OUR FAMILY REUNION. FRIDAY EVENING AT CERES.

We want you there. In fact we have got to have you and your best friend both at this gathering in order that we may all be there.

This is to be the one big time of the year when the college family is going to get-together. Don't be afraid to pass your plate twice because Dad will be at the other end of the table.

Then too, don't forget that in a few weeks you will be miles away from all of your friends whom you have associated with for the past school year.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY JUNE 5th

Special Scenery to be Furnished by The Grand Theatre for the Occasion

Many Members of Cast Experienced Actors---Will be Given in the College Armory

The 1915 Senior Class play is to be, without doubt, the most original class play ever presented at the College. The play, Bridging the Chasm, as it is to be presented on the evening of June 5th, with the product entirely of the Senior class.

Telling the story, as it does, of student life and student interest at an Agricultural College, the play brings out in a clear and pleasing way, the fact that Agriculture is coming into its own and that students from the Agricultural Colleges are going out into the world, with the correct ideas concerning life and service. It tells of the struggle for many years between the city and country communities and how all this is changing and a spirit of co-operation is springing up in its place.

Ezra Sampson, the leading character of the play, is a country boy who has made a success of his college work and has won the hearts of most of the students and the members of the faculty.

Miss Margaret Keene, who carries the part of Viola, is well known at the College and has taken part in several plays while here, probably being remembered best as the leading character in "Miss Bob White" presented this past winter.

Miss Gunhill Gilbertson, as Anna Priestly, a chum of Viola, is at home before an audience, having taken honors while here in literary work of various kinds and having won the Declamation Contest.

The part of Edmund Francis Van Blaricum, the city boy, is one of the heaviest parts of the play and is ably taken by Victor Lohn.

Reginald Colley, President of the Edwin Booth Dramatic Club, and a senior who has had more dramatic training perhaps, than any other member of the cast, takes the part of Pres. West.

As the kindly, somewhat aged, professor Larkin, George Stewart is a decided success, carrying his part in a most pleasing manner. Carl Paine takes the part of Prof. Goldwin, who brings a serious charge against Sampson.

The Misses Ruth Brown and Lena Honett play the parts of two coeds who have more or less to do with the unraveling of the plot and help find the culprits.

The scenes of the play are placed on the campus of an Agricultural College. The first act is out under the trees and the second act in the Hallway, opening onto the Presidents office.

in a small room adjoining the Ball Room where the Senior Swing out is held during the time that the act is in progress.

The members of the faculty have granted the seniors the last week of school free from their class work so that they will have this time to devote to their class play and class day exercises.

RUTH BROWN,

Belle Lowell, co-ed who helps Belle discover the real culprits.

OSCAR WICOX,

James Benson Jr., in love with Anna. A great friend of Sampsons, is going from College to farm.

W. F. COCKBURN,

LENA HONETT,

STUDENT SELF-GOVERNMENT—WHAT IS IT?

From The Brown and White of April 19, 1912.

What is Student Self-Government? It is the committing to the student body the carrying into effect of those general ethical principles or rules under which the modern institution of higher learning should be administered.

No one today would seriously argue that the average student entering college to take a professional course is fit to lay out that course for himself. He goes to college to take a course laid out for him by men whose experience and learning fit them for this duty. Under the Honor System the student himself sees to it that his fellow-students and himself honestly pursue the studies so laid out.

In entering college he further tacitly, or sometimes formally in writing, agrees to abide by and observe the accepted principles of morality, sobriety and general good conduct that modern social usage exacts from all good citizens, and that modern industrial business life now exacts as an essential requisite in an employee; a reputation for which is among the most valuable recommendations that an applicant for a position can offer, whether he comes from college, or from the shops. But student self-government does not mean that the student is thereby empowered to ignore, or to lay on the table, the universally accepted standards in matters of confidence, sobriety, honesty, honor, and gentleness, or to enact rules of conduct, or to observe practices at variance with those principles. Student self-government means that the student-body of themselves assert the right as men, to rise from the grade of the school-room to that of the College or University, and to govern themselves in accordance with such principles, rather than to be subjected to oversight and discipline as children and unruly school-boys.

