Dance Troupe To Present Evening Convocation Here

An outstanding troupe of modern dancers under the direction of Gertrude Lippincott will present an evening convocation at the North Dakota Agricultural College Friday, Dec. 1, at 8 p.m. in Festival hall.

For the program here Dec. 1, which will be open to faculty, students and friends of the college, Miss Lippincott has choreographed especially a new duet from a group work, "A Full Moon in March". The music for this work was composed especially for Miss Lippincott by Henry Cowell, noted American composer. The work which is a part of a longer piece, will be danced by Miss Lippincott and Robert Moulton, instructor in the drama department of the University of Minnesota. Moulton will also appear with Miss Lippincott in another duet, entitled "Suite" (to music by Casella), and in a ballet pantomime called, "Just We Two." In this dance, both Miss Lippincott and Moulton speak lines which have been taken from the cartoons of William Steig, "Till Death Do Us Part".

A group dance, "An Entertainment for the Imagination", will be danced by Miss Lippincott, Ruth Braunstein, Eunice Brown and Robert Moulton. Solos by Miss Lippincott for the Fargo performance will include "If Love were Love", a new work with music by Louis Forst, and "Deirdre of the Sorrows", based on the old Irish legend put into a play by J. M. Synge.

Eunice Brown will dance with Miss Lippincott in a new duet entitled "Drama in Space" with music by the modern dance composer, Freda Miller. For her third solo, Miss Lippincott will present "Invitation", with music by Louis Horst.

Director of Modern Dance at the Minneapolis YWCA, Miss Lippincott has been Artist-in-Residence at Hamline university for two years, assistant professor of dance at Mount Holyoke College, and has made guest appearances as a concert dancer, teacher, and lecturer at many universities and colleges throughout the country.

Accompanist for the dance group will be Miss Pat Tramz of Hamline university music department and the MacPhail School of Music.

To obtain the flag you may contact Beverly Widdifield.

Froeschel Named First Place Winner In Architecture

Donald Froeschle of Hazen was named first place winner of the 1950 Architect's competition sponsored by the North Dakota Association of Architects. This year's project for the competition was to design "A Community Center for a Small Town".

Second place winner was Kenneth Maetzold, Cray; third place winner, Marvin Rosvold, Devils Lake; and honorable mention went to James Falck, Fargo, and Orton Bjore, West Fargo.

Each year junior, senior and fifth year students of the NDAC architecture department participate in this competition. Problems for the competition are selected on the basis of usefulness for North Dakota building. The community center of this year's problem was designed to include such functions as public gatherings, occasionally needing kitchen facilities, 4-H club, Farmers Union, church groups, civic plays, weekly movies and basketball; library reading room to be open several nights a week with an attendant; area for town council meetings; and a small area for police headquarters with two cells for prisoners, and also a space for two fire trucks for use of a volunteer fire department.

Architecture students were allowed six weeks to design this structure and construct a model of their design. Thirty-one entries were received.

Judges were Paul Grosz, Algot Anderson, Myron Denbrook, architects from Grand Forks; Professor Knute A. Henning, Professor Anthony Ellner, Alfred Moffett and Gale Vetter, staff members of the NDAC department of architecture.

Tau Beta Pi Holds Initiation Banquet

North Dakota Alpha chapter of Tau Beta Pi, national honorary engineering society, held its fall initiation and banquet at the Frederick Martin Hotel in Moorhead on Tuesday evening, Nov. 14. Those initiated were John Erickson, Hugh Hansen, Ralph Hansen, Robert Heltemes, Eivind Horvick, Robert Peet, Verne Plath, Robert Potter, Gordon Quanbeck, Robert Scott, Robert Sieber, Thomas Moore, and Myron Broschat, alumnus of NDAC.

Dr. Daniel Q. Posin of the physics department acted as toastmaster at the banquet, which followed initiation ceremonies, adding bits of wit and humor to the festivities. Special entertainment was provided by the F-M Hotel's magician, El Don. Special guests at the banquet were the Leads of the various engineering departments of the college.

Main speaker of the evening was Tau Beta Pi president Allen Driesner who gave a report on his recent trip to Boston, Mass., where he attended the national convention of Tau Beta Pi on Oct. 19 through 21.

President Driesner presented the prize winning pledge essay award to Robert V. Peet who read his essay on "Facing the Problems of Engineering Education."

Local Draft Board Announces Rules Deferring Students

A check with the local draft board revealed the full time students who receive their orders for induction while enrolled in an institution of higher learning and wish to postpone their entrance into the armed forces should request it.

