HAROLD BACHMAN HEADS NEW MUSICAL COMPANY

Prominent Alumnus Musician Forms
Entertainment Company at Minot.

Harold Bachman, an outstanding musician while a student at this institution and thereafter winning international renown as a band leader, while leading the famous "Million Dollar Band" of the A. E. F., has recently organized the Bachman Musical & Entertainment Company, with headquarters at Minot, N. D., and capitalized at $25,000. Associated with Harold are his father and brother, Clark B. and Myron C. Bachman of Fargo, H. R. Rosevold of Minot; and James Edson of Eldon, Mo. The purpose of the company is to form musical companies, bands, moving picture shows and other forms of entertainment.

Harold graduated from the Agricultural course in 1916 after having spent seven years in the preparatory and college departments here. During all his years at the school, he was one of the leaders among the students in a great many activities. Besides ranking as Principal and Chief Musician for three years in the cadet band he was a member of the Edwin Booth Dramatic club, and his performances as a debater and in oratory were of the highest possible order, winning him a place on the debating team for two years and several medals for declamatory work. Alumnus Bachman's musical work was not confined to the band as he was also a member of the Glee Club and played trumpet in the college orchestra. The year following his graduation, he spent as the head of the musical department of this school. This led to an offer, which he accepted, from Harvey, North Dakota, where he directed the musical activities of that community for the ensuing year. The ability which he displayed during these years resulted in an offer from the state to lead the second regimental band of North Dakota. The international fame which this band won for itself and its leader while in the service is already well known to our readers so further comment thereon, is unnecessary. When the members of the band were discharged from the service the band was re-collected by the two Bachmans and started out on its famous tour of the country under Harold's leadership. The tour was halted indefinitely after a more than successful run of over ten months, by the coal shortage in Chicago. For the last two months the Bachman headquarters have been in Fargo and the proximity of Minot assures of frequent visits from this alumnus to his alma mater. And

THE TEAM SONG

The most wonderful pep song in the U. S.

Learn it and be proud that you have the right to sing it.

The U opposition melts before it as the morning mist before the sun.

The A. C. team's the pride and dream of every heart so gay.

The A. C. five you'll find a terror in the fray.

And when the team is fighting for the Yellow and the Green,

We're always there with song and cheer; and this is what we sing:

The A. C. team (repeat whistling)

RAH! RAH! RAH!

ON brave old A. C. team. ON to the fray,

FIGHT on to victory,

FOR that's the fearless A. C. way.

her's good luck from the old school to you, old man, in your new venture.

"Y" PLAN BIG RECITAL

Best Talent of College and City To Present Musical Program
Next Friday.

A recital will be given in the "Y" Auditorium Friday evening, February 27th at 8:00 P. M. Leading talent of the Agricultural College and Fargo have volunteered their services for this entertainment, and a great deal of interest is being taken in it by the general public. This is evidenced by the fact that the ticket sale is coming along very nicely. Five hundred tickets have been placed in the hands of the "Y" Promotive Force, and these men report that they are meeting with good success. Each man is being asked to sell eight tickets. Some of the men have returned for their second allotment. Miss Fannie Clapp of Fargo College Conservatory is furnishing some very fine numbers from among her pupils. Those who buy tickets can be assured they will hear two or three good readers of exceptional ability.

Another fine number will be a tenor solo by Mr. David DeHaven. Mr. DeHaven's musical ability is well known.

A third feature of the program will be the work of the Y. M. C. A. Male Quartette. This quartette has advanced rapidly. Last Friday they sang for the big Men's Banquet at the City Y. M. C. A., where two hundred plates were laid. They received a hearty encore.

Another feature will be a violin solo by Mr. Berg of the College Orchestra, accompanied by Winters. Vocal solos will be given by Andrew Moore and Carl Bublitz.

There will be at least one surprise specialty. The purpose of this recital is to raise money to pay the expenses of our college delegates sent to the big Des Moines convention. The Deputation Team signed a note for $80.00 to pay the expenses of these delegates, and it is by means of this recital the entire amount can be repaid. At the present rate of ticket sales, the outlook is very hopeful.