The school year now about to close has been exceptionally rich in opportunities for the observant to study human nature and those divergent characteristics in the making which result in a big and useful or a small and crabbed life. We have seen the student who thruout the year has stood loyally by the institution feeling that little difficulties could be adjusted amicably. Instead of helping the movement to make "mountains out of mole hills" he has assisted in removing the hills and unearthing the moles. We have also observed the occasional student whose liver commenced secreting an over abundance of bile the instant people "with convictions" pointed the editorial finger accusingly at the institution.

What is the difference between these two types of students. The first is developing characteristics which are constructive. He is the kind of a man that is found at the head of important enterprises everywhere. The other type is nursing the lurking Mr. Hyde characteristics of his nature. His community influence will be destructive rather than constructive and he is fast conforming to the type that congregates in the corner grocery at Bingville, spits on the stone and damns the government.

Friday evening of this week the first type of students have arranged for a big A. C. family "get-together" banquet. Their characteristics are crystallizing into constructive action with a bigger and better A. C. as the aim. If you don't feel yourself just bubbling over with enthusiasm and constructive spirit—"Come and get it." This "get-together" will be good spring tonic for your liver and it will help you resolve to have Mr. Hyde die young.

All together now! Boost!

A. C. GRADUATE HONORED.

L. A. Welo of the class of 1911, receives recognition for high standard work.

L. A. Welo, who graduated in 1911 from Mechanical Engineering in the North Dakota Agricultural College is pursuing work in the Physics Research laboratory at the University of Illinois. That Mr. Welo has kept up his reputation as a student is evident from the fact that he is at present holding a position as research assistant in astronomy and will retain the same position next year. He has been further honored by being the only representative of his department to be selected this year to the Sigma Xi fraternity. This is a much coveted honor that is received only by a carefully chosen few. Membership to the Sigma Xi cannot be solicited. It is a recognition of merit that comes as a reward to true worth. Candidates to this fraternity are nominated by reason of scholarship and chosen for membership because of special attainment.

PHI KAPPA PHI INITIATES.

The members of the senior class at the Agricultural College who were elected to the Phi Kappa Phi fraternity were initiated into that organization Thursday afternoon. The Phi Kappa Phi is an honorary fraternity to which the members of the senior class who have high scholastic records are elected.

After the initiatory ceremony a regular meeting was held at which the officers for the coming year were elected as follows: Professor E. F. Ladd, president; Miss Hadley, vice president; Professor Waldron, secretary and treasurer.

Those initiated into the organization were the Misses Ruth Brown and Mable Leet and the Messrs. Charles Carlson, Homer Dixon, Roy Drummond, Halle McCollough, Geo. Stewart, Ted Stoa, Waldemar Richter, Oscar Wilcox and Henrik Staffseth. Miss Nevada Evans, an instructor in the botany department at the college was also initiated.

Pidge Hamilton is progressing remarkably well for one who has undergone an operation for appendicitis. Of late days he has been seen around the campus with a cane in one hand and ----- in the other! Any way we are glad to see his bright and smiling countenance around again.

Very little harm has been done around the station as a result of the severe frosts of last week. At first it was that that all of the fruit trees would be bare of fruit this fall as a result of the visit of Jack.

Alumni

We have from time to time heard comments on the splendid work which Mrs. Louise Campbell of the class of 1911 is doing. Mrs. Campbell is at this time Prof. of Home Economics at the Iowa State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, Ames Iowa. Besides she is the principle worker in the field extension work.

