Young Fund Grants $300 To AC Student

Each year the Young Memorial Award grants $300 in cash to an AC student. The award is made on the basis of a research paper on some phase of North Dakota or northern plain life. If more than one entry is made the papers will be judged by the North Dakota Institute for Regional Studies Committee. Although this research work is usually conducted by history students no certain courses are required and students in every school are eligible.

Students desiring more information should consult the director of the Institute, Dean Giesecke, or a member of the Institute committee. They are Dr. Hunter and Professor Otterson, history; O. A. Stevens and Professor Helgeson, botany; Professor Kuhn, English, and Mr. Stallings.

The Institute was established in March 1950 by the faculty of the School of Applied Arts and Science. Purpose of the Institute is to encourage research studies of the history, social life, cultural achievement, and resources of North Dakota and the northern plains region.

The Institute has published one book, "The Handbook of North Dakota Plants," by O. A. Stevens. Another book-length history of the NDAC is in process by Dr. Hunter.

In a message prepared for the 1951-52 college catalog the group states:

"The Institute wishes to call attention to a fact which is the rightful concern of every citizen of North Dakota and of the greater northern plains region. If the true story of the region is to be told, it must be reconstructed from the records left by the early generation, records whose continued disappearance will be an irreplaceable loss. It is of greatest importance that such records—early newspaper collections, diaries, letters, memoirs, etc.—be preserved.

"The Institute urges students to be on the watch for material which should be preserved. It is desirable that students make use of local materials in preparing themes and term papers. The collections will be of great value to graduate students and other research workers. A file of regional bibliographical references has been compiled to aid students in research work.

Two AC Students Earn Commissions

Two students at NDAC have completed requirements for a commission in the United States Air Force, according to Maj. Robert E. Phillips, USAF, professor of air science and tactics here. Both will be commissioned after completing work for their bachelor's degree.

Roy Pile, Cando, senior in agriculture engineering, will be commissioned in June, 1951.

Wilbur K. Voorhees, Sturgis, S. D., junior in agriculture, will be commissioned June, 1952.

The two men completed the advanced Air Force ROTC program at the close of the Fall quarter.

During Prof. Dixon's absence, assistant prof. Robert N. Faiman, had been acting chairman of the department.

"Halls Of Ivy" Author Wrote 1933 Brevities Script

By BOB RUNICE

(ed. note—This is the first in a series of stories about NDAC alumni who have figured prominently in past Bison Brevities productions and have gone on in their careers to make somewhat of a name for themselves.)

NBC's Henry Russell, composer of "Halls of Ivy" and other top tunes, teamed up with his late brother, Maurice, to write the 1933 Brevities, "Sky High". Better known on the NDAC campus of the early thirties as Hank Olson, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Olson of Moorhead.

Russell began early in life to develop his musical talents and after writing the successful Brevities show his attentions turned from medicine to music.

After working with such bands as Ted Fiorito, Ted Weems, George Olson and Horace Heide, he travelled West to direct the music on the Fitch Bandwagon show. Later he conducted classes in music and radio at the University of California, and was named head of music for the National Broadcasting company's western division.

Currently Russell is directing music on the "Halls of Ivy" radio show as part of his writing and arranging work with a national advertising agency. Mr. and Mrs. Russell and their two children live at Sherman Oakes near Hollywood.

College Announces Plans For 1951 Summer School

Summer school plans for 1951 are complete, and the SPECTRUM offers the following essential information to students who wish to enroll.

The six-week terms in the schools of Applied Arts and Sciences, Engineering, Chemistry, Home Economics, and the department of physical education run from June 11 through July 21, with the ten-week terms in the School of Pharmacy extending through August 17.

The School of Chemistry will hold its fourth annual paint short course (July 9-20), with an advanced course offered from August 6 through the 17. Inquiries on these courses should be directed to Dean Dunbar.

Four library science courses—library administration, book selection and reference, elementary cataloging and classification, and field work—are available "primarily to help alleviate the teacher-librarian shortage", stated Mr. Giesecke, dean of arts and sciences.

Classes will meet twice as often and carry the same credit value as the standard quarter, with six minimum credit-hours carried by a full-time student. Instruction will be given by the regular college faculty, augmented where possible by visiting lecturers in special areas.

Additional information concerning fees and admission, plus full details of the summer program, appear in the supplementary summer session booklet, which will be available by February 1.

Band To Tour Nine Towns In State

The NDAC Gold Star Band will make its annual mid-winter tour of nine North Dakota towns Feb. 12-16.

Under the direction of William A. Euren, the 60 band members will travel about 800 miles in chartered buses. The Gold Star Band will feature two or three compositions by the late C. S. Putnam, who founded the group in 1904.

