Don Pedro, prince of Arragon, comes on a visit to Leonato, governor of Messina, accompanied by Benedick and Claudio, two young noblemen who have been serving with him in the wars.

A masquerade is given by Leonato in honor of visitors. Don Pedro seizes the opportunity to woo Hero, giving her to think that he is Claudio.

Beatrice is informed in the same fashion that Benedick loves her. Their hearts become more tender towards each other. Don John's evil plans are maturing against Hero and Claudio.

Leonato is in the despair and humiliation over the evil report concerning his daughter. He upbraids Claudio and wishes to fight him. Benedick challenges Claudio. The testimony of the watchman finally comes to light, revealing the plot of Don John and the innocence of Hero.

COMMUNITY PROGRAM

SCHEDULED FRIDAY, MAY NINETEENTH, AFTERNOON AND EVENING.

Programs Characteristic of Community Center To Be Presented.

Anyone who is a teacher, student, parent, or a farmer, or just one of the common people will be interested in the announcement of a Model Community Day Program in the Little Country Theatre, Friday, May 19.

Agricultural, domestic science, and art exhibits and demonstrations are possible in any community and the commending aim will be to show the great fund of material open to an ordinary community where attractive features are thought to be at a premium.

Rural decorations, cooking demonstrations, model dining rooms, rural school hot lunches will strike a responsive chord in the heart of anyone who ever lived in a home or attended a country school.

Again, one of the problems of local community enterprises is to break away from the custom of having our entertainments dependent upon a certain class of vulgar commercial amusements that are always bordering on the forbidden. Healthy self-expression thru plays, pageants and music, all put on by local talent, has led the way to a complete revolution to a new community consciousness.

Play, too, must take its place alongside of work and this feature, too, will be shown.

The committees in charge of the community program are showing much enthusiasm in the coming event and considerable interest is being shown by many others who are planning on taking full advantage of the opportunities afforded by the program.

There will be two complete programs, one in the afternoon and the other beginning at eight o'clock in the evening.

THE GOAL OF AMBITION (By M. S. H.)

Dreams that are foreign, dreams that are strange— Feathery, floating and lacking foundation, Dimly creeps out of thereal range Call at the heart to explain their creation. Have they yet called at yours?

Pangs, disappointments — re-deyed and doleful— Merciless black to your Soul they appear, Shatter your gladness, crush out the grateful Thoughts of your life—and exchange them for fear. Do you know them as yours?

May the time that is ours—fleeting tho as it were On the wings of a swan seeking south with her brood— Be to better the ills, quiet down noisy whir That is robbing the world of the best of its mood. Make this thought one of yours.

Let the Soul soar afar from the slave trodden way That degrades and destroys what is noble and true— Weigh the world in your hand, let the better but stay, And the ore that is false—sift it hurriedly thru. One of these must be yours.

Crown your brow with the hope that whatever is right In the scales shall outweigh what is unjust and wrong,— Be convinced that your own is the power and might That will conquer the odds, build a Life pure and strong. Then shall victory be yours.

INTER-CLASS.

Today is the opening of the class series. The Seniors and High School will be the first classes to meet. They will play the opening game on Dacotah field at 6:30 o'clock.

The Seniors have had the championship every year that a series has been played since they have been here. The High School team has been organized in full force and has been playing practice games. These condition will make the opening game a fast and hard fought game. Thursday afternoon the second game will be played at 3:30. The Juniors will play the Freshmen and some surprise are sure to be seen. The Juniors claim a championship team while the Freshmen are as yet untried.

Pupils of Miss Edyth Grasse are preparing a musical sketch to be given in The Little Country Theatre about May 22nd. The sketch is written by Miss Grasse and is called "The Contest", the scene being laid in the studio of the director of a large college of Music. During the earlier part of the act, Madam Vassel, the director, is examining the candidates for entrance to the college, and later tries out the voices for the principal part in her new opera. During this contest a mechanical doll, the invention of a poor but worthy man, is brought in and tries out for the position. It is through the jealousy of Miss Lancaster, one of the contestants, that the plot develops. The cast of characters and musical program will be given later.