It will be remembered by those who knew her in college that she was a student who applied herself industriously to her studies and that she could accomplish more in less time than ordinary people. She did things by the natural and easy manner of going at them. She came here with good preparation, became skilled in the art of cookery and household science in general. She was considered a good lecturer as she was a fluent speaker, therefore she was employed even during her years as a student here at A. C. as a lecturer and demonstrator in Domestic Science at Farmers Institutes and county fairs. She was a strong booster for household mechanics and had quite an influence in the establishment of the course we have in this subject here at this time. Her personality made her well suited for her work.

When she first went to Ames she went on probation against strong competition but her thorough preparation and consistent manner of working won out for her and since that time the officials of the institution have either raised her salary or granted some other means of compensation in order to persuade her to continue her work with them for they realize her work as a leader. At the present time she is receiving some thing in the neighborhood of $200 for her services.

Mrs. Campbell is a loyal entertainer. A insistent worker, and one of the most competent graduates the A. C. has ever turned out.

Miss Addie Stafford '12 recently accepted a position as instructor in the Agricultural Highschool at Velva, N. Dak. This is somewhat of our surprise for we were of the impression that Addie had other inclinations. The week she taught for Miss Leebly during the winter must have given her the fever. As there are only five of these Agricultural high schools in the state there is some little honor connected with the position and we are certain that Miss Stafford's many friends and acquaintances of A. C. are pleased to have her receive this honor.

Miss Edna Bowers, who has been teaching Home Economics in the highschool at Barnesville, Minn. for the past year has recently been rehired for the coming year at an increase of salary. Like Dean Mendenhall of whom we spoke of some time ago she has been handicapped in her work this year on account of the new building which is just being completed. It seems that Miss Bowers has made good in spite of handicaps and we are surly glad to know that she has and wish her added success in the future. Miss Bowers as some may know succeeds Miss Jennie Simmons who is now at Madison, Wis. Besides her regular work in home economics Miss Bowers has three classes in other subjects as history etc. Her class in Domestic science has at different times served dinners to the school board and other members of the institution.

HONOR SYSTEM FOR A. C.

Honor System is Another Step to the Front and Should be In Use at The N. D. A. C.

During the past year there has been considerable agitation in regard to the formulation and adoption of the Agricultural College of an Honor System Resolution.

The honor system is being used and giving the best of satisfaction at other institutions and as it goes hand in hand with Student self government, should be adopted at the A. C.

The following is the Honor System as adopted May 1904 by Lehigh University.

RESOLUTION.

We, the students of Lehigh University, do hereby pledge ourselves on our honor—to abstain from all fraud in University written recitations, quizzes and examinations, and to take proper measures to prevent any infringement of this resolution, according to the following rules:

I. All students of Lehigh University shall constitute a committee for the faithful fulfillment of the above resolution.

II. The society known as the Arcadia shall be the virtual head and governing body of aforementioned committee.

III. It shall be the duty of every student to report to the Arcadia in person any infringement of the above resolution. If, however, a man is seen cheating by any member of the aforementioned committee, the man seeing the offense may have the privilege of telling the offender to leave college. In case he refuses to do this he shall be reported.

IV. Upon the receipt of such a report, the Secretary of the Arcadia, in the presence of the Society, shall draw from a box containing the names of the members of the two upper classes, the names of fifteen men Twelve of these men shall be selected by the accused to form a jury for trial. The jury thus selected shall be called to order by the aforesaid Secretary for organization, after which it shall proceed to the trial.

V. If the accused is convicted, he shall be notified to leave college within two days. Failing to comply in this, his name shall be handed to the Faculty for their action.

Upon registration each student shall be required to sign a statement to the effect that he has read and will abide by the honor system.

The honor system has worked excellently in the past and has exerted a powerful influence for good. Depending, as it does, entirely on the moral courage of the students in reporting cheaters to the Arcadia, it is the imperative duty of each student to see that its provisions are comparatively carried out.

THE HONOR SYSTEM.

The following resolutions regarding the Honor System at Lehigh were adopted by the Student Body at a meeting in January.

1. During an examination any man may leave the room at his own discretion.

2. Every man shall write the following pledge and sign his name at the end of every quiz and examination paper. "I have neither given nor received aid in this exercise."

