Kitchell To Dance Here Next Wednesday

Sparkling entertainment in a fast-moving one-woman show will be presented at Festival hall April 11 by Iva Kitchell, dance humorist. This is the fifth and final number of the 40th annual lyceum series. Students will be admitted with activity cards.

With accurate and deft humor, Iva Kitchell satirizes in dance and pantomime, a collection of persons familiar to all, from the Fuller Brush man to the Chorus Girl, Vintage 1920; from the Prima Ballerina of 'Ze Ballet' to the brash young lady at the movies.

Behind her seemingly carefree satire there is artistry developed through long preparation. She has studied with some of the world's greatest dancers: Dolin, Caton, Nimura, and Staats of the Paris Opera. A phenomenal success in Europe, Iva Kitchell has recently given over 450 recitals in the United States and Canada and has appeared on CBS and NBC Television programs.

Iva trained with the idea in mind of becoming a serious ballet dancer. But one day she looked at herself in the mirror and said to herself, "Iva, let's take your short legs, your funny face, and your sense of humor, and carve out a new kind of career for you."

At first, it was hard to convince any manager that one little girl could hold an entertain an audience for an entire evening with a program of comic dances. So Iva became her own manager. She wrote her own publicity and sent them off to women's clubs. Iva was delighted when she sold her first date for $100. Now she gets at least ten times that much for a performance.

A lecture manager engaged her services, and for three successive seasons she toured the country, appearing for the most part in small halls in which her sponsors were women's clubs. But the larger auditoriums held a fascination for Little Iva, so at the end of the third such season, she rented Carnegie hall and prepared to put on a concert of her own.

On Sunday night in November, 1946, Carnegie hall was packed with an enthusiastic and approving audience, and the next day, the New York critics were unanimous in their praise of Iva's performance.

Miss Kitchell is what is known as a natural comedienne, and even those in the audience who have not attended dance recitals get plenty of laughs. The Chicago Herald American carried this notice: "Iva Kitchell calls herself a dance humorist. The title fits—she is irresistibly funny. Balletomanias will appreciate her caricatures and take-offs. Anybody will find her show entertaining. This little girl is a shrewd critic of the dance."

Fargo-Moorhead Symphony Orchestra To Play At Convocation Thursday

The Fargo-Moorhead Symphony orchestra, conducted by Sigvald Thompson, will play for a convocation at NDAC on Thursday, April 12, 9:40 a. m. at Festival hall.

The Symphony orchestra, which is celebrating its 20th year as a community enterprise for musicians of the two cities and cultural achievement, played its last and fourth concert of the season on April 1. Guest soloist for the final concert was Leonard Shure, outstanding virtuoso of the piano.

Faculty, students and members of many NDAC families play with the orchestra. Among them are Bill Euren, tympani, NDAC Gold Star Band director; Mrs. Maryellen Dietz, oboe, wife of Robert Dietz; Mrs. Virginia Jensen, first violin section, wife of Dr. Chris Jensen, chairman of the dairy department; David and Peter Schiekele, violin and bassoon, sons of Dr. Rainer W. Proceeds From Bison Brevities To Be Used For Scholarship Fund

Both awards will be made during the honor's day convocation in early May.

Last year Blue Key donated $1000 to the student union project, $500 to the ND Institute for Regional Studies for the publication of a history of NDAC and purchased the radio in the student lounge of the library. These gifts represented the proceeds from the 1949-50 Brevities.

Similar gifts will be made with the proceeds from this year's show, Hansen indicated.

Library To Display Cranbrook Art

An expressive and colorful exhibit of student work from the Cranbrook Academy of Art, Bloomfield Hills, Mich., will be displayed at the NDAC Library March 30 to April 20.

Miss Frances Kapuscinski, chairman of the NDAC department of related art, said that the exhibit is one of two sent out by the Academy from its 1950 annual show.

Originality of form and composition of students work in painting, both oil and water color, weaving, ceramics, jewelry and silversmith, sculpture and design is shown.

Unusual design and skill with copper, sterling silver and ebony can be seen in the jewelry section. Miss Margaret Schnaidt, NDAC instructor, has a salad set in silver and ebony in the exhibit. Before coming here, Miss Schnaidt studied two years at Cranbrook. An intricate belt buckle called "The Male Andromeda" has been made from sterling and is mounted on ebony. Some of the other outstanding pieces are a copper and silver pendant of very modernistic construction, a sterling and ebony necklace which has a strong native design, and a sterling "Octopus" pendant on an unusual spiral link chain.