THE WEEKLY NEWS IN RHYME

Winnie called at Ceres Hall, They say it was to visit. The senior says his is the only class, I don't know, is it? Will Shakespeare should be here this week, He'd surely be surprised. I doubt if even half his plays, He'd even recognize. Our baseball team is pretty good, We've got a good coach you know. The senior luncheon was a great success. That is they tell us so. Carl Lolland scratched the skin on his nose. He said he fell on the walk, Maybe yes, and maybe no. But we don't believe that talk.

Delivers Ultimatum

The Columbia University faculty has issued an edict that no co-ed may dance in a skirt that does not reach within ten inches from the ground; also that "something more than the grace of God and a rose" must secure her shoulder straps.

WHO AM I?

I am more powerful than the combined enemies of the world. I am more deadly than bullets, and have wrecked more homes than the mightiest of siege guns. I steal in the United States alone over $300,000,000 each year. I spare no one, and find my victims among the rich and poor alike; the young and the old; the strong and the weak; widows and orphans know me. I massacre thousands upon thousands of wage-earners in a year. I lurk in unseen places, and do most of my work silently. You are warned against me, but you heed not. I am relentless. I am everywhere; in the home, on the street, in the factory, at railroad crossings and on the sea. I bring sickness, degradation and death, and yet few seek to avoid me. I destroy, crush and maim; I give nothing, but take all. I am your worst enemy. I Am Carelessness.

DO YOU KNOW THAT

Light promotes cleanliness? A clean mouth is essential to good health? Physical training in childhood is the foundation of adult health? The U. S. Public Health Service issues publications on hygiene and sanitation for free distribution? Isolation is the most efficient means of controlling leprosy? Headache is Nature's warning that the human machine is running badly? Bullets may kill thousands—fleets of thousands? Obesity menaces longevity?

DO YOU KNOW THAT

Walking is the best exercise—and the cheapest? The United States Public Health Service administers typhoid vaccine gratis to federal employees? A little cough is frequently the warning signal of tuberculosis? Bad teeth and bad tonsils may be the cause of rheumatism? Unpasteurized milk frequently spreads disease? The air-tight dwelling leads but to the grave? Moderation in all things prolongs life? The careless spitter is a public danger?

Needed an Audience.

First Man (of large crowd interestedly watching street excavators at work)—"That laborer in the yellow shirt seems to thoroughly enjoy his job." Second Man (explaining)—"You see, he has been an actor, but never played to such a large and attentive audience as this."

Shaping an Ideal.

"The ideal is in myself; the impediment, too, is in myself. Thy condition is but stuff thou art to shape that same ideal out of. What matters it whether such stuff be of this sort or that, so the form thou give be heroic." —Carlyle.

Recipe for Longevity. A nonagenarian advises the reading of newspapers and keeping youthful company as a recipe for longevity. He believes in lengthening life by refusing to grow old. There is much sound philosophy in this theory of keeping young, for, even if it does not lead to the century mark, it makes every moment of life worth living.

Offers to Trace.

Four-year-old son was told to undress and go to bed without any toys, for he had been disobedient. His mother concluded, "It hurts me just as badly as it does you when I have to punish you." Son quickly replied: "All right, mamma, let's trade places." —Exchange.

One on Pa.

My wife asked me if a young man we know was still keeping company with a young lady we know also. I said: "I guess the only way he will ever get her to stick to him is to use flypaper." My little boy said: "Is that how you got mamma?" —Exchange.

Omnipotent.

Harold was playing with a little companion, James, under a tall hickory tree. Said James, boastfully: "I can climb that tree." "Huh, you can't, either," replied Harold. "Yes, I can climb to the top," insisted James. Then, flashed back Harold, scornfully: "Who do you think you are anyway? God?" —Exchange.

Due to war conditions, and the unconscious influence of unhuman and fiendish cruelty in Europe, Monmouth College has taken bitter means for curing the "cut" habit. A dollar for every class hour skipped is the atrocious penalty.

