Low Awards Open Symphonette To Play At Festival To College Seniors

Root-Tilden law scholarships for 1951 are offered to American college seniors between the ages of 20 and 28. The three-year awards, paying living expenses and tuition, is given to twenty students annually by New York University Law Center.

Selection of scholars will be based on grades, extra-curricular activities and potential public leadership.

After the candidate's application is accepted, he appears before a state committee and passing this he goes to the Circuit committee of his district for further testing.

Applications are made to: Dean of the Law School, New York University Law Center, Washington Square, New York, N. Y.

Last year was the first year the awards were offered. The bequests for the scholarships come from an anonymous donor interested in training outstanding lawyers. Samuel J. Tilden and Elihu Root are two distinguished graduates of the N. Y. U. Law School. Tilden smashed the Tweed Ring and was governor of New York State. Root was Secretary of State, Secretary of War and a United States Senator.

Hultz Thanks Student Body

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE NDAC STUDENT BODY:

Since it is impracticable to thank individually the many students and the various groups participating so effectively in the Homecoming program, I take this means of expressing both an official and a personal appreciation to all.

The floats, the Gold Star band, the smart ROTC appearance andthe house decoration all were a source of great pride and satisfaction, and were a forceful demonstration that we are all working together for a greater NDAC.

We hear that our somewhat erratic football season is not fully satisfying to the thousands of friends for whom top place only will suffice. But no one who witnessed the gallant efforts of our Bison team last Saturday can possibly say that they didn't give of their best and to overflowing. They battled, and they had encouragement from the student stands which was both convincing and thrilling. These players, with some who will join us by next fail, could very well head the league in 1952.

We still must work together to attain the athletic goals which we have set for NDAC. For the first time in years I, for one, believe that we are closer to those goals. Eventually we will acquire that self-confidence which presages satisfying victories, victories which will come to us as a direct result of coopration such as was evidenced at Homecoming.

Harewith, our heartfelt thanks to the Student Commission, the team, and to scores of student organizations whose combined efforts have lent encouragment to all of us for a promising

The addition of a new member to the soils staff will strengthen the work which soil scientists are doing at NDAC and in the state, according to H. L. Walster, dean of the school of agriculture and director of the experiment station.

Not only will the expanded staff provide more opportunities for students to do a broad study in soils, but it will aid in the intensive survey work which soil scientists are doing in North Dakota and the Missouri Basin, said Dean Walster. At present, Experiment Station Scientists are studying the Lake Souris Basin Bottineau County.

Headquarters Team Inspects AFROTC Unit

Last week the AFROTC detachment at NDAC was inspected by a team from Headquarters, 10th Air Force, Selfridge AFB, Michigan.

The team consisting of Col. F. Edgar Cheatle, director of AFRO-TC; Lt. Col. Robert F. Moyer, asst. director; and 1st. Lt. Warren E. Lins inspected the teaching facilities, administration, and supply sections of the department of Air Science and Tactics.

The team was also guest of honor at a luncheon held at the Elks Club Wednesday, Oct. 24.

Oil Experts Discuss Refining Problems Effecting North Dakota At Seminar

day night two distinguished experts in the petroleum field spoke. Dr. Herman Bloch and John Dogegy of Universal Oil Products spoke concerning the economics of refining and problems of designs and its operations. Since North Dakota faces the possibiliity of a new industrial development accurate information on the topic is needed.

Several important points concerning development of refinery operations which were brought out in the discussion follow:

Two simple processes are "topping" and "platforming". Topping is a straight distillation which produces low octane fuels. Platform-

> The minimum economic unit is a plant processing about 2500 oil barrels a day. "Peanut" units of 500-100 barrels are highly risky and expensive. They lack flexibility to compete with the variety of products produced by larger companies.

A unit of 2500 barrels per day yields a "pay out" profit of 50 cents to one dollar per barrel. Pay out profit helps the investor know how soon he can recover his investment in a new plant. It is a profit before allowances for depreciation and taxes.

New plants last about 20 to 25 years. Builders must consider the supply of crude oil and the possibilities of an active market for the products.

