

Schildkret's Orchestra Delights Audience

Well Chosen Program Pleases—Exceptional Individual Talent Is Shown By All.

Before the largest crowd that ever witnessed the opening number of the Citizens' Lecture Course, Schildkret's Hungarian orchestra opened the 1914-1915 season with an excellent program. The orchestra held the close and willing attention of all present throughout the entire evening. The program was not only longer than usual, but it was more compact. Except for short intervals between groups, the numbers followed one another in rapid succession, invariably cutting short the burst of applause which followed each number. It was a program which was stiff to say the least and sufficiently varied to please anyone. The personality of the Director dominated the whole evening. Mr. Schildkret has a way of "getting over the footlights" that is probably one of the big features of his success. In spite of his repeated assertions that he is no lecturer, he never had the temerity to insist that he is not a humorist. Such a course would have been impossible with the laughter which greeted his short speeches. One can readily believe with this orchestra that "the best is coming."

The informality of the program was one of its features. The numbers were announced, and any member of the audience was given the privilege of asking for anything under the sun: "If you don't ask for it, I play it anyway."

Mr. Schildkret's work gives one a new conception of the possibilities inherent in the flute. The limpid fluidity of his legato passages and the silvery crispness of his staccato themes lent a new grace to many an old air. His enthusiastic directing would draw music out of stone, while his engaging friendliness alone will always assure him a welcome here.

The excellent musical background against which the soloists worked was formed by sympathetic, painstaking work by the second violin, cello and clarinet. The richness of the entire evening's work was greatly enhanced by their talents along this line.

The first violin of the orchestra achieved instantaneous success in his solo work. He gave a variety of numbers and was always willing to grant encores. His rendition of "Aloha Oe" from the "Bird of Paradise" was striking both for the excellence of its technique and the added witchery which it gave to an already beautiful melody. He was forced to respond to three encores for this number.

The cymbelin, a new instrument to most of those present, was very popular and after the close of the evening's program, a large number of those present stayed to get a closer glimpse of the mechanism and manner of playing of an instrument which produced such beautiful results in the hands of an artist.

The variety of the program was striking. Opera music, rags, classical, folk music, everything under the sun, was represented on their program and it is very easy to believe that it would not have been possible to ask for anything really good which has not a place on their repertoire.

The orchestra was also present at Ceres Hall Friday noon and delighted those present with a number of selections. They are very generous with their wonderful talents, one of their customs being that of playing for all the sick in the hospitals in towns which they visit. This community will count itself very fortunate whenever it can welcome this organization.

PECK TALKS TO Y. M. C. A.

E. W. Peck general Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in Minnesota was the speaker at the Sunday afternoon meeting of the Y. M. C. A. last Sunday and gave a talk on the Y. M. C. A. the World Around. The talk was illustrated with stereopticon slides, showing views of places visited by Mr. Peck on his recent trip around the world with the Association Quartette and International Committee.

"The Greatest activity in college is the Y. M. C. A.," said Mr. Peck and it is counted among the big activities of young men in many parts of the world. There are big Y. M. C. A. buildings in all of the large cities which have their doors open to young men all the time and at every important seaport can be found a building of the Association. In the Panama canal zone there are eleven Y. M. C. A. secretaries. The railroad men are greatly interested in their fellowmen and thus interested in the Y. M. C. A. and there are many Y. M. C. A. railroad associations.

In speaking of John R. Mott one of the biggest men in the Y. M. C. A. work of to-day he stated that he was too big to be President of Princeton University or any other University as he is of great value in the Christian work of the Y. M. C. A.

practically new feature of the Y. M. C. A. work that he mentioned is the new county work that is being done by the association, and as a result there is more work being done for boys in the rural districts than ever before in the history of the world.

There were a large number of young men in attendance at the meeting and it was greatly enjoyed by all present. These Sunday afternoon meetings are becoming more and more popular with the fellows, as they furnish an excellent opportunity of hearing big men on every interesting topic.

COMMUNICATION.

The writer stood in the crowd at the rear door of the Armory as the teams came off the field after the Macalester game. He heard the hearty greetings and congratulations, that were showered on our victorious heroes. He also heard the greetings which met the defeated Macalester men as they came in, such words as: "St. Thomas won't do a thing to you fellows". How do you like our second team? Why, didn't you send us a football team?"