3. All cases of violation of the Honor System are to be brought up before the Arcadia whether the same be found by students or members of the instructing corps. It shall be the duty of the Arcadia to try the accused and submit its findings of facts to the Faculty. The Faculty shall determine the sentence, if any, and notify the accused and his or their parents or guardians accordingly.

4. All new men entering college at the first of each term shall have the Honor System explained to them by the President of the University, or his representative, and some member of the Arcadia.

The Honor System has worked excellently in the past and has exerted a powerful influence for good. Depending as it does entirely on the moral courage of the students in reporting cheaters to the Arcadia, it is the imperative duty of each student to see that its provisions are completely carried out.

Aggies Humble University

Upstaters Unable to Connect with Otis' Twistes Final Score 7 to 2

Last Saturday morning the Aggie base ball team made another step toward the state championship when they showed the University bunch up and beat them to the tune of 7 to 2. The game was rather a one sided affair and Coach Andy Gill's men didn't have a chance from the start. Otis pitched good ball through out the game and let the U bunch have only two hits. The A. C. bunch made one error while the U. made two Moore worked for the University and was hit hard, he did not have much support. He allowed 11 hits and among these were two triples, one by Whiting and the other by Crawford.

The A. C. were the first to score and it came in the third when Homme who was first up fied out to Moore, Catlin singled and stole second and went to third on Marmon's error. Sam Crawford came cp and single and brought in Catlin. Nothing happened then until the fifth when Catlin opened up with a single, stealing bases he scored again. Crawford got on and Whiting followed him around the bases for more scores.

It was during the last half of this inning that the University got their only tallies. Holt came to bat and Otis walked him for good luck, Lavin singled and Catlin mugged, leaving Holt on second and Lavin on first. Vorachek here made a double bringing in Holt and Lavin. The next three men up for the U went down and that ended the scoring for their side.

In the seventh Crawford walked and stole second, Whiting then came to bat and scored a two bagger, bringing in Sam. We scored again in the ninth when Crawford scored a triple and Whiting duplicated the trick bringing in Sam. Hein then sacrificed to McKay and brought in Whiting which ended the scoring for us.

The University went to pieces when the Aggies found Moore's twistes and threw the ball wild. This same stunt being noticeable in the U. P. C. game when F. C. men got on bases. Captain Whiting and Crawford done the heavy hitting for the Aggies, although Catlin, Hein, Wolsted and Steinhaus all got safe hits.

This game places the A. C. on the last lap for the state championship and gives us a higher average right now than any other team in the state. The game today will give us a better light on everything and if we win will make us the undisputed champions.

Normal Slips Over Another.

Last Tuesday afternoon the Aggies journeyed across the Red River for their second game with the Normal school. Coach Slingsby evidently put some inside base ball into the heads of his warriors during the past few weeks for they played a very good clean game. Carlander was going even better than before when the Aggies met them and he pitched air tight ball, letting the A. C. have only four hits.

Gullickson started the game for the A. C. and did very fine work while he was in the game and could have pitched the whole game. He was pitching good ball and it didn't seem right to take him out at that stage of the game. Otis went in at the beginning of the seventh and pitched the seventh and eight innings in good style but in the ninth the Normalites cleaned up 5 hits. At this stage of the game the Aggies pulled off some bone-headed plays and did not work as they are capable of doing.

The game went for three innings without either side scoring and then the Normal bunch run one in. The Aggies seem to take life at the beginning of the ninth and tried hard to overcome the one point. Their efforts were rewarded as Hein crossed the plate for out first and last point. The game looked as if it were going for a few more innings but the Normal bunch got their heads together and in the last of the ninth pounded the apple all around the diamond, and when the dust had cleared away the score stood 4 to 1 against the A. C.

