Curtain Goes Up On Final Performance Of 'Gold In The Hills' Tonight At 8:00

Villian Murgatroyd, Joe McNellis, will pursue heroine Nell, Margaret Anderson, tonight on the stage of the Little Country Theatre as the Players present the final performance of "Gold in the Hills". Tickets priced at 50 and 75 cents may be purchased at the door. Curtain time is 8:00 p. m.

McNellis is a sophomore in Electrical Engineering from Detroit Lakes. Margaret, a Home Economics sophomore, is from Mayville. Ed Johnson, speech department, from St. Paul, plays the hero.

Nell's father, Gilbert Nelson, AAS Soph, orders Nell to leave the house in spite of the protests of Nell's sister, played by Jacolyn Brekken, HE Soph, and the housekeeper, Grace Lehman, AAS Soph. Nell goes to the Bowery owned by Big Mike Slattery, Glen Berg, Ph Sr, where she meets the villian companions: Sam Slade, Dick Goodman, Ag Soph; Pete the Rat, Dwight Baumann, ME Sr; Old Kate, Arlene Tiegen, AAS Soph; and Slick Steve, Bob Miner, Ag Jr.

Act II, which takes place in the Bowery, features specialty acts. Loretta Brown, AAS Jr, "Queen of the Bowery", sings "She's More to Be Pitied Than Censured". Other numbers are "When Francis Dances With Me", by Joanne Marquart, AAS Fr; "I'm Only a Bird in a Gilded Cage", by Gloria Morris, AAS Fr; and "Sweet Marie", by Ed Johnson. Betty Lou Kerr, AAS Soph, does a soft shoe number.

Visitors at the Bowery include Mayo Kucera, speech department; James Norby, AAS Sr; Rhoda Israelson, HE Jr; Marilyn Hunter, AAS Jr and Wesley Rae, AAS Soph. Eugene Osiecke, ASS Sr, plays a derelict and Little Tommy is portrayed by Danny Posin. Scott Pederson, AAS Fr is the Speaker of the Prologue.

Miss Constance West is directing the production. Robert Dietz is in charge of the music and also plays the professor. A. G. Arvold is general supervisor.

Alpha Phi Omega Region Convention Here This Weekend

NDAC will be host this Saturday and Sunday for the annual regional convention of Alpha Phi Omega, national scouting service fraternity, when representatives from seven colleges and universities meet at the college library.

The convention banquet will be Saturday at 6:30 p. m. in the Hotel Gardner. Main speaker will be Arman Spizzarri, Des Moines business man who is a member of the fraternity's national executive board.

College to be represented include Hamline University, the University of Minnesota, Gustavus Adolphus College, St. Olaf College, the University of North Dakota, St. John's University and NDAC.

New NDAC officers who are making convention arrangements include Douglas Williams, AAS Soph, president; Richard Kloubec, AAS Sr, vice-president; Carl Elofson, AAS Soph, secretary, and Richard Hill, AAS Soph, treasurer. Faculty advisors are H. Dean Stallings, A. Glenn Hill, Ernest Van Vlissingen and Merle E. Nott. Donald Hoag is faculty sponsor.

The 26-year-old fraternity engages in various service projects for the campus and community. The NDAC group is currently sponsoring Christmas Seal sales and campus Christmas tree decorations.

24 NDAC Seniors Win Recognition From National Collegiate Who's Who

Twenty-four students have been named to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges at NDAC. Selection for the national Who's Who is considered a top honor for college students.

Students are selected for the honor on the basis of excellence and sincerity in scholarship, leadership and participation in extra-curricular and academic activities, citizenship and service to the school, and promises of future usefulness to business and society.

Oscar Huso, Ag; Natalie Leiseth, HE; Dean McKee, Ag; Robert Ouradnik, AAS; Wallace Swenson, IE; and Kenneth Ward, Ag E.

