4 COMMENCEMENT TIME

COMMENCEMENT TIME

As the school year nears it's close and commencement time approaches, it is only natural that some time be spent in reflection, not only by the seniors themselves, but by all who are looking forward to the day that the diplomas are to be presented, and determine in their own minds just what graduation means to one who has spent four years at College. It is the turning point in the lives of many for it is at this point that the making or maring of careers is started. During the four years at college the work has been planned by the faculty and executed to a great extent under their directions and in accordance with definite schedules outlined in the college catalog. The faculty has assigned the work and judged it's worth and while there is no doubt but that the student must show an amount of will power and perserverence that is commendable in order to successfully complete that work it is as nothing to the perseverence and will power that the graduate student will be called upon to exert if he is ambitious to achieve real success in the greater school of life. From this point on the shaping of one's destiny lies largely in their own hands. One must make their own plans and schedules, assign their own tasks and be their own executive, and at this point the question arises to the student's mind: Am I capable of showing enough enthusiasm, will power and perseverance to perform the tasks before me without the stimulus of some one to assign and direct the work?

Some may have successfully worked a "crib" in the class of a "bespectacled professor" and in that way secure a mark higher than they were entitled to, but in the school of life one will be found out sooner or later and get just that mark which is his due.

"The best of friends must part." Every real man or woman is sure to form some close friendships during their college career and it is the parting of friends and leaving of old haunts that is the hardest part. Every member of a graduating class should become as active as possible in the al

Take Second

Scientists Game C. J. Roberts, Junior

On Wednesday afternoon we met the State Science school in the second game of the season. The game had to be played on the parade grounds as the ball diamond was too wet. It was very cold and not many people witnessed the spectical. The Scientists led us for the first two innings and then we started the heavy work and soon shattered their hopes of winning the game. Big Thorfinson pitched the game and he certainly is a cold weather artist, for he pitched good ball considering the day. The game went seven innings when it was called so as to give the Wahpeton bunch a chance to get their train. Ulsaker worked for the visitors.

Track Team To Grand Forks

On Friday morning the track team journeys to Grand Forks for their annual dual track meet with the University. This year the University is represented by one of the strongest teams she ever had. They have been working hard since basketball season and have had an indoor track meet, hence are in very good shape. good shape.

The A. C. is represented by a team

The A. C. is represented by a team that has some old timers on the lists and they will give the University all they got. This means that the U will have to work pretty hard. In the last few years the A. C. has been defeated by the U in track by a few points only, mainly because we never had enough men to take a few seconds and thirds and the U always had men enough to take the seconds and thirds. Last year we took seven firsts to their 6 and they beat us by 11 points. This year the boys will try to come back with the points standing the other way.

Cinders

Let everything go this afternoon and bring your voice and come out on Dakotah field and see how much you can root. Lets make it a big day for inter-college spirit.

Porter is running nice this year and will make Owen of the U go some to beat him in the 440 yard dash. The 440 is the hardest event in the list of events in track work and it takes all a fellows got to run.

The Juniors will have some relay team for the class meet this after-noon. They have Gibbens, Pinkham, Roberts and Bolsinger and with this line up they will make record time.

The entry list has been closed and the following is the complete list and the order the events will be run

There are 44 men in all that are to participate in this meet and this is the largest number that has ever performed on Dakotah field. Without a doubt there will be some mighty good records made and each run will be a hummer. As this paper goes to press their is a pla non foot to get school dismissed at 2:30 P. M. so that everyone can attend and root for their respective teams.