Russel McCalley of Fargo will be featured in a baritone solo and Robert Van Wechel of Mayville will play a trumpet solo. Other specialties scheduled on the concert program will be a trombone trio and a small Dixieland swing combo, Euren said.

Student Commission Minutes

January 16, 1951

The meeting was called to order by Pres. Freeh. The roll was called. Tewksbury was absent. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Dr. Johnsgaard reported that although the College Council had tabled the question of school beginning immediately following a holiday, they had indicated a favorable opinion.

The Board of Finance recommended that the Student Commission give a maximum gift of $100 toward payment of one of the windows in the Seminar Room of Old Main. There was considerable discussion on the matter and the opinion was expressed that student money should not be invested in buildings and grounds. Ralph Christiansen moved that Student Commission reject the proposal of the Board of Finance. The motion was seconded by McCalley. Motion carried.

Bob Runice stated that Jack Frost carnival officials asked that the NDAC candidate for queen be sponsored by a more definite organization than the student body. Bob Johnson moved that Student Commission sponsor Lorretta Brown as Jack Frost carnival queen. Seconded by Christiansen. Motion carried.

Freeh stated that the Teacher Evaluation Com. had not met and he asked for two students to meet with him soon. Kennedy and Bristol volunteered. Freeh was advised to Barchley and Estenson for help.

Russ McCalley stated that the band would need $150 to complete coverage of the cost for the planned band tour. Ralph Christiansen stated that the Commission had previously discussed the giving of emergency grants of money and that the Board of Music was within their rights on their request. Discussion followed. Ralph Christiansen moved that Freeh and McCalley see the Board of Finance for an emergency grant of money. Seconded by Johnson. Motion carried.

Johnson asked that all suggestions for changes in the Constitution be in by next week.

Christiansen reported on elections. The notice has been placed in the Spectrum, nominations made, and the names of twenty judges will be turned in next week.

A letter from Inter-Collegiate Press asking for subscription to their bulletin and a letter from International Union of Students were disregarded. McCalley moved that the Spectrum print excerpts from the I. U. S. paper to indicate its communistic leanings, hence, Commission disapproval.

Respectfully submitted,
ROBERT OURADNIK

Inquiring Reporter Questions NDAC Students On Draft

Question: Do you think that eighteen year olds should be drafted?

John Myrdal, Agr-Senior, Edinburg. "Yes, I think that we must draft eighteen year olds into the service in order to mobilize enough men to form a capable standing army. Unless men from this group are drafted there will not be enough physically fit young men to fill our needs."

Ralph W. Hansen, Agr. Eng. Senior, Kintyre. "Yes, I believe that it is only fair rather than draft men who have already served three or four years during the last war. These veterans shouldn't have to have their life and careers interrupted again."

Janet Schwer, AAS-Senior, Fargo. "No, I don't believe men this young should be drafted. If all men of this age were to be drafted who would be left in college? Just a bunch of lonesome co-eds!"

Paul Nord Borman, AAS-Junior, Abercrombie. "Yes, if a boy is called into the service when he is eighteen he can spend his time and get it over with. That would be a lot better than going to college or working for a couple of years then going into service and having to return and take up where he left off."

Students Reminded Of Game Rules

Request comes from the athletic department to fans smoking in the gym during a basketball game; don't. When the conference's top team come here during the season, the Bison will have enough trouble without smoke in their eyes.

And to the students who think it is too much trouble to enter the north east door at games: It's only a request from the athletic department to whom we pay only $2.00 a term. It is merely a convenience to save trampling in front of the local fans to get to the AC section.

President Hultz Asks For Increase In Budget

The hopes of NDAC students went with President Fred Hultz this week as he travelled to Bismarck to appear before the legislature's appropriations committee. Hultz is urging the legislature to approve funds in excess of those already OK'ed by the state budget board. These funds will make possible the renovation of more of the college's physical plant.

With the tremendous stake North Dakotans have in the field of agriculture, surely a school such as this should receive top priority. It is only good business that the investment already made in this institution be protected by maintaining an adequate physical plant.

Hultz pointed out to the appropriations committee that the best way to hedge against the nation's seemingly inevitable economic inflation would be to invest in real property. Lets hope that the North Dakota legislators see the logic and potential benefits of Hultz's appeal.—RR

Do Students Want A Campus Community Chest At NDAC?

Each year NDAC students are being faced with an ever increasing number of campaigns and drives for worthwhile and need organizations. So far this year it's been the Christmas Seal campaign with the March of Dimes, WSSF, American Heart Association and many other drives still to come.