But he noticed two or three A. C. men who greeted each Macalester player as he came in with a slap on the shoulder and such words as: "A great game, old man! You fellows put up a peach of a fight". Hope we can play you again," etc.

The inference is obvious. The acid test that distinguishes a true sportsman from an impostor lies in his treatment of and thoughtfulness for, a defeated rival.

MINUTES OF THE COUNCIL

Meeting held Oct. 20, 1914, in the Country theater.

Meeting was called to order by the president, who called attention to the fact that Mr. Parizek had not returned to school this fall and the consequent vacancy on the athletic board.

President called for nominations to fill this vacancy.

Grover Edwards and George Knutson were nominated.

Mr. Stoa moved that the nominations be closed. Seconded and carried.

A ballot was taken and thirteen votes were cast for Mr. Edwards and nine for Mr. Knutson. Mr. Edwards was elected.

The president called for the report of the social committee. The report was given by Mr. Knutson and accepted by the Council.

Then the matter of the F. C. A. C. game was taken up.

The motion was made and seconded that the chairman be given the power to appoint a committee to confer with Fargo college in regard to making the day a "closed day" in the business houses down town. Carried.

Motion made and seconded that the Council adjourn. Carried.

Amy Whitman, Secretary.

The College Y. M. C. A. Sunday meetings are to be featured from time to time. Last Sunday three thousand feet of a splendid picture of the Crusades were shown, every man present enjoying the splendid portrayal that they gave of the great mediaeval attempts of Christians to conquer the Holy Land.

The committee in charge of these meetings is now completing arrangements whereby they will have some of the best motion pictures in the country for use at these meetings. Especial recognition and thanks is due the Engineering department and Mr. Roy Corbett for their co-operation in making these afternoon treats possible.

Next Sunday Mr. E. W. Peck, State Y. M. C. A. Secretary of Minnesota, will be here with a very interesting illustrated lecture on the work of the Young Men's Christian Association the world round. Mr. Peck spoke to an audience of four hundred last March and will surely be remembered by many of the students who were here then. Announcements regarding the subjects of the pictures to be shown later will be made in the Spectrum from time to time. The time of these meetings is 2:30 Sundays.

Grain Grower's Convention To Hold Exclusive Program

Preparations for the big annual meeting of the Tri-State Grain Growers' convention, which for years has been one of the notable meetings held in Fargo each January, are going forward and Pres. J. H. Worst of the Agricultural college, who is also the head of the grain growers, is busily engaged in outlining a program and communicating with notable whom he is making an effort to secure as speakers.

This coming year some changes will be made in the arrangement of the program as the afternoon sessions will be devoted entirely to the grain growers, the other affiliated associations being given the forenoon for their programs. This was made necessary because of the growth of the grain growers and the increasing attendance that is each year making itself manifest. Arrangements were made at the convention last year for the separation of the programs by the adoption of a resolution, which is printed below, and which gives the affiliated associations such as the Live Stock association, Better Farming association, Farm Managers' association and others, the forenoons for their programs, the afternoons being reserved for the Tri-State Grain Growers alone.

With the splendid crops harvested in North Dakota this year the Tri-State Grain Growers' convention, which is to be held on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Jan. 19, 20, 21 and 22, will without a shadow of a doubt be the best that has been held so far.

The prospects are that the crowds will be larger, with any sort of weather conditions, than ever before. With the affiliated associations meeting at the same time, with a corn and grain show and with the big exhibit of "Made in Fargo" goods that the manufacturers of the city are arranging for, there is much more of interest for the attraction of a vast crowd than ever before. Then, too, there is reason to believe that the new auditorium will have been completed by the time of the conventions, or nearly enough so as to permit of the meetings being held in that building and thus providing much more room than has ever been possible at prior conventions.

It will be a considerable time before the program will be completed, but it is known that President Worst is making a most strenuous effort to make it better than ever before, and there is no doubt but that he will succeed in doing so.

The meeting was called to order by the president for the first time this term, owing to the former absence of that most noteworthy gentleman, Mr. Carl Peterson. The vice-president has had charge of the meetings previous to this one.

A short business meeting was followed by a very snappy program. The new men on the program showed up especially well and the old members will have to hustle to keep up to their standard. The question for debate was: Resolved, that intercollegiate athletics are undesirable. This was preceded by "The History of the Hesperian Society" and it was followed by a dialogue.