15 Students Join Agricultural Group

On the basis of their scholastic standing, leadership abilities, and character, 15 students of the school of agriculture were initiated into Dacotah chapter of Alpha Zeta on Friday, November 16. The following are the new members:

Ray Allmaras, Eddie Kopperud, Everett Harrison, Daniel Murphy, John Babinski, Bernie Kylo, James Matthews, Bertram Berg, Jack Burke, Grant Jensen, Howard Gordon, Raymond Halvorson, Morris Nelson, Eugene Pfeifer, and Maurice Dobson.

Alpha Zeta is a national honorary fraternity in agriculture. The Dacotah chapter was organized in 1909 and was then called the Agriculture Scientific Society. One year later the society became a part of Alpha Zeta. The main objectives of Alpha Zeta are high scholarship, leadership, co-operation and comradeship.

Land-Grant Colleges Name Hultz To Council

North Dakota was honored at the conclusion of the annual meeting of the Association of Land-Grant Colleges and Universities by the election of Dr. Fred S. Hultz, president of the North Dakota Agricultural College, to the association's executive committee for a two-year term.

The 65th annual meeting of the association was held November 11-15 in Houston, Texas.

Earlier in the session, Dr. Hultz was elected for a three-year term to the Council of Presidents, composed of presidents of member colleges and universities from the 48 states, Hawaii and Alaska. The NDAC head was also named as secretary of the council.

Duo-Violinists At Convocation Wednesday

Playing both solo and combined numbers, Sidney and Teresa Harth, duo-violinists, will offer AC students the first musical convocation of the year Wednesday at 9:40 in Festival Hall.

The young husband-and-wife team offer varied programs that include popular works like "Porgy and Bess" music and "The Flight of the Bumblebee," as well as unusual and rarely heard music from the 18th and 19th centuries.

Mr. Harth has toured as soloist in the United States and Canada, and was invited to take part in the Bach Festival at Prades, France, in 1950, where he performed under the direction of the world-renowned Pablo Casals. He has appeared on the Telephone Hour, and has won such awards as the Walter W. Naumburg Foundation Award for 1948, and that of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences for 1950.

Mrs. Harth, a former fellow-student, has toured with the Cosmopolitan Trio, and in other ways has proven herself a notable ensemble performer.

Mr. Harth's turn to ensemble work is appropriate to his attitude toward music. He has been recognized for a devotion to music that goes beyond mere star performance with the violin. Thus Arthur Loesser of the Cleveland Press noted in one review, "Somehow he contrived to divert the interest more toward the music than toward himself." This is the self-effacing attitude of the true musician.

Tau Beta Pi Announces Essay Contest Winner

Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering fraternity at NDAC, announces that Gerald A. Erickson of Grygle, Minn., has won the essay contest sponsored by the fraternity. Erickson is now eligible to enter the national competition.

Francis Sessums of Bismarck has been initiated by the fraternity as an alumni member. Sessums, who is employed by the U. S. Geologic Survey, is a 1938 graduate of the Louisiana Polytechnic Institute. Edward L. Adams of Bismarck and Douglas Schwichtenberg of Bismarck were initiated as student members.

AGR's SPD's Plan To Present Pledges At Houses Sunday

by Lorrie Brown

Isn't it wonderful to be back to the routine of school after Thanksgiving vacation? Isn't it a joy to get up for an eight o'clock class instead of lolling in bed 'till noon? Isn't it enchanting to starve through a noon class instead of munching on turkey all day? Okay, Okay! I surrender! Oh well, buck up chillen', only 15 more long, tedious days 'till Christmas vacation!

Last night the KD's had the famous KD dinner at the house. Mmmm, good!

Phi Mu pledges recently elected the following officers: Betty Lou Jorgenson, president; Elmira Buddish, vice-president; Clarene Sandven, secretary; Gladys Anderson, treasurer. Congratulations girls!

Barbara Lazenby passed candy at the Phi Mu house recently in honor of her engagement to Henry Erb, sargent in the air force.

