BIOGRAPHY

Thomas McGrath was born November 20, 1916 near Sheldon, North Dakota, the son of James Lang and Catherine (Shea) McGrath. After graduating from local schools, he attended the University of North Dakota in 1935 from where he was graduated in 1939. In 1940 he received an M.A. Degree from Louisiana State University and then taught for a year at Colby College at Waterville, Maine. With the entry of America into World War II, Mr. McGrath served in the U.S. Army Air Forces from 1942 to 1945. In 1947 he was a Rhodes Scholar at New College, Oxford University in England. Mr. McGrath from 1950 to 1954 taught at Los Angeles State College and in 1960 to 1961 at Post College on Long Island, New York. In 1961 he came to North Dakota State University as Assistant Professor of English, and in 1969 he accepted a position at Moorhead State University.

Mr. McGrath's career as a poet made him a leading writer in America. Among his work are To Walk a Crooked Mile, Letter to an Imaginary Friend, The Movie at the End of the World: Collected Poems, The Gates of Ivory, the Gates of Horn. He authored some twenty film scripts, was editor of Crazy Horse and assistant editor of California Quarterly and other literary magazines. Among his awards are the Alan Swallow Poetry Book Award in 1954 for Figures from a Double World, the Amy Lowell Traveling Poetry Scholarship (1965-1966) and a Guggenheim Fellowship (1967-1969).

Mr. McGrath married Eugenia Johnson on February 13, 1960 and they had one son Thomas Samuel Koan McGrath. Mr. McGrath was a member of the Association of Rhodes Scholars and Phi Beta Kappa. He died September 19, 1990.

The Movie at the End of the World: Thomas McGrath was written, edited and directed by Mike Hazard and Paul Burtness and issued by The Center for International Education, Saint Paul, Minnesota. The production of the movie was funded through grants from the North Dakota Humanities Council and the Minnesota State Arts Board. It was released in 1981 by The Center for International Education, and the premiere showing was held October 31, 1981 at the Plains Art Museum in Moorhead, Minn.

SCOPE AND CONTENT

This collection of video and audio tapes consists of the original field recordings, audiocassettes and slides that were used for the creation of The Movie at the End of the World: Thomas McGrath. The collection has been organized into eleven series based upon the format and the original markings on the tapes. The tapes have not been viewed in the preparation of this preliminary finding aid; instead this finding aid is based upon the written documentation that came with the collection and on the tapes themselves.

The Red “M” Label 3/4 in. Video Cassettes Series includes 15 ¾ in. tapes of raw footage of Thomas McGrath shot for the production of the movie. Most of the cassettes and containers have a brief label as to contents which have been transcribed into the container listing section of this finding aid. The ‘M’ numbering scheme is found on the spine of the containers.

The White “M” Label 3/4 in. Video Cassettes Series includes 24 Scotch UCA20S tapes and contain raw footage shot for the production of the movie. The contents are indicated on the tape container and are included, as written, as part of the container listing of this finding aid. They are scenes of Thomas McGrath in various contexts, as well as some at the Rollag, Minnesota steam threshers site.
The Green “M” Label 3/4 in. Video Cassettes Series includes nine Scotch MBU-15S tapes with labels marked M201 through M209. There is no identifying information on the tape or container.

The Brown “M” Label 3/4 in. Video Cassettes Series includes two ¾ in. video tapes that are marked ‘Dub of Reading’ and ‘Dub of Poems.’

The two ¾ in. tapes in the Green Label 3/4 in. Video Cassettes Series have no identifying information with them. The green-colored labels on the outside cover have written ‘M1009A’ and ‘M1114.’

The Yellow Label Video Cassettes Series consists of three ¾ in. Sony KCS20 tapes containing a variety of raw footage. With each tape is a handwritten log of its contents.

The Miscellaneous Video Cassettes Series includes ¾ in. copy tapes of a number of movies for which Thomas McGrath was involved. They include Ages of Time for which Tom McGrath wrote the text. This 18-minute video is a documentary on the history of time and keeping track of time. It was narrated by Burgess Meredith. Others include Supply Manager’s Dilemma, Intelligence, A Building is Many Buildings, and another simply labeled Pheasant and Tom Mantra.

There are two Scotch MBU-40 Master Broadcast Video cassettes that are labeled simply ‘McGrath #1’ and ‘McGrath #2.’ A Sony KCA-60XBR broadcast master video cassette is labeled simply ‘McGrath.’ Completing this series is a ¾ in. tape of The Movie at the End of the World that is marked ‘Master.’

The Final Movie Tapes Series includes three 1 inch tapes that contain the final cut of the completed movie.

The Audio Cassettes Series includes fifteen 60- and 90-minute cassettes. They include tapings of McGrath and others, and music. The ‘M’ numbers indicated on the cassettes correspond with the ‘M’ number on the videotapes.

The Slides Series consists primarily of printed text used in the production of the movie. There are also copies of several images of McGrath, both as a child and an adult. Some of the slides are sequentially numbered, but there are gaps in this series.

The Paper Records Series consists primarily of tape logs, notes, and correspondence related to the production of the movie, including the broadside for its premiere showing in 1981. In addition there is a photocopy of the script for Genesis by George Casey and Tom McGrath (Fourth draft, 1978), and a copy of the article Movie Moonlighting, or the Other Career of Tom McGrath, by Mike Hazard. There are items related to an event celebrating the life of Thomas McGrath, held in Minneapolis, Minn. in 1990.