The game was really Carlander's as he did good work with the bat and held the Aggies down in the scoring line. If it hadn't been for him the score might have been different, as the Normal bunch has not much out side of their pitcher. As this game does not effect the State Championship there isn't much lost although the defeat at the hands of

Track Team To Conference Meet

On Thursday night the track team leaves for Grand Forks where the Northwestern Conference meet will be held this year. The meet this year will be the biggest that has been held for a long time and no doubt many new records will be established. The meet will be fast without a doubt and to take a place in this meet is quite an honor to attain in athletics. The men who will make the trip are not known just yet but the team will probably be picked from the following men: McKee, Porter, Bolsinger, Whiting, Olwin, Bird and Jensen. Preliminaries will be run off Friday morning and afternoon and the finals will come Saturday afternoon. It will be necessary for the team to go up Thursday night in order to get a good sleep and rest. McKee is entered in the half and mile run; Porter in the quarter and half mile; Bolsinger in the pole vault and sprints; Whiting in the javelin; Jensen in the high jump; Bird in the quarter and Olwin in the half mile. The fellows entered all have made good records in their events which equal some of the records made in different meets in Minnesota and South Dakota and they should that day.

The "Champlonship Today

This afternoon if the weather is O. K. the Aggies will meet the Fargo College team at the Stadium in the biggest game of the year. The result will give the people an idea on the winner of the state title. The Aggies have won two games from the Science school, one from the U. N. D. and one from Fargo College. The Fargo College bunch has won one game from the U. N. D. lost one to the Aggies and won one from the Science school. U. N. D. has one won and lost one to the Science school, lost to the Aggies and also F. C. this puts them clearly out of the race, also the Science school. According to percentage the Aggies total above Fargo College and hold the state title at present but if they win this game they will be the undisputed champions. Otis will undoubtedly work on the mound for the A. C. while Twilight will twist them for F. C. It no doubt will be a pitcher's battle as both sides should play errorless ball. Last year Twilight was pounded hard by the Aggies but reports are that he is working better with a year's experience. Every loyal student in school should be there at four o'clock sharp and bring your megaphone and wind with you. The team need your help to win this game and the State championship.

Cinders

The weather has been very bad this week for the fellows to get out of doors on the track and as a result they are in pretty poor shape to go into a track meet Friday and Saturday. This is the big Northwest Conference meet and includes all the colleges of North and South Dakota and Minnesota.

Porter is working hard to get in shape for the half and quarter mile runs. He came near winning the quarter from the U in the dual meet and is going to make another bid in the meet Friday and Saturday. He is working our regular every night and will be in good shape by Friday.

Bolsinger is working out nightly on the pole vault. He has been handicapped this spring in that a vaulting pole which was ordered last winter did not arrive until a day before the class meet and hence he could not do any vaulting. However at the U. N. D.—A. C. dual meet he cleared the bar at 10 feet 4 inches and will make a strong bid for a place in the meet Saturday.

Whiting has been hurling the javelin and made a mark of 145 feet and 8 inches this spring. He took second place against the U but should have done better as he only heaved the stick 137 feet. 145 feet is the Conference record and if he is hurling the stick that day he ought to take a place.

Bruce McKee is running the mile and expects to do things up right in that event Saturday. He made the mile in 5 minutes and four seconds last week and can clip it off faster if it is necessary.

Jenson is clearing the bar at 5 feet six inches regularly and if the day is warm and Divey is feeling good he says he can add three inches on that. If he does he will break the state and conference record.

Owing to a heavy schedule of studies Mikelson has found it necessary to quit track work for the rest of the year. Mike is the best weight man the A. C. has ever had and succeeded in establishing a few state records in his days and his loss will be keenly felt.

Steals and Hits.

Well! we wonder what old Andy Gill, Coach of the University base ball team, thinks now. He was heard to remark last winter after the first basketball game that "the A. C. had won her last athletic contest from the State University." He had such a scare after the second game which they won by a hair's breath (25-24), it was thought he would start to withdraw his statements. But they all said at the U that base ball was his long suit, and when our team returned yesterday we found that we had won one more athletic contest. If we are not mistaken we still win a few more before he gets out of there.