To cut these solicitations down to ones simple, swift one, a campus community chest plan should be established. The plan, which is now successfully working on many colleges over the nation, insures adequate collegiate support of worthy welfare organizations with a minimum of wasted effort.

The goal of the campus community chest could be reached by either an all-college carnival and dance or by a special fee levied by students against themselves at registration for one of the term at school.

To raise and administer the Campus Chest a special committee should be established that would cut across all organization lines in developing a single, successful campaign.

Thousands of communities and colleges have tested the worth of the community chest idea. NDAC should investigate its merits also.—R.R.

Letter To The Editor

Can anyone explain why the class officers election held during Winter term registration was declared "null and void" by the Student Commission, as stated in last week's Spectrum?

The Spectrum carried a short article on the new dates for nominations and election, but no reason were offered why the Commission threw out the first results.

The first elections during registration brought out much excitement in the Student Commission when the election results were made void. The interest then was the best show of school spirit made at NDAC for some time.

However, the story for the student's fight to disregard the results was kept in the dark by last week's "part time" editor and student commissioner. I realize that because of your absence last week, last year's editor put out the edition; therefore, this is directed at him.

If the Student Commission's hearing had been given the proper coverage in the Spectrum, maybe more students would have been encouraged to attend nominations last Tuesday.—Stan Lunde.

The Score

By JIM SCHRIMPF

Well, here's my counterpart of Johnson's "Let's see who can write the worst" column of last week. He thinks he had trouble finding material for that 15 inches of nothing—I can't even think of anyone to insult! I'll try, though. Out of common courtesy, Ballpoint could have made one slanderous remark about me so I'd have something to write about. His ghost writer must be running out of Bob Hope gags.

The Gamma Phi's had a unique house decoration for the Military Ball—but they took the thing down right away. Contrary to any rumors you have heard, I had nothing to do with putting that propeller on their front steps. Also under the heading, "Recent improvements in sorority houses" is the Alpha Gam's new deep freeze, purchased to supplement all the individual units they have running around. It was brought in via cattle truck. Will this start a new fad? Needless to say, it creates an entirely different atmosphere.

Sweetwater Grant wants me to correct a typographical error made in that biographical sketch on last week's sports page. That part about taking "anything that walks" should be amended to include an "almost". Just narrowing down the field, no doubt.

More about the Military Ball—Bill Swanston has been charged with unfair business tactics and has been accused of fronting for a big cartel—he has both the pogo stick and the scotch tape concessions for tonight's doings! And girls, if the scotch tape doesn't stick—guess who!

It's too late to think up some outlandish escape for Willie Muffet, so I'll leave him with the Kappa's for another week. I should be able to come up with something highly improbable by then. Most of you should have mastered the art of "How not to read the Ballpoint" by now. Anyone having difficulty see me between 3 and 4 ayem on Thursday at the Island Park warming house. See you at the MB tonight.

The Ballpoint

By BOB JOHNSON

No one having taken me up on the idea of writing this column this week, I find myself back at the same old job. (Not even Jim Schrimpf offered to help out.)

So, to get on with things let's start off with a story that happened during Xmas vacation to a couple of the local boys.

Seems the two were walking along the streets of Des Moines, Iowa when they were accosted by a startling looking female who claimed to recognize one of them as an old friend named Claude. Said woman also claimed she was graduated from Lincoln high school with said fellow. (A likely story).

To make a long story short said fellow didn't know just what to make of said woman who claimed to be a divorcee with a young boy. Anyway after much futile effort on the part of the young woman the two finally went their way and the woman hers. (I hereby resign from the "Friends of Rod Lambie Club.")

Don't know who's going to hate me for this one but have heard from a couple of sources that the Gamma Phi slumber party last Sat. night could think of nothing better to do than talk with various members of Theta Chi over the telephone. Could it be that . . . no, never mind.

Understand there is a professor with a skating rink all his own. It's not far from the health center, though students, so don't get your hopes up too high. A little sand, perhaps. . .

Must set Friend Schrimpf straight on the light bulb theft. The ATO's did not take them. They were seen last Friday night in Festival hall. Purty, huh?

Finally the Sigs did the decent thing and returned all the stuff that has been accumulating at their house (?) for so long.

Wonder if the aero lab ever got back the prop seen reclining against the Gamma Phi door?

Last chance to buy tickets to the Military ball will be tonight. At the door, Jimmy Dorsey, you know. Anyone who saw him last night is a . . . Remember, school spirit?

The Bison finally won two games. Should be some sort of cause for celebration. That should have read, "Should be cause for some sort of celebration."

