AGGIES TO PLAY FARGO COLLEGE OCT, 25th

Interesting "Dope" on Big Game of the Season.
Both Camps Tell of Hard Training.

STADIUM IN READINESS

Seats for 1500 Spectators. Room for 3000 More.

THE TIME

The Fargo College game is only ten days away. This is the game of all games for the Aggies, so it is up to the students as well as the team to help win. Every year those who have been watching the teams know that they both play a better game against each other than they do against any of the other teams. Last year for instance the College had been beaten at every turn in the road, had thirteen men, some new and some old to make a team from and when they lined up against the Aggies they held them 13 to 3. The Aggies played the best game that they had played that year and also the hardest. Why is it that these two teams always play so hard against each other? It is because they are rivals of long standing, and when the game is mentioned and talked of and planned for the old desire to win stirs the teams on to an almost wonderful power of endurance and skill, which results, inevitably, in the best game of the season, from all standpoints.

THE PLACE

We are to play Fargo College this year at their new athletic field—the Stadium—below the hill, on which the college stands. The Hill school have gone to a great deal of expense and time, in order to put their field in condition so that it can be called one of the best athletic fields in the northwest.

On the natural slope on the south side of the field they have built a row of seats that will take care of at least 1,500 people and they have room to take care of at least 2,000 more. From any seat in the stand every inch of the field may be viewed and no one will have to stand up to see where the play is. This is one thing that the architects have tried to overcome and have succeeded in doing so. The field is bounded on three sides by an eight foot concrete wall and with the beautiful slope upon which the seats are placed makes a picturesque field.

The south side of the field is to be roped and in a few years the college expects to have a beautiful hedge there, in order to obstruct the view of the playing ground from those who are inclined to stand on the outside and look in instead of being on the inside. The field will not be a fast one at any time this fall because of the softness of the ground. One half of the field had to be filled in from one to three feet and this has not as yet been packed down.

The first game to be played on the new field will be between the College and Wahpeton Science on next Saturday. This will give the A. C. people a chance to see the college in action before they play us one week from next Saturday. It will also give us a very definite idea of what the Fargo College-A. C. game will be, because the Science School held us 0 to 0 last Saturday.

THE TEAMS

At the College we find Coach Watkins out with a squad of twenty men and at the A. C. we find Coach Woods out with thirty men. By the sound of this you would think the A. C. should have by far the best team because they have the greatest quantity. It is quality that counts, however, and that is what the College claim they have.

The College showed on last Saturday that they have the quality by taking the Jamestown College over their knees and whipping them 46 to 0. Our team with every man fighting at his best could only hold the Wahpeton Science to a 0 to 0 score. The reason we did not wallop the earth with them was because our men lacked the unity of playing together that characterizes any well established machine and by the time we play the College we hope that our men will fight as they did at Wahpeton, but all together, and then we will be able to at least take the measure of the college.

The line ups will probably be:

Fargo College — Ends, Murray, Colby, Ray, Crandall; tackles, Carpenter, Sim, Aivalsian; guards, Rolf, Nielson or Aivalsian; center, Flaten, Stally; quarterback, Rusch, Boise, Weum; backs, Torson, Drummond, Nelson.

For the A. C. we will probably see the following men in action:

Ends, Parizek, Perry, Ostby, Jensen, Billings; tackles, Abbot, Mikkelsen, Mendenhall, Vance; guards, Edwards (captain), Bjornson, Grattous; center, Kelly, Gulbrandson; quarterback, Caulkins and Homme; backs, Bolsinger, Odell, Berner, Barchus, Morstad, Armstrong, and Sonquist.

WHERE THE JOB SEEKS THE MAN

SOUTH DAKOTA AGGIES NEXT

TEAM LEAVES THURSDAY FOR BROOKINGS.—U. N. D.
NOV. 1.

This coming Saturday our team will play the South Dakota Aggies at Brookings, S. D., leaving here Thursday night and arriving home again Monday a. m. The last game the A. C. played with the Aggies of our sister state was played three years ago and at that time we were so modest that we allowed our sisters to beat us 11 to 3. This year we are not going to be so polite or modest and intend to turn the tables.

Coach Woods is from South Dakota as are a number of our varsity men this year, and they know that they will have to work in order to win. If you should get interested and ask what the team is doing you will hear they are working their heads off out behind the gym in order that they may slip one over on South Dakota. Two weeks from Saturday we play the U. N. D., and that is the game when all loyal A. C. people should be out to root as they never have before. Last year they were lucky enough to get the big end of the score because luck was against us, but this year if we have our share of luck and a good student body out cheering our team on, there is no reason why we should not wallop the U.