Recent pinnings at the SPD house include Wally Trieber who is pinned to Glendora Senne and Al Harth who is pinned to Pat Ris-

san. Congratulations! It's term party night again with the fellows from the dorm giving a terrific party at Festival Hall and the Theta Chi's entertaining their dates at the VFW Club in Moorhead. (I'll be around to check on that one) Tomorrow night the Alpha Gam's will have their term party at the chapter house. Need I say have fun?

This Wednesday the Sigma Chi's were hosts to the KKG's at the Sig House.

Tonight that fabulous, stupendous, super-colossal production, "Gold in the Hills" or "The Dead Sister's Secret" will be presented on the stage of the Little Country Theatre. Tickets may be bought at the door. Don't miss this soul-warming story! How's that for a plug?

SPD Gordon Christian was recently elected to represent the AC at the 175th Anniversary of the College Fraternity System. Also attending the convention are Gil Meland and Gordon Maier.

This Sunday the SPD's will present their pledges from 3 to 5 in the chapter house. There'll be coffee served and everyone is welcome!

The AGR's are having open house and pledge presentation Sunday so don't miss it!

Methinks that is all, so farewell!

SAI Plans Program For Province President

Miss Marjorie Stranger, Epsilon Province President of Sigma Alpha Iota, national professional music fraternity for women, will visit Omicron chapter on December 5 and 6.

According to Maxine Sill Hansen, college chapter president, plans include conferences with chapter officers as well as with Mr. Van Vlissingen, head of the music department and Pearl Dinan, dean of women. An active business meeting and musical are scheduled along with an initiation service and an Incorporation Day formal banquet and program.

Chapter advisors are Miss Matilda Thompson, Mrs. Ralph Croal, and Mrs. H. D. Harmon.

Appearing on the program will be Marguerite Beard, Lue Lawrence, Donna Wohl, Violet Rørmesmo, Carolyn Leverson, MSTC, and Maxine Sill Hansen. Sonja Blegen is program chairman.

Loretta Brown Gains National Recognition As College Poet

Loretta Brown, a junior English major in AAS, has had poetry selected for inclusion in a national anthology. Her poem, "Last Soldier", will be printed in the annual Anthology of College Poetry published in Los Angeles.

Loretta is a member of Gamma Phi Beta, Panhellenic council, college chorus, Orchestra and the Bison editorial staff. Her poetry has frequently been published in the Spectrum.

LAST SOLDIER

Oh heart! Heart! Why do you beat?
Why can't you let me go?
What good is life when one's alone
And freezing in hate's snow?
What good is life when love is gone
And friends are but a dream
That died with summer's leaves and flowers
And darkened life's bright beam?
My friends, my youth, my love is gone.
Gone are the flowers, the dew.
Oh heart! Have pity on me now
And let me see death too!

Student's Spout Off About Bus Service, Spectrum Prejudice, Teacher Evaluation

Dear Editor:

There are many people who would certainly appreciate bus service through the campus at all times. Of course if it is not possible to have it the year around, then bus service during just the winter months would certainly be appreciated.

There are several groups who would benefit from this service.

The first ones to consider are the residents of Dakota hall, who now must walk so far in the cold, only to find they have usually missed their bus and must stand on a wind swept corner. They also live so far from the bus stop that they cannot go out alone after dark.

Then there are the employees who work in the buildings on the west side of the campus who are also faced with the walking that distance in the cold. There are also Fargo students who usually have their first class on the other side of the campus. They too make the journey across a snow-laden and wind blown campus.

In conclusion, if the buses ran through the campus much time would be saved, people wouldn't have as far to walk in the cold, and they would be much happier.

Margaret Goven

(Ed. Note—The Student Commission is investigating this problem.)

