

Prexy Declines Offer of Board as President Emeritus

Action Culminated of Event During Last Three Years

No Settlement Reached as Yet

Other Charges Among Faculty will Probably Be Made In Near Future

After twenty-one years of faithful service as President of the North Dakota Agricultural College, President J. H. Worst has been "discharged" and has been given the office of President Emeritus. This was the action of the Board of Regents at their meeting at Bismarck last Saturday. Notice of this action was given out Monday when President Crawford and Mr. White of the Board conferred with Pres. Worst.

PRESIDENT'S STATEMENT.

When seen regarding the appointment, President Worst said: "If I had represented the Big Interests half as well as I have the Farmers of the State, I would not have been turned out."

The President states that he will decline to accept the new office but will stay until ousted and then he will know the reason why.

The farmers, who are the ones vitally interested in the change have never been consulted in this matter, says the President.

The new office is a high tribute to the President, but in discussing the appointment and his reasons for declining it, he said that it was only the effort on the part of the Board to dodge the real issue. The real disturbance began when the Board of Trustees separated the College and the Experiment Station, making President Worst responsible for the College and giving Mr. Cooper charge of the Station.

NO SUCCESSOR APPOINTED.

As yet, according to the Board, no successor to President Worst has been considered. It is hoped that when this subject does come up for consideration that the Board will look to some place far removed from the State for a successor to President Worst.

HAS SEEN COLLEGE THRU BEST GROWTH.

Since President Worst took up the work as President of the College it has grown from a college with one building to the place where it is today with its well equipped laboratories and class rooms. The graduating class have grown from one in 1896 to 33 in 1915 and about 45 for the present year. In all 249 have completed the several courses and have been given their degree. Some of these are considered among the most progressive and reliable citizens of the State at this time. Further than that, there are a large number of young men and women who have taken short course work in that time and they are doing their share to make the influence of the College felt wherever they may be. Probably it is not stretching it much when we say that several thousand who have pleasant recollections of days spent here under President Worst's administration and who will now regret that the action of the Board has been taken.

Ernest Gamble Company Here Monday

PLAY UNDER AUSPICES OF THE BAND.

On next Monday evening, February 28, the students and others interested in good music will have a rare treat. The Ernest Gamble Concert Party will appear in high class program under the auspices of the Cadet Band.

The company was formed in the belief that there was a demand for good music delightfully and artistically presented. The fact that the Ernest Gamble company has been before the American public for the past thirteen seasons testifies to their ability to "make good."

The party is made up of three members, Mr. Ernest Gamble, baritone, Miss Verna Leone Page, violinist, and Miss Aline Kuhn, pianist. Each is an artist in his or her line and will give the audience some of the best in the musical world. This is an opportunity which is not often presented and everyone who can possibly hear them should do so.

The concert is under the direction of the Band and manager Gram is working hard on the proposed trip. The proceeds of this concert will go toward defraying the expenses of the trip, and for this reason should receive the support of every student.

Tickets may be had from any of the members of the Band. Student tickets are thirty-five cents. Get yours now.

Remember the time and the place, Monday evening, February 28, at the Armory.

1917 Prom Passes As A Brilliant Affair

ENJOYABLE EVENING SPENT BY MANY COUPLES

The class of 1917, contrary to all established customs, held a most successful Junior Prom down in the Knights of Columbus hall having as patrons and patronesses, Dean and Mrs. Bolley and Dean and Mrs. Keene. There were about sixty-five couples upon the floor who were especially appreciative of the splendid music furnished by Baerstein's eight-piece orchestra.

The hall was effectively decorated with red and white streamers suspended from the dome and extending down to the side lights. The balcony was completely covered with the streamers of red and white and all of the lights were mellowed by a covering of red.

Refreshments, consisting of ice cream, cake, wafers and coffee were served from eleven until one. The red and white color combinations were distinctly pleasing and especially restful were the daintily arranged tables set for two.

Throughout the evening the spot light was in evidence and the blue shining thru the red and white streamers gave an especially pleasing and attractive effect.

The Prom was very successful from every point of view. The committees in charge deserve much credit for the way things were run. The decorations were in charge of Mary Gibbens and "Bill" Mendenhall, who were aided by other members of the class. Andrew Challey and Alfred Matters were responsible for the programs and invitations, while Worth Couey had charge of the music and the hall. "Ollie" Wild was the chairman of the executive committee and with Mary Gibbens spent many hours in planning the work.