Can a full time college student receive deferment? The local draft board has discretion in this matter. Some boards have defined (classification 2A) those who have the following qualifications.

- 1 Completed one academic year of full time instruction.
- 2 The registrants scholastic standing placed him among the upper half of his class.
3. The local board is satisfied by the record of the registrants actions that he fully intended prior to August 1, 1950, to enroll in a full time course of instruction.

Other boards in the state are not deferring college students because they need to fill their quotas.

The draft needs hinge on the world situation in general and the Korean situation in particular. When the Chinese Reds invaded Korea, the quotas for the local draft boards were increased. Because of this increased quota; selective service may have to draw heavily on the college population.

LCT Players Perform In Davenport Theatre

The Little Country Theater Players journeyed to Davenport, N. Dak., last night where they presented the three-act play, "Her Husband's Wife". They were assisted by the two neighborhood program classes with song and dance numbers. The program was presented to a full house.

Friday, Nov. 3, the group presented the same program at Fort Ransom, N. Dak. and on Nov. 6, at the Little Country Theater. It was necessary to cancel the Nov. 7, performance due to weather conditions.

LOST

A gold Parker fountain pen of sentimental value was lost on the campus last Friday. Will the finder please return it to Dr. P. J. Iverson in the Education department for a reward.

Committee Plans Library Programs

A committee composed of students and faculty met recently to discuss plans for programs which will be presented in the student lounge of the library.

The committee, headed by H. Dean Stallings, librarian, considered a number of suggestions. An effort will be made to secure releases of old films which have become classics, such as those starring Charlie Chaplin. In conjunction with the modern language and English departments, outstanding foreign films will be brought to the campus.

Other programs will feature popular and classical record programs. Outstanding books will be reviewed by students and faculty members. Panels under the direction of the music department, discussions of current campus issue, and other meeting will be held there.

Tentative time for these programs has been set for 4:15-5:00 p.m. Wednesdays in the student lounge. Arrangements for coffee to be served are being considered.

These programs are being planned for the winter term. More details will be released later.

Members of the committee are H. Dean Stallings, librarian, Dr. Fred Genschmer, modern language department, Ernest Van Vliessen, music department, Bob Ouradnik, Curt Striegel, Walt Biggs, Hugh Hansen, and Rosemarie Lohse.

Christmas Festival Set For Dec. 10

December 10 is the date set for the 35th annual Christmas Festival, sponsored by the Little Country Theatre. Highlight of the program will be presentation of the pageant, "Why the Chimes Rang."

Wood-Steel Bleachers To Be Installed In Field House

Whether or not Bison basketball fortunes materialize, Athletic Director C. C. Finnegan promises comfortable seats anyway.

NDAC's field house is getting a new look. Revamping began last Friday on the arrival of new bleachers.

The basketball court will now run north and south instead of east and west. Finnegan said the new bleachers are a wood-steel combination and will be easily collapsible to make room for intramural games and school dances and parties.

The bleachers will be placed on all four sides of the field house instead of on just the north and south sides as before.

Movable glass bankboards will be used for the varsity games, and, when the bleachers are folded, regular bankboards will be lowered from the ceiling for intramural games.

Several problems have arisen, Finnegan said. He implied that the bleacher seating behind the bankboards will have to be apportioned between the students and local fans.

Finnegan said he hoped that the new setup will be completed and ready for use in two more weeks. One court is left open each day for varsity and frosh practices.

Last summer the college reconstructed the field house ceiling to include better lighting and an amplifying system, said to be one of the best in the northwest.

The new setup virtually eliminates use of the stage on the north end of the field house for physical education classes.

Alumni Elect Hughes

Max R. Hughes, Fargo consulting engineer has been reelected president of the North Dakota Agricultural College Alumni and Former Students association for his second consecutive term.

30 Grade Pupils Visit Geology Dept.

About 30 sixth grade pupils of St. Joseph's Academy in Moorhead spent Friday afternoon in the NDAC geology department. With their teacher, Sister Margaret Mary, the Moorhead pupils studied rocks, minerals, fossils of prehistoric animals, and plans in the North Dakota Agricultural College geology collection.

Previous to their visit to the College campus, the sixth grade class had spent a day collecting rocks along the shore of glacial Lake Agassiz which they brought for discussion and identification. Lake Agassiz existed about 10,000 years ago when glacial ice blocked the Red River to the north, Dr. Willard D. Pye, chairman of the NDAC geology department said. The Lake occupied most of the present Red River valley.