Moral: Get the yells and learn them—they are to be found in last week's Spectrum—there for your special benefit.

INDUSTRIAL COURSE BEGAN MONDAY

Farm Husbandry, Power Machinery, and Homemakers Back Again.

The third division of the work of the Agricultural College began yesterday when the registration opened for the industrial courses. This group of courses offers two distinct lines of work for young men and one for young women.

A large number of last year's freshmen are back and the enrollment of freshmen this year is especially strong. The seniors are holding their own and it is expected that the enrollment will reach pretty high mark this year.

JUDGE POLLOCK TO ADDRESS Y.

Judge Charles A. Pollock of the Third Judicial District of North Dakota, well known to every A. C. student, will speak to the men of the college on Sunday, Oct. 19, in the Armory at the regular Sunday Y. M. C. A. meeting. Orchestra and Male Quartette.

SCIENTISTS HOLD AGGIES TO TIE

SCORE 0 TO 0 — FIELD POOR — ACCIDENTS NUMEROUS.

Last Saturday morning Coach Wood with a squad of twenty-two men, accompanied by Faculty Manager Haskins, and Student Manager Nelson, left for Wahpeton. The weather was ideal, but the field where the game was played was just the reverse, being both wet and slippery. Accidents were numerous, Capt. Edwards was laid out in the second quarter and did not regain consciousness until two o'clock Sunday morning. Perry and Barchus were also laid out, while Mikkleson and Bolsinger received severe jolts.

Wahpeton was exceptionally strong, while the Aggies did not seem to get together. Once during the last quarter Wahpeton got the ball on the A. C. fifteen yard line, but lost it again on a fumble, that being the only time that the A. C. goal was really in danger. The Aggies got within striking distance a couple of times, but were unable to push the ball over. The ball was wet and slippery due to the condition of the field, making it hard to use the forward pass, both sides depending mostly on their end runs.

Referee, Haskins. Umpire, G. I. Woods. Head linesman, Gillis.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE AT GRAND.

Next Sunday evening at the Grand theatre there will be a Symposium on Woman Suffrage. The speakers for this occasion will be Miss Jeanette Rankin, of Missoula, Mont., and Mr. Arthur La Seur, of Minot, N. D. Miss Rankin is the national organizer of the Woman Suffrage League, and is one of the best authorities in the country on the subject of Woman Suffrage. Mr. La Seur was formerly chairman of the City Commission in Minot and is one of North Dakota's most brilliant speakers.

There will be special music by Miss Imogene Lehr, accompanied by Mrs. Steele. Miss Lehr will sing "The Girls of Seville," by Luigi Denza, and "A Magnetic Waltz Song," by A. Ardita. The program will begin at 8 o'clock sharp.

The University of Minnesota band refused to play for any of their football games at home unless their expenses were paid to Madison to the Minnesota vs. Wisconsin game. It seemed that the Minnesota games this year were to be without music until a kind alumnus came to the rescue and volunteered to take the whole band to Madison. The band which will accompany the team to Madison will number sixty pieces.

GRADUATES IN DEMAND— THE OUTLOOK BRIGHT

AGRICULTURAL MEN WANTED—
FACULTY ELECT APPOINTMENT COMMITTEE.

The demand for teachers of Agriculture is far beyond the supply. This was recently pointed out by a letter which President Worst received, part of which is as follows: "I find it impossible to meet the demand for teachers of Agriculture. Manual training and Commercial teachers are almost as scarce. If you know of any from the beginners to those qualified to take responsible positions, I shall be glad to have their names and addresses. I may be of service to them."

This is only a sample of one of the many letters received by President Worst every day, asking for teachers in many lines of work, but the demand for the teachers of Agriculture is the largest. The reason for this seems to be that there are so many of the different states and our own state included that are taking up the Back To The Farm slogan and are starting Agricultural schools and colleges where they may promote all lines of scientific agriculture.

Young men of North Dakota ambitious to secure an education have the assurance of a good position waiting for them when they graduate from an agricultural course. People are actually begging for their services, and President Worst states that "Young men should not be in doubt as to what particular course of study they should pursue."

The demand already strong will reach out and the demand will no doubt hold as there are so many fields opening up that were heretofore unknown. The field for the Agriculturist is a large one. Farmers' clubs, Testing associations, Better Farming movements of all sorts are demanding a large number of men and are paying high prices for their services.