"BACK TO THE FARM" IS PRODUCED IN EXCELLENT MANNER

The members of the Country Life Association comprising the cast of "Back to the Farm" fairly outdid themselves in the several performances of this play. The first performance was given as a matinee on Thursday, Feb. 19. The attendance in the evening was much better than in the afternoon and the players were at their best in this second show. The ability displayed by Miss Elsie Johnson as Rosie Meade, the pretty school teacher, was of the highest nature. William Beyer as Merton Merrill did some very commendable work. The audiences at both performances were delighted at the manner in which the play was produced and many were the congratulations extended to all the participants in the production.

THE EDWIN BOOTH DRAMATIC CLUB PRODUCES "TOO MUCH JOHNSON" IN THE LITTLE COUNTRY THEATRE AT 8 P. M., TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY, FEB. 24 AND 25.

MORRIS H. S. WINS BOTH DEBATES.

The debates held last Friday both proved disastrous to our high school as Morris H. S. won the two of them. Our preps took their beatings in good part and showed themselves to be the best of sports by entertaining the Morris debaters royally, after the affair. At the same time they have sworn a solemn oath, that the next time they meet on the field of verbal battle the Morrisians shall rue the day. That's the stuff, preps, go to it—that is the kind of work that is going to make you big men in the college life when you get there. Congratulations on the fact that your kic kgot over last week and the next time you feel that you have one coming, don't hesitate to register it—we're all for you.

"ENGAGED MAKES BIG HIT"

Following the N. D. A. C. vs. F. C. basketball game, last Tuesday evening, the Little Country Theatre Players gave the first presentation of the first of the series of comedies scheduled for the winter term dramatics. Both the Tuesday and Wednesday audiences considered the play to be an out-standing one in every way. A number of Fargo College and townspeople were among the audiences and were much impressed by the talent exhibited by the cast.

Lynn Huey as leading man in the character of Cheviot Hill around whose tribulations the plot centred, very cleverly demonstrated his unusual dramatic ability in his presentation of this part. Professor Arvold's coaching has developed Lynn's natural talent to a very high degree of excellence as was unmistakably evidenced in this play as in his previous work.

Mathew Tyndal, as a money loving and rather unscrupulous old gentleman had a very difficult part but carried it splendidly. His dual part, that of an irate and flouted suitor was also portrayed with rare ability.

Miss Helen Colley, playing the part of a winsome and ironical young English woman delighted the audience with her gift of dramatic expression and her apt characterization of the part.

Miss Ella Caldwell showed remarkable dramatic ability in the character of Miss Trehune, who was overcome with grief at the loss of a Scotch common law husband, who was a victim of his ignorance of the customs of the country and whom she loved mainly for his wealth. Miss Caldwell played her part to perfection and we predict a brilliant future for both her and Miss Colley if they continue their dramatic endeavor.

Stuart Kelley, as Angus Macalister, a lowland Scotch lad, grievously lacking in scruples kept the audience in one continuous uproar whenever he was on the stage. His Scotch brogue gave the play the proper atmosphere and the pecuniary characteristics of the Scotchman were well brought out in his work.

Miss Delia Askegard, playing opposite Angus, in the role of a Scotch peasant girl left nothing to be desired in her characterization of her part. Her costume and appearance were a feature of the show.

Miss Magdeline Sigurdson, as Mrs. Macfarlane, a Scotch widow was excellent. Her part was a rather difficult one and Miss Sigurdson mastered it in fine style.

Bob Gardner as Belvawney, a young Englishman who was dependent for his income upon his ability to keep Cheviot Hill alive and unmarried by his moral power over this gentleman, carried his part well and showed decided talent in his satirical work.

Miss Verna Ambuehl, the pretty and enticing little maid at all times exhibited clever acting. Her attempt to extract a tip from the rich young hero, tho ill-fated was very comical.

