Signatures Reach 15 Million; Clay

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, National Chairman for the Crusade of Freedom, has reported in a letter to Pres. Fred S. Hultz that the number of signatures of Americans on the Freedom Scroll has passed the 15 million mark, according to Rosemarie Lohse, president of Senior Staff and campus chairman for the Crusade.

In his letter Gen. Clay also stated that total contributions exceed $1,288,000 most of them being made in small amounts of less than one dollar. The entire amount is being used to expand the operations of Radio Free Europe.

Nearly half a million Berliners were present at the Freedom Bell dedication ceremonies in Schoenberg Platz on October 24, which according to High Commissioner John McCloy "had a profound effect on the morale and confidence of the German people—comparable, in this respect, with the Berlin airlift."

MS Club To Hold Masked Ball For AC

Dragon Masquers, Moorhead Teachers college dramatics organization, invites all NDAC students to a masquerade ball in the MSTC gym, Friday, Jan. 26 from 8 to 12.

The ball, which Dragon Masquers hopes to make an annual affair between the two schools, was started last year as the only dance between MSTC and NDAC. Last year's event was held on the same night as the Military Ball here, but still many AC students attended. The Dragon Masquers hopes for an even larger turnout this year.

Party dresses or suits—depending upon sex—will be proper attire for those not in costume. However, all guests must be masked. Masks will be sold at the door for ten cents.

Tickets are 50 cents per person and will be sold at the door. This cost will help defray the expense of an orchestra. The orchestra will be announced later.

The decorations will follow a carnival theme.

Dorothy Morrow is general chairman of the Dragon Masquers.

2 Air Force Members Receive Promotions

Two members of the Air Force ROTC staff at NDAC recently received promotions, according to Maj. Robert E. Phillips, USAF, professor of air science and tactics.

Need Shown For Engineers

A nation-wide survey sponsored by the manpower committee of the American Society of Engineering Education indicates an acute shortage of engineers is arising. This is due to a drop of enrollment in the nation's schools of engineering.

The enrollment, at its peak in 1948, was 226,000, whereas today it is 130,000, slightly higher than prewar, 1940, enrollment. 50,000 engineers were graduated from the nation's colleges and universities last year, and virtually all of them were absorbed by industry.

Future needs for both industry and armed forces are estimated at a minimum of 30,000 annually. An annual shortage of from 9,000 to 18,000 engineers is seen, even if the draft defers engineering students doing successful class work. This shortage is already evident in industry, as many concerns are unable to find engineers. Unless there is an increase in enrollment, a very serious condition will exist in the near future endangering civilian industry and national defense.

Society Plans Monthly Movies

The Arnold Air Society held its monthly business meeting on Thursday evening, Jan. 4, at the college YMCA. Members were elected for finance, social, and training committees.

Movies of action in Europe during World War II, and a post-war picture of new air arms were shown. It was decided that one "Movie Night", with good training films shown, will be held every month in the Field house, Room 203, in informal dress.

New Paintings On Exhibit At Library Through Jan. 29

An exhibition in recent American painting of two linear tendencies—calligraphic and geometric—is now on display through Jan. 29 at the Library.

Prepared by the Museum of Modern Art in New York, the exhibition is now on tour of museums and galleries throughout the country. It includes canvases by 22 outstanding young American artists—all of which were painted in the last few years.

The Calligraphic group begins with work of West Coast painters, Mark Tobey and Morris Graves, both of whom visited the Orient in the 1930's and whose canvases since have the linearity and lyrical mysticism of Oriental art.

Represented with important paintings are Arshile Gorky who died in 1948, Jackson Pollock and William deKooning, three leaders of the equivalent and more abstract group on the East Coast who were featured in the American section of the 1950 Venice Biennale exhibition. Also included in this group are two young painters still in their 20's: Alfred Russel of New York, and Kenneth Nack of Chicago, each of whom has studied in Paris and exhibited successful there and at home.