Social Jottings

By LOIS FITZLOFF

Get out that uniform and tuxedo and especially that formal cuz tonight's the Military Ball. Those who had a preview of Jimmy Dorsey last night will certainly be back for more of the same smooth music and dancing provided tonight. An added attraction will be the crowning of a military ball queen and five attendants. At any rate we hope you'll be at the field house at 9 when the whirl begins.

The Gamma Phi's certainly received a lovely present one morning in the form on an airplane propeller. Not a trace of the donor could be found. However, a few days later the airplane part disappeared just as mysteriously. One would think that Halloween was over, and Christmas is passed too.

Alpha Gam's entertained the Theta Chi's from 4-6 last Friday afternoon. Their pledges were hostesses at a party for all other pledges on Tuesday from 7 to 9. Alpha Gams can hang a star in their window for they have a member in the armed forces. She is dark eyed Charlotte Schmitt who enlisted in the women's air corps (WAAF). At one time Charlotte was the only girl in engineering.

Last Monday night the KD pledges skipped and with them went all the food. Are they going to be surprised when they find out the actives and guests all had dinner on them. I presume the bill will arrive shortly.

Everyone is welcome to the KD diner next Wednesday at the house with tickets being sold at 60 cents a plate. You'll get food and more food.

Gamma Phi pledges entertained Theta, Sigma Chi, and Theta Chi pledges at a social hour last Tuesday in the Y. KKGs and Sigs were guests at a KD party the same day.

KKG Pat Carlson is now wearing the Sigma Chi pin of Roger Fercho. Now you'll know that the twin without a fraternity pin is Roger NOT Rodney.

Rita Ricke, field director of this province, is visiting the Kappa Kappa Gamma chapter on campus.

Congratulations to Loretta Brown as the Alpha Phi Omega candidate for Jack Frost Carnival Queen! She was sponsored by Theta Chi fraternity and was elected by popular vote at a dance held last Friday.

Mert Brunsvold, varsity fullback, hung his Kappa Sigma Chi pin on Carol Engeness last New Year's eve.

Orchids are in order for Janet Kiefer and Lois Andren who won in the National Wool Grower's contest. Their pictures have appeared in local advertising and their garments are now featured in the windows of a downtown store.

Pharmacists Hold 2.1

Omitted from the honor roll last week was Kappa Epsilon, honorary pharmacy fraternity. Their average was 2.1.

HOCKEY SPORT STARTS BIG BUDDING PROCESS HERE

This hockey sport is starting to get some attention here due to the league-starting of the Fargo park board. For the cold-blooded aspirants here there is much opportunity for competition.

If the Intra-Mural league gets a good start with hockey, there is the future prospect of big time recognition. But the process is still in the budding stage and will take need larger strides to accomplish anything comparable to what NDU has done.

But the sport has spectator appeal except for the lack of facilities in Fargo now. Just wrap up warmly.

IT'S A ROUGH SPORT

We'll admit that it's a rough sport.

Paul Seaborn, a Bison iceman, was bopped on the head with a stick in the Concordia game, but was in action after a few minutes' recovery.

The league needs some more work as far as team personnel goes. There are Bison goalies playing for every team in the Senior division, but the situation will probably be remedied shortly as the manpower turns out.

SWELLED HEAD

Hamline's Pipers, possessing a team with terrific prospect for seasons hence, are getting the swelled head.

A Hamline sports writer recently remarked—off the record, of course—that the Minnesota College conference was "peanuts" for the Pipers.

He said that Hamline will quit the circuit and play independently to enable the Pipers to compete in the NCAA, which recently dropped its sanity code to the discretion of member schools.

MORNINGSIDE'S GRESHAM GETS 'LOVER' DISTINCTION

Doug (Pretty Boy) Gresham, Winnipeg's gift to the Morningside basketball team, has the female backing for the dubious distinction of "Lover Boy of the North Central Conference" title for the 1950-51 season.

The Bison basketballers were watching the Maroons play in the conference tourney in Sioux City in December, and the boys gave the tall Morningside star a ribbing.

When a symmetrical miss in the upper stands voiced out:

"You're just jealous," she sighed, "cuz you don't have curly, black hair."

A PLEASANT SURPRISE

The Bison basketball performance Saturday in topping Augustana's hapless Vikings, was a pleasant surprise after watching Coach Chuck Bentson's Herd struggle in the Concordia tilt Thursday.

It's too bad that Augie has the worst team in the conference though, because we might expect too much from the Bison after a terrific first half showing.

And can you imagine the idealism of the Augustana 'Mirror' in picking its Vikings to end fourth in the circuit. To top that off the Viking sports writer labels NDAC for seventh place—"first football, and now basketball," he says.

We'll see, bub.