PYTHIAN LITERARY SOCIETY.

On Friday evening, Oct. 23, the members of the Pythia Literary Society met in the Main Building at 7:30. Twenty-five responses were given at roll call, after which the following program was rendered: Piano Solo ..... Elvira Rasmussen Reading—"We ain't Skairt o'Pa"..... Mary Gibbens

Report of Y. W. C. A. convention at Lake Geneva—Recreation. Katherine Key. Lectures: Rosilla Ladd. Yellow and Green—Society.

Immediately after the program a business meeting was called. Reports of the Program, Play and Song Committees were given. Louise Fitzgerald's name was placed before the members of the society for membership. She received an unanimous vote for membership. At this time the President gave recognition to all the new members of the society.

Following the business meeting a social session was held. Light refreshments consisting of fruit salad, cookies, and sandwiches were served.

ADVANTAGES OF POLYTECHNIC

The meetings of the North Dakota Polytechnic Society offer to the students of the Agricultural College a splendid opportunity to hear investigators and teachers other than those they meet in their daily class rooms. In this way the student may study different methods of presenting the subject, secure points of view with which he may not have the opportunity to take in his curriculum. In fine, all the advantages which are urged upon a student in connection with the Citizens' lecture course, the Y. M. C. A. lectures, and other public lectures at the college can be secured from the meetings of the Polytech. In the past a few students have availed themselves of these meetings. The society extends to all students a cordial welcome to be present at any lecture in which they are interested this year.

The next regular meeting occurs Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the physics lecture room in the Engineering building. Mr. Thomas P. Cooper, director of the North Dakota Agricultural Experiment station, will speak on the subject, "The Future of Farm Management Investigations." This is a question which should appeal especially to agricultural students. It is not necessary to state here the importance of farm management studies, as every student in the agricultural college can appreciate that. It might be mentioned, though, that the speaker of the evening is one of the foremost men in the country along this line of agricultural investigation. His work in Minnesota and North Dakota has attained such prominence that he was recently offered the position of chief of the new Bureau of Markets of the United States Department of Agriculture. Mr. Cooper will undoubtedly have a good deal to say of interest and value. The agriculturists would do well to attend this meeting.

Lyceum Primer.

See that boy on the front seat? Which one? The one with the loudest mouth. Is he an orphan, that he carries on so? No, his father sit away back where he can enjoy the show. The father is one of the pillars of the community.

Why doesn't he restrain the boy for the benefit of the community? Because he hasn't sense enough. He gives money to the support of the Lyceum cause, and then gives a boy to the destruction of it. He is like a cow that gives a fine bucket of milk and then kicks it over.

THE CAMPUS.

For the last two weeks, those in charge of this work have been at their annual fall tasks, preparing the campus for the coming winter and spring. The fact that what they are doing for the school grounds is part of their routine work should not prevent us from recognizing the excellence of that work. This fall's work includes the setting out of a number of trees at various blank spots on the campus. The beautiful row which has been set along the walk from the Mechanic Arts building to the Chemistry building will improve that part of the campus very much. Similar improvements are being made at many other places on the grounds.

The point lies in the fact that we are too much disposed to regard this as something altogether natural and proper. We are aware in some vague way that somebody does these things and we enjoy the results of their work but seldom think it necessary to give a word of appreciation to those whose thought and training have made the campus one for which people have only commendation.

THE CITIZENS' LECTURE COURSE.

Last Thursday night, the Citizens' Lecture Course opened for the year. This is something which is presented for all who wish a series of excellent entertainments. It is no longer an experiment but an institution at this school of which the school is proud and which it is a privilege to be able to attend. The thought and care which has made this course possible year after year has given to the students of this school an opportunity of coming in contact with the best in the educational entertainment line that is available in this country. The broadening effects of this lecture course cannot be over estimated and the steadily increasing student attendance gives testimony to the fact that it is realized as such by them. There is something to the impressions which one carries away from such a course. It affords one something to talk about which educated men and women can appreciate. It also serves to develop taste in musical and literary lines and the great characters who, from time to time make their appearance here are sure to leave an impression that cannot help but be for the best.

It is a real privilege to have these things presented in the way which they are to the students of this school. It is an opportunity which is not often given and the fullest use of it should be made now, when there is time for it and it is most convenient.