Various materials, colors and designs have been employed in the weaving section of the exhibit. The woven materials are applicable for drapery, upholstery, suit and coat materials exemplify texture and design of great richness. One of the designs employs the use of a heavy blue floss cord, silver metallic thread and varying shades of blue from very light to dark. The pattern shifts into a plaid using blacks and greens. Expressive silk screen prints are also shown.

In the silversmith work, one of the most graceful pieces in the exhibit is a tall, slender liquor bottle in sterling set on a square ebony base.

In the sculpturing group, "Monkeys" in terra cotta reveals the gangly and overpowering arms of protectiveness in contrast to the slender body of the parent monkey and child. Some pictures of sculpture shown are "Christ in the Garden" kneeling in prayer; "Workers", four men walking abreast; "Ishameal," thin and emaciate; and the "Jugglers", a balancing act showing movement, form and balance.

The painting section has abstract, modern and geometric design varying from an oil showing a deserted city street by the "El" at night to "The Cock", an oil painting with warmth and depth of color.

Miss Kapuscinski pointed out that at Cranbrook all work is original and completely handmade. The art exhibit, displayed on the first and second floors of the NDAC Library, is open to the public.

Spring term enrollment for NDAC is 1,532, a drop in registration of 346 students since the winter term. The drop is normal, with many students returning to their farms to help with spring planting. The activation of the North Dakota Air Guard is another contributing factor.

The enrollment breaks down as follows: AAS, 423; Eng., 341; Ag., 309; Home Ec., 239; Pharm., 165; and Chem., 61. All architecture and architectural engineering students are required to make one field trip during their course of study. This trip will serve that purpose and the students will receive credit for attending.

Chicago was chosen as the site of the field trip because, aside from the fact that there is a wealth of observational possibilities, the national convention of the Collegiate School of Architecture will be held there at that time. NDAC is a member of the Collegiate School of Architecture. In addition, the American Institute of Architects will hold their convention in Chicago that week.

LSA Gift Hog Sells For $50 A Hundred

A 212 lb. barrow, consigned by the Lutheran Student Foundation of Fargo and Moorhead, sold to Service Chevrolet Co. of Fargo at the Tri-State Hog Breeders association auction on March 28, at $50 a hundred.

Behind this unusual record is a story of benevolence on the part of the Tri State Hog Breeders and their interest in the work carried on by the Rev. John Schultz on state campuses in Fargo and Moorhead. In order to raise funds to purchase the barrow for the student group, Paul Cripe, president of the hog breeders, started the fund with a five dollar bid. Interested friends then passed the hat during the morning session of the show, and the barrow was consigned to the Foundation.

When the hog was put on the auction block, sharp bidding resulted. When a high bid of $50 a hundred was offered to Auctioneer Howard Schnell of Dickinson — the pig was sold. Money realized from the sale will be used to serve students at NDAC.

Spring Weather Will Change Fashions

By MARGIE JOHNSTON

Right around the corner is the day we've all been waiting for... the day we'll pack away our storm coats, our skirts and sweaters, and our winter suits for another year, and don new spring attire. And chances are that selection of new spring attire may be based upon the following recent fashion trends. Checks will be outstanding when the Fashion Spotlight of 1951 shines upon young men and women. You'll be seeing Peggy Armstrong in a spring suit with a blue and pinked checked packet and a grayish-blue skirt. The jacket is boxy and has a dainty v-necked collar; the skirt is pencil slim. And the spotlight is sure to pause upon LaVonne Sommers wearing another checked outfit, this one of green and black. LaVonne's very versatile outfit has not only a jacket and two skirts, but also a reversible weskit. Big square lapels decorate the low neckline of a fitted jacket. Added attractions are small pockets and a single button. Black is the color of one skirt while the other is black and green check; the same two patterns compose opposite sides of the reversible vest. Dusters show promise of becoming the number one attraction of women's fashions. In case you are unfamiliar with the term, a duster is a garment which may be worn either as a coat or a dress; when worn as a dress, it is usually belted. Linen is a popular material for this style. Dusters, as well as other coats, will often be made in the popular pyramid style or may be styled straight and simply and topped by a coolie collar. Raincoats will be popular regardless of the weather. Pleats will be prominent on dressy frocks such as those of silk or chantung. Many daytime and evening dresses will be sleeveless.