Another feature in favor of a course at the North Dakota Agricultural college is the fact that the Faculty at their last meeting voted to have a permanent committee appointed which would make a special work of securing positions for the graduates, so that in the spring when the student graduated there would be a position waiting for him.

POLYTECHNIC SOCIETY IN ANNUAL BANQUET

The Polytechnic society in its first meeting of the year, opened its season's program, Wednesday night, with a banquet in Ceres hall.

A five course dinner, which had been tastefully prepared under the supervision of Mrs. Gilbert, was served, and covers were laid for eighty-five,—the wives of the members also being permitted to share in the feast.

A well chosen program, taking the part of after dinner speeches, followed the feed. Professor Minard in his talk on the High Cost of Living, and statistics which he gave, showed that no single agency, as a corporation, or a body, was responsible for the increasing cost, but various units, and uncontrollable conditions working together were causing this steady increase. Also that it was not only a state problem, nor alone a national issue, but one that had to be recognized the world over. Miss Stoner spoke very interestingly on her subject, The Cost of Living From the Homemakers' Point of View.

The Polytechnic society meets twice a month, and neat programs given out, shows the program prepared for the whole year. The topics for discussion are highly prominent and of scientific nature.

The next program will be given Oct. 29, in the judging pavilion, when Professor Richards will lecture on Breeds of Live Stock, and demonstrate his points. Professor Sheppard will lead a general discussion to follow the lecture.

"SUPPLY BELOW DEMAND FOR PAST 20 YEARS," SAYS
DEAN SHEPPARD.

It is difficult to say what extent of increase the demand for scientifically trained, capable, agricultural workers will be in the future but, with the rapid extension of agriculture in the public schools, high schools and institutions of higher learning, the demand for teachers must increase at a very rapid rate. A number of the states are saying, as they do publicly in Minnesota, that they would like to give state aid for more work in agriculture in the public schools but that it is useless to do so until there is a probability of having enough qualified teachers to fill the positions.

The landowner is coming to realize that a trained man can make his land earn very much more than it is doing at the present time by organizing his business, by adopting methods, by planning a methodical and sensible system of cropping and by adopting a means of weeding out the poor types of seeds and breeding animals. On this account, the landowners of the future will be sure to make a much heavier demand on the graduates of agricultural colleges than they have in the past.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture and the state experiment stations are extending their fields at a very rapid rate and they are picking up the best trained men much faster than they have done in the past.

Extension work in agriculture in its function of carrying information to the rural folk is making the strongest demand of any line at the present time for capable men to carry on its work.

The Lever and Page college extension bills have been before the U. S. Congress and have come as near an enactment into law as bills ever do without passing a U. S. Congress. It is almost certain that in less than five years vast sums of federal funds will be appropriated by a similar bill contingent on their being met with an equal sum from the state to carry on the extension work of the agricultural colleges.

With the improvements of farm-house equipment for the accommodations, known as modern conveniences, with the perfection of rural mail delivery and of parcel post service together with the rural telephone and the improvement of public roads a vast number of young men who have a little capital will steadily and consistently refuse to accept a position in any of the lines mentioned above but will establish themselves on a suitable farm and will live the independent life of a farm owner.

For many years, approximately twenty, to my positive knowledge, the supply of scientifically trained, agricultural men has been below the and the outlook for the future is that this condition will be greatly accentuated. J. H. Sheppard.

NEW CURTAIN FOR THE MODEL THEATRE

The new curtain for the new little theatre in the Main building has been hung and we now have a first class little stage. The new curtain is of the very best imported Velour, green in color and very rich in appearance.

It has improved wonderfully the appearance of the chapel since its remodeling last summer and as soon as new quarters are secured for the bookkeeping department the chapel will be turned over entirely to the use of the faculty and different organizations for their meetings.

The remodeling will also make the little theatre a very desirable place for short playlets, etc., and will afford a better opportunity than has been had heretofore for the rehearsal of dramatics at the college.

DR. BATT HONORED STUDENTS EARN 1300

A. C. PROFESSOR'S WORK RECOGNIZED IN PROMINENT MAGAZINE.

Dr. Batt's translation of Death and the Pool, by Hugo von Hofmannsthal was given a prominent position in the vacation number of Poet Lore. This translation was read at the Grand by Professor Minard one Sunday evening last year, and the reading, with the incidental music composed by Professor Boehme, made one of the most enjoyable programs of the entire course at the Grand. It is no small compliment to the work of Dr. Batt to have his translation of this play published in a magazine of the standing of Poet Lore.