REFLECTIONS OF A SENIOR

Concerning Speech.

As the writer has been on the disabled list for the past two weeks, he has had ample time to think over the subject for his next effort and has fallen on the poor old abused Mother Tongue. No, I take that back. It is not the language but the way it is used and misused.

In spite of this, this is no dissertation on grammar, but some reflections on a bad habit that has grown out of the flexibility and power that is in the English language. Primarily, it refers to the habit of "kidding."

Now there are many varieties of "kidding." There are some men who have the habit of seizing every occasion to twist whatever is said into such shape that with his comments it becomes funny, or as is more often the case, annoying. It is something at which one acquires an unholy facility after a time, and the retorts and jabs flow from his tongue as easily as air through a screen. It is when one reaches this stage that it becomes dangerous. A remark is made; a flashing retort, biting like a two-edged sword, goes much deeper than was intended and may mean a severed friendship.

I well remember a friend of mine, who had this habit to the nth degree. He realized it to some extent and when I saw him last he was making efforts to correct it. That was about five years ago. I met him again last week and one of the first things I noticed was that his old rapid-fire mode of talking had disappeared and he had now what was almost a drawl. Upon asking about it he said: "You will recall that I had the reputation of being the fastest and most versatile slammer that the school had ever seen? And you know how much trouble it used to get me into. I found that the root of my whole trouble lay in my habit of snapping out retorts as they came to me without thinking. Now, by forcing myself to talk slower, I get a little time to think whether what I am saying will hurt or not."

I believe he has solved his problem. As I watched him, his manner seemed almost ideal; never hurried, his words had the weight of implied reflection; it is very rarely that you can trap him in anything; his gentle deference to all women is an amazing contrast to what his manner used to be; and he has not lost the power to amuse or rebuke. Indeed, his slow quizzical manner of jesting is much more effective than his old way; and when aroused, the lashing sting at the end of his cold, calculated phrases is something that is not idly provoked. But the beauty of the whole thing lies in the fact that he is absolute master of all that he says, and he will lose no more friends through hasty, ill-considered words.

MINARD GIVES SCHEDULE OF HIGH SCHOOL TEACHERS

Bismarck, N. D., 23.—A most interesting subject was dealt with by Prof. A. E. Minard of the Agricultural College of Fargo at the session of the English section of the North Dakota Educational association convention this afternoon.

Professor Minard was dealing with the efficiency derived from teaching various numbers of classes and various numbers of students to each class and gave a table showing about what efficiency is derived in the various classes of high schools in English teaching in North Dakota.

The following is a summary of the report made by Professor Minard:

"The English teachers of North Dakota first class high schools have a better opportunity to do good work than most of the teachers in the high schools of the country. With us the average teacher has five classes a day and 97 students; the average for the United States in the larger high schools is five classes a day and 126 students.

"Although we have superior conditions, they are by no means such as can be expected to yield highest results in this important subject. The most thorough study of English teaching that has yet been made shows that four classes a day and 80 pupils to a teacher is the maximum assignment under which good teaching can be expected.

"Assignments to English teachers show extreme variation—from four classes a day to seven classes a day, and from a total of 57 pupils to a teacher to a total of 137 to a teacher. Twenty-four of the 87 English teachers in first class high schools taught six or seven classes a day. Eight schools assigned six classes a day and over 100 students to a teacher, and in this group Fargo and Langdon in 1913-14 held high place with 137 pupils assigned to a single teacher. At the same time LaMoure made a fine showing with four English classes and a total of 76 pupils to one teacher, and also Grand Forks with three English teachers devoting full time to English, each with only four classes a day and in no case more than 100 pupils to a teacher, is not far behind.

"More than 98 per cent of the English classes in first class high schools are taught by women and of these only 15 devote all their time to this one subject.

"The data secured by the committee of the North Dakota association of English teachers were taken from the report of the state inspector of high schools for 1914-15. There has for some time been complaint as to the results secured from English teaching in the high schools, but complaint is justified only when conditions are maintained under which good teaching is possible. If the inspector of high schools would report on the number of classes and the number of students assigned to teachers, a step would be taken in the right direction.

The comparative conditions of English teaching is shown in the following:

National Conditions—Total number of classes a day, 5.15; total number of students per teacher, 126.

North Dakota High Schools—Total number of classes a day, 5.7; number of English classes a day, 2.63; total students per teacher, 80.