An opposing tendency among young American painters toward geometrical structure has been growing rapidly since the war and is exemplified in canvases by Lee Gatch (also being featured in the 1950 Biennale), Knaths, Holty, Osver, Heliker, Kienbusch, Robert Conover, Jimmy Ernst, and Easton

Y To Hold Meeting

The YWCA will hold an All Association meeting on January 17 at 7:30 in the "Y" dining room. Mrs. McCready will speak on her experiences with the Red Cross in the United States and abroad during the last war.

Paint Department Has Largest Graduate Class

"The Department of Paints and Varnishes now has eight graduate students, giving us the largest graduate enrollment on the campus," announces Dr. Wouter Bosch, department head.

Four are graduates of other colleges. Richard Drubel graduated from Wagner College, Staten Island, N. Y.; Warren Stump from Western State College of Colorado, Gunnison, Colo.; William Juntti from Saint Claf College, Northfield, Minn.; and Paul Talley, a graduate of College of the Ozarks, Clarksville, Okla., was with Allied Paint Co., Tulsa, Okla. for two years.

Wesley Page and Blair Smallwood are doing industrial research on projects sponsored by outside firms.

Page is working on: "Chemical Changes in Paint and Varnish Films as Aging Proceeds." This project, sponsored by the Federation of Paint and Varnish Production Clubs, is under direct supervision of it. E. Dunbar.

Smallwood is working for Shell Chemical Corporation on: "Rheological Properties of Lacquers." A study intended to perfect lacquers which flow more smoothly, making a finer finish for tomorrow's automobiles and appliances.

Other AC graduates working on their masters in paint chemistry are Norman Severson and Richard Hough. Severson was with Minnesota Linseed Oil Co. for two years before returning to the campus.

Paint Dept. Plans 3 Films Jan. 17

The NDAC paint department will show three colored films on paint production at 7:30 p. m., next Wednesday in Room 207 of the Chemistry building.

The films are supplied by paint manufacturers and are made to interest the general public. First in a series of 15 showings, this program will include the following: "The Paint Film," "Portrait of an Industry," and "Paint is our Business."

Although attendance at these showings is compulsory for paint students, all others interested are welcome," Dr. Wouter Bosch, department head says. "The films are not too technical for the general public."

Later films will present a vivid picture of the manufacturing, testing, and behavior of protective coatings. They will also show the manufacture of the raw materials used in the industry.

New Music Course Being Introduced

"How to Listen to Music Intelligently" is a new course being introduced for those who are seeking more knowledge in music appreciation.

Sessions are held every Tuesday evening from seven to nine o'clock in Putnam hall. No credit is offered and no fee is required.

The course deals with an introduction to art in general. It dwells slightly on poetry, painting, sculpture, architecture, and finally the elements of music.

The object of these sessions are to eliminate the misconceptions of music appreciation as it will teach the relationship of music to the other fine arts.

Attendance is not restricted. Anyone is invited to attend.

Industry Padded, States Schickele

"Industry is chuck full and padded with supports," charged Dr. Rainer Schickele, chairman of the agricultural economics department. Speaking before the economics seminar January 4 he cited as example of industry price fixing tariffs, retail price maintenance, price leadership, the basing point system, and standard fees and services.

Schickele stated that farmers feel they need supports because prices of goods farmers have to sell fall fastest in periods of general price decline. This leaves the farmer with many fixed costs he cannot turn into cash easily.

Neither do farmers earn as high an income as the average man in other fields of the economy, Schickele pointed out.

He proposed an agricultural policy that would announce support prices before the production period began. This practice, known as "forward pricing," would permit farmers to adjust production to fit current demands.

Schickele proposed that these support levels be determined by a bargaining agency composed of consumers and farmers with the government acting as umpire. A policy similar to this is being practiced in Sweden and Belgium at the present time, Schickele said.

Chem Begins New Research Project

Getting underway at the School of Chemical Technology is another plastics research project sponsored by Minneapolis Honeywell Regulator Co.

Fifth in a series of Honeywell sponsored programs, this is a study of volatile products produced during storage of phenolic (bakelite) castings.