The Moorhead class is making this study as part of their natural history course and as part of their history of Minnesota. Some of the children planned to use this material as a part of merit badge work in Boy Scouts and Camp Fire Girls.

Political Scientist To Speak Thursday

Professor Ross B. Talbot, from the political science department of the University of North Dakota, will speak on "Farm Movements in North Dakota" at the agricultural economics seminar Thursday, Nov. 30, at 4 p.m. in Room 215, Morrill hall.

"Antigone" Cast Rehearse For Show December 6-8

"Where can I find a Greek dictionary? I want to look up the pronunciation of these Greek names."

"How can we change Carol Jean Smith's short black hair for her portrayal of the 'gay and golden' Ismene?"

These are only a few of the problems that cast and director of "Antigone" must face.

Rehearsals are held daily in

Students Demonstrate Gift Wrapping At "Y"

Senior students enrolled in the course of methods of adult education gave a gift wrapping demonstration as their part of the YMCAs Christmas Idea Festival, which was held November 8 and 9.

The students showed the proper uses of various kinds of paper, ribbon, and other decorations. To achieve varied effects in bows, they used yarn, dime-store ribbon, pine cones, glitter paper stars, and cotton-bearded Santas.

The course in methods in adult education is for senior women interested in teaching and in home demonstration work. However, almost every senior girl takes it.

Taking part in the demonstration at the Christmas Idea Festival were Dana Hall, Donna Sommerfeld, Jeanette Keltgen, Mary Ellen Shaheen, Helen Ford, Doris Durbin, Lois Fankhanel, and Mary Severson.

They have been invited to give their demonstration to the West Fargo chapter of Future Homemakers of America and to the North Dakota State Council of Homemakers, which will meet on the campus Dec. 5-7.

"The NDAC Memorial Student Union will be started sometime during the spring of '51," according to Elaine Lichtsinn, a student member of the Student Union Board of Directors.

Home Ec Students Practice With Children

"Bye Daddy, see you soon," said the two year old child as she left for a college class. She is a bit young for college, but she's doing fine.

She is one of several children on the campus who are subjects for the child training course for home economics students. The children are picked up at 11:15 a.m. and returned home at 12:30 p.m. During this time they are entertained and given their noon lunch.

GASOLINE HARMONY

Molecules with Hollywood personalities will help tell the inside story of modern gasoline in the new motion picture, "Gasoline's Amazing Molecules," to be shown here. These jovial characters, with shapes built around actual patterns of science-fashioned molecules, represent gasoline components that harmonize. The film is in sound and color.

This film "Gasoline's Amazing Molecules" and another, "The Gift of Green" are to be shown at the regular meeting of the Chemistry club Nov. 30, at 8:00 p.m. in Room 207 at the Chemistry Building.

"The Gift of Green" is a color film illustrating the process of photosynthesis. Everyone who is interested is invited to come. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

Ed Johnson Sets Up Campus Speech Clinic

"My Grandfather. You wish to know all about my Grandfather. Well. . . ." These words have been repeated by students over 300 times in the last few weeks as they were initiated into the service offered by the speech department. Each student taking a speech course this quarter had an individual conference with Mr. Edward Johnson, the new speech correctionist, to find if there were any defects in the student's speech.

"This was more than just an attempt to find the speech difficulties," Johnson said. "When we did find them we tried to help the person overcome some of his troubles."

At the present time students with various types of difficulties are coming to the clinic, some of them with mistakes in speech that they had never noticed before but that had hindered their ability to communicate effectively. Others are coming to the clinic with definite speech problems that they have recognized for a number of years.

An effort is being made to get as many students as possible with speech difficulty into the clinic. "We know that there are a number of students on the campus with difficulties, unless this school is the exception," Johnson stated. In this country there is, on the average, about 6 per cent of the population with speech defects. That would better than a hundred here on the campus. "These are the people that we are trying to reach at the present time and I would be very glad to talk to any student about any trouble he is having with his speech," he said.

The speech clinic, on the third floor of Old Main, has been recently fitted out for the services it is to render. A new mirror, recorder, and other equipment has been purchased. "We want to stress that this is a service for the students and anything that can be done for them will be done in connection with the many other fine student services on campus," Johnson said. "The science of speech correction is fairly new, not only on this campus but all over the country, and we think it will be a good extension of the services of the speech department following its policy of teaching more effective speech. The ability to communicate is a very important one."