North Dakota First Class High Schools—Total number of classes a day, 5.1; number of English classes a day, 2.9; total students per teacher, 97.

North Dakota Second Class High Schools—Total number of classes a day, 5.5; number of English classes a day, 2.27; total students per teacher, 57.

North Dakota Third Class High Schools—Total number of classes a day, 6.6; number of English classes a day, 2.45; total number of students per teacher, 52.

Immediate Demands of National Council—Total students per teacher, 100.

Maximum for Fair Efficiency—Total number of classes a day, 4; total students per teacher, 80.

Maximum for Highest Efficiency—Total number of classes per day, 3 or 4; total students per teacher, 60.

Sec. 8. The board, upon organizing, shall formulate rules governing its own actions and controlling the actions of its various members and committees.

AMENDMENTS AND ADDITIONS.

Amendment to By-laws No. 8. (Exact wording not available.)

Provides that members should be notified at least forty-eight hours before any Council meeting through the mail. Further that the non-appearance of a Council member at a meeting, unless by reason of sickness and absence from school, should cause a tax of fifty cents on his respective class and that the list of absentees should be published in the Spectrum. And further, if the class failed to pay it will have no further representation on the Council as far as that person is concerned.

(The disconnected way in which this constitution is presented is because of the fact that the amendments were scattered piecemeal through the minutes of the various meetings at which they were adopted and had to be copied out one at a time.—Ed.)

McGovern's Huskies Defeated in a Closely Contested Game

With only one minute and ten seconds left to play and the ball on the A. C.'s two foot line the second string line held Macalister for downs. The game was a hard one from start to finish and the outcome doubtful until the final whistle sounded. Excitement ran riot throughout the last quarter when after several attempts at passing, McQuillan shot a perfect one to Nemzek who went over for the only touchdown.

All of the first squad men who were given a chance proved their worth by braking up interference and spilling plays. Gazette who went in for Peterson at the beginning of the second half showed exceptional ability at smashing interference and grabbing forward passes proving conclusively that he has graduated from the sub-class.

Movold played a brilliant game at quarter and will undoubtedly make a worthy successor to Capt. Caulkins. "Boob" Abbott, the big tackle and booter, was taken out during the third quarter with a wrenched knee which will put him on the hospital list for some time. Bolsinger, the veteran half-back, was kicked in the neck and was carried from the field. Emerson, the new lineman, went in for Bjornson in the third quarter and proved to be a valuable man.

Perry, Pope, Hamilton and Lolland were also used during the last quarter and performed well under fire.

The game in detail:— Macalister kicks off to Peterson on 15 yard line, and returns the ball 18 yards. Bolsinger makes run for 28 yards; Catlin makes a wide end run for 24 yards through Macalister's right. Nemzik makes 2 yards through Macalister's left. Bolsinger er falls to gain around their left end. Nemzik falls to gain through left end, Catlin tries a place kick which was blocked. Macalister's ball.

Anderson makes 1 yard through A. C. right, Anderson 4 yards through A. C. left; Guthrie makes 8 yards through A. C. right; Anderson 2 yards through A. C. right; McCollum makes 30 yards by a wide end run through A. C. right. Anderson makes 2 yards through A. C. left; McCollum falls to gain and loses 2 yards on A. C.'s left side. Anderson makes 6 yards on A. C. left end; Macalister punts and the ball is carried back by Bolsinger. Bolsinger makes 1 yard through Macalister's left; Bolsinger 2 yards through Macalister's left. Bolsinger 2 yards through Macalister's left; Bolsinger 5 yards through Macalister's left. Nemzik 2 yards through right; Catlin 2 yards through the right; Bolsinger 3 yards to the left; A. C. penalized 15 yards for holding. Bolsinger 3 yards to the left; Nemzik tackled for a loss of 11 yards. Nemzik fumbles and recovered by Macalister. Macalister's ball—Brownlee makes 1 to the left; McCollum makes an incomplete pass to Dale; they try it again and fail; the A. C. recovers the ball. A. C. ball. Nemzik tackled for a loss of 3 yards. Bolsinger loses 2 yards. Catlin makes 3 to the right. Abbott punts to Macalister's 30 yard line. Macalister's ball. Brownlee makes 13 yards; Dale for 6; McCollum makes a touchdown. Score 6 to 0. McCollum kicks goal; score Macalister 7; A. C. 0. Anderson kicks off to 12 yard line and Catlin returns the ball 13 yards. End of first quarter.