Sam Crawford and Captain Whiting sure did pound the pill hard Saturday. Sam getting a triple and a single, while Capt. got a triple a double, and a single. Keep it up boys they will all count in the next few games.

Ottis is certainly pitching some good ball these days. The last few games that he has pitched the whole game he has given out from 2 to 5 hits a game. In all probability he will be slated against the F. C. today in their last game with us. Heres hoping he gets away as in the past.

We have three more games left on the schedule and they all will be real gams. They are F. C. today, St. Thomas next Thursday and U. N. D. on Monday. Let everyone attend and with their help the team can win them all.

The game at the University was played in the morning on account of the state High school track and field meet which was run off in the afternoon. There was a good crowd, as reported by the fellows, in fact the largest crowd that has witnessed the A. C.—U. N. D game, for some time.

Keystone Charley Laid Low!

Those who attended the Princess or Isis last week witnessed one of the school year. Charles Chaplin, while playing before packed houses was thrown on the screen with such grape nuts that he hit his head on a beam of light on the way down and was knocked out!

Aw! Say guy, noboddy 'ome but th' chavin' gum an' thatz only got a wrapper on and cant see now one.

The campus seems to be most enticing at the present time. Too had that exams are only a week og.

CARUSO
World-famous Tenor, says:
"Tuxedo completely satisfies my tobacco taste. It is mild and has delicious flavor. Most important of all from a singer's standpoint, Tuxedo does not irritate my throat."

"Tuxedo Does Not Irritate My Throat"
The non-irritating quality of Tuxedo which Caruso praises is due to the original "Tuxedo Process" by which the tobacco is treated. This process refines the tobacco and absolutely removes all bite and sting.

Many thousands of men think they cannot smoke a pipe, for fear the tobacco might burn or parch their mouths. Tuxedo has done away with any such possibility. You can smoke Tuxedo all day long, without any irritation whatsoever—indeed with increasing pleasure.

Tuxedo
The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

is made from rich, mild, fragrant Kentucky Burley—acknowledged to be the finest pipe-tobacco in the world—aged until it is pipe-perfect and smokes coolly and slowly.

You cut off an inch of inspiration and real joy every hour you stay away from Tuxedo. Because it's so good, so true, so delicious, so fragrant, its memory lingers every time your smoke-appetite gets tuned up.

Government Inspection Big Success

Major Andrew Moses, General Staff U. S. Army Inspects N. D. A. C. Cadets

Everyone Greatly Pleased at Showing made by The Battalion

The inspection last Wednesday May 19 was undoubtedly one of the best ever given at the school, and also was witnessed by perhaps the largest crowd that ever attended inspection. Major Moses seemed to be well satisfied with the showing made by the cadets. This is the first time A. C. has given guard mounting at inspection, and there were also more different maneuvers than at any previous inspection. The program was as follows: Review, Inspection, parade, Guard Mounting, Battalion Drill, Company Drill, Advance Guard, Outposts, and extended order. After this was over Major Moses went out with Captain Macon to see the range, and on his return the battalion was dismissed. Before disbanding the boys gathered together in the Armory and cheered Captain Macon, and the Captain of the two companies, and gave the Dakotah and other good old yells.

The officers gathered in Captain Macon's office to meet Major Moses, and found him to be a jolly good fellow. After asking a few questions about the interest taken in drill both by the men who are drilling and those who have drilled the required time, Major Moses went on to emphasize the importance of the military department in educational institutions. He showed how this training given at the state schools makes it possible to have a number of trained men scattered over the country and thereby to decrease the standing army. He urged the officers to try to make each man who drills see that, if he takes advantage of the opportunity to learn while here, he is getting a special training that in time of extreme need may enable him to do his country a real service.