Personal Column

Earl Yerrington have long desired the opportunity of confiding in you. Enclosed please find five dollars ($5) for which tell me: How can I become a missionary to Hindustan, or the South Sea Islands. Also, what is it that makes Bill Mendenhall so popular?

It was necessary for me to find Hindustan in my "joggerly" before answering your question. You must first acquire dignity. Do this by wearing a frock coat. A Charley Chaplin mustache and high silk hat, will make any one seeing you, perceive at once that you are from the South Sea Islands, or the other place.

As to the Hon. Billy, I think his popularity must be due to his "l-u-v-i-n-g ways."

Bertha G.: Am thinking of taking a course of study which will enable me to lecture on Woman's Suffrage—when shall I go? Ask McGuigan.

SOUTH DAKOTA CHAMPIONS DEFEATED BY AGGIES

The State College of South Dakota was defeated Saturday afternoon by the crack A. C. quint in a fast game by the score of 39 to 21.

The first half was fast and hard fought and ended 15 to 14 for the visitors. Evidently the Aggies were finding the weak spots, for the scoring machine was started in the final period and the visitors were soon left behind.

While Bob was escorting Mary home from the prom a savage dog attacked and bit him on the public square.

The Agassiz Staff request that every one who has not had their pictures taken as yet do so AT ONCE. If you have not returned your proofs to McCracken's do so at once. This applies to individuals and groups as well. DO IT NOW!!

PRESIDENT CRAWFORD ADDRESSES STUDENTS.

President Crawford of the Board of Regents spoke in chapel Monday morning on some of the phases of George Washington. The talk was especially interesting as it dealt with facts which are not commonly known concerning Washington's career as a soldier, politician and farmer. Mr. Crawford brought out very feebly the fact that Washington's great success in his many lives of work was due to his own initiative and determination to succeed. He then applied this truism to the student body and impressed them with the fact that if they are to succeed that success must come thru mastering little duties and then they would be made ruler of great undertakings.

Live Stock Business Shows Influence Of College

The list of Pure Bred Livestock breeders of the state which was recently compiled by Mr. Peters of the Station Staff and published by the North Dakota Livestock Association gives some interesting data. One of the points discovered is the fact that over nineteen percent of the breeders of pure bred stock of the state are or have been students at the Agricultural College or have had sons here.

This shows the influence of the College in promoting the use and the breeding of pure bred stock in North Dakota. After spending two, three or four years here, one naturally becomes dissatisfied with farming where "scrub" stock is all that there is around. Nearly any one receives much more pleasure from using good horses and milking high class dairy cows than in using mediocre stock, and it speaks well for the instruction the students here receive that when they go out for themselves and are put face to face with the problem of stocking their farms that they select pure bred stock instead of any thing they can get ahold of.

A study of the pamphlet further gives some idea of the relative popularity of the different breeds of cattle, horses, hogs, and sheep.

Judging from the numbers of farmers engaged in breeding the different breeds of cattle, Shorthorns are the most popular, followed by Aberdeen Angus and Holstein Friesians.

On the same basis of comparison, Percherons and Clydesdales are the most popular of the breeds of horses. There are more breeders of Duroc Jersey swine than of any other breed of livestock. The Poland China breeders are second in the state. All the important breeds of the mutton type of sheep are represented, with the shrop shires far in the lead.

On the whole the pure bred livestock business in the state is in the increase. There are now upwards of four hundred farms on which pure bred livestock is being raised. In addition to this, there is a large number of farmers who are grading up their herds and flocks.

SOME THINGS THAT WOULD MAKE A C. COMPLETE.

- One million dollars.
- An auditorium.
- Graduate of 1916.
- An interpreter of Doc Doll's Organic Chemistry lectures.
- A few more vacations.
- Muzzles for College orators.
- Open house at Ceres.
- More boosters.
- Less knockers.
- An abolishment of exams.