Marilyn Hunter And Attendants Picked By Harvard Men For Charming Feminity

Having examined carefully the products of some of the elite Eastern girls schools, we have been searching for some girls who are recognizable as such. Because we have the quaint thought that girls should be distinguished from boys by some degree of charm and not by claims of overwhelming mental prowess, we were aroused from our lethargy by the four very attractive and obviously feminine lasses who were chosen as the royalty of the NDAC homecom-

The disappointments can be summed up in a very few words. The University fans constituted a definite minority but still they produced three times as much noise. The Rahjah Pep Club was formed several years ago by an ambitious fellow by the name of Bob Owens and its initial purpose was to create more interest, co-operation, and activity at the various atheletic functions. Can't the club handle the situation, or do you need new blood in your administration.

Have heard many comments this past week on how wonderfully gracious Miss Hunter was as our Homecoming Queen. Congratulations Marilyn on a job well done.

Wandered over to the Homecoming dance last Saturday evening and spent several hours just looking around for people that I knew. I found that there were a lot of NDAC students and alums attending; but that there were approxamately six members of the faculty and staff present. These six included the three chaperones. Quite a showing for a group who should be as much interested in the school and its functions as the students. I've heard that the students have no spirit-I wonder?

The Bison have a week end off and the football season is just about concluded at NDAC. Now that the herd has played all its conference games and the snow has arrived, there is a good chance clinch the title. that the game with MSTC may be cancelled.

A recap of the past campaign shows the Bison finished with their best record since 1948 as far as league play is concerned.

September 15, Concordia invaded Dakotah Field and trounced the Bison 21-7. The Herd showed possibilities in this first game of the season, and it was a tough fought battle all the way.

On September 22, the Bison travlled to Augustana and absorbed a 12-0 licking.

The following week, lowa State Teachers Panthers came to town and the Bison rose to their peak by downing the heavily favored tutors 27-14. It was the first loop win since 1948 for the Herd.

Morningside was given an 18-6 victory over the Bison at Sioux City October 5, in a much disputed contest.

On October 12, South Dakota U, undefeated in conference play, kept their unbeaten status by downing NDAC 18-0. The Bison were held without a first down, but played good defensive ball.

The following week, at Brookings, the Herd again surged to top form and spoiled previously undefeated South Dakota State's record with a surprising 7-7 tie.

Last week, conference play was concluded with NDU Sioux spoiling our homecoming 33-14 in a chilly tussle. Seasons record; 1 win, 5 losses, and one tie.

The University of South Dakota virtually wrapped up the North Central Conference football championship Saturday afternoon as it ruined South Dakota State's annual Hobo Day celebration by scoring a 26-6 triumph.

It was the first loss for State in 17 games and meant that University would have to lose both of its remaining games with Iowa Teachers and the University of North Dakota before losing the league title.

Gerry Ashmore was University's big gunner in scoring three touchdowns as the coyotes moved into a 19-0 advantage before yielding state its only taily.

The University dug pay dirt in the first two quarters and lead at halftime 12-0. Mark Eixenberger and Gerry Ashmore scored the first two touchdowns.

The second half brought Ashmore to pay dirt once more with Spence Brende kicking extra honors to stretch their lead 19-0.

State took the next kickoff and scored in 14 plays with Gene Juve counting from the one. A pass, Bob Bresee to Marv Kool, accounted for 37 yards as the spark in the drive.

The coyotes proved to be the superior however as they smashed back 80 yards on a kickoff. Ashmore again drove over for the final touchdown.

AUGUSTANA WHIPS NORTHERN

Augustana's Vikings came off the floor after four successive defeats by North Central opponents and methodically rolled over the Northern State Teachers Saturday 40-0.

The Vikings' more experienced forwards ripped holes in Northern's line and their backs took advantage of the opportunities that had eluded them these many years.

Coach Linn Wells cleaned the bench of reserves but it was veterans that shone.

Eugene Thomsson, leading Augie ground gainer for the past three seasons, was the sparkplug of the ground attack as he played his last game on the Viking grid-
