLean's command. Co. A., under Captain Trowbridge, the college company, did exceptionally well, but did not have the appearance and neatness of the winning company.

The judges of the contest were Capt. W. Melchoir, who presented the sword to the winning company, and gave a few remarks on the closeness of the decisions, Lieutenant Anderson and Lieutenant Fritz Lawrence. Following the decisions of the judges, dancing was enjoyed till eleven-thirty. Dr. Putnam's orchestra rendered music for the program in his usual capable manner. The dance was given for it is the last meeting that all the companies will have together this year as the Industrial Course students will be leaving in the near future. Frappe and wafers were served thruout the evening. The faculty were conspicuous by their appearing in their usual dered by Miss Marcella Madson. Her first dance was a Highland Fling and was well received. The last two were also very cleverly executed, woodland scenery forming a very picturesque background for the dancer.

Two moonlight waltzes with scenic effects were enjoyed immensely. Excellent music for the evening was rendered by the Watchie orchestra. Chaperones for the party were Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Rusk, Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin, Mrs. Anderson, Miss Meadow and Miss Sell.

ATHENIANS ENTERTAIN.

On Thursday last, Castalia and Hesperia, the two literary societies of the high school department, visited Athenia at a program in the Athenian room. Everybody present picked up some valuable notes on home economics from the sherbet demonstration conducted by Miss Pauline Holl, assisted by Mr. Boots. The girls now know how to manage a mere man when it comes to house work and the boys see what the future has in store for them.

The song "How Can You Tell," given by Miss Laura Johnston and Richard Falkenstein was especially well received, while Miss McGulgan's reading "Jane" and William Bina's graphic description of his trip to Chicago both caused much laughter. Percy Lowe furnished an excellent chapter of the novel which the Athenians are writing, but (heartless man) he left the heroine perched on the tip of a branch watching a bear cub down below wondering what is to happen next. The next meeting will tell.

After the meeting the young folks, forgetting all about the poor heroine, partook of Miss Holl's delicious sherbet before departing.

numbers, with the following present, who also chaperoned the dance: Capt. and Mrs. F. B. Carrithers, President and Mrs. Ladd, and Professor and Mrs. Sudro.

INDUSTRIAL COURSE COMMENCEMENT.

The Sixteenth Annual Industrial Course Commencement of the North Dakota Agricultural College will be held on Sunday and Monday, March fourteenth and fifteenth. The exercises will open on Sunday afternoon, March fourteenth, with an address by John H. Worst, Commissioner of Immigration, State of North Dakota, Bismarck, North Dakota. On Monday afternoon, March fifteenth, an original class play, "The Country Side," written by Harry Hagerott will be presented in The Little Country Theatre at four o'clock. At six o'clock the Alumni and members of the class will hold a banquet. The Commencement exercises will be held in The Little Country Theatre at eight o'clock in the evening.

LET'S STAGE A COMEBACK

Last Saturday we received the beating of our lives at the hands of our old rival, the U. of N. D. But that one beating doesn't hurt our chances for next Saturday's return game with that same school. We are on our own ground here and have our entire supporting contingent of rooters with the team to do their part. We are that contingent. Now let's step out and do our part RIGHT. Not just start it right like we did at the game up there, by getting together to see the game and then forgetting that we had voices and lungs. We're going to get together at the beginning of that game and stay together all thru WITH the team. In order to be together we've got to come early, as the older students know, because the armory will be packed with outsiders who will usurp our proper places if we give them half a chance. In regard to what we are going to do to the U, remember Dean Keene's prophecy at the first F. C. game rally. That prophecy was founded on some mighty close observation of the past season's performances on the basketball floor by all the teams in the state and is one that many of the rest of us who have followed basketball events closely during the year, agree with absolutely. Don't ask what that prophecy was. If you haven't had pep and spirit enough to know already you might as well put up for the night 'cause your day is done for this year's chance of living a real life. This next game is not the only one left in the season, we still have two more big games to meet, the most important being the F. C. return game in their gym a week from today, but every Aggie should be out there yelling as tho it was the last game he would ever watch his college team play. And that is something worthy of noticing for it may be the last big game for any of you, who may not return next year. There are others of us who know only too well that it is the last time we'll have the privilege of watching the yellow and green jerseys battle against the hated U. N. D., when we can really be a part of it. That day will come only too soon for all of you, the only way to make it a happy day and to feel that your college life was well lived after all, is to keep moving with that school life all the time you are with it and to play the game for all there is in it, every moment of play, just as the men do who are out on the floor in front of you at the games. When you yell your school yells, yell as tho you were yelling home for money; when you sing your college songs, know what you are singing and realize the thought and forcefulness that is in so many of these songs, those deeper thoughts which set them apart, not as mere collections of idle rhymed words but as a means of expressing what our school means to us. Bear these things in mind when you come to that game next Saturday and put your very life and soul into the effort to give our team the added morale to effect the come-back that is more than a possibility, in spite of the large score the U ran up against us in the last engagement.