TYPICAL COMMUNITY CENTRE PROGRAM TO BE PRESENTED

On Tuesday evening, March 2, at 7:00 P. M., there will be presented, free of charge, a typical community centre program in the Little Country theatre. This program will consist of a variety of exhibitions, each of which, will be well worth seeing. The exact order of presentation has not been decided upon as yet, however, the public is assured of having some excellent music and instructive lec-

SOCIETY

THE COLONIAL PARTY COLONIZES TO A FARE-YE-WELL.

Saturday evening, the twenty-first, witnessed a scene of carnival splendor that far eclipses anything in the social line that has been sprung this season. The extension workers and the faculty showed the student body up for the most part, tho some half a dozen young ladies and three or four young men from our ranks deserve honorable mention. The Virginia Reel produced a number of sore palms, numbering as a rule two to the person. Such small things as these of course went unnoticed till the next morning, when they always do show up. "Listen to the Mocking bird," in the hands of a modern jazz artist, twisted a few knees for the old-timers and some of the barn dance tunes left even the younger mob a bit shaky. The circle one-steps were an education to many and did much to make the evening a genuine success. The punch was excellent but of modern vintage. We've got to hand it to the ancestors, the spirit of the Colonial Times was all to the good.

ALPHA KAPPA PHIS GIVE THEIR ANNUAL DANCE

On February 17, last Tuesday evening, the Alpha Kappa Phi fraternity gave their annual dance at Stone's hall. The A. C. vs. F. C. basketball game was first witnessed by the members and their guests which gave them a good start for a real peppy evening and a spirited affair. The dance proved to be an eminent success as usual and kept its place as one of the big affairs of the year at the school. It was impossible for anyone to have anything but the best of a time because of the unstinted activity and friendliness of the hosts.

The hall was prettily decorated with streamers, banners and colors of the fraternity in an exceedingly effective fashion. The feature of the evening was the Alpha Kappa Phi waltz with the light beaming from the new A K P moon, a very ingenious device.

Patrons and patronesses for the evening were: Dr. and Mrs. Pearce; Dr. and Mrs. Schalk; Prof. and Mrs. Sudro; Prof. and Mrs. Minard.

LORADO TAFT VISITS ART CLASS

During his stay in Fargo, Lorado Taft, visited the art room in Science hall, and was delighted with its size and location. He was impressed with its possibilities as a studio and art gallery.

Mr. Taft encourages every city, as a public duty, to have its own little art collection. Speaking of an art gallery for the college, he brought out the great influence it would have, not only upon this community but upon students from all parts of the state. Surely it would be a fine thing for our college to work out some plan by which such a collection could be started.

Altho the sculptor was especially interested in the first work of the clay modelling and pottery classes, he commented favorably upon the high school poster work, Junior college costume designery and the work of the special students in free hand drawing.

Mr. Taft spoke briefly to the Freshmen Design class encouraging them to go out into their various communities, carrying with them an art message to their fellows. As usual all his hearers were impressed with this great human interest. Photographs of his "Frieze of the Blind" were exceptionally beautiful and impressive, with his explanation of what it all meant to him and why he made it. In his quiet way Mr. Taft spoke of sending some of the casts of several heads from his group, which he has in his studio at home, to the school. Surely these would be a nucleus about which we could build a wonderful art collection.

"SPECIAL" PUT OVER AT FRIDAY RALLY

The rally held Friday noon as a result of the new pep that is beginning to be a factor in Aggie life here gave the shove to the "Special" campaign which pushed it across the line to success before the afternoon was over. The students displayed more eagerness, enthusiasm and spirit in regard to this year's special than had been shown for some time in the past. It is certain that this same spirit will be shown at the game in the Forks and will prove a strong factor toward the success of our team in the event of the day.

MISS MEADOWS DELIVERS INTERESTING TALK

The Polytechnic society held their regular meeting last Wednesday, February 18, and were addressed by Miss Meadows of our Home Economics department on the subject of: "Standardization of Clothing." The manner in which this subject was treated was exceedingly interesting and awakened a desire for further information upon this subject in the minds of many of her hearers. The topic was one which is rather uncommon at the present time and consequently the date presented by Miss Meadows was of great interest to her audience.