Aggies Beat U At Grand Forks

A. C. Further Cinch State Championship By Defeating University on The University Floor

Score 35 to 24

In the most exciting game ever staged on the University floor the Aggies completely overwhelmed the upstate quint to the tune of 36-24 score. At all times the game was fiercely contested and at no time was either team loafing. Throughout the first period of play the game was nip and tuck, neither team having the advantage seemingly. At the end of the first half the score was tied, 14-14.

Excitement ran riot and at several times the referee was forced to stop the game in order to restore order. The game was characterized by hard playing and much unavoidable roughness was in evidence.

Lowe started the scoring by the free score route. This was followed by Goodmans field basket. Two free throws made by Lowe made the score 5-0 in favor of the U before the Aggies could connect with the basket.

Bolsinger started the scoring for the Aggies by executing a pretty shot, preceded by good teamwork. Close guarding and much fouling were the principle features of the first half. The Aggies were not shooting in the form that they displayed in the F. C. game and missed many shots, while the U were unable to get any close shots due to the Aggie guarding.

The second half opened with a rush with the U annexing three points in the first three minutes of play.

The Aggies then got busy and began adding to their end of the score. It was at this stage of the game that the roughness was most marked. Boyce and McQuillan had a slight difference in opinion and proceeded to settle the difficulty by the manly method. Boyce sent what was intended to be a haymaker to Mac's bullwarks, Mac immediately reciprocated with a short arm to the nose which resulted in a double foul being called and both men were kicked out. The crowd surged on to the floor and it looked as if a free for all would be the ticket.

The floor was finally cleared and play was resumed with Catlin substituting for McQuillan and Shaft replacing Boyce.

The Aggies then got busy and began to take the lead which they maintained thru out the remainder of the game. Lowe, in the later part of the period landed a solar plexus blow on Bolsinger and was kicked out of the game. Bolsinger then, by a series of attacks received his fourth personal and left the floor. The remainder of the game was closely contested with the Aggies having much the better of the argument.

There were no particular stars in the game for the Aggies while Stevenson did stellar work for the U. The lineup was as follows:

N. D. A. C.	U. N. D.
McKee	Low, Ellison
Movold	Goodman, Scretting
Houser	Stevenson
Bolsinger, Catlin	Johnson
McQuillan, Kinneberg	Shaft

Free throws: Movold four out of eight. Stevenson, ten out of eleven.

Field baskets: Movold, five; Houser, five; McKee three, Bolsinger, two; University: Lowe, two; Stevenson, two; Goodman two Skretting one.

Final score N. D. A. C. 36, U. N. D. 24. Referee, Wandless, Umpire Clark.

AGGIE HIGH SCHOOL MAKE DOUBLE VICTORY AT THE FORKS.

Win over University High 17-18.—Heidner Wins Game by Shooting Basket at Last Possible Moment.

In a fast interesting game the local high won from the University high in a preliminary played at the Forks. The game was close at all times. Time limits the complete report of the game. The lineup for the Aggie high was as follows: Mares, guard; Lofthus, guard, 4 baskets; Heidner, center Five, three throws, 1 basket from field.

Sandquist forward, Mares B. forward, 1 basket. Swarts F. basket.

Pythia Holds Interesting Meeting. Friday evening, about twenty A. C. girls gathered in the Lecture Room at Ceres Hall, and proceeded to have a good time.

The Girl's Literary Society, "Pythia" had invited a number of outside girls to come and make candy. Needless to say the candy hardly lasted long enough to get it out of the pans. After spending an exciting evening with games, the Pythians served dainty refreshments to the girls, who were fortunate enough to be present.

EDITORIAL

TO YOU!

The affairs of the college have been brought to a head—and rather suddenly. In other parts of this paper the why and wherefore have been discussed. Then, it simmers down to this: Where do YOU stand?

If the Board carries out its policy it means that Prexy will be eventually disgraced. Will YOU see this done?

He has stood by us for over twenty years. He has advanced means by which we could obtain the things with while in the institution.

Now, we, the students stand a good chance of having all these things that ARE worth while taken away from us. The Spectrum, Agassiz, Little Country Theatre, Package Library, Bolley and Ladd are only a few of them. Others are being considered. What do you say to that?

If your friends prohibited you from sending the newspaper, from going to the movies, from dancing, from reading text books, from receiving help from other people. What would you do? The present crisis amounts to the same thing.