A poem, written by Dr. Batt, called "The Newer Shrine," appeared in Public Libraries for July, 1913. The Newer Shrine is the Public Library where old and young and rich and poor go in their search for knowledge.

Y. M. C. A. EMPLOYMENT BUREAU MAKES AN EXCELLENT SHOWING.

In an informal report made recently by the Secretary of the College Y. M. C. A. to the Board of Directors it was noted that among the different items of work done by the organization so far this year that the Student Employment Bureau had made a particularly good showing. The report showed that, up to Monday, Oct. 6, the Bureau had disposed of work that amounted in total income to the students, to $1,309. Twenty-one men have been given permanent positions throughout the year, and many others have received work for periods of shorter duration. The Bureau attempts to fill all kinds of positions on one of two days' notice. Students who are looking for odd hour and Saturday employment are asked to report at the office at 12 o'clock a day previous to the date they wish to work.

MASS MEETINGS

You will notice an announcement in this issue for a rally. Our football men have been out on the football field every day the weather would permit since school started in September. They have practiced their signals and plays in order that they might become proficient in football. They have trained and worked hard in order that they become hard and able to stand the violent exercise which the game calls for, and it is up to them to be in the best possible shape when they meet an opponent.

In less than two weeks is the Fargo College-A. C. game. What shape are the rooters going to be in? Pretty bum shape, if they don't practice a little—if they don't accustom their voices to the strain that yelling calls for. So tomorrow noon we are to have our first tryout. We want every one to make a place. Come to this rally and the ones that follow and fit yourself for the struggle which is to take place on October 25th at the Fargo College Stadium. Use a little system. Choose your yell leaders tomorrow and then stick by them. Systematize your rooting and obey the signals from the yell leaders. Don't stand there and laugh at them as if you thought they were trying to fly, and don't gawk at them with your mouth open in astonishment, or a fly may go down your throat and choke you. But enter into the spirit of the rally and help the old Aggies come home with the honors. Be a booster.

NORTH DAKOTA DAY.

Our attention has recently been called to the fact that a very small percentage of the people of our state and even of the city of Fargo, have any knowledge whatsoever of our North Dakota Agricultural College. In fact it is doubtful if one person in one hundred in the city of Fargo or our state has ever been through our buildings. They do not realize that they are within a few miles of one of the greatest schools in the United States, and that our buildings rank among the best of their kind in the middle west.

Surprises galore meet the visitors from down in the city, and many of these visitors have lived here in Fargo for eight or ten years. Why is it? Is it because of a lack of interest on their part? Or have we at the college failed to interest them and by doing so also failed to interest their sons and daughters who are seeking for an education?

Then why not set aside a day of the school year, one of the days of our senior commencement season perhaps, as a Fargo Day? Or perhaps set it aside as a North Dakota Day? A day when all of the people of North Dakota will be specially invited to come to our college, inspect our buildings, our laboratories, our glass rooms, our barns and livestock, a day when the students will be on hand to show them through and answer their questions. A day when the Crack Squad will drill and the Cadet Band will play, and a day when the people who are supporting this school will be given a chance to really find out what their money has produced? Is it worth while?

Every student should learn to keep a systematic account of his expenditures while in school. An elaborate system of books is not needed but each one can work out some simple method for keeping a record of the expenses incurred during the year. Such a record will be the source of much satisfaction to the student when he comes to check up his accounts at the end of the month or the term. Moreover, the habit acquired, of keeping a systematic set of accounts, will prove invaluable to him in after life on the farm, in business, or in any line of work in which he may engage.

Some of the co-eds justly complained that they are hardly ever able to read the notices on the bulletin board because of the crowds of fellows who so constantly inhabit the floor space in front of it. Any self-respecting girl hesitates to force herself through such a crowd of boys, and as a result is unable to read the daily notices, many of which are as important to her as to any other student. We recommend that the authorities construct a bar or a counter (steam-heated) somewhere on the campus where the young men can lean and discuss the athletic situation to their heart's content, and thus the bulletin board may become unobstructed to the view of the girls. If you must lean, lean against less important structures than bulletin boards and postoffice writing-corners. If you must congregate, do it outdoors with the rest of the livestock.

Are we to have Inter-Class games this year? If so, it is time that the different classes elected their members to the Inter-Class Board of Control. There has been a great deal of talk in regard to the game of Soccer as the game for the classes to use because it does not demand the practice or team work that Rugby demands and then, too, more can enter into the game if they so desire.