KEEP UP THE SPIRIT

You haven't finished the job. You're just started. Don't slack up now, cause we trimmed Fargo College in the first game. We didn't beat them on account of our yelling. Our team started going and we kept them at it with our applause. But we had an easy job. It is when you yell a losing team to victory that you've made your yelling do its duty. The rooting was comparatively excellent at the F. C. game but as to what it should be it was ROTTEN. We tried, but the majority of us who wanted to yell didn't know how. That's a fact. They did not know how to yell when they did want to because they had never had pep enough before to learn how. When the game was going our way and our men had the ball, the yelling was deafening, but the moment the tide started, momentarily against us, a sublimely beautiful hush fell over the multitude and we left it for the team to fight it out for themselves. O yes we watched with bated breath and all that, but that is just what we've got to learn not to do. When your team is fighting for the ball you have got to fight with them with all your power. Yell like mad at such times as this and then when your team is ahead and going well, rest up for the next crisis when your team needs you to help it through. A team needs yelling for encouragement, not for reward. That is what the A. C. rooters were doing at the F. C. game they were APPLAUDING and they thought they were rooting. That is the poorest, weakest kind of tin-horn supporting imaginable. A conqueror doesn't need a finely voice uplifted in his defense but the man who is fighting on the defensive needs the moral support of a hearty cheer, as then he knows that he is fighting for something and somebody that is really worth while.

Get into the spirit of the game with your whole being. Forget yourself, when the other team has the ball. Stand up and yell your lungs out. Forget your chairs; the men out there on that floor don't think of resting easily for a solid hour of battle; you can forget your ease for a minute to do what little you can in their aid.

Some seven or eight hundred of the twelve hundred students showed signs of coming to life at this last game, but none of them showed half the mad enthusiasm over living that anyone should have, if he is living a life worth while. We want more than eight hundred live men at the next game in the armory, which is to be the second U game; we want eight hundred MAD MEN who have to be hammered on the head to be kept off the floor in their excitement and enthusiasm over the game. That is the kind of spirit the College gave to its men in the old days and that made them famous all over the Northwest as being fighting Aggies and rabid backers of everything their school took up. We had the reputation of always being back of our teams to the man, win or lose, which was and is the true spirit of real support. The graduates the College turned out at this time were always better men for having carried on that spirit as they absorbed it into themselves and became so much a part of it that they carried it with them into the business world where it brought the same success that it carried in their school days. It's the man that is fighting all the time, too busy to see the odds he is meeting, too enthused with the love of battling to take note of his hurts, that always wins in the host of his engagements. Right here and now is the time to inculcate that spirit in yourself.

Let us get that spirit—it isn't hard to absorb—just let yourself go. You won't be able to help yourself after the first five minutes of play. You'll be a man-eating, holy-roller-rooting Aggie, who forgets that there is anything else in life except those five green-jerseyed demons on the floor, working that ball toward the pretty round hoop on the wall.

We've got two big games left to roll in, Aggies. The U game down here on March 6 and the F. C. game over on the hill March 9, thus they both occur within the next two weeks. Get your bearings set at the rallies, cause it's up to us to all to roll together and we'll roll the State over the opposition whatever the odds may be or whoever may represent them. Come to these big games with the idea of going wild altogether and you'll have lots of company, besides helping your team and your school to batter its way to the top, in the best and only way you can.

STUDENT OPINION

Is This Man Dead?

What do you think of a student who misses a rally? You say he's dead, don't you? Very well, we will concede that he is. But what about a professor who is not in favor of members of his classes attending a rally? Nine out of ten of you will say that that is impossible, but it is fact.

A rally was held in the armory on Thursday, February 17, and was not dismissed until after the second bell had rung. We were assured that it would be O. K. with our instructors. However, when several of us arrived at our 1:30 class room we found that the doors were locked against us. Several of us needed this lecture that we were forced to miss, as we were to have a mid-term exam in the subject the next day.