To the Editor:

It seems that the Spectrum, although it is a school paper, devotes most of its time to a chosen few. Why is it that just because one doesn't belong to a sorority, she is relatively unimportant. Shouldn't we all have an equal chance in this world? Probably those in the majority would find it more interesting to read something other than sorority jottings.

Take as an example, if a student who isn't affiliated with a sorority becomes engaged, that isn't important enough to be printed on the social page of the Spectrum. On the other hand, the very week a sorority "gal" becomes "pinned" it appears in the paper. Is that fair in a school paper such as ours?

Since one student pays just as much for the Spectrum as the next, why not put forth a little more effort to include everyone!

Let's be a little more co-operative and give everyone a chance! I'm sure everyone would be much happier.

Name withheld upon request.

(Ed. Note—If a couple wishes to announce their engagement in a community paper, do they expect the society editor of that paper to know about the event? No, of course not. They call or mail in the news and ask that it be printed. Surely, the Spectrum staff cannot be expected to know that a student is engaged. The fraternities and sororities on the campus have members appointed who are responsible for submitting social news to the Spectrum. It might be wise for the dormitories to take the same action. In any case, a student should take the responsibility of announcing her own engagement.)

To the Editor:

College instructors have often been the subject of student criticism because they lack the desired attributes of an ideal teacher. Criticism as such benefits neither the teacher nor the student. However, properly directed constructive criticism can remedy some of the obvious classroom shortcomings of our teachers.

No one is more conscious of an instructor's classroom personality or presentation of subject matter than the student. Therefore, the student should be both qualified and responsible for a critical yet helpful evaluation of his teacher. After all, even a freshman has been in the business of being a student for at least 12 years.

The primary purpose of teacher evaluation is to help the instructor do a better job of teaching. It is not intended as a student device for getting even or an administrative threat for the apprehension or dismissal of a teacher.

Reports from instructors who have used a rating test are definitely encouraging. Test results have helped these instructors to suppress heretofore unknown peculiarities and to improve the method of presentation.

Several NDAC faculty members have refused to subject themselves to a student rating test. As a result, they have prevented its acceptance by the college council. In the interests of better education, let us as students strive to sway doubtful or resentful minds. Co-ordinated student opinion together with additional evidence may be the key to the adoption of a campus-wide teacher evaluation program.

Bob Schnell

(Ed. Note: Glad to have you agree with us Bob. Let's have more support of this kind.)

Harvard Moonshiners Have Dorm Stills

The big Thanksgiving vacation is now a thing of the past, but before we write it off and lay the facts away to rest, one item should be brought to light! A delegation of Theta Chi's made a trip to Minneapolis to attend the graduation exercises of Sparky, their house dog. Sparky who has just completed six weeks of schooling at the University, received his degree with honors. His major: Economics of Control.

as you like it! The Harvard Crimson, Student newspaper, said moonshiners were operating in the University dormitories, and carried a photograph to prove it.

Three stills have definitely been in operation during the past two months, while four others have been reported, but as yet have not been uncovered, the Crimson said.

Huh, and they say, "Go West Young Man". I say "Go East kid-do" . . .

The sports department, last week gave a clear, concise report on the swimming pool situation as it now exists. The latest development arising from the article is: petitions being circulated. Your signature may help to remedy the problem.

STUDENT OF THE WEEK

"Gold in them thar Hills", or "The Dead Sister's Secret" as it is also known is the season's opener welcoming back A. G. Arvold, chairman of the speech department. Nell, the heroine, is effectively portrayed by Miss Margie Anderson, of Mayville, N. Dak. Marge, who was also starred in last year's freshman production, is wooed, pursued, and finally won in the fast moving melodrama that has been packing them in for the past two nights. Miss Anderson is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority, a member of Tryota and a soph. majoring in Home Economics.

The University is making big news this week. Foremost of course is the dedication of their new $875,000 fieldhouse. Outstanding features are: no obstructions (pillars etc.) new date rate, and a brand new room, 40 by 30 to be used exclusively for their trophies. Well in the meantime I guess it could be used for a janitor's quarters!!