A new thermostat cover, made by combining bakelite and synthetic rubber, was designed in an earlier project. It is now in production for use on Honeywell regulators.

Results of another such study were presented in a paper at the recent American Chemical Society meeting in Chicago. They are to be published soon in Industrial and Engineering Chemistry.

Student Commission Minutes

JANUARY 9, 1950

The meeting was called to order by Pres. Freeh. The roll was called. Bristol and Tewksbury were absent. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Freeh received a letter from Purdue on teacher evaluation with very complete forms and instructions. A printed speech on "Better Teaching" was circulated. Discussion was held on how to begin the use of a teacher evaluation plan. A meeting of the committee previously set up to handle the plan was called for Thursday morning.

Ralph Christensen reported on the meeting of the Board of Campus Affairs. He presented the following proposals:

- a. call another election, carrying it out in the usual manner.
b. postpone the election until a student-election forum can be held to discuss problems involved in holding elections.
c. call class meetings for the purpose of nominations and election of officers, which is constitutional.

He stated that it was not feasible to hold the elections to be letter of the constitutions, but the Board of Campus Affairs would do so at the wishes of the Student Commission. He also asked that a thorough gleaning of the Constitution be made and that all necessary amendments to the constitution be voted on at this election. The Board of Campus Affairs was advised to hold the election in strict accordance with the constitution, publishing before hand, a complete summary of mechanics and interpretations to be used. Ralph Christensen presented the following schedule of election.

- January 12—election announcement
January 16—nominations
January 26—ballots to be prepared
January 31—election day
February 2—announcement of election results

Christensen moved that Student Commission adopt the procedure of elections as presented by the Board of Campus Affairs. Seconded by Biggs. Motion was approved.

Christensen asked that Student Commission look into the problem of school beginning immediately following a holiday, specifically New Year's. It was suggested that Dr. Johnson represent Student Commission at the meeting of the College Council Wednesday. Russ McCauley moved that Christensen be given authority to write a letter presenting the Student Commission's case to the College Council. Seconded by Kennedy. Approved.

Christensen suggested that each board member look into the section of the Constitution pertaining to their respective boards and make suggestions for change.

Meeting was adjourned. Respectfully submitted, ROBERT OURADNIK

The Ballpoint

By BOB JOHNSON

This week's column should be headed "How to write a column for the Spectrum", or "How to leave one's self wide open for caustic comment." (At least Schrimpf will have something to write about next week.)

First one must gather together the necessary implements of editorial warfare—typewriter, paper, cigarette, and an idea or two. Past (way past) columnists have added a pint of rum to the above recipe and yielded amazing results, however we haven't reached that stage... yet. It can get worse?

Next thing to do is light up and stare at the infernal invention of L. C. Smith, and hope for an inspiration. None? Don't give up, people will read anything. The last statement has been proved if you have read this far. You needn't go further. It will only be more of the same. Don't say you weren't warned.

By this time you have finished your first cigarette so light up again—it seems to help. No inspiration yet? Turn on the radio. Maybe you will hear a gag you can swipe. Don't forget a credit line.

If nothing happens turn to the exchange papers that fill the office. Maybe something like this will turn up.

"Heard about the guy with the long puss? No? A steamroller ran over his pet cat. Ugh. Anyway, that (or a reasonable facsimile of it) came from an issue of the En Aye.

Still need more copy to fill up space? Try looking through your correspondence for a few laughs. We got a letter not long ago from a former editor of the Spec, now in beautiful, breezy, balmy, sunny (?) California. (Adjectives compliments of a long forgotten Pete Smith Speciality at a local theater. See the possibilities?)

Said the former editor, "People here (Frisco) claim that the cable cars are anachronisms. I ride an anachronism to work." Not funny? OK, it's not funny.

Try quoting from the letter. Just some of the sentences might prove amusing. Like this, from the same letter from the same old editor. "... What happened to the ten gallon hat I left in the office? ... Has No. Dak. gone dry yet? ... People here take trips into the mountains to look at SNOW ... I know a Frenchman here who is related to Napoleon. ... The ribbon on my typewriter is all shot to hell. ... I will write more when I get a new ribbon. ..." See what I mean?