We dislike to crab, but we would like to know whether or not this is the popular idea of a square deal and whether such absences should be held against us.

ART KOTCHIAN IN THE CITY. CHING CHALLEY STOPS WITH THE RHOS

During the past week Art Kotchian dropped in to spend a few days with the Theta Chis. Even nature joined in the general welcome by turning on a wild blizzard in honor of the occasion. Kotch being an ex-seventeen has witnessed a good many A. C. blizzards, however, and seemed to bear the blow quite manfully. For the past four years Art's Aggie spirit has been as strong as tho he were still a student here, which is the kind of stuff we want to see—every alumnus a BOOSTER.

FORMER STUDENT VISITS CAMPUS.

Frank Vizralek, who spent the fall term of 1918 at this institution, stayed at the Theta Chi house for a few days last week while in the city en route to his home in Lidgerwood. Viz is a student at the University this year and witnessed the series of winning games that the U basket ball team played in this city during the past week.

During the past week Andrew "Ching" Challey a former student here, ex-'17 stopped over for a few days visiting the Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity of which he is a member. Ching is an old football man and was always a live student. He is one of the alumni who never forget.

CARL WINBERG VISITS THE PHIS

Old Doc Winberg a last year's graduate from the engineering department, was a visitor at the A K P house, the first part of the week. Carl is now located at Hillsboro, N. Dak., and gets down to the old school for most of the big events.

MARTIN HAGEN COMES IN FOR THE PHI ANNUAL

Martin Hagen who is now located at Bismarck, was a visitor at the Phi house during the last week and was present at the annual dance held Tuesday, February 17.

AGGIES DEFEAT PREACHERS

away, having defeated South Dakota State after the same team defeated the Aggies, the night before in a very decisive manner. The A. C. team came onto the floor with the dope against them, for a starter and romped away with an easy victory.

A. C. Scores First.

Movold started the scoring with a free throw caused by a foul on Murray. With this one point lead the Aggies took the lead and held it throughout the entire game. Hunter added two pretty field goals after some of the classiest passing that any team has uncorked in the gym this year. Movold dropped in a couple of fouls caused by Fargo College desperate attempt to hold the Aggies down.

The Pilots soon realized that they were up against far more than they had ever expected and after being fortunate enough to score a field basket they failed to rally. The Fargo College guards looked pitiful against the offense of the State team. The guarding of the Aggies kept the Pilot scoring machine at a standstill. The first half ended 13-4 in favor of the Aggies.

Second Half.

The second half started with a rush. Fargo College was unable to check the terrific offense of the Aggies. The Aggie guards did not allow the ball to get near enough for Fargo College to shoot. The combination, Peterson to Movold, and Movold to Hunter was the principle scoring machine of the Aggies. Peterson, Kraemer and Borderud on defense kept the Pilots from scoring. The game ended with the Aggies still climbing.

The game was characterized by the wonderful guarding of Happy Peterson, who was easily the star of the game, aiding materially on offense and scoring a basket in the second half. Hunter had his shooting togs on and caged four baskets, leading his team in number of points. Hunter showed exceptional ability in floor work, breaking up innumerable passes of Fargo College. Movold's floor work was up to its usual high standard. Movold also showed his ability in shooting free throws. Borderud got away with three field baskets while holding his forward down to one. Kraemer at center outplayed and outshot Murray, Fargo College's big man. Kraemer scored two field goals. Key starred for Fargo College, holding Movold down to two baskets. Line-up and summary follows:

Aggies		Fargo College
Movold	F	Aamodt
Hunter	F	Ward
Kraemer	C	Murray
Borderud	G	Key
Peterson	G	Burns

Field Baskets: Hunter 4, Borderud 3, Kraemer 2, Movold 2, Peterson 1, Murray 1, Aamodt 1, Ward 1.

"DAY OF PRAYER"

The twenty-ninth of February has been set aside as a day of prayer thruout the whole United States. At this time it is desired that each person devote a short time to prayer and serious thought. Students, especially, are asked to think upon life in its entirety and the relation which they bear to each other and to society as a whole. In the busy life which most students are leading there are apt to be tendencies which will cause them to see the immediate present and be blinded to many of the greater and more worth-while things of the future.