Second Quarter.

Perry goes in for McQuillan and McQuillan for Nemzek; Bolsinger makes 1 yard. Nemzik 4 yards; Bolsinger 4 yards; Catline 2 yards to the left; Catlin tackled for 1 yard loss. McQuillan makes incomplete pass to Bolsinger; Catlin makes 4 yards; Abbott punts 38 yards to Macalister and Macalister punts back 42 yards. A. C. ball. Catlin makes 8 yards. Abbott punts 30 yards. Macalister's ball. Macalister makes a series of downs but is penalized 15 yards and loses the ball to the Aggies.

With a few short plays and Macalister penalized 5 yards for holding, the ball again went over to Macalister, who got the ball on a forward pass and made 20 yards. The Aggies were penalized 5 yards for holding and McCollum punts 40 yards to Catlin. The Aggies tried a forward pass for one yard followed by another, MacQuillan to Perry for 35 yards and the half ended.

Second Half.

Gazette goes in for Perry. Aggies kick off to Macalister and the ball went out of bounds, so the Aggies kicked again and Macalister returned ball 10 yards. Macalister penalized 15 yards for holding. Macalister punts and Catlin returned it 8 yards. After a series of line plunges and incomplete forward passes, Eglund punts and Movold returns 3 yards. The Aggies made a few plays to within a few yards of their goal and Catlin scored a place kick. Score 7-3. Aggies kick off to McCollum and he returned the ball 18 yards. A few good plays are made but McCollum fumbled and Abbott recovered. A. C. ball. Aggies fail to make good gains so Abbott punted and Macalister returns 6 yards. Quarter back plays himself and makes 15 yards. Abbott hurt and Bjornson goes in for Bjornson and Bjornson takes Abbott's place at tackle. Macalister was forced to punt; Movold returned 8 yards. End of third quarter; score 7-3.

Fourth Quarter.

Aggies make forward pass and gain 35 yards. Macalister intercept pass and on next plays Aggies force them to punt. Perry in for Peterson. MacQuillan made a forward pass to Nemzek and Perry was injured. Hamilton in for Perry. Aggies fail to gain and Pope goes in for Kelly. MacQuillan forward pass to Catline for 20 yards. MacQuillan makes another to Nemzek who goes over for touchdown. Catlin kicked goal, score 7-10. With a series of sensational plays Macalister carries the ball down to within two feet of Aggies' goal and were held or down. Ten seconds left to play. Nemzek boots hell out of the ball and the crowd goes crazy. Brownlee got the ball and whistle blew. Officials: Kirk of Iowa, referee. Lynch of St. Cloud, umpire. Head Linesman Slingsby.

EXCHANGES.

TO FRESHMEN AND OTHERS.

A Freshman receives a great many things at college, and chief among these is advice. Everyone is eager to admonish him in the way in which he should go. In fact, during the first few months college seems to him to be largely a place of correction and chastisement.

All of which is highly fitting and proper, although the Freshman can't see it that way at the time. The code of the campus, whether written or unwritten, has been evolved out of the experience of generations of students, and the newly naturalized citizens of this miniature republic will do well to conform without question.

However, it is not of rules and regulations that we wish to speak. After all, the Senior bench will survive in all its pristine loveliness, even if some unwary scion of 1918 should happen to trespass thereon. And even if some equally indiscreet yearling should so far forget himself as to smoke upon the campus, the campus will pull through.

For the first time in the history of the school Montana defeated the Washington State college in a game of football. Off and on for eleven years the thing has been tried and finally the thing happened.

It was such a battle as Montana Field has not seen in decades, and may never see again. Bearing the burden of half a dozen defeats, the Grizzlies played the Trampled Worm, turning on the Palousers for a touchdown and a goal from placement. It was a glorious bending in a lane which had maintained a single direction for so long that Montana was beginning to doubt the truth of the comforting proverb.

Reports continue to come over of the "beef" on the Missoula team. The latest is that nine men on the team weigh nineteen hundred pounds, which doesn't scare us a bit, even if we believed it, which is out of the question.