All is not romance and glory in a newspaper office like they make out in the radio program "Big Story." All is not sweat and toil either as any instructor with a class next to the Spec office will maintain.

Anyone wanna write this column next week? All aspiring columnists should submit their columns to the above named person before next Tuesday noon. Copy should be typed with the carriage set at 65 spaces. Please double-space all copy. The best will be printed in next week's paper. Don't forget to put a by-line (your name, to tyros) on all copy.

Well, the foregoing should about fill the column for this week so we can quit now. Those of you who read this far are now aware of the extremes to which some people will go just to keep the school paper from having a few gaping holes in it. (OK so the holes would have been better. Anyway I'm done, so there.)

Social Jottings KAT's Plan Sleighride; AGR's Slate Fireside

By LOIS FITZLOFF

Do you remember the picture in the Spectrum of the Jack Frost queen candidates? Well, tonight is the night to vote for your choice from the AC campus at a dance sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega. Dancing is from 9 to 12 in Festival Hall.

All the KAT's will get together with their dates for a sleigh ride and dance tomorrow night.

After the basketball game between NDAC and Augustana the AGR's have planned a fireside for the fellows and their dates.

Gamma Phi Beta actives and pledges will have a slumber party tomorrow at pledge Frances Eveleth's home. On Monday guests of honor at potluck will be the pledge's boyfriends.

Congratulations to the following SAE's who went active Monday night: Dale Klette, Arland Iverson, James Hitter, Bennie Noland, Dave Knutson, Ronald Anderson, Michael Conny, and Jerry Waldera. Clarence J. Bjorgen was initiated as a pledge into SAE fraternity.

Pinnings and Engagements: Alpha Gamma Delta legends received a diamond from Julian Marozla. Another sorority sister Verana Weyrauch has a sparkler from Alin Knox.

Barbara Paulson, Alpha Gamma, was married to John Grim December 4.

Phi Mu Marjorie Sommerdorf passed candy last Monday. She is pinned to Larry Chambers, UND student.

Lois Cunningham, KAT, was married to George Mallick, ATO, Wednesday in St. Frances de Salle church in Moorhead.

Homecoming queen Junette Hill, KAT, is now wearing the AGR pin of Al Keating. KAT Joan Duncan returned to school with a ring from Palmer Cleveland.

Faye Reed, KD, has a diamond from Sigma Chi Pete Olson. Kappa Delta's also have a new house-mother, Mrs. Helga Hulbert, who is a teacher at Roosevelt.

Gamma Phi Mary Carol Twetten has Don Stewart's ATO fraternity pin too.

Lois Andren, Gamma Phi, "never wears gloves" anymore; the reason might be her ring from Marv Evans.

Kitty Kloster of Dakota hall is engaged to Ordean Nelson.

KKG Kap Heblson was married to Ro Grignon during the Christmas holidays. Betty Ackermann is another Kappa who received a diamond over vacation. Hers is from Jack Flatt, a student at Northwestern.

Grace Mathews is engaged to Dale Haakenstad.

The Score

By JIM SCHRIMPF

I'd like to open this week's column with an apology to Gordy Badger. I understand he's been the victim of a misunderstanding arising from an item in last week's "Score." If Dr. Pettee and Mr. Elam—and anyone else who gets the wrong opinion of Gordy—will take note, January 5th's "Score" was meant to be interpreted entirely in a humorous vein. Very sorry for any inconvenience, Gordy.

It was all Willie Muffet's fault anyway. Trying to be impartial, I put the name of every male student at SC on a separate slip of paper and threw them down the ice hole at Island Park skating rink. Willie chose Gordy's name, and I used it. That's the last time that lone shark ever helps me with a column.

More trouble from last week's article—there's been a rumor started that the Gamma Phi's hate me. The Gamma Phi's started it.

Don't know how Snooper Johnson and I ever missed this—inside word has it the LSA's had a New Year's Eve seminar—it was still going full blast at 2 a.m. At last report they haven't been excommunicated.