Social Jottings... New Draft Law To Effect Students

By LOIS FITZLOFF

Now that everybody has survived the opening premier of TOWNE theatre with everything new—new paint, new air-conditioning, new facade, same old seats upstairs, and the birds-eye view screen from the balcony, maybe we can advertise Festival hall in glowing terms. Preparations for Bison Brevities has become a major subject the past few weeks. Trophies will be on display soon too. Did you know that ticket chairmen even get a kick-off dinner. Good idea, don't you think? Perhaps there hasn't been too much publicity but the Engineer's Ball scheduled for tonight in the Field house promises to be a bangup affair. Dancing starts at 8:00 for those lucky enough to attend. Alpha Gams and ATO's got together at the Tau House for lots of fun, coffee, and food on Tuesday from 4 to 8. Wonder if anyone saw Harvey—I mean the six foot rabbit wandering around the campus. He performed two nights last week, you know. Those that saw the play in the Little Country Theatre saw some local talent from the AC too. Phi Mu Sorority entertained the Kappa Sigma Chi's on Wednesday at 6:30. Louise Killo and Leo Benz passed candy at the LSA center last week to announce their engagement. Some fellows really took into consideration what kind of weather we might eventually have. Do you know that they have a coeducational course in golf? What a time of year to take lessons. I bet there won't be any cuts in that class. Pinings: Carol Crowder of Moorhead, KD, passed candy Monday night. She is pinned to AGR Ernie French. Gamma Phi Betty Lou Kerr is wearing the Theta Xi pin of Roger Running, Northwestern. In honor of the event which happened over Easter, she passed candy at the house on Monday. Two Kappas are holders of Sigma Chi pins since Saturday. KKG Mary Severson is pinned to Mike Holt and Helen Ford is Jim McManus' steady. Gamma Phi Beta Ginny Lee Arneson became the dream girl of one special Theta Chi Charlie Finnigan when she received his pin. Congratulations are certainly in order for the new Sig actives after a very—hell week. Wearing the Sigma Chi white cross are Jim Fleeger of Fargo, Jim Grobe of Fargo, Larry Hatch of Linton, Ed Holt of Casselton, Vern Johnson of Makoti, Berard Masse of Fargo, Ken Moran of Jamestown, Loren Oliver, Dick Pratt, Glenn Smith, John Smoot, and Jack Young, all of Fargo, and Dick Sherman of Dilworth. Saturday afternoon initiation ceremonies climaxed a five day "Happy Fun Week" at the Kappa Psi house. The new actives are Tom Monteith of Hazelton, N. D., Clyde Oberlander of Ashley, N. D., Dick LaLonde of Bemidji, Minn., Larry Hayden of Thief River Falls, Minn., George Arneson of Hoffman, Minn., and Curt Adamson of Monticello, Minn. Curt is also the fraternity athletic director. New pledges at Kappa Psi are Jerome Dufault of Oklee, Minn., Glenn Berg of Felton, Minn., Duane Westermann of New Salem, N. D., and Duane Krvine of White Rock, So. Dak. Three pledges are freshmen, while Berg is a junior.

The administration of NDAC is perplexed by the present world situation in determining a program for next year. One important question being, will enrollment continue to drop as it has in the past? Or, will the new draft law and our expanded ROTC program sustain or increase enrollment? The new draft law authorizes draft boards to pass over students whose grades are good or who pass a special aptitude test to be given throughout the country. Some 800,000 are expected to take this test this spring and summer. Those now in college can take the aptitude test starting May 26. A student can take the test for deferment only once, but the tests are not compulsory. Many graduating high school students are bound to take advantage of this test to avoid being drafted. But how many more students will postpone military duty by enrolling in advanced ROTC, provided quotas are increased? The number of men taking ROTC will be fixed by the secretary of defense. Candidates must agree to accept commissions, if offered, and serve not less than two years in active duty. Major Robert E. Phillips, PAS&T, is presently on a tour of North Dakota high schools explaining the ROTC program at NDAC. Two new options have been made available to college AFROTC units. They are flight operations and general technical operations. In flight operations qualifying students will take about 60 hours of flight training and general technical operations will apply to students who are pursuing a general science course. These two options may be incorporated in the AFROTC program here next year. Everything considered, it would be safe to assume that enrollment will drop little, if any, unless conditions become worse and the draft laws are changed again. Registrants can get printed instructions about the aptitude test, along with application blanks, from their local draft boards about April 12 or soon thereafter.

