

Bimonthly

U L L E T I N

...To Men of Good Will.

This is the season of Thanksgiving and Christmas—and of fervent wishes for a real “Peace on Earth” for a troubled world in which men of all nations are sickened by wars and the fearful expectations of new and more awful wars.

In the center of North America, surrounded by the Turtle Mountains, is nestled a tiny garden on the borders of two of the great powers of the world. This garden offers a beacon of hope in a troubled world, for it lies on the world’s longest undefended boundary, between two countries which have had an unbroken friendship for nearly 150 years. It is the fervent prayer of the peoples of the United States and Canada that the other nations of the world will follow this example.

NORTH DAKOTA AGRICULTURAL EXPERIMENT STATION
FARGO - - NORTH DAKOTA

November
December

1955

Volume XVIII
Number 2

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Five Answers Regarding Mastitis.....	35
By I. A. Schipper and D. F. Eveleth
The Fight Against Flax Rust.....	40
By H. L. Walster
Fattening Steers, Open Heifers and Spayed Heifers on High Roughage Rations.....	46
By Larkin H. Langford, Raymond J. Douglas and M. L. Buchanan
Listeriosis of a Skunk.....	49
By F. M. Bolin, Jenny Turn, S. H. Richards, and D. F. Eveleth
A Chopped Hay Feeder for Sheep.....	51
By George Pratt and Merle Light
Pelleted Barley for Hogs—II.....	56
By W. E. Dinusson, D. W. Bolin and M. L. Buchanan
Natural Enemies of the Wheat Stem Sawfly.....	63
By E. G. Davis, Curtis Benton and H. W. Somsen
What About Parasites in the Winter?.....	66
By R. F. Shumard
New Emphasis Placed Upon Baking Quality of Wheat.....	68
By Rae H. Harris
North Dakota Farm Prices.....	70
By L. W. Schaffner

COVER PICTURE of the cairn and flagpoles at the International Peace Garden was taken for the Greater North Dakota Association by Wm. P. Sebens.