We are told that history is being made faster today than at any other time. This is true not only in regard to political history but religious history as well. There are movements at work today which will mean the advancement or retardation of millions of people. This applies not alone to the people living across the seas but to the people in the United States.

Students, in taking their place in life, are many times swept off from their feet because they have not been rooted in the great worth while things. The learning of principles and fundamental rules of life are far more important than the memorizing of concrete facts. To learn life as it really is, means that the fundamental and guiding principles of action should be studied. Students cannot wait until after graduation before they will seriously consider their relation to life as a whole. The formation of a "Philosophy of Life" while students is in the formative period will be of more importance than the mastery of the majority of the school subjects.

Prayer, to some, does not mean much. To others it is of prime importance in their entire life. It is the acknowledgment of the individual that there is a greater power than himself and that this greater power is necessary in making the most of one's life. A few minutes spent in prayer at the beginning of each day concentrates a person's mind on the matters of prime importance. This does not mean the person is a day dreamer but rather that he is striving to put first things first. He is, as it were, clearing the vision of any mist that may be caused by matters of the immediate present and striving to place the fundamental things of life in their proper place. Prayer at the close of the day is many times the survey of the day's work. When these two periods are used in concentrating the mind on the greater things of life the individual is, as it were, laying plans and reviewing the field of service.

School days are said to be a period of habit formation. The habit of spending only a few minutes in concentrated meditation and prayer upon the greater things of life and in speaking to the source of power which is realized to be greater than the individual, means much in the development of manhood and womanhood.

Altho the Agricultural College is not a school where religious training receives very much emphasis, it is urged that students enter into the spirit of the "Day of Prayer" and that they also form the habit of the short morning and evening prayer. Results which will grow out of this habit will mean more in the life of the student than many other things which are given greater importance.

MUSIC

PUTTING THE JOY INTO DOC'S LIFE.

Perhaps one of the most enthusiastic musicians and one who is most in love with his work is Dr. C. S. Putnam, our musical director. Perhaps the most pleasant feature of his work is his correspondence and interest in his boys when they leave school. Almost every week Doc receives word from some of his old band men. One of the most delightful features of his correspondence with the old boys is their successes in life after they get out of school, especially in musical lines.

A day or two ago Doc received a letter from W. V. "Bill" Arvold, who was a member of the band for several years, playing the B-flat tuba, and string bass in orchestra. Bill graduated from the A. C. and then took a two year post graduate course at the University of Wisconsin. While at Wisconsin, Bill was a member and manager of the first band. For the past several years he has been teaching in the high school at Reedsburgh, Wis., and has organized a band among the high school boys. Bill writes that he has twenty-five boys in his band and has just started out fifteen more which will soon make his a forty piece band. He says that the boys play a good grade of music and will soon be able to make the best of them sit up and take notice. Bill was recently married and states that he is really living.

A few days ago Claude Ebling dropped into Doc's office. Claude was with us three years ago, playing first horn in both band and orchestra. Claude enlisted as a musician in the field artillery when the war broke out. Later he was sent to an officers' training school where he was commissioned a second lieutenant. Claude was retained on this side throughout the entire war as an instructor in one of the large camps. He is now in business in his home town of Barnesville, Minn.

With the arrival of the Morris High School Debating team Johnnie Anderson will be again seen on the campus. Johnnie graduated from the A. C. several years ago and played E flat clarinet in the band. He is at present directing a band and orchestra at Morris, Minn.

Word has also been received from Duncan McLeod who played alto saxophone in the band for several years. Duncan is now in business at Crary, N. Dak., and states that he has organized a saxophone sextet.

Occasionally Doc receives bad news from his one time band men. Thursday word was received from Henry Leudahl of Maddock, N. Dak., Henry has just lost his wife from the influenza and is left with two small children. Leudahl played clarinet in the band for several years.