NOT ALL GLOOM

It's not all gloom for these basketball coaches nowadays. Some have a sense of humor—although you wouldn't notice it to watch them during a game.

Like our own Chuck Bentson. Cheerful Charlie approached Iowa Teachers' coach Hon Nordly before the Bison-Panther game in the Sioux City tourney:

"Say, Hon, will you show me that play you use. I forgot it."

WHOT HOPPONED

Evidently they had all the NDU sports writers caged up last week. No comment from the AC haters in the last edition.

PESSIMISTIC PICKER SEES DISMAL ROAD TRIP

This pessimistic prognosticator sees three losses for the Bison court warrior at SDU, Morningside, and ISTC. Gloomy, huh? Best chance for a win is at Morningside, as far as home court performances go.

Out of 12 NCC games thus far, the home teams have been victorious 11 times. . . Tough to fight.

The 5-2 try last week leaves us with an 11-3 record. So the real test has yet to come. Here are real sawing-off-the-limb-behind you pickings:

Coyotes to nip the Bison and S. D. State to squeeze NDU tonight; Morningside to edge the Bison, NDU to have trouble but defeat Augustana, and ISTC to top Loras Saturday; and Iowa Teachers to beat the Bison (worst loss of the trip) on Monday.

This leaves us with an uncomfortable feeling. Is there an anti-lynch law available . . . ?

S-O-S Sent Out . . .

Ice Team In League

(The ball has started rolling here toward a good hockey set-up. An NDAC ice team has begun play in the Fargo park board's Senior league Jan. 9. The Bison won their opening tilt from MSTC, 4-1, but dropped a Jan. 11 tilt to Concordia, 8-0, as reserve Cobber manpower outlasted a tired Bison sextet. The call is out for more men. Contact manager Dick Kloubec if interested—Ed.)

BY A TIRED HOCKEY PLAYER

Say, do you know that the AC has a hockey team? You don't? Well, don't feel bad because I'm sure that you're not alone.

The team plays in the Senior division of the Fargo park board's hockey leagues at Island park every Tuesday and Thursday against Moorhead Teachers, Concordia, and Cook Sign Co. in rotation. The games are slated for 7 o'clock on these nights with 15-minute periods. Two games are slated each night with second games starting while first game teams have rest periods.

The league started Jan. 9. We play Cook Sign and MSTC this week and are scheduled to face Concordia and Cook Sign next week, on Tuesday and Thursday respectively.

Oh, we won't make the Olympic team until next year, but with about 40 years' practice we'll sure tan our neighbors to the North to a brown crisp. Don't think so, huh? Well, you just drop down, and we'll show you what we've got.

The number of men on the squad? I'm not saying it was small, but the other night Kloubec passed out from exhaustion and our only substitute was a third-grader from Roosevelt grade school. We bribed him with an ice cream cone and he certainly made our opponents look foolish.

We are using college equipment and wearing NDAC colors. With some support we could make this ice sport as popular as basketball and football. And maybe reach the level of play the NDU has.

Of course, it isn't the warmest sport in the world to watch, especially with the facilities available now. But if a few more skaters would amble out one of these nights, we could probably assure the fans for better facilities in the future.

So what do you potential players and fans think? Can you give some help and support?

I-M League Still Lacking Facilities For Large Slate

Basketball was initiated to the '51 Intra-Mural program last week with five games played.

There is a small amount of games for a week compared to the 27 contests per week last year when there were three courts available to the I-M department. The main roadblock causing the paucity of games seems to lie in the inability of a local foundry to complete the reconditioning of the baskets after the Field house gym was fixed up.

This leaves only one court open to varsity, freshman, Intra-Mural basketball, and the phy ed. classes. The floor is occupied every minute of the day now.

Efforts to speed up the reconditioning have been ceaseless but so far none have ended with results, which definitely is not the fault of the school. It looks like waiting is the only solution.

Hockey is still in there battling for a place in this year's I-M curriculum. Really it is up to the interested students. If we want a hockey league we can have it with only a little volunteer labor.

All materials for erecting the boards is available but not the actual labor. A rink and its upkeep have been donated by the Fargo park board. Probably the question may be settled next week.

Eleven games are on tap next week on the Intra-Mural docket. The schedule follows:

Tuesday
Dorm Aggie Midgets vs. YMCA 2 at 8; Lettermen's Club vs. SAE 1 at 9; ATO 2 vs. AGR 3 at 10.

Wednesday
AC Celtics vs. Student Body 1 at 7; YMCA vs. SPD at 8; Kappa Psi vs. Kappa Sigs 1 at 9; AGR 1 vs. FHB at 10.