Ag Journalism Minor Needed In Curriculum

The demand for agricultural journalists is high. There are only five colleges in the nation that are offering ag journalism and since ours is an agricultural college, an ag journalism minor should be added to the curriculum.

The agricultural journalism field is wide and is not included in the weekly newspaper field. This college has received numerous letters asking for ag journalists and they still remain on file. There are numerous opportunities in this field, some of which are:

1. With USDA, which puts out a large number of bulletins, pamphlets, etc., to the number of about 35,000,000 individual copies a year.
2. With state departments which issue publications on soil conservation, etc.
3. With agricultural colleges, probably over 50, which have extension service news and experiments station editors. NDAC has, for example, John Burnham, Tom Gildersleeve, and Robert Rathbone (plus assistants).
4. Business papers or trade journals (some 200) in fields allied with agriculture.
5. With farm magazines and farm papers (some 600) with general distribution. These include: national magazines (Country Gentleman), state and regional papers (Dakota Farmer), specialized farming, and organizational papers.
6. With newspapers. The Editor and Publisher Year Book lists over 500 daily newspapers with farm editors; including reporters who specialize in farm news, the number would be much larger.
7. With wire services and syndicates as AP, UP, and syndicates which hire reporters and feature writers who specialize in farm news.
8. With radio stations who also hire specialists in writing and broadcasting radio farm news.

There is an increasing need for ag journalists because agriculture is involved in governmental controls and becoming more specialized. Also, ag journalists are increasingly requiring better training.

Every year this college graduates numerous county agents. It is the county agent's duty to inform the farmers in his jurisdiction of crop conditions, diseases and controls, and other farm news through articles in county weeklies. A course in ag journalism would benefit ag students in this respect.

Although these facts only superficially cover the possibilities of journalism in the agricultural field, they nevertheless point out another way in which NDAC could increase its curriculum to its own benefit. A minor in agricultural journalism at NDAC would not only better prepare those students who desire to become county agents to handle their jobs, but also would attract and hold students who have an interest in entering these other fields.—EAS.

Student Commission Minutes

November 14, 1950

The meeting was called to order by Pres. Freeh. Roll was called. Bob Colliton was absent. Richard Tewskbury and Mr. Skinner were present as visitors. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Mr. Skinner gave an outline of the allocation of Student money. Allocations are as follows:

Athletic Board	$2.00	Brd. of Music	.20
Br. of Pub. Prog.	1.00	Student Reserve	.50
Bison	2.00	Student Commission	5.00
Spectrum	1.00	Student Union	5.00

The Student Reserve fund now totals approximately $6000 without the receipt of veteran registration for this fall quarter. The Student Reserve Fund is available to the Student Commission without restriction. Any allocation or changes in allocation should be made every spring.

Doug Payne moved that the Student Commission donate $1000 to the Student Union, seconded by Bristol. After considerable discussion, the opinion was expressed by various members of the Commission that with a large sum of money ($5 per student per quarter) going to the Student Union from the students now, it would be better to withhold such a donation until a time when it could be of greater help. The motion was defeated. It was suggested that all future requests for money be channeled first through the Board of Finance. Ralph Christensen moved that the Board of Finance determine whether a set of rules should be set up to cover requests for money. Seconded by McCalley. Approved.

Bob Johnson reported on a letter to the College Council asking for approval to amend the Constitution, Article 3, Sec. 2, with reference to the date of spring election. Johnson suggested that the election be held the second week of the spring quarter and that the new commission meet together with the old until the fourth week. The matter was tabled until the Board of Campus Affairs could meet.

Ralph Christensen gave a complete report of the Board of Higher Education Conference held in Minot November 5, 6, 7. Lavonne Somers will be the NDC representative at the Conference Committee meeting to be held in Valley City, January 6, 1951.

Respectfully submitted,
Robert Ouradnik

The Score

By JIM SCHRIMPF

The Reynolds Tobacco Co. has just about swung a deal to purchase the remaining twenty feet of space on top of the chimney for advertising space. They had to outbid both the Sigs and Theta Chi, though.

Both the Gamma Phi's and the Kappas have entertained the football team. The Gamma Phi's spent twice as much on their entertainment as the Kappa's did. Does that mean they are richer or just more eager?

And I thought for awhile that the Kappa's had won their war with the Gamma Phi's - the Kappa Key was hanging proudly over the G.P. front door on Monday - for awhile. And a 'For Sale' sign was displayed prominently in front of the Kappa House. All a mistake, I have been notified.