In every big war that the United States has had she has found herself at a disadvantage because of a lack of experienced men to take charge of drilling and training the raw recruits. By training a number of men at the educational institutions and keeping tab on these men after they leave, it is thought that an efficient army can be more quickly raised, and this unnecessary loss of life due to lack of training and leadership avoided. We all want peace said Major Moses. No one should be more strongly opposed to war than the soldiers and cadets in the United States; but with the present situation in Europe there is no telling what may happen.

DR. WARD SPEAKS ON THE NEED OF THE RURAL LIFE.

Higher Community Standards For The Child His Theme.

The crowd of students and citizens who gathered Sunday afternoon to hear the musical numbers by members of the Conservatory Faculty of Wesley College and Dr. Harry F. Ward of Boston University were well repaid for their presence. "The whole social problem and question centers around the child," said Dr. Ward; "just as Jesus set the child in the midst of them" so must we today. Before the time or Christ," he continued further, "children were looked upon as an economic asset, and a man's wealth was measured by the number of children he possessed. Since the days of the Galilean however society has come to make family life serve to develop the child and prepare him for life, rather than use him to work and carry part of the economic burden."

Family Life Alone Can Not Guarantee The Child Its Rights. The speaker brought out very forcibly that under the stress of modern life with all its interlocking relationships, it is impossible for a single family to control what the life of its own child shall be. Unless the community as a whole takes the view that a child, every child, shall have all of those things which it has a right to expect, no single family can assure their children what they hope for them. In the rural states like North Dakota it is possible for these conditions to be controlled by home, church and school alone. The problem then is to educate the people of the entire community as to what the rights of a child really are. The Fundamental Rights of a Child Every child has a right to be well born, that is born free from the blemish of disease brought on by the parents' indulgence in sex or alcoholic excesses. Nations, the speaker of nourishment a child should have in order for the more uneducated to do by their own children what they should.

The speaker concluded by touching upon the need for an intellectual development that reached not only a few but the whole masses of children who were growing up in the community. College leaders with high ideals for men and women and children can not get the kind of cooperation they need unless there is a good average level of intelligence among the people with whom they work.

Commercialism The Drawback.

At the present time commercial interests have been allowed to block the way of real progress in this line of development. The whole community has not yet demanded a recreative life for all of its children, rich and poor. In the rural communities especially the commercial interests have almost monopolized the field. Only the child with a coin in its hand is entitled to what is offered. The most neglected child is the one who really should be looked to first. The community as a whole must take over this matter and see that educational recreation, play life, normal development is given to every child. "In as much as we have done it unto the least of these my brethren (children) we have done it unto me," expressed the attitude of the speaker in showing the way in which these matters were to be solved.

PRESIDENT WILSON SENDS THANKS TO STUDENTS

LETTER RECEIVED YESTERDAY

Just following the sinking of the Lusitania at the time when the position of the President was most vigorously pressed by those of our citizens and interests who favored a forceful expression of resentment by our government, a large number of students in the colleges and universities took it upon themselves to send to President Wilson their expressions of confidence in his stand for neutrality and peaceful settlement of injuries to the United States.

N. D. A. C. Sends Petition.

A petition expressing these sentiments was circulated by a number of the students. John Horne who happened to be in the Y. M. C. A. rooms at the time the petition was started headed the petition with his name, and yesterday he received the letter which is reproduced below.

It may be a small thing in the minds of many for a hundred and fifty students of a far western college to send an expression of their faith to the President at such a critical time as the present, but he must appreciate it, as his letter shows. Those who sent to him this message may well feel glad to have contributed just that much in helping the President to stand firm and calm through that crisis, knowing that in the course of action he took that he had behind him the good will and sympathy of thousands of the young men of the colleges of the nation.

THE WHITE HOUSE

Washington May 20, 1915.

My dear Mr. Horne: The President has received the communication from the students of the North Dakota Agricultural College, and has asked me to thank you for it. He deeply appreciates this expression of confidence.

Sincerely yours, (Signed) H. Tamulty, Secretary to the President. Mr. John L. Horne, North Dakota Agricultural College, N. D.