Thursday
Kappa Sigs 2 vs. Theta Chi 1 at 7; Pre-Meds vs. Trailer City at 8; Theta Chi 2 vs. Sigma Chi 1 at 9; Sigma Chi 2 vs. AGR 2 at 10.

NDAC Hosts Valley Girl Cage Clinic

A women's basketball officiating clinic is scheduled at the NDAC Field house Saturday, Jan. 20, at 9 a.m., according to Phyllis Morben, Chairman, Red River Valley Board of Women's Officials under whose auspices the clinic was scheduled.

National officiation rating tests may be taken by those attending the Jan. 20 clinic. Opportunity for national rating as a basketball official is made possible through the recent affiliation of the Red River Valley Board of Women's Officials with the Women's National Officials Rating Committee, says Miss Morben. Opportunity to obtain national ratings in basketball officiating may be provided in Feb. or March, as well as at the Jan. 20 clinic.

Saturday's clinic session is open to anyone interested in women's basketball. Schools, other than NDAC, to attend include Moorhead, Valley City, Mayville, and Bemidji State Teachers College; University of North Dakota; Fargo, Moorhead, Barnesville and Park River high schools.

Bison basketballers face their toughest test of the North Central conference season this weekend, traveling into South Dakota and Iowa to meet SDU tonight, Morningside Saturday and Iowa Teachers Monday eve.

Coach Chuck Bentson's charges looked sharp in defeating Augustana, 53-33, Saturday for their first loop win of the season avenging the 60-51 setback at Sioux Falls Jan. 6.

The SDU Coyotes usually turn out a strong home court outfit and a win on the Vermillion floor would certainly indicate a better conference season for the Bisonmen than the picture looks now.

Leading the Coyote attack is Dale Roberts, Bob Sullivan, Harvey Hanson, Earl Dean, and Don Schwartz. The Coyotes have a 7-8 record to date including losses to Iowa State, Duquesne university, Nebraska and Lawrence Tech of Detroit.

The Coyotes recently whipped NDU by 96-66 in a high-scoring game at Vermillion.

As for the Morningside Maroons, the big problem will be stopping former all-NCC center Dick Wiedenfield, Doug Gresham, and Ray Berry. The Bison lost to the Maroons 65-56, in a rough tournament game in December at Sioux City.

The Maroons had been rated No. 1 in the circuit until they were defeated by Iowa Teachers, 55-53, in a loop meeting.

The Maroons have deft ball-handling and good experience to make things unpleasant for the favorites now. No one would be surprised to see the Maroons come out ahead in the conference standings.

At Cedar Falls Monday, the Bison face the ISTC Panthers, leaders with a 3-0 record in the NCC. This Panther club started the season with only two lettermen but arrived quickly to gain the spotlight.

The Tutors defeated the Bison in a close game at the tournament, 56-54, as the Iowa team stalled after the last five minutes after the Bison had whittled down a big ISTC halftime lead.

Dick Garth, one of the letterwinners, is the leading Panther point-maker with a 15.7 per-game average. But that Coach Hon Nordley always comes up with a rugged, tough-to-beat team, so it will be a process of a five-on-five defense for a Herd win, unlikely, as it may be.

The Bison left Thursday and will return home Tuesday. On Jan. 29, the Herd begins a long home stand of 7 games, opening with S. D. State at the Field house.

Following that, the Bison cagers play host to Moorhead Teachers, Morningside, SDU, Iowa Teachers, and NDU.

Then they venture to Grand Forks on March 2 and 3 for the second half of the NDU series.

The Long And Short Of It . . .

Lanky Art On S. D. All-State Quintet; Ossie, 'Kindred Komet', Shortest Cager

By JOHN L. SULLIVAN

When Chuck Bentson, formerly freshman basketball coach at the University of Wyoming, accepted the varsity coaching berth here, one of the players then on the Cowboy varsity followed his freshman coach and promptly showed by his ability and aggressiveness on the '50 freshman quintet that a future hoop star was in the making for North Dakota State.

Ardis Gray Bunker is his name and it's one that AC sports fans will soon be hearing a lot about.

Art, as most people know him, is six feet six inches high and he uses every inch of it during a game. Rebounding, naturally, is Art's strong point but is sometimes overshadowed by an unstoppable hook shot under the basket.

Art started his basketball career as a sophomore varsity man at Rapid City, S. D., high school. He lettered 3 years and was selected on the all-state team in his senior year.

Following high school Art continued his basketball in the army and during his two year tenure was a varsity man on the Fort Delaware Castles. He played before a crowd of 11,000 fans in a tussle with VMI once and his team was also called the best service team on the coast then by noted sports columnist Jimmy Powers.