AN APPEAL TO THE INDUSTRIAL COURSE STUDENTS

What would you do, Mr. Industrial course student if a person came up to you and said to your face, "Say fellow, you're dead?" Wouldn't you turn on him in a flash and show him that you were quite alive, or would you do the opposite, would you take his word for it and really believe that you were dead?

Now fellows the above may seem strange, but it is exactly what happened. A prominent instructor asked the following question of an Industrial course student. "What is the matter with the Industrial course students? They're dead, what is the matter with them this year?"

Now Mr. Industrial course student that instructor knows what he is talking about. We Industrial course students are dead and we all know it. How much class spirit have you shown? How many of us belong to our own class organizations? The Agricultural Club has only twenty members. There are approximately seventy-five students registered in the Farm Husbandry course, and every live active Farm Husbandry student should be a member of the Agricultural Club. Yet there are only twenty that actually had enough class spirit to join. Fifty percent of those that did join do not attend the meetings.

That is the condition in which the Agricultural club has been running during the winter term. And the condition of the Power Machinery club is even worse. Is it any wonder that people say we are dead? There are approximately two hundred students registered in the four Industrial courses, enough to fill the Little Country Theater at the Industrial course programs. But what do we find? At the Industrial course debate, which was held on Friday evening, February 27 there were not enough Industrial course students to fill two rows of seats. The same was true of the Industrial course Declamatory contest.

Is that what we call class spirit? If that is we surely must admit, we are dead, as others have already said about us. Think about it Mr. Industrial Course student. What are you going to do about it? Shall we let things slide as they have been or will we wake up now? Are we in favor of letting the faculty members, the college and high school students say that we are dead or are we going to show them that we have got some enthusiasm and spirit and that we do back our class organizations?

This term is rapidly flitting away. Let's get things moving now. We can do it. Our time may be short but not too short to wake up and show signs of life. Put your class organizations on their feet now and when we come back next fall keep the good work moving. It is for our own benefit Mr. Industrial course student. Let's get the most out of our school life. Be Alive! Now!

AGASSIZ DOPE

If the speed at which a snail travels was rated at ninety miles per hour, class writeups, Senior and Junior blanks and organization material might be considered as coming at a walk—and backing in at that! You know what I mean.

Kindly snap into it and get those blanks filled out and in the Agassiz box in the Main Building. Fraternity and Sorority writeups should be handed to Ralph Matters or placed in the box. Ercil Frost is after those Class histories and the like.

Next week—and this week—carry at least one "iron man" with you for protection. If you see one with at least a few human characteristics approaching you with a pencil in one hand and an order blank book in the other—draw forth your "iron man" and present it together with your name to this reported. Wait! get your receipt. It paves the way for what is to follow—an AGASSIZ.

Note:—For the benefit of the ladies, an "iron man" hails from Mintville and is sometimes called D. O. Lar. If you can't bring him bring a paper proxy.

The Service of an Electrical Research Laboratory

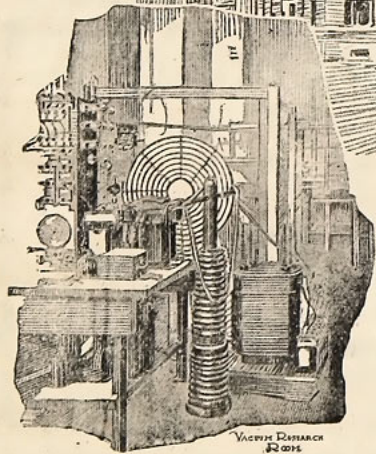

The research facilities of the General Electric Company are an asset of world-wide importance, as recent war work has so clearly demonstrated. Their advantages in pursuits of peace made them of inestimable value in time of war.

A most interesting story tells of the devices evolved which substantially aided in solving one of the most pressing problems of the war—the submarine menace. Fanciful, but no less real, were the results attained in radio communication which enabled an aviator to control a fleet of flying battleships, and made possible the sending, without a wire, history-making messages and orders to ships at sea. Scarcely less important was the X-ray tube, specially designed for field hospital use and a notable contribution to the military surgical service. And many other products, for both combatant and industrial use, did their full share in securing the victory.

In the laboratories are employed highly trained physicists, chemists, metallurgists and engineers, some of whom are experts of international reputation. These men are working not only to convert the resources of Nature to be of service to man, but to increase the usefulness of electricity in every line of endeavor. Their achievements benefit every individual wherever electricity is used.

Scientific research works hand in hand with the development of new devices, more efficient apparatus and processes of manufacture. It results in the discovery of better and more useful materials and ultimately in making happier and more livable the life of all mankind.

Booklet, Y-863, describing the company's plants, will be mailed upon request. Address Desk 37

SPORTING NEWS of NORTH DAKOTA

U. N. D. DEFEATS AGGIES IN SLOW GAME

—oo—
We're Defeated Phenomenally by Large Score of 34-15.
—oo—

The University of North Dakota defeated the State team last Tuesday at Grand Forks in a slow, listless game of basket ball by the score of 34 to 15.