How many of you males escaped the eager clutches of the females for the Spinster Skip tonight? If you are there, check the door prize, Gus the Umpteenth - I hear he's going to be stewed.

Anyone noticed the penny over in the library?

Winter Misery

By Loretta Brown

I lie against the pillows, I drink the hot tea fast. I keep the box of kleenex ready for the blast.

I take my aspirin quickly, (I just can't bear the taste) I rub my chest with hot oil which makes me feel like paste. My feet are cold, my poor head aches.

I'm such a sorry sight. Sometimes I even wonder if I'll last throughout the night. I long for days of old gone by, Days with no slush nor snows, When I enjoyed the privilege of breathing through my nose. I left my mittens in the drawer, My boots in the back hall. I went into the winter cold As though 'twere only fall. I've caught a cold—Achoo! (pardon me.)

I'm miserable—let's face it. I've caught a cold, and do you know? I didn't even chase it!

Spinster Skip, Sadie Hawkins Day Highlight Weekend Activities

By LOIS FITZLOFF

If anyone takes in both the Spinster Skip and the ATO Sadie Hawkins party which is Saturday, it will be quite a weekend. In fact, they can be eternally grateful to Al Capp, creator of 'Lil Abner.

Of course the big question this Friday is how they are going to fix the drawing for the turkey so everyone gets a bite. Don't despair if you lose out on the bird though, there's only six days until Thanksgiving.

My apologies to the Sigs for the mixed up copy that has appeared in this column. I assure you it is no personal grudge that has caused the confusion lately.

Sigma Phi Delta's term party will include a testimonial banquet and semi-formal hop at the Moorhead country club tonight from 9 to 12. The boys also plan to entertain the Gamma Phi's next Tuesday from 5 to 8.

A western party is scheduled for Saturday by the YW-YM organizations in the Y auditorium at 8:30. Square dancing will be the main event of the evening.

KD's received a telegram from their pledges saying "We regret to inform you that we are missing." AGR pledges accompanied them on the skip.

The football team was entertained by the KD's on Wednesday from 5 to 8 at a supper party.

Last Thursday Theta Chi's feted the KD's. The program featured a truth or consequences quiz show.

Pledges did a lot of entertaining this week. Wednesday Alpha Gam pledges had a record party with ATO's at 6:30. Kappa Psi, AGR's, and Alpha Gams played cards etc. with the Gamma Phi pledges that same day too.

The AGR term party turned out to be quite an affair what with the electricity going off, etc. You always read about people getting stuck between floors in elevators but this time some AGRs and their dates really did. The people who got stranded across the street were quite perturbed because the organ wouldn't function anymore. If you get the chance don't pass up El Don, the magician at the FM hotel. He really has some good card tricks.

Now for the big news on campus. Gamma Phi Kay Scheel is wearing a diamond sparkler from Don Norem, Concordia fellow.

Two more ATO's pins are being exhibited as of this weekend. Jim Piemel pinned Delores Ledding, a nurse from Fergus Falls; and Marvin Franzen gave his jewelry to Joan Isenbeiss from Fargo. Passing candy at the KD house Monday night was Nancy Sherman who is pinned to Sigma Chi, Pat Myhre.

The Ballpoint

By BOB JOHNSON

Regardless of last week's Spectrum and the local paper, this year's annual Military Ball will be held January 19 (Nineteenth) and not the 10th. Proof readers take note.

The local spy ring has brought in news of interest to gals living in the south side of Dakota hall. If you wish to frustrate a couple of married men, gals, start pulling your shades in the evening. Although these peeping toms are only a few feet away (in the Chem building) they have been using binoculars yet.

Well, the first of the all-college girl takes boy affairs of the year has arrived. Rumor has it that Festival hall will be filled to capacity tonight. At least there will be a few people filled to capacity, we dare say.

Mystery writer Hugh Guessit was found dead in the Spectrum office last Friday afternoon. Police are holding one Willie Best who was found at the scene of the crime with a bloody dagger in his hand. Authorities say the motive was jealousy.

It appears that NDAC students just don't care what they do with their money. Whether students know it or not they pay 15 bucks a year toward the Student Union, but as yet not many have shown enough interest in their hard cash to offer any suggestion to the student union board on what's to be done with the money. Why doesn't somebody speak up?