After the army, which will probably claim ROTC man Art again after his graduation, Art went to Wyoming where he first met Bentson and after 2 years here transferred to NDAC.

Art is an economics major, a senior in AAS. His free time is pretty much taken up as social chairman of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

It will be interesting to note here that when NDAC tangles with the SDU Coyotes Art will meet an old rival of his high school and army days in Earl Dean, mainstay of the SDU five. Should be homecoming for the two then.

Having the distinction of being the shortest man on the NDAC basketball team is no hindrance to the Kindred Komet, Kermit Osborne Twedt. Although being only five feet eight inches from the ground does have its comebacks. "Ossie", a nickname he acquired away back in grade school, more than makes up for it in poise and ability at swishing the nets with a basketball.

Lately "Ossie" has been assigned a starting berth with the Bison, playing with teammates almost a foot taller on the average. Perhaps the reason for his adeptness at the Naismith game could be that "Ossie's" favorite sport is basketball and he's been playing it ever since he can remember.

The Kindred Komet was a three letter man in high school. His alma mater naturally is Kindred high school.

Control ball, the Bison style of play, also is no stranger to "Ossie", having been exposed to it all through high school.

Ossie's major line of study, physical education, will probably be interrupted one of these days since he has already reached the tender age of 19 years, a fact the U. S. Government is very much interested in nowadays.

Blond Ossie, when asked the question of his outside activities, answered that he liked doing "most anything", which covers a lot of ground.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity claims the Komet as one of its shining members.

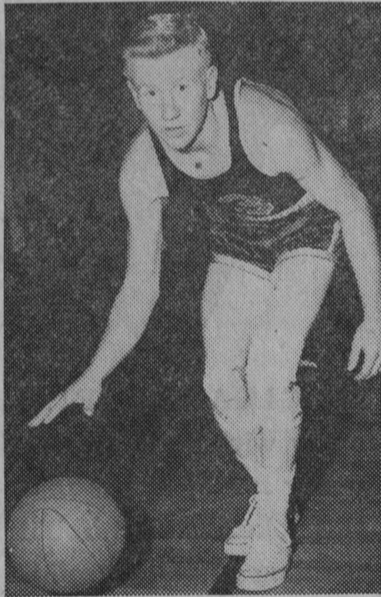

During the summer months, Ossie is usually giving his blonde hair a sun-bleaching, working on his parent's farm.

Herd Frosh Lose To Cobs

By KENT SHERWOOD

After trailing for 19 minutes, the Concordia freshman basketball team took a 1-point lead and then went on to display a spirited second half to top the Baby Bison, 40-32, in the preliminary to the Bison-Cobber varsity tilt Jan. 11.

The first half turned out to be a matter of all Bison and no Cobbers for 19 minutes. But with a minute remaining Dick Hegrenes tickled the hoop's skirts to put the invaders in front, 18-17.

The Cob frosh came on in the second half with blood in their eyes and before the Baby Bison knew what struck, the Moorhead team, 35-23, with 8:30 gone.

Don Kerlin led the Cobber cause with 7 points. Don Edam of the Bison, a former Bemidji Teachers varsity performer, proved his talents under the glass with Roger Berseth, former Wahpeton high star. They netted 7 and 10 points respectively. Also turning in a good game was Jerry Friedman.

The frosh played ragged ball in the second half as the invaders showed what previous game experience could do.

Bison Cagers Tip Cobbers, Rap Augustana Last Week

BY JOHN MASHEK

Coach Chuck Bentson's young and lanky Bison picked themselves up by their boot-straps last week after dropping five consecutive contests to conference opposition. The Herd romped over a stone cold Augustana five 53-33 to repay an earlier setback and made it two in a row over their cross-town rivals, Concordia, with a 51-46 win.

On Saturday night the Bentsonmen played their best ball of the campaign in the first half to hand the Augustana Vikings a decisive spanking. From Captain Bob Grant's opening hook shot and Ardis Bunker's under basket tip-in, the outcome was never in doubt. With the hard driving Bunker spearheading the attack, the Bison quickly jumped to a 12-4 lead. The smaller Vikings never did recover.

Augustana converted only eight field goals in the contest, four in each half. Besides their frigid shooting, Jim Gremmels, Augie high scorer and play maker, was held completely at bay by the Herd defense. Bunker brought Jack Cavanagh along into the scoring act and the Bison left the maples at halftime with a commanding 31-12 lead.

The second half proved rather dull to the fans especially after the sterling performance of the regulars in the opening half. Numerous bad passes and erratic floor play was displayed by both teams. After the half-time rest, the Bison maintained a lead of 15-20 points throughout.