"THE RACE"

Mr. Plumley, patron of the Achroth sorority, entertained at cards Tuesday evening the members and pledges of the sorority, Miss Stoner, Mrs. Keye, and Mr. and Mrs. Rusk. At the close of the evening a delicious luncheon was served, the color scheme of which was skillfully and tastefully carried out in blue and white. Roses were used for decorations thruout the rooms.

Dick Bjornson, (for correct pronunciation see page III 1/2, Old Standard Dictionary), leader in the mustache race, by official measurement last Wednesday, set the record of two metrics in length.

RED INK.

Oh, Marjorie Leiberg, what have you done?
Why did you color your hair?
Did you do it just to have some fun.
Or to please some young youth fair?

It's getting late, it's ten o'clock.
Gee, I've put up an awful bluff;
Besides it's hard to think of rhymes.
So I'll sign myself—
—STUFF.

P. S.—I'll bet the typesetter doesn't like this any better than you do.

THE DUMMY'S WEEKLY CRUSH.
Dear Ruth, you eyes I simply adore.

But, gee, I can't make a hit with a girl.

Send your crushes to the Dummy.
Remember "Weak heart never won fair lady."—Or words to that effect.
"Chief," let us hear from you.

REFORMER POTTS
Said Ebenezer Jaboz Potts: "The world is full of sin. I'd like to move it from its groove. But where shall I begin? I'd feel I had not lived in vain. If when I pass away, I could but know the world below is better than today."

"I see so much of vice and wrong Along the paths I tread, So much of shame, so much to blame, So much to hate and dread; And, Oh, so feeble seems my voice, So weak the cries I raise It seems to me, I'll never see My neighbors change their ways."
I'd like to do my share to make A better world for all, To win all men to right again. But, Oh, my chance seems small. They never heed me when I plead, Except in scorn to jeer. And when I shout their follies out They do not stop to hear."

Now Ebenezer Jaboz Potts Lived in a dowdy shack. His yard was bare of posies fair; The alley at the back Was strewn with litter, day by day, And all who passed the place Were wont to say such disarray Was mindly termed disgrace.
Old Ebenezer Jaboz Potts Has many brothers here. What others do in scorn they view. And think themselves sincere. They sigh to change their neighbors' ways And tell of wrongs they've seen. Discovering not, they'd help a lot If they were only clean.

POTATO BUGS
Down in Georgia the potato bugs get so bad, that they eat up all the crop and sit on the fence, pick their teeth and wait for the next crop. They are so bad that they come right up into the kitchen, get up on the stove, and take the hot, boiling potatoes right out of the pot and eat them. They are so bad that down there they have to can all the potatoes, and the potato bugs go around with can openers, and that isn't all. You can see them in the seed stores looking over the books to see who raises potatoes. Still, when a farmer does manage to raise a couple of bushels and save them from the potato bugs, they are so large that he can paint them yellow and sell them for pumpkins.

AN EDITOR—DEFINED.
By an unsuccessful contributor: A malignant person, utterly devoid of literary discrimination or taste. A player of favorites. An unjust judge. By an "Interest" he opposes: A dog in the manger. A mule. A pinhead. A fathead. An ignoramus. A breeder of popular clamor. By a rival editor: An accident. A personification of conceit. By his wife: An absent-minded genius, who requires her public praise and private discipline. By a successful contributor: A keen but amiable man, who holds the key to the treasury. A friend in need. A good fairy. The hope of the future.—Life.

THE DUCK.
The Duck is a low heavy set bird—except when "settin'" on the water—composed mostly of meat and feathers. He is a mighty poor singer, having a mighty hoarse voice caused by gettin' so many frogs in his neck. He likes to go boatin' on the water and carries a toy balloon in his stomach to keep him from sinkin'. Sometimes, the Duck lays his eggs in the water. The Duck has only two legs and they are set so far back on his runnin'-gears by nature that she came near missin' his body. Some Ducks, when they get big, have curls on their tails and are called drakes. Drakes don't have to set or hatch, but just loaf, go swimmin', and eat. If I was a Duck, I'd rather be a drake every time.

Stanford Ties California.

For the first time in history a four-crew race was held on the Pacific coast. Last Saturday a regatta was staged in the Oakland Estuary with four teams from each Stanford and University of California. Stanford carried the first and second Varsity races.