The game began with a rush with both teams playing a defensive game and neither entering the scoring column until after the first seven minutes of play when the University dropped a long shot thru the basket for the first counter. Both teams then shifted to offensive and working the ball towards their opponents' basket. The University was far more successful at this, being able to break up the Aggies' defense, while at the same time their own defense forced the State men to try long shots which were wild and did little damage.

The Aggies did not threaten the University with defeat as our team could not take the ball thru the University's defense with any degree of regularity, and this, combined with poor shooting held the score down. Neither team showed the former style of fighting that has always marked the University-A. C. game.

The first half ended 20-9 in favor of the U. N. D.

At the start of the second half both teams fought hard, but the University gradually left the State team by means of their smooth and shifty team play.

The University offense worked in good shape with Sproul at center and Richards at forward doing a stellar role, while Houser was the big factor in the University team work.

For the State team Peterson and Hunter were the big men; Peterson doing wonderful work at guard, intercepting passes and covering his man in a creditable style. Hunter led his team in field baskets and worked in the team play at all times.

The game was characterized by the lack of excessive hard playing which eliminated a great number of the personal fouls which in the past have always marked the U. N. D. and A. C. battle.

Summary:—

A. C. N. D.		U. N. D.
Movold	F	Richards
Reis	F	Houser
Hunter	C	Sproul

PREPS DEFEAT "U" HIGH.

In a preliminary game between the North Dakota Agricultural Preps and the Model High School of the University—a curtain raiser for the main event of the evening—the Preps won by a score of 9 to 7.

The game was hard fought thru-out, with one team having the edge on the other and then the reverse until the last few minutes when the Preps rallied and scored the winning basket. Both teams did good defensive work and close guarding was pronounced thruout the contest.

The Preps counted first when Peterson, the shifty forward, dropped in a pretty one from the middle of the floor.

Peterson and Fitzgerald starred for the Preps, while Campbell and Couer did ood work for the High School.

Summary:—

A. C. Preps		Model High

SPORTING (continued)

UNIVERSITY BEATS PREACHERS 25 TO 16.

The University of North Dakota defeated Fargo College last Saturday evening at Grand Forks to the tune of 25 to 16, in one of the hottest contested games of the year. The game was evenly fought, during the first half each team scoring eleven points.

In the last few minutes of the game Fargo College rallied and for a while it looked as if Fargo would win. Houser again starred for the University while Burns and Chaney played the best ball for Fargo College.

HOW'S THIS FOR SPORTSMANSHIP?

—oo—

Ohio State University lost a tough game last fall to the University of Illinois. The prize was the championship of the western conference in football. Ohio was leading seven to six up to the last minute of the play. Then one of the Illinois players, with an educated toe, booted the pigskin over the Ohio oalposts for a field goal and three points, winning out at the finish, nine to seven. It was enough to take the heart out of any college team. It is said that "Chick" Harley, the famous captain of the Buckeyes, went off the field openly weeping.

But the game had a sequel. It was in the form of a letter from Coach "Jack" Wilce, of the Ohio team to Coach "Bob" Kuppke, who piloted the Illinois players to the "Big Ten" championship.

"I tried to find you coming off the field Saturday," Wilce wrote, "but failed to locate you. Allow me to congratulate you most heartily, not only on winning our game but on successfully completing the hardest schedule a western conference school has ever played.

"Our was a great game; and while, of course, we are disappointed, still we feel that it strengthens the splendid and growing sportsmanlike rivalry of the two institutions.

"Yours is a great and splendidly coached team."

To this letter Zuppke replied:

"I shall treasure your letter. I am only sorry that the result that makes one team happy cannot also cheer up the other.

"We feel that yours is the best team we met, and, also, that your boys played a very clean game. I hope that Ohio will always be the hardest team for Illinois to beat, and that Illinois will always be the hardest for you to conquer."

Gilmoure Dobie, famous football coach, who first came into the limelight when he coached the North Dakota Agricultural College grid team for three years, 1906 to 1909, when the team won every game played, has resigned his position as football coach at the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis and accepted a similar position at Cornell.

Dobie went to Washington University from here, coaching the eleven there for eight years, during which time his team won every game. From there he went to Annapolis in 1917.

"I'VE BEEN WONDERING."

I've been wondering oft of late
What prompts a man
To shake a crawfish pen.
What muse inspires, what earthly bait

Can tempt a man
To crab because he's beat'n.

Now never has a loser's tear,
Nor has his woeful tale
Made his lot any better.
They're just as weak as a victor's
sneer,

The spirit of sport is cuffed by both,
And both, the same do fetter.

Now read this twice, then throw the thing away

It's not for you
To take such a foolish stand
As to be a sport when you've won the day

And when you're beaten
To laugh and take it like a man.

played a short concert at the Frederick hotel before the game. At the game the band played almost continuously in competition with the University band, the continuous music of the two bands keeping things humming all through the game. There were forty-two members of the cadet band who took the trip.

FRED HULETT BACK AGAIN.

Than pile hosts of roses, white and red,