Then let the students demand: That if a clean up is to be made let those professors who couldn't teach Sunday school go with those who are not in accord with the present powers, that if a new president is to be appointed let him be a man from outside the state—way outside. Let us also demand that he be an educator and that he be interested in agriculture. Let us demand that the "Little Country Theatre", The Agassiz and The Spectrum—but especially the theatre be retained in the institution. That the men who have done so much for purity and the farmers in the state be retained. That reorganizations under the law be complied with and that the President be given a chance to resign from office unimpaired and unshorn of its dignities, so that in years to come he may return to the College he has served so long with a feeling that he will be welcomed by the faculty and students and not disgraced as is now being done. How do you feel on the subject? Use the "Dope Box".

TO FARGO.

In population Fargo has passed the 20,000 mark. To insure its future growth and prosperity Fargo should encourage every legitimate industry and institution that contributes to her well being.

The greatest single asset to Fargo is the Agricultural College. All told it contributes considerably above half a million dollars a year to the business of the city.

Students attending the Agricultural College carry with them back to their homes favorable or unfavorable impressions of Fargo. These students will, in the near future, constitute a respectable percentage of the most intelligent and progressive citizens of the state. Fargo needs their confidence and good will.

But the College is in a "muddle", and somebody is responsible for this condition of affairs. The citizens of Fargo have taken no steps to learn the cause of this "muddle."

One glance at the administrative policy adopted by the old Board of Trustees for the government of the College should satisfy any one that the only wonder is that things are not worse. Who did this? It was inspired by Minneapolis capitalists. It was engineering by Fargo business men. It was not an organization demanded by farmers. No, farmers were never consulted. But obedient to certain powerful Minneapolis capitalists and a number of North Dakota bankers, this monstrosity was fastened upon the college for the purpose of eventually ridding the institution of the men that stand for the farmer's interests, and eventually, by capturing the faculty, make the college subservient to the money power which so long has controlled the politics of the state.

The "Looting of Alaska" has nothing on the intended looting of the Agricultural College. The promoters of the infamous scheme to transform the farmers' college into an agency to facilitate the schemes of mortgage mongers, real estate dealers and other parasites on the chief industry of the state, should bring to their cheeks a blush of shame were they capable of manifesting an exhibition of that kind. Judas was only a milder skater.

There is sufficient evidence that the Better Farming Association when organized was conceived in iniquity and born of selfish arrogance. Its transitions without fumigation, from its original board of bankers to the tender care of the college Board of Trustees was, however, but for the purpose of striking a quicker and deadlier blow at certain objectionable college men—objectionable because they stand for the people rather than for the representatives of special interests.

That Board of Trustees, with about two exceptions, made history they may well wish to see forgotten.

The plan seems to be to rid the institution of President Worst and Professor Bolley and such other members of the faculty as may be objectionable to the better farming propaganda. This in the interest of harmony. Professor Ladd is not to be IMMEDIATELY molested.

What have the farmers of the state to say as to this program? The present Board of Regents seems to be in harmony with this infamous intrigue, and will gradually complete the despicable scheme incubated by the Board of 1914 as dictated by the representatives of big business!

President Worst's election to an Emeritus position is the first step in this direction.

THE OUTLOOK.

Some twenty odd years ago, there came to the Agricultural College a man who had been elected to the position as President of the institution.

At that time the College consisted of only one building on the present campus. From that time the College has expanded and grown until it now occupies a campus composed of many years, with many beautiful buildings, and with a large faculty and student body.

For twenty years this man has presided over the affairs of the College, has watched it grow and expand. He has seen the erection of many new buildings, he has seen buildings burned, and he has seen new departments, intended to further the work of the College among the people of the State, created under him.

Until a year ago last spring, everything was fairly peaceful at the institution. Then the Board of Trustees thought it best to take the power from one man and to divide it up, as it were, among three. It accomplished the same result as though three pieces of meat of unequal size were given three hungry dogs, the dog receiving the smallest piece attempting to take away the share of the other dogs. And that is exactly what has happened.

No sooner had the division of power been made than war raged unquieted in the college ranks. Prominent experimenters and members of the faculty received notice that their salaries had been lowered and that much needed help was to be taken from them, leaving experiments unfinished. Men of high ability were transferred from one department to another. The State and Federal governments have granted about as large appropriations as in years gone by. Yet, where has the money gone?