By the way it is noticed that the school at Missoula is kept pretty busy lately explaining where they got all that beef. It is to be hoped that our sister institution can vindicate herself as it would be a disgrace, indeed, to find that she had a professional team in the field.

The waiter was equal to the task and, stepping to the door of the kitchen, hurried this order at the cook:

Reports from the game between the School of Mines and the Montana State college held at Bozeman last Saturday, show that the Farmers had no trouble in piling up a big score against the Miners. The Aggies' lineup shows that they have a heavy, fast, and experienced team, and that under the coaching of Bennion they will be dangerous contenders for the state flag.

North Dakota Cities As We Find Them

SPECIAL BULLETIN DESCRIBES CONDITIONS IN SEVERAL CITIES.

Special Bulletin No. 11 of the Pure Food Department will be of interest to almost all out of town students in the school for it is very likely that many of the students will find the ratings of their home towns published therein. This work should have a great effect in improving the general status of affairs in these towns. While the mode of procedure has been merciful to some, frank, unremitting publicity of the kind contained in this bulletin is the only thing that will reach some of the most careless merchants who are dragging down the general average of the town. Let a man once find his trade falling off because people have been shown that other merchants are presenting things in a more cleanly, better way and he will have to reform in self preservation. It is pointed out that a town is invariably judged by its worst feature and that the logical way to start in a clean-up of those who are below the general average.

A list of questions, given below, is printed for the benefit of those who are inclined to kick on a low rating. If a man cannot answer those as they should be answered for sanitary conditions, he has no right to kick on a low rating. Another quotation emphasizes the fairness or these investigations, which lends all the more weight to the results.

"Some proprietors may wonder why they received so low a rating. Answer these questions.—Do you have city water in your store? Do you provide a place for your clerks to wash and do you furnish soap and towels? Is the toilet boarded up? Is it stuck in a dark, old, dismal corner of your basement? Do you have the hams or bacon lying around on a box where dogs and mice have access to the same? Is the refrigerator, the cheese rack, etc., etc., clean? In what "shape" do you keep your basement? Is it ventilated or just a foul dug-out under your store? These are questions for you to put to yourself."

"In writing up the reports of inspections in a town the writer desires to call attention to the fact that unsanitary places are mentioned and frequently suggestions are made. The reader may be led to believe that conditions are worse than they are since the sanitary and well-kept places are merely mentioned in the score. The score is an indication of the degree of sanitation practiced about each individual place."

Ceres Hall Notes

Miss Ethel Poole left for Valley City Friday where she remained overnight and then went to her home at Steele. She returned Sunday evening.

Miss Lucy Sprague, a former student at the A. C., sent Misses Elsie Stark, Ethel Poole, Mable Leet, Lena Honet, Billie Frojer and Margaret Hutchinson a spread. The spread was partaken of Friday evening and was well enjoyed. It consisted of chicken, pickles, fruit salad, sandwiches, cake, cause and chocolate.

Miss Gladys Plath returned from home Sunday evening. She was called home due to the sickness of her brother.

Wonder who Stoaa was trying to sympathize with Sunday evening? Last week saw the arrival of some more girls who are going to take up home makers course.

The W. C. A. was directed by Miss Stoner, who gave a very fine talk on "Social Ideals."

Mr. Red Top has been looking for some agreeable company in the hall. Wonder if he has been able to find it?

Miss Lamb went home Friday and returned Sunday evening. Some great attraction was at her home, so it was impossible to induce her to return until Sunday evening.

A great deal of excitement was caused in the dining room yesterday because every one was very anxious to hear once more the wonderful Mr. Bryan. So the dinner was partaken of in some hurry and everyone departed for town. But it was well worth the effort, for the speaker was as wonderful as he always was, and was listened to by a vast crowd.

UPPER CLASS WOMEN TO HELP FRESHMAN GIRLS AT OHIO.

A big sister movement has been started by the Woman's Council at Ohio State. Girls from the Junior and Senior classes have been appointed as advisors and give all the necessary help to the new girls. By this means every Freshman girl will begin her college course with little or no trouble to herself.

CAMPUS CLEANINGS

Sweet uses of adversity

Heard in one of Prof. Nelson's recent lectures.