The Score

By JIM SCHRIMPF

This is the swan song of the Score—no tears, no mellerdramer a la Ballpoint, no nothing—just changing the name and getting a cartoon for it, courtesy Mike Holt. Mike Holt. From the old Bessarabian, meaning: "If she gives me my pin back this time, I want all those cigars back!" I'll let Fitz take care of the congratulations for Mike and Jim McManus. The latter is pinned to Helen Ford with MY Pin! Anybody else out there that wants to borrow anything? Nobody volunteered to write a new column—except for a half-hearted offer put forth by Spectrum office fixture Susy Minnis. How about it? It doesn't necessarily have to be a column—something on the order of Willie Best's drive of last year would be fine. As an added inducement to the first ten applicants I'll offer your choice of any copyreader on either the Spectrum or the Bison! Hurry! This offer is good only until next Tuesday! Getting material for this week's column was like trying to get blood out of a turnip. Every female I talked to swore up and down that there was no campus gossip whatsoever. I didn't even find out anything I couldn't print! How about some red blooded fraternity fellas creating some fine scandals this weekend? As if you have to be asked! Even my secret source failed me this week—of course, there was no vaudeville show, but... Princeton's "Tiger" furnishes the finale for this week: There was a damsel named Carol Who liked to play stud for apparel Her opponent's straight flush Brought a maidenly blush And a hasty trip home in a barrel.

Johnny Mashek takes over Irv Letofsky's posh as sports ed starting this week, and I picked out a few of the suggested titles for his column that were discarded. You choose. (1) "I did-drafted." I wasn't ushered, I was drafted. (2) "I thought she was a local, but she was only a fast backfield ball." (3) "Win or lose, be a good sport!" (Sounds vaguely familiar, somehow!) Ralph Mutchler is back at the Merry-Go-Round after a big hassle with Dutchy over some fist-cuffs. Well, all is milk and honey

A SHOT IN THE DARK

By JOHN MASHEK

The passing of side-kick Irv Letofsky will make a vast difference to the fond creatures who have so faithfully followed sports since the beginning of man. Putting the slams aside, I only hope Irv can relax and hit the books awhile. He did a great job during the football and basketball campaigns.

This writer didn't have the opportunity to take in the NCAA finals at Williams Arena in Minneapolis, but the many Fargos that journeyed to the Mill City were impressed with the goings-on.

Skipper Bentson liked the play of 7 footer Bill Spivey of the Kentucky champs, and showered praise on Lew Hitch of Kansas State and Don Sunderlage, the Illinois gazelle.

All NDAC varsity members, who received free passes for the classic, agreed in their opinion of the Rupp coached blue grass Kentucky five. Their balance and rebounding prowess left little to be desired.

Congratulations to Bob "Ace" Grant. The Minot lad earned a berth on the official All Conference team. Bob's improvement over last season astounded everyone and his senior year should bring even bigger things.

Frosh Ruling Junked

North Central coaches displayed some brain power in their annual Minneapolis meeting by garbaging the freshman eligibility ruling. After the Big Seven and Ivy League conference did away with the law, it was inevitable that the NCC would follow suit.

The drop-outs and enlistments from large and small colleges forced the action taken by the above mentioned loops. Land grant colleges, which are required to have military training, expect advanced program to help them but to no great extent.

NDAC, which falls in this category, needs some strong frosh talent to aid next year's anticipated climb in the North Central. School alumni and recruiters should start drumming up interest in the head's of high school seniors right now.

Spring Shots

Erv Kaiser's cinder team appears loaded at this stage. Combine vets Bud Rydstrom, Ron Pittsenbarger, Dick Kloube, Jack Lees, and Norris Johnson with the powerful frosh contingent and you have quite a combo. If mother nature cooperates, this year could give track top billing. Track interest lags at State and even a mediocre season would help the situation.

The Bison baseballers await the first call for workouts. The monopoly held by Moorhead Teachers on the Steve Gorman race definitely needs a change. Moorhead has lost heavily by graduation and will just be another team this season.

Their main strength is hurling. FM Twin pitcher Pete Finelli and Moorhead Chix ace, Larry Krabbenhoft, pace the mound corps.

However, all the loop members expect good turnouts and no team should have a walk-away this season. Mayville Teachers undoubtedly will get the favorite's role as most of their team comprised the mighty Mayville Red Caps squad, the state amateur champions.

Bernie Krueger, football assistant, spent the week layoff between quarters in his home territory of Hammond, Indiana. Wonde if Bernie's excursion was strictly pleasure.