Last Spring the Board of Trustees again met and decided that the man who had been President for twenty years and who had guided the College thru its years of infancy should no longer be President of that institution. A member of the faculty who could do more for the people in his own department than as President of the College was offered the position but refused to accept until President Worst, who was at the time out of the city, could be given a hearing. Before he could return, however, the Board split on its views and broke up, leaving President Worst still in office. Another Board was appointed to fill out the unexpired term of those who quit, but before anything could be worked out, the havoc caused by the trouble was complete. This was most noticeable in the registration of the Fall Term, which was considerably below the average.

The action of the old Board of Trustees was responsible, in a measure, for the appointment of the Board of Regents, with Crawford, a banker at its head, to supervise the affairs of all the educational institutions of the State. Although this action promised to remedy in a fair way the trouble, such was not the case. Instead of untying the hands of the individuals who were in that predicament, they proceeded to tie their feet as well.

They then again proceeded to instigate causes for the removal of the President and men absolutely without qualifications noval of the President. This action was followed by the President's ultimatum of a few days ago.

The President demanded that the following measures be carried out: That the Board re-establish the power of the institution under one head as of old; that the law in regards to these facts be complied with; and that he be given full power to act as he saw fit in so far as his power permitted him. The Board overlooked his request and instead, offered him the position of President Emeritus of the institution, which position he refused. This means that he will not be with us after this year.

Are we to stand idly by and see this state of affairs continue? Are we to see the moneyed political interests—not entirely of the State—rule the institutions with the iron hand of graft and rot? Are the farmers going to stand by and see the mouth piece and fountain head of their knowledge destroyed? Now through outside agencies, the people of the State are not receiving their reward. The cream from off the pan has been taken by people outside the state—and it was some fat cream too. If this propaganda is carried out it is exactly what it amounts to The farming class of this state will be virtually reduced to a state of peasantry—they will have no voice in the government, no action in regards to their institution and they will be deprived of what little freedom and pleasure that they now possess.

The "Better Farming" organization is really a 'Better grafting' organization and it is now practically systematized in regards to the later function.

The Board of Regents is probably capable of handling the institutional affairs of the state but some of the members there on have had a fresh cork passed before their nasal extremity and have insisted to do or die—and they have done, and where are the farmers?

Are they going to stand idly around the barn and see Bolley and Ladd, two of their best friends politely asked to resign? This is exactly what will be done.

If the present Board of Regents continues to run the affairs, some change in the system should be inaugurated. A separate board should be appointed from amongst the farmers of the state to govern their institution. Looking ahead, five and one half years seems a long time, especially when we look back over the past six months. The producers, not the politicians and their tools, should run the affairs of the college. Until the rot-gut of political graft, and corruption are cleaned from the college affairs there will never be a college here and the people of the state should make it a business to demand that the atmosphere be cleared. The fact is to be deplored, that North Dakota, one of the promising agricultural States in the Union should have its position questioned and its surface ??? debauched by the affairs that have been going on at its agricultural college.

ATHLETICS

HAMLIN vs. A. C.
SATURDAY, FEB 26th

The basket ball quint of Hamline will play at the Armory Saturday evening, February 26. Hamlin has one of the best teams in Minnesota and has only been beaten once, by Carlton, in a close game of 20 to 18.

The Agricultural College team is one of the best in the Northwest and a great battle is expected. Every person should be there as your cheering is always a help. Keep the college spirit up. Come and help the team. Their glory is your glory.

N. D. A. C. AT F. C. FEBRUARY — LET'S GO

Tuesday evening, February 29th the Aggies play their return game with Fargo College at F. C. Fargo College put up a stiff fight at the Armory and have since improved. This game will be one of the stiffest left to play. Let's turn out and show the team that we are with them.

INTER-CLASS GAME

The class games are proving the fastest and hardest fought games ever staged at the A. C.

Professor Darner is doing exceedingly well at refereeing and the game are now being played the cleanest possible.

So far, "Preps" have not been beaten, the Sophs have lost one, and the Freshmen two. From all appearances, the finals will be played between the High School quint and the Sophomores. The remaining games are few and then the finals.