What with not paper next week (Hooray!!) because of the Thanksgiving holiday let us take this opportunity to say "Bonne Feste" which in French means—don't eat too much, or if you must eat, don't forget the bicarb, Pierre.

"Okay—Joan—okay, so I'll go with you to the Spinster Skip tonight."

Chemists Analyze Unknown Element, Wo

By Delbert Hanrington

Recent research in the chemistry department has brought to light the following facts about the element called Woman. Woman is a member of the human family and has been assigned the chemical symbol of Wo. The accepted atomic weight is 120, although a number of isotopes have been identified having weights ranging from 95-400.

OCURENCE

It is abundant in nature and found both free and combined, usually associated with man. That found in one's own locality is preferred.

PHYSICAL PROPERTIES

A number of allotropic forms have been observed, their density, transparency, hardness, color, and boiling points varying within wide limits. The color exhibited by many specimens is a surface phenomenon, and is usually due to closely adhering powder. It has been found that an unpolished specimen tends to turn green in the presence of a highly polished one. The boiling point for some varieties is quite low, while others are likely to freeze at any moment. All varieties melt under proper treatment. The taste varies from sweet to very bitter, depending upon environment.

CHEMICAL PROPERTIES

Wo absorbs without dissolving, in a number of liquids, the activity being greatly increased by C3 H5 O H. Seemingly unlimited quanties of expensive food can also be absorbed. Some varieties catalyze this into fat in accordance with the formula PV-MRT.

Many naturally occurring varieties are highly magnetic. In general, the magnetism varies Anne-ions, others Cat-ions. Their ionic migrations vary widely. All varieties exhibit a great affinity for silver, gold, and platinum, and for precious stones both in the chain and ring structures. The valence towards these substances is high and the study is complicated by the fact that its residual valence is never satisfied.

Many stable and unstable unions have been described, the latter in the daily press. Some varieties are highly explosive and are exceedingly dangerous in inexperienced hands. In general they tend to explode spontaneously when left alone by man. The application of pressure to different specimens of Wo produces such a variety of results as to defy the principles of Le Chatelier.

USES

Highly ornamental, wide application in the arts. Acts as positive

The library contains over 92,000 volumes and adds approximately 5,000 each year.

The Scoreboard

By JOHN HESSE

I hear tell via the Dakota Student that North Dakota university has the number one team in the nation. Somehow or another, they figured it out by comparative scores, in a process that a normal human being finds a bit difficult to follow.

To think that right here in Hesse North Dakota we have the nation's top team. How about that. For weeks and weeks I've been under the impression that it was Army or Southern Methodist, or somebody like that. Well, I guess that they know best.

A lot of the Bison's scoring, and his height should be an asset under the basket.

A fractured leg kept Bunker from playing with the frosh last year, thus saving him a year of eligibility. At for the rest, they are tall, young, spirited and good shots.

All in all, it looks as if NDAC will have a top bunch of bucketeers this year. I would like to see it. We have been in the sports doldrums for a long time, and a winning team in some sport would be a welcome change.

Frosh Coaches Pleased With Grid Record

By MANCUR OLSON

Chuck Benson and Dennis Drews, coaches of the 1951 NDAC freshmen football team, stated that they were "pleasantly surprised" and "more than satisfied" with the undefeated record of their charges this year.

Last year, too, the Bison Yearlings were undefeated, but the coaches have observed more balance in this year's squad and also a few players who are more advanced in their gridiron development. Of course, the season was too short to get a definite picture of the strength of the individual players or the team as a whole.

In the three games that were played and in the workouts against the varsity, several frosh distinguished themselves. If they continue their rapid improvement during the spring practices they are certain to see varsity action next year.

These 30 men completed the season for the freshmen.

LINEMEN

ROTC Shooters Beat Creighton U, Nebraska

The ROTC Rifle team under the direction of Lt. John Augis, USAF, recently defeated two out of three opponents in postal matches with teams from over the country. Eugene Norheim, Rock Lake, was top marksman twice with 332 out of 400 as NDAC beat Creighton university 1863 to 1739 and Nebraska U 1864 to 1758.

Dave Robinson, Washburn, scored high for the NDAC team with 378 when it lost to top seeded U of Maryland 1928 to 1856.

A total of 36 postal and 10 shooter to shoulder matches will be fired by the team this year according to Augis.

Herd Kicks Lid Off Schedule With Hamline Game Nov. 25

By IRV LETOPSKY

Coach Charlie Benson's Bison basketballers, who kick the lid off their 1950-51 campaign against mighty Hamline at St. Paul Nov. 25, have been hard at scrimmage the past week.