Mac Wenskunas plans to start spring football wars on April 16. I'll bet Mac's praying that the gorgeous spring we had last year never arrives. I probably just put the hex on him right there.

In closing, I'd like to see anybody with sports news during this quarter. There usually prevails a boring lull between now and the beginning of track meets and baseball games. Any items would be appreciated by yours truly.

Jannek Plans Event; Whist Added To Meet

Harold Jannek, Tournament Chairman of the YMCA, has announced that on April 16, 17, and 18, there will be three tournaments sponsored by the NDAC-YMCA. The three contests will be Ping-Pong, Snooker, and a new event for this year, Whist. Those interested must register with either Jannek or in the Y office during the week of April 9th to the 13th.

Trophies will be awarded to the first and second place winners in each tournament and the winners of the ping-pong and snooker tournaments will have their names inscribed on the plaques in the Y lobby.

The classic is open to all male students on the campus. There will be a fifty cents registration fee for non-members and no fee for authorized Y members.

Golf Turnout Good For Herd Link Team As Schedule Drawn

By KENNY MORAN

Coach Erv Kaiser has issued a second call for golfers this week. All those interested are asked to contact him in order to facilitate preparation of a try-out schedule.

The prospects for this year's squad are good. Bill Swanston, Dick Hermanson, and Bob Olson, all of Fargo, Ken Moran from Jamestown, and Mike Krause of Williston make up the list of links-men thus far.

The meet schedule, though somewhat tentative, is as follows:
April 27—Invitational Meet at UND (in conjunction with the Track Meet).

May 5—Triangular Meet with Concordia and Moorhead State Teachers at the Fargo Country Club.

May 12—Bemidji Teachers Meet at Bemidji.

May 19—Conference tourney at Cedar Falls, Iowa.

The Georgia Tainter Trophy Match, won last season by NDAC, and the North Dakota College Tourney are also on the agenda, though as yet a definite time has not been set.

Due to the past records of the men who have already signed up, the Bison promise to be a power in the conference. Swanston has seen plenty of action in top notch meets while Hermanson earned second place in the Twin Cities while going to St. Paul Central High. Krause also rates high with good experience in his background.

However, there are still positions open on the team, and again Coach Kaiser's call should be heeded by all links enthusiasts on the campus.

Kloster, Carlson Will Attend Convention

Two NDAC women, Kathryn Kloster, AAS-Jr., from Sharon, N. Dak., and Elinor Carlson, AAS-Soph., from Overly, N. Coach Instructs Pupil . . .

Packy Schafer Given Baseball Reins; Former NDAC Athlete Well Experienced

North Dakota State Athletic Director Casey Finnegan announced late Tuesday that Marv Schafer, former Bison athlete, will assume head baseball coaching duties. Schafer will take charge replacing Chuck Bentson, who will devote his time to spring basketball drills.

Marv Schafer, better known as "Packy", is no stranger to most NDAC sports followers. The Hibbing, Minnesota, athlete earned three letters in both basketball and baseball. Marv played under Chalky Reed and Chuck Bentson in his three year stint on the maples.

While playing baseball for the Herd, Schafer drew plaudits for his fine play afield. Packy handled the initial sack like he was born on it.

In his high school days in Hibbing, the good looking, dark haired skipper was a four sport letter winner. Besides basketball and baseball, Schafer participated in football and hockey in the rugged range conference. He won 13 monographs for his interscholastic competition. During his stretch in the armed forces, Schafer played baseball in the states with the Ft. Leonard Wood All-Stars.

Schafer played with the Schofield Barracks Redlanders while in Hawaii. The team played in an all star, all service League. The coach of the Redlanders was Enos "Country" Slaughter, one of the St. Louis Cards greatest outfielders. Packy played alongside such reknowns as Bob-by Dillinger, Cookie Lavagetto, Walter Judnich, and Rollie Hemley.

It's easy to note from his experience that "Schaf" knows his baseball and knows the game well. With some help from the weather and a good turnout of prospective candidates, Coach Schafer could make his debut an auspicious one.

Diamond Drills Open As New Mentor Views Promising Crew For Season

Baseball drills began in an informal manner Tuesday as newly appointed coach Packy Schafer took his first look at candidates for the 1951 diamond squad. Practice will not be in full swing until next week, when outdoor facilities will be available.

The Bison spike-and-gloves will compete in the six-team Steve Gorman League. Ten games are now on the schedule. Unfavorable weather conditions caused cancellation of last year's college season. MSTC's Dragons have captured the title in each of the three years the league has been in operation.