Cheese, that is cheese made from dirty milk, once saved the lives of two shipwrecked mariners. Dirt in the milk produces holes in the cheese and the story runs thus:

These two sailors had been cast ashore on a cannibal island. With them had been washed up a large swiss cheese and a player piano. The cannibals soon appeared, armed to the teeth and bringing with them a large stew pan. The plot thickens.) The sailors were almost ready to turn their toes heavenward and kick the bucket. But ah, one gets an idea drawing his trusty finger-nail cleaner from its scabbard (yes, yes, go on!) he starts cutting round and round the swiss cheese till finally he has a large roll. He places this in the player piano and starts pumping vigorously. To his satisfaction the cannibals stop abruptly and commence to dance gleefully about to the music. This worked nicely until the cheese wore out, when the sailors set up the feed and were stuck for the drinks.

Why, of course we believe it, Mr. Nelson
Altogether now boy, gedap, Kate!

Roughly Speakin'.

Prof. Weeks apparently does not approve of beating around the bush, even though it involves the delicate question of a young lady's age.

Miss K: "I know two boys who were great chums and one learned to stutter from the other. They were just about my age, too."

Prof. Weeks "And how old are these young men, Miss K.?"

Miss K: "Oh, about seventeen or eighteen, I guess."

A Scientific Discovery.

A new variety of "nut," native to N. D., was accidentally discovered last Saturday—namely, the guys trying to sell ice cream cones at the Macalester game.

Most Embarrassing.

I don't think those tight fitting trousers of the new cadet uniforms are at all modest, do you, girls?

Well, they do look kind of freaky at first. But they are certainly showing up a lot of crooks that were previously hiding in pegtops.

Rivalry.

Last year Fargo college challenged us to a chess tournament. This year we are looking forward to some hot contests in needle work and may be a tating race. Who knows?

Men Only.

After we have taken all the "go" out of Fargo College next Friday, we may step across and come back with a "head" from Moorhead.

Military Department

(By Marvin Kirk)

There are now five companies in the battalion, and about fifty men in each company. This makes a total of nearly two hundred and fifty men who are drilling. The industrial course men have been divided into three companies, C, D and E. These men have been progressing rapidly, and will soon be in good shape. They were drilled in the armory until last Monday, and then were taken outdoors, and drilled on the parade grounds. Wednesday they were given their guns, and went through with the parade with the "veterans" and did it quite creditably.

At the parade on Wednesday, the size of the battalion was easily seen. When the five companies were formed in line with the band, the line reached ed from back of the library to near the west end of the parade grounds. This is perhaps the largest battalion that has ever been at this institution. Friday the weather was not very inviting, to say the least, and Captain Macon spent about half of the time in talking to the men the armory, and then gave them a little drill in the manual of arms. He also gave them the names of some of the parts of the guns.

The officers for the companies are not all chosen yet, and there may be changes in the present officers before the complete assignment to companies is made, but the list will soon be ready for publication.

AGRICULTURAL CLUB.

The Agricultural club held its first meeting of the term Friday evening, October 23.

The following officers officers are serving this term
President, Edward Vinje.
Vice President, Harry Anderson.
Secretary, Carsten Solberg.
Treasurer, Lloyd Wildfang.
Sargeant-at-Arms, Sarnest Emery.

The roll call consists of thirty-five members. The following program was rendered

Inauguration address E. Vinje.
Address, President J. H. Worst.
Club paper, Editor, A. Straub.
Short speech, Grover Poe.
Short talk on the orchestra, G. Cole.

The latest feature of the club is an orchestra recently organized by members of the Farm Husbandry course. This orchestra consists of ten pieces and promises to be a boost for the club. Grover Poe was elected leader and Glen Cole business manager.

Improving the Campus.

Many changes are being made on and about the campus at the present time. The long neglected lights on the entrance gate posts look as if they finally give forth a mellow glow on hard evenings.

Mr. Hannan has been supervising the planting of numerous trees and shrubs along the different roads through the campus. We hope to soon have a real Elm Row.

More bleachers have been added to those already on Dakota Field, those already there were found to be inadequate to accommodate the large crowds.

Dean Menden hall has been seen quite frequently around the campus.

Peet Homey, Bill Mendenhall and other graduate fusers will remain lonesomely for—about a month.

Ralph Smith dropped in on us on his way to Washington, D. C., where he is to start his work in the seed laboratory of the agricultural department.

Melvin Ostby was in for the big game Saturday. He is teaching school at Pine River, Minn., and is connected with the agricultural work.