Benson has been scrimmaging varsity against varsity in hopes of uncovering the top seven or eight players. Several freshman prospects had been drilling with the varsity in early practices but have been sent down to their own group since frosh tryouts have started.

Benson has tentatively slated to take 12 players to St. Paul for the Hamline opener. He doesn't know too much about the Pipers except that the St. Paul squad has lost the services of all-American Hal Haskins, Joe Hut-ton, Jr., and Bill Wannamaker.

Following Hamline, the Bison face MSTC on the Dragon court on Dec. 1 and play St. Thomas at St. Paul on Dec. 5.

The only schedule change thus far is the MSTC game at the Field house Feb. 1, moved from Feb. 3.

PROSPECTS 'UNCERTAIN'

The congenial Bison mentor says the Herd's future is still "very uncertain."

"Obviously we will be an inexperienced ball club," he pointed out. "We'll have some height, a little speed, and fair shooting. But until I see which boys react best under fire, I can't start forming the ball club or predicting what lies ahead."

Benson was pleased with the practice performances of rangy Art Bunker, who will probably carry much of the Bison's scoring burden.

Greatly improved from last season are Jimmie O'Connor, Jerry Geisler, Bob Grant, and Rod Fercho. Grant and Jack Cavanagh are the two Bison lettermen returning from last season.

Some top prospects from last year's frosh team were out Monday following the close of the football season. Duane (Grut) Anderson, Dale Peppel, and Roger Huizenga are expected to give the Bison quite a boost.

FOUGNER ELIGIBLE DEC. 15

Don Fougner, the former all-state player from Williston, will see a lot of action after he is eligible. Fougner will play in the Dec. 15 home opener against Wahpeton Science.

Others working with the varsity are Bob Hipke, Jim Fay, Don Meyers, Bud Rydstrom, Sam Vranish, Al Keating, Ken Hansen, Roger Fercho, and Ossie Twedt.

There is not a senior on the squad, so it looks like big things for Field house patronage in the near future. The Herd opens conference play at South Dakota State Jan. 5.

After the Bison get some experience from the early season's non-conference games, Benson feels, they will start causing some worry around the North Central circuit.

1950 Bison Footballers . . .

Poor Grid Season Surpasses Previous Years

By JOHN HESSE

Taking everything into consideration, the 1950 season was far more successful for the NDAC Bison gridlers this year. However, it was far better than the success that teams in the past few years have accomplished.

The Bison under the tutelage of Mac Wenskunas and Bernie Krueger, a pair of Illinois stalwarts, opened early drills with only a small nucleus of lettermen and experienced reserves. The Bison's chief asset was the product of an undefeated freshman eleven from 1949.

AUGUSTANA 6 - NDAC 0

The Herd opened the year by dropping a 6-0 decision to the undermanned Augustana Squad. The Bison looked as if they would have the stuff to come back later in the year, in spite of a case of "first-game jitters" which caused them to fumble constantly. Augustana looked almost as green, and were guilty, time after time of off-sides, which caused a number of penalties.

MARQUETTE 57 - NDAC 0

For their second encounter, Wenskunas took his boys to Milwaukee, Wisconsin, to take on the highly touted Marquette Hilltoppers. That contest was merely a case of a team playing out of their class. The Hilltoppers handed the Herd a 57-0 shellacking, scoring almost at will in each period. The Herd found tough going at Milwaukee, but most of the men making the trip seemed to think that Lisle Blackburn's crew wasn't as tough as they had been led to believe.

ISTC 33 - NDAC 25

A last period rally fell short for the Bison when they met the Iowa State Teachers college gridlers at Cedar Falls, Iowa, and the Panthers handed the Herd another set-back to the tune of a 33-25 count. A defensive let-down gave the contest to the Tutors after the Bison had taken an early lead. It was in that game when the passing of Benny Noland, the Bison air-arm, first had a chance to display the potency of the Herd's aerial attack.

MORNINGSIDE 13 - NDAC 7

The Bison kept right on looking better, despite fifteen straight losses, and dropped another game by a one touchdown margin. The conqueror of the Herd this time was Morningside, and they did it, 13-7. The NDAC lads put on a terrific goal-line stand in the opening quarter, but the running of Oscar Jones, and the flinging of Loren Moll were a bit too much. As before, the Bison aerial attack did the brunt of the offensive chores. However in this contest, the running backs began to show some good play.