Military Ball officials have set me straight on that rope-skipping contest for co-eds in strapless formals. No rope skipping. But there will be a pogo stick race, weather permitting.

I see the ATO's have replaced the missing light bulbs. And I won't make any underhanded insinuations a la Ballpoint about the missing bulbs from the college Xmas tree. In fact, I'm not even going to mention it. Wonder how they scraped all that colored paint off them, though.

Well, I have to go rescue Willie Muffet from the fiendish clutches of the Kappas, who are torturing him because he set off an investigation of KKG pledging tactics. Try to ignore the Ballpoint again this week. Good Luck!

Nightlife In Women's Dorm No Bed Of Roses

By CAROL BAHR

Going to sleep in a dormitory requires almost super human will power. It makes no difference if it is a men's or women's dormitory. Because I reside in a women's dormitory I will describe a typical night.

It was 9:30 and I had my hair fixed and my lessons were all prepared for the following day, so I decided I would go to bed early. Instead of being smart and going directly to bed, I wanted to see if one of the girls down in east corridor would go to breakfast with me in the morning, so I wandered down there. This I should never have done because her roommate had received a box of food from home and several friends were having a gay pre-bed party. With offers to join a cookie, cake and chicken feast I couldn't be blamed for not leaving, could I?

It was nearly 11 o'clock when the last crumb was devoured and everyone had retreated to their own rooms, but I volunteered to stay and help clean up the room. We finally finished cleaning the room and were both more than willing to sit down to rest for a while. This only led to an old fashioned lazy-aide. When we finally heard the night watchman go by I decided I'd better leave before we both fell asleep.

As I walked down the hall to my room, I heard a terrific outburst of laughter and banging. It sounded as though my room was being dismantled completely. "No," I thought, "it can't be my roommate, because she went to bed hours ago." But sure enough, noise was coming from my room. When I came to the doorway there was my roommate in the midst of a pillow fight with the girls next door. The only way I could make them calm down was to tell them our housemother was coming down the hall. This worked wonders and soon the girls from next door had gone back.

I slowly crept into bed hoping my roommate didn't have any other bright ideas for entertainment, but my foot struck something that felt like cracker crumbs. Yes, I was right, it was cracker crumbs. Oh, well it never hurt anyone to clean cracker crumbs out of a bed at midnight. So I cheerfully began my task.

Nothing more could happen to me, so to bed and sleep at last.

But no such luck, just as I had gone to sleep there was a knock on the door. I couldn't be rude so I called, "Come in," and in walked two of my girl friends who had just arrived on the 2 o'clock train after a weekend at home. They were so sorry they had awakened me but now that I was awake they just had to tell me about the darling new fellows they had met. I sat up and braced myself for a nice long chat.

When I finally fell asleep, I had only 3 1/2 hours of peaceful rest.

Bison Cagers Face Augustana Here Tomorrow At 8:00

BISON CAGERS PICK UP BAD HABIT FROM GRIDDERS

Somewhere along the line our promising Bison basketball team picked up the bad habit of losing games. After five straight losses, some people are beginning to wonder if the Bison win-famine is a late hangover from the dismal football trouble.

REF TROUBLE

Though Coach Chuck Bentson—Cheerful Charlie until recently—won't find it in his heart to alibi, the referees haven't been too kind on the Bison's behalf.

SAME OLD STORY

Bernie Krueger, Bison grid assistant, did a good job of officiating a high school basketball game in Fargo recently, and this kid was impressed.

SCABS TO NDU

But in the Bison plight, good news arrived from Vermillion, S. D., where the SDU Coyotes whipped the North Dakota U 'Flightin' Sioux' by 96-66.

Last season the Sioux beat Augustana—who had a 1-11 conference record last year—by 99-77, setting a loop record. Coach Glenn (Red) Jarrett left his first five in almost the whole way trying to hit 100 points.

SIoux SQUABLE

Also glad to hear that Chuck Wolfe, brilliant high-scoring Sioux soph forward, and Fritz Engel, fine NDU guard who almost runs the team, are having intra-squad scoring squabbles.