Bunker, who sat out the last half, lead the Bison with 13, while Cavanagh slammed in 11. Harlon Hanson, bespectacled forward, led the Augies with nine.

The Bison made a difficult task out of beating the Cobbers on January 11. It was nothing at all like the 67-36 massacre in December on the Shanley high floor. The game was an up-hill affair for the Herd, as numerous mistakes made the close game a rather boring one.

Concordia started out as if they were going to murder the Herd, as they jumped to a 10-2 margin. Mac Redmond and Herman Moe found themselves wide open underneath for easy two pointers after an effective screen was setup. The Bison quickly called time-out and dropped back on the man driving in to stymie the Cobber's best scoring play. Jack Cavanagh and Art Bunker, hitting from outside the tight Cobber zone defense, started to narrow the lead. Concordia maintained a 22-20 spread at the intermission.

The height advantage of the Bison went for naught in the first half, as the Cobbers controlled the rebounds off the glass entirely. The onlookers started a crescendo of cat-calls each time a Concordia player came out of the shuffle with the ball.

However, the crowd gasped with awe when the Bison did a complete about face in the early stages of the last half. Consecutive hits by Don Fougner, Bob Grant, and a pair by Cavanagh put the Bison ahead 30-22. Apparently content with their lead, the Green and Yellow relaxed as Kenny Severud put Jack Christianson's boys right back in the contest. Severud, hitting mostly on free throws, brought the count to 33 all.

After the Herd picked up the tempo and went into the lead, Christianson garbaged his zone and went into a press. Grant, putting on a good dribbling exhibition for a big fellow, connected on numerous free tosses to actually salt away the contest.

From this point the Bentsonmen kept at a safe distance to win going away, 51-46. Cavanagh, hitting remarkably well from far out, dunked 16 points.

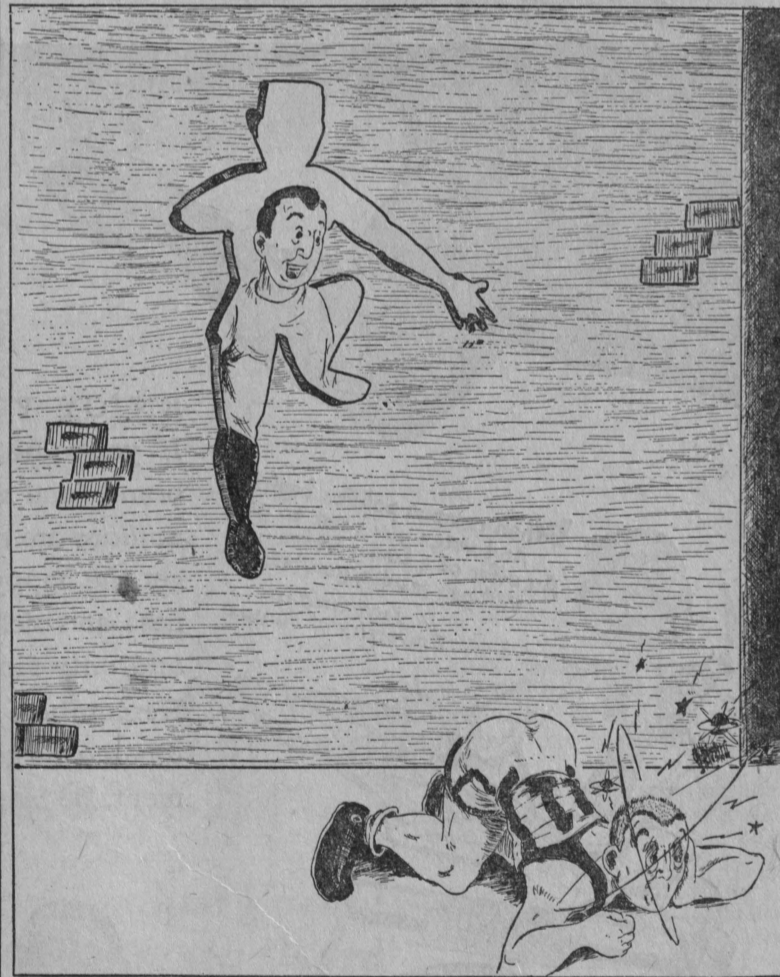

Mac Loses 11

Poor Mac! The Bison football coach, Mac Wenskunas, has lost an entire team—11 men.

Draft, enlistments, transfers, and drop-outs have taken 11 varsity and freshman gridgers out of school.

Those are Grut Anderson, Ken Anthony, Clarence Becker, Jim Brewster, Walt Puetz, Dale Smith, Dean Johlfs, Charlie Jaeb, Veto Chepelius, Jason Larson, and Ron Zatkoff.