Ears Fisher, of the Spectrum sports department, will be on the lookout during the next few days while Fitz is gone. Fish is going to try and scope him.

With State's hockey team struggling to get organized on this campus comes one general comment from this department. I've heard it said lately that many of the students are thinking of trying out for the team. Well why not? They've had plenty of practice lately skating around these heyar sidewalks. The only resulting problem is of course: Do we have to buy our own skates or slide around on our own?

Notice to all concerned—take it

Cagers Drop Opener To Lawrence Tech; Globe Trotters Here Rebound To Outscore MSTC, 53-42

Powerful Lawrence Tech of Detroit, Michigan, put the dampers on the Bison last Saturday night 76-54. The contest was the opener for each team.

The herd led only once in the game, that lead being 5-3 in the opening minutes of play. Tech took a 19-10 lead at the end of the first quarter, and led at the intermission 39-25.

The third period was played on even terms, with the score 53-39 heading into the final stanza.

Bob Grant, was ejected from the game with one minute to play in the first half, because of five fouls. Art Bunker fouled out in the third period, with Jerry Geisler and Rod Fercho following.

Bunker scored 12 points to lead the Bison in scoring. Blaine Denning chalked up 20 and Ken Burrell 16 to pace the victors.

The Bison made a good showing against Tech, despite the 22 point difference in the score. Lawrence is one of the top notch quintets in the country, and boasts of several all-American candidates.

The NDAC cagers won their first game of the young season Tuesday night by defeating Moorhead State Teachers, 52-43. It was the first home game for the Bison.

The herd took command at the very start, when Jerry Geisler tipped a two pointer. The score was tied at 3-3, but after that, the Dragons could never catch up. At one stage of the contest, the Bison held a thirteen point lead.

A typical first game, there were plenty of fouls and ragged play. Little was accomplished other than the triumph. Both coaches agreed that many rough spots will have to be smoothed out.

The Bison held quarter leads of 11-6, 29-17, and 40-30, in a slow contest.

Art Bunker and Don Fougner dropped in a dozen points apiece to pace the scoring. Carl Hedstrom led the Dragon attack with 10. Newcomers Scotty Thayer and Walt Fogel looked good in their first performances as Bison.

In a preliminary game, the Bison B's beat the Dragon reserves in a good contest, 53-43.

Basketball fans of the Northwest will have a chance to see the Harlem Globetrotters, famous Negro basketball team, when they appear at the North Dakota Agricultural College fieldhouse on Dec. 5 at 8 p. m. The Trotters, who have just returned from a European tour, will play an all-star team from NDAC and Fargo.

Not only do the Harlem Globetrotters put on a fine exhibition of how the cage game should be played, but they are showmen as well. Spectators who have watched them play say their "off the game" trick stuff is worth the admission price. Passing and shooting antics mixed with basketball finesse prove that "the hand is quicker than the eye."

The game will be part of a doubleheader in which the Kansas City Stars, traveling ball club associated with the Trotters, also will play a crack local team.

Added attractions for the event will be half-time comedy acts put on by Ted Bourne and Bob Anderson, a pair of table tennis exhibitionists, and Ray Wilbert, hoop sport artist.

There will be no reserved seats, according to the NDAC athletic department. All tickets will be for general admission only.

The Trotters are entering their 25th season with a record of 3,908 victories against only 252 defeats and a single tie game—a percentage mark of .939.

Last season, the Trotters performed their "regular" schedule of 154 games over their route of all sections of the United States, Canada, northern Mexico, Alaska and the Hawaiian Islands. This part of the season accounted for 153 victories and one defeat.

ON THE SUNNY SIDE?

by Bob Fisher

Now that Thanksgiving is over (burp) and we've been back to the old Brain Factory for a ghoulish week, we note that basketball talk is taking over in the Hasty.