Those two could be the conference's top 1-2 scoring terrors if

Netmen Suffer Double Mishap In S. D. Jaunt

Coach Chuck Bentson's unhappy Bison basketballers returned from their two-day jaunt into South Dakota with losses to S. D. State and Augustana.

At Brookings Friday, the Jackrabbits won a hard-fought 59-47 win in the NC opener.

NEVER BEFORE

Have you ever heard of such a thing before? Jim Gremmels, Augustana's fine high-scoring center, had the ball slapped out of his hands while waiting to pass in bounds in the late seconds of a recent 67-52 win over Yankton college.

STICKIN' WITH 'EM

The Battling Bison ruined a perfect predicting debut here, but for prestige's sake the Bentson boys will beat Augie tomorrow night.

Fougner Named To Tourney Team

Don Fougner, Bison sophomore forward, was named on the all-tourney team at the first North Central conference tournament in Sioux City, Iowa, Dec. 28-30.

COBBERS-BISON GAME TOO LATE THIS WEEK

The Concordia-Bison game last night was too late to make this week's edition of The Spectrum. The results will be carried next week.

Twedt Or Rod Fercho May Start In NCC Engagement

By MANCUR OLSON Tomorrow night the Bison play host to the Augustana Vikings in a crucial North Central conference basketball game.

Coach Norm Evans' frosh team, hit hard by losses, play Orpheum Cigar of the Fargo Independent Basketball league in the preliminary game at 8:15.

Augustana surprised most observers here when it defeated the Herd 60-51 in Sioux Falls Saturday.

Tomorrow night's contest is what might be termed a rubber game. Each of the two teams concerned has defeated the other six times.

The outcome of tomorrow's contest may be different, however. NDAC cage mentor Chuck Bentson is revamping his line-up in an attempt to increase the speed and effectiveness of his squad.

Bunker finally found himself and whipped in 23 points for the highest individual Bison total of the season.

Jim Gremmels had 20 for the Augies, who equaled their last season's total of 1-11 in the loop.

Bentson also said that if Bunker plays as well as he did last Saturday and if some of the other players return to their previous form the Augies will have a tough time tomorrow night.

The South Dakota quint has, in addition to a number of promising sophomores, four lettermen returning from last year's squad.

Another man worth watching is Al Paulson. This little Viking guard is a deadly shot, especially from the back court, and he may give the locals considerable trouble.

The other Augustana lettermen are Jim Eisentrager, and Ken Schmuck.

Ole Odney, who launched his career at Mayville high school, is the Augie coach. Odney's record at Mayville was impressive—five of his teams participated in Class B state tournaments and two of these came home with championships.

During a two-year tenure at Mayville Teachers college his team won the North Dakota Collegiate title one year and was runner-up the other season.

At Augustana, however, his record is not as striking. He had only a fair year when he started 2 seasons ago and his team lost 11 out of 12 conference games last year.

A win tomorrow night would be the first conference victory for the Herd this season.

He paced the Bison's winning rally in the 53-47 win over Moorhead Teachers Dec. 1 and promises to be the Bison sparkplug to a good North Central conference season.

'Did I Feel Foolish...'

Ace Grant Loses Basketball As 10,000 Spectators Watch

The lights in the spacious gymnasium were dimmed as lone spotlights traced the path of each player to the center of the arena as each starting performer was announced.

There were 10,000 spectators in the vast field house in Detroit, Mich., where the Bison were to play a strong Lawrence Tech basketball team in December 1948.

But the spotlight lost its target and vainly searched the floor for the missing player.

And when the house lights were turned on, the many spectators discovered what had happened.

'Bob Grant, forward' echoed from the speaker.

'Boy, did I feel foolish,' Bob recalls. It was the second college game for the lanky Minot, N. D., kid.

But since that night, Bob's improved ball-hawking for the Bison cagers has been anything but humorous to opposing players.

He paced the Bison's winning rally in the 53-47 win over Moorhead Teachers Dec. 1 and promises to be the Bison sparkplug to a good North Central conference season.

campus if traffic tickets are any measure.