Schafer is anxious to have any students interested in intercollegiate baseball try out for the squad. The list of aspirants who reported for indoor workouts early this week, and some of those who will probably report later is as follows: Catchers Bob Ripley, Dickinson; and Tom Cornforth, Fargo. Ripley was a member of the 1949 aggregation. Cornforth, a former Fargo Legion star, caught for Oakes last summer. The pitching department is headed by Ray Paxton, Georgetown, Illinois; and Johnny Mashek of Fargo. Mashek helped twirl Davenport into the runner-up slot of last summer's State

Amateur Tournament. In addition, Jack Cavanagh may compete as a pitcher if he fully recuperates from an operation.

Infielders include Paul Grabarkewitz, Elizabeth, Minnesota; Bob Bouvette, Hallock, Minnesota; Roger Huizenga, Minot; Tom Dittus, Dickinson; and Rod Fercho, Jerry Benschoff, and Jerry Friedman, Fargo. Grabarkewitz is the only returning regular of this group, although Bouvette saw some action. Dittus and Huizenga both played on their respective town's amateur teams. Benschoff, Friedman, and Fercho all were prominent on Fargo Legion teams a few seasons back.

Outfield candidates likely to report are Eino Martino and Don Gentile, Ironwood, Michigan; Bill Buckelew, Georgetown, Illinois; La-moyne Baer, Gackle; Roger Fercho and Berard Masse, Fargo; and Ken Maetzhold, Cray, N. D. Martino and Gentile are experienced amateur performers from Ironwood; Fercho and Masse, more Fargo Legion graduates, were regulars on the 1950 Moorhead Chix amateur team. Maetzhold may give first base a twirl.

Again—anyone with any baseball talent should contact Packy Schafer.

Engel, Wiedenfeld Unanimous Picks For Bison All Opposition Team; Arch Rival Places Two

By JOHN MASHEK

Although the last ball has bounced off the glass on the field-house hardwood, we have some final basketball business to care for. This being, the all-opponent team picked by the members of the 1950-51 edition of the Bison team.

Garnering unanimous approval of the basketballers polled were Dick Wiedenfeld, clever Morningside Maroon pivot man, and Fritz Engel, NDU flat shot artist. Receiving near total consent was Dick Garth, smooth Iowa Teachers' play maker.

The rest of the field presented a near deadlock for the final two spots on the mythical five. Chuck Wolfe, sophomore sensation of the Sioux, received one-half of the ballots cast to earn a berth on the crew. The final spot went to Don Bartlett, speed demon of the South Dakota State Bunnies.

Lloyd Thorgaard of Hamline and Douglas Gresham of Morningside just missed placing on the team. Thorgaard, who was picked on the all NAIB team, probably would have made the first five if the Pipers had played the Herd more than once. That one contest also came as the initial tilt of the year.

Two Hamline stars took their place along with Thorgaard and Gresham on the second five. Dave Hegna, giant center on Joe Hutton's quintet and Jim Fritsche, dead eye deluxe forward, snatched berths. Rounding out the second five is Herb Bartling, SDS football ace.

Packy Schafer would like to have all students interested in baseball report to Room 204 in the Physical Ed building at 4 Tuesday.

Mpls. Lakers Nipped; Will Play Here Soon

"In like a lion and out like a lamb" may be a bit dated, but applicable to the Minneapolis Lakers, dumped from the playoffs Tuesday by the Rochester Royals, 80-75.

The Lakers started like a house afire, pumping in eight straight points in the first minute after Arnie Risen opened scoring with a free throw. Mikan & Co. capitalized on Rochester mistakes, and dumped 9 out of 10 shots in the first five minutes, most of them easy layups. The Lakers had the score doubled at 12-6 and 14-7, but Rochester finally knotted the count at 24 all on Bob Davies' long shot. Two free throws by Jim Pollard gave the Minneapolitans a 26-26 first period lead.

A see-saw second period found the Royals ahead by one at the intermission, 41-40, despite some phenomenal shooting by the Lakers. Rochester had widened the gap at the end of the third quarter to 59-56. With 45 seconds remaining in the game, Minneapolis had pulled u within one point at 75-74.

The Lakers will play a team of professional all-stars at the NDAC fieldhouse on April 16 at 8 p. m. Even though they are no longer world champions, after dominating the professional basketball scene for the past four years, interest should be high in the April 16 game, so be at the fieldhouse for some top-notch basketball one week from Monday!