YOUNG LADIES—NOTICE

Coach Paul Davis gives you the privilege of using his office whenever you wish. The office has been remodeled and refurbished. There is a rest room and bathing room for women which contains the latest fixtures in shower baths, looking glasses, and in fact all necessities except powder. Coach says you must furnish that yourself.

This is a special privilege given to the gentler sex, by Coach Davis.

COLLEGE SPIRIT

A man with the right spirit enters into athletics—not for personal glory, a sweater, or to take a trip, but for the glory of his Alma Mater. The stronger the second team, the stronger the first team, and the more men out the stronger will be both teams.

Before the extensive tour was taken by the basket ball team twenty-five men were out and every one was happy but now that the trip is over, hardly enough men appear for a scrimmage. The coach was forced to pull some men from the class teams in order to have ten men on the squad. This does not show very good spirit for any college. It not only discourages the coach but also the team as a whole. Let's keep the spirit up and stand by the coach and the team.

GIRL'S BASKETBALL

The boys are not the only ones to receive athletic honors, for the girls have organized a basket ball team and are playing games also, but no reporters allowed.

MOORHEAD NORMAL GIRLS TAKE FIRST GAME FROM N. D. A. C. GIRLS

On Wednesday afternoon the Normal girls invaded North Dakota and took a hard fought game from the college girls by a score of 21 to 19. The game was a thriller from beginning to end.

The Moorhead second team also defeated the Aggie second team by a score of 8 to 5.

Miss Grace Spucpin of Fargo College refereed. A feed was given after the game.

Intercollegiate

Miami:
The madrigal, a 16th century carol, has been included in the repertoire of the Madrigal club, a musical organization among the girls at Miami. The two songs to be given are compositions by Thomas Morley.

Amherst:
A new honor system constitution has been deemed necessary at Amherst to meet the needs of the college. It is thought that an extension of the rules would make student government more efficient.

Knox College:
The Woman's Athletic Board of Control at Knox, has decided that "K's" should be granted to all girls who are selected for the final tournament in basketball.

Ripon College:
Ripon is to have her first representative at Oxford University by the appointment of Mr. Johns to a Rhodes scholarship.

Milton College:
A short course in agriculture for the farmers of the community is to be held in the college auditorium at Milton under the emangement of the Department of Agriculture of the University of Wisconsin.

Wabash:
Wabash has completed her football schedule consisting of nine games, four of which are to be played on the home field.

University of North Dakota:
An annual prize of $25 has been established at the University of North Dakota for the student who maintains the highest average in the two years of medical work offered there.

Iowa State College:
A "Dishonor Roll" for professors who keep their classes five minutes or more overtime, has been inaugurated in the columns of the college paper. Members of the class detained may hand in the name of the offender.

University of Redlands:
A triangular debate is being arranged between the women of the University of Redlands, Occidental College and Pomona College.

Grinnell:
A recitation hall is being erected at Grinnell at a cost of $150,000. Plans have been made for four quadrangles—fine arts, college, men's, and women's buildings.

Iowa State College:
A new four-year course in landscape gardening is to be inaugurated at Iowa State College next year.

Oregon Agricultural College and the University of California are tied for the basketball championship of the Pacific coast conference. The championship will be decided by the next game, which is to be played at the University of California. The Oregon Aggies broke even in their series with Pullman.

An extra five minute period of play was needed for Carleton to win over Hamlin last Friday evening in one of the most exciting basketball games of the present season. At the end of the regular playing period the score was a tie, 18 to 18, and it

MORE STUFF

No matter if 'tis work or play What e'er you do, or what you say, There comes that same old loud rebuff, Bull! Where d'ye get the stuff.

In the gym, if some one takes a spill Or performs a feat requiring skill Some Angel Face who thinks he's tuff Pipes, Bull! Where d'ye get that stuff.

Now and then as time doth pass Some flippant youth gets canned from class While leaving matters in a huff Bull! Where d'ye get that stuff.

Of this I think there's quite enuff. I hope some'll heed this line of guff But a few will surely call my bluff With, Bull! Where d'ye get that stuff.

Graceful yet soulful, and playing with smoothness and ease, Miss Page was a delight to listen to, and her rendition of some of the standard selections of violin literature will not soon be forgotten—New Castle (Pa.) News.