The female is one thing that Ace likes to talk about 'off the record.' He says he has no girl 'in Fargo,' but 'I'll take anything that walks.' It isn't that bad, though, but he is still looking.

Bob said the most laughable experience was during his first year in a Sioux Falls hotel when Chalky Reed, then Bison coach, thought it was snowing outside when Jack Garrett, former Herd center, emptied pillow feathers from the window above.

One night the team beat William and Mary as Bob, playing center, scored 22 points. Celebrated Chet Giermak, the former W&M all-American, was held to 9 points.

The squad also played such schools as Duke, North Carolina, Tennessee, and Illinois.

Chemistry is Bob's major, but the 6-4 Bison star says, 'Heaven only knows what I'll be doing after graduation.' Ace, 22, may be a second loonie in the army by the end of June.

Bob has plenty of gripes: taking German, lack of noise at home basketball games, the 'nice' North Dakota weather, and his inability to get much sleep at the Theta Chi house—to mention a few.

His greatest possession, he says, is a gem of a '37 green Ford, which is probably worth more than any other Ford on the

25 Teams Signed As I-M Cagers Start; ATO's, Celtics Capture Opening Contests

By JOHN L. SULLIVAN Intra-Mural basketball, 1951 style, commenced Monday with the registration of all teams entered in the NDAC student league.

Although this year's league will probably not be as consistent or as long as that of 1950, there appears to be just as much interest shown by the participants if not more than by those of last year.

The power-house of last year and the year before will be absent. The old Dorm Aggie Midget team, which incidentally captured the playoff title last year in both basketball and volleyball, has broken up.

The old versatile Aggie Midgets will be sorely missed in this year's league. Jerry Walders, one of the Aggie starter's of last year, will undoubtedly be one of the mainstays on the SAE team.

The Lettermen's club will probably have a potent outfit again but will miss the services of center Clink McGeary and several starters of last year.

The team which will undoubtedly show the most improvement is the Theta Chi entry. They were the low rung on the ladder last year but several new additions this year will probably result in Theta Chi having one of the better I-M teams of the 1951 season.

Tuesday night, the lid was kicked off with two games. The however, in that there is a team on that name in this year's league. Manager Wayne Walders, who also served in that same capacity last year, has entered his team with only a few of the old champions left.

The Alpha Gamma Rho entry, a finalist in the basketball playoffs last year, have lost several of their starters and probably will find the going rougher. There are three entries altogether from the AGR organization, tops in that department.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon is one of the favorites to take the title this year. They were the only team that beat the champion Midgets last year and most of the original team is back plus a few valuable additions.

The Lettermen's club will probably have a potent outfit again but will miss the services of center Clink McGeary and several starters of last year.

The team which will undoubtedly show the most improvement is the Theta Chi entry. They were the low rung on the ladder last year but several new additions this year will probably result in Theta Chi having one of the better I-M teams of the 1951 season.

Tuesday night, the lid was kicked off with two games. The ATO 1st team lowered the boom on the new Dorm Aggie Midgets in the first game and the AC Celtics subdued the YMCA 2nd team for a victory in the second conflict.

Basketball standings, results, and schedules for the I-M program will be published in The Spec every Friday. The schedule will include games of the following week.

Volleyball entries were also taken in at the last meeting. Only five teams have registered so far and it was decided to let it ride until more participants showed up.

Last year the Dorm Aggie Midgets, although it was an upset victory that won them the title, made it two I-M championships in a row when they defeated the powerful Kappa Sigs in a hard-fought five game set for the volleyball cup.

So far no dorm team has been entered and also no word has been heard from the Kappa Sig organization.

This league will seem rather tame when compared with last year's nip and tuck competition.

There hasn't been any change in its position yet but it is fairly certain that it will be added to the NDAC Intra-Mural curriculum this year.

Something definite on the hockey question was made Tuesday night. The formation of an Intra-Mural league between the three Fargo-Moorhead colleges was discussed. A team will probably be selected to represent NDAC in such a program soon.