The experts predict that the two North Dakota teams, University and State by name, appear to be loaded and will end up on top of the North Central conference heap come March 1st.

South Dakota State, Morningside and South Dakota U are to fight it out for the cellar. I don't want to appear as a pessimist, but after reading what Morningside did to Dakota Wesleyan last week, I have my doubts.

Morningside banged Wesleyan to the merry tune of 104-39. But, maybe Wesleyan was shooting at the wrong basket?

Iowa State Teachers and Augustana appear as the unpredictable dark horse. Last year, the loop championship was shared by the two Iowa schools, Morningside and Iowa TC.

If you really want to get the low-down on basketball, or as a matter of fact any sport, just drop into the Hasty Tasty where you can always find some sort of an argument going on.

The Sig's can feel mighty proud of themselves this week. One of their famous alums has returned to school. He is none other than that rogue, Steve Canyon, of funny paper fame.

Now that I've gotten my nasty dig in, back to sports.

The intramural program at NDAC has really caught fire. Touchball, Volleyball, and basketball are now in the program.

According to E. E. Kaiser, director of Intramural activities, 666 boys participated in touchball. A fine gesture on the part of the social organizations as far as sports participation is concerned. Keep up the good work members of the intramural board.

Hockey is going full swing up at NDU. They just ordered 50 more unbreakable hockey sticks. Kind of hard on the head though.

Thirty members of the South Dakota State football team were awarded major letters at a banquet two weeks ago. C. C. Finnegan, Director of Athletics at NDAC was the principal speaker at the din-

Benny Noland, state's outstanding halfback was named to the North Central Conference all star team. Frank Esposito received honorable mention. A 22 man squad was chosen by the coaches and officials at their annual conference in Minneapolis.

Jim (forget-me-not) Fay, stalwart student manager of the NDAC basketball squad had a hard time in Detroit. Jim carefully got everything ready before the game with Lawrence Tech, double checking to make sure nothing was left behind. Upon arrival at the coliseum, it was discovered the basketballs were left in the hotel. But, even if they weren't used, Jim feels they were worth the 1800 miles they traveled.

Prediction of the Week:
I predict that the custodian is the rascal that pilfered the vault in Dick Tracy. (And I know because I read next week's funnies at the Campus Grill.)

Latest threat on campus is Ken (scoop) Ketchner's remark, "Be careful how you treat me, or I'll make you student of the week."

New field houses have been dedicated this week by Whapeton School of Science and North Dakota U, commonly called upstate normal. It's about time the U moved out of that Cracker box known as the armory.

Art Bunker has developed a new hook shot. He looks like the leaning tower of Pisa when he goes into his act. Do much leaning in Havre, Art?

Hockey mad, Dick (Pluto) Kloubec, has been knocking himself out trying to line up a few games for the NDAC pucksters. So far Dick has contacted Bemidji, Detroit Lakes, Crookston, and Jamestown. Kloe is doing a fine job, considering the school is giving him only minimum of support.

Seeing as there isn't a basketball game tonight, how about everybody going to the Little Country Theatre tonight to see "Gold in the Hills." Let's make a big turnout to celebrate Mr. Arvold's return to the LCT. Nothing would please the genial gent more than a packed house.

Army ROTC Rifle Team Wins 1 Match, Loses 2

Results of recent postal matches show the Army ROTC rifle team winning one of three matches, according to Curtis Norenberg, team captain from Towner.

The lone win was from New Mexico College of Agricultural and Mechanical Arts, while the defeats were at the hands of the University of Nebraska and the University of Kansas teams.

Firing the high score for the period was Norenberg with a 371 total. Gene Schuschke, Lidgerwood, and Joe Helle, Fargo, were next in line with scores of 366 and 356.

Other team members firing were Don Hastings, Vincen Hatlen, Douglas Williams, and Ed Zimmerman, all of Fargo; Tom Howitz, Rock Lake; Ed O'Brien, Webster; and