There is no doubt but that several games of this kind this fall would do much to awaken the class spirit which is at such a low tide at the present time. Class spirit is a great thing and we need more of it here than we have. Why not start a series of these to be played during the fall and then followed out later in the year with a series of basketball and baseball? Now is the time, the President and the Coach have provided the place—"Let's Go."

CONVOCATION.

Noted Lecturer Addresses Agricultural College Men.

Winfield S. Hall, the noted lecturer and America's greatest authority on sex-hygiene, spoke to the men at convocation exercises yesterday morning.

Dr. Hall is widely known to students of hygiene, and besides being a physician and scientist of no small repute, is the author of a number of books. His experience as a lecturer is noteworthy, and only through combined efforts of the city and college christian associations were his services secured.

Numerous engagements were booked for him on his short stay here in the city and good crowds greeted him on all occasions. In the afternoon he addressed the young women in the Ceres hall gymnasium, all girls being granted special excuses from classes at that hour, and an invitation was extended to the girls of the Moorhead Normal and Fargo college, who wished to attend.

Miss Topping of the Florence Crittendon Home spoke to the girls at the regular convocation hour.

All those who took an active part in the Public Speaking and Literary events last year at the college are receiving as presents from the college a very neat little booklet which has been prepared by Professor Arvold and which contains all of the programs of the various events at the college last year. The book is neatly bound with a green leather cover, bearing the inscription, Souvenir Programs Department of Public Speaking, North Dakota Agricultural College, Season 1912-13.

The city of Paris is considering a plan of building tenement houses or providing lodgings for the poorer classes of people.

CERES HALL

The State Federation of Women's clubs will give their luncheon in Ceres hall dining room on Oct. 16. The same evening at 8:30 Mrs. Pennypacker will give an address at the Armory. The ladies of the State Federation will be guests of the college on this occasion.

Miss Clara Taylor, the Y. W. C. A. Territorial Secretary, addressed the girls at their meeting, Tuesday evening.

Marion Cox and Hildur Sorenson took breakfast with Mary Gibbons, Thursday, the day being Mary's birthday.

Mrs. J. L. Blanco of Edgeley visited between trains, Thursday, with her cousin, Eulalla.

Miss Gladys Plath spent the week end at her home at Wood, N. D.

Miss Elsie Fraese spent Sunday with Mrs. Strahl, Fargo, N. D.

J. P. Hober of Dogden spent Thursday and Friday with his daughter, Anna.

Miss Smith went to her home at Abercrombie to spend the week end.

Louise Clayton went home Friday evening, and she will return Monday, from Fraze, Minn.

George and Wallace Manikowski, and Will Vauble spent Sunday with Julia Manikowski.

Miss Agnes Hutchinson spent Sunday in Hillsboro.

Miss Elenor Erlendson of the Moorhead Normal spent Saturday and Sunday with Miss Hartney.

Miss Cecile Manikowski spent Friday at Mooreton, N. D.

Helen Monson spent the week end at her home at Harwood, N. D.

Mr. Allison Pope surprised his sister, Winifred, Friday evening. He will remain until Sunday.

Miss Ethel Willis, from the Agricultural College of Minnesota, dined with the Misses Mable Leet and Elsie Stark, Sunday.

ATHENIAN LITERARY SOCIETY.

The Athenian Literary society held a very interesting meeting last Friday evening, Oct. 10th. About thirty-five members were present and enjoyed the good program which was rendered, especially the practical advice of Professor Arvold.

The address of Professor Arvold was upon the line of work the different literary societies should be engaged in. He mentioned debating contests, the declamatory contest, the literary society festival, and the oratorical contest, as contests which the students should endeavor to enter some time during their college course. He also spoke of the way in which each society should have its individual members support their interest in these contests, and how a system of points should be awarded to the different societies to determine by the end of the year which had accomplished the more efficient piece of work.

MINNESOTA STUDENTS ENTERTAINED HERE

The party of Minnesota students, comprising the east in the play, "Back to the Farm," were delightfully entertained by members of the Alpha Zeta Fraternity at a Sunday dinner, in Ceres Hall, Oct. 5th.

Staging their play at the Moorhead Normal, the previous night, marked the conclusion of a three weeks' tour, and everywhere had their efforts in staging their play, met with wonderful success.

About ten members made up the party, and after the noon meal the afternoon was pleasantly spent in the Ceres Hall parlors.

Michigan's schedule shows no game with a western college so we will have no chance to compare the eastern and western colleges in football.