S. DAK. STATE 60 - NDAC 0

The conference champion South Dakota State squad dropped the Herd 60-0, and put a damper on the 1950 Homecoming festivities. The Bison seemed to be powerless against the split T attack of the Jackrabbits, as Ralph Ginn's crew romped home with the victory. The only bright spot in the dismal picture was the defensive play of the two Bison quarterbacks, Benny Noland and Ray Curtis, and the blocking and tackling of Bob Jones, who made his debut as a starter.

NDU FROSH 6 - NDAC FROSH 13

While the Bison were going down to defeat for the sixteenth time, the Yearling team under the coaching of Chuck Benson and Dennis Drews started out on another undefeated year. The frosh had things their own way almost all the time as they swarmed over the Paposes from NDU, 13-6.

MSTC 7 - NDAC 30

A great wave of jubilation swept over the college when NDAC's gridlers snapped a long sixteen game victory drought, as they romped over their cross-river rivals, Moorhead State Teachers college 30-7. It was a team victory, and gave the ebbing spirits of the Herd a much needed boost. The passing of Noland and Curtis were outstanding as was the running of Eino Martino.

NDU 33 - NDAC 0

The cheering was short-lived, however, as the Herd went up to Grand Forks to take on their arch-rivals from North Dakota university. The Sioux took an early lead and went on to pile up the points and drub the Bison 33-0. During the first half, the Bison looked like a team that might rise up and give the Sioux a disappointment for their Dad's Day celebration, but the Redmen came roaring back in the last two cantos to swamp the hapless Herd.

NDAC FROSH 40 - NDU FROSH 7

To prove to any doubters that their first win wasn't mere accident, Benson's Yearlings went on to take their second straight victory. This time, as before, it was at the expense of Ken von Reuden's NDU frosh. The big difference was in the score. As before, the frosh from NDU scored one touchdown, but the Little Herd was not content with two as they romped over the Paposes, 40-7.

MONTANA STATE 6 - NDAC 27

The Bison came back to avenge a series of defeats at the hands of the Montana State Bobcats. The Bison put forth a team effort that netted a 27-0 victory over the 'Cats. The Bison roared on the field and completely stymied the Montana defense, rolling up a 21-0 lead at halftime.

NDAC FROSH 13 - MSTC RES. 0

The Yearlings completed their three game schedule, which is allowed by conference rulings, and found themselves undefeated for the second year in a row. The win by the frosh, which clinched the undefeated tag, came to them via a 13-0 victory over the MSTC reserves. The end product seemed to indicate that Wenskunas can expect some handy aid from his next year's sophomores.

SDU 31 - NDAC 7

The Bison ended play last week by dropping a contest to South Dakota university, 31-7. This left the Bison with a conference record of no wins against six losses, and a season's record boasting only two wins and seven defeats.

CAMERA CLUB

The Camera club will hold its regular meeting in the Fireside room of the college Y Tuesday night at 7:30 p.m.

A talk will be given on "The chemistry of photography" followed by a discussion concerning the future activities of the club. New members are invited.

Coyotes Hand Herd 7th Loss In 31-7 Final

By JOHN L. SULLIVAN

The Bison concluded one of its most successful football seasons in recent years last Saturday, absorbing a 31-7 defeat from the South Dakota university Coyotes at Vermillion. The loss left the Bison with a seasonal record of 2 wins and 7 setbacks.

NCC STANDINGS

(Final Football)	W	L	Pct.	TP	OP

Augustana	1	5	0	.167	58	117
NDAC	0	6	0	.000	39	176

Bison fumbles, which led to several Coyote scores in the first quarter and enabled the Coyotes to build a 17-point halftime lead, was the key to victory for SDU. Dennis Ortmann scored both first quarter TDs and Charlie Cook added a field goal.

In the fourth quarter the late-rallying Bison began their usual outstanding last minute play and scored their lone touchdown. Benny Noland larruped a long one, covering about 50 yards, to Eino Martino for the score.

The Bison threatened to score several times before but fumbles upset the advances. Noland was brought down from behind only five yards from paydirt one time, and the Coyotes lone interception of the game prevented another touchdown.

The Coyotes scored their final touchdown in the last period also, on a line plunge by Fletcher.

The Bison finale ended a fairly successful season for the two new NDAC coaches, Mac Wenskunas and Bernie Krueger. The new mentors secured two decisive victories for the long victory drought here and a promising future for football at NDAC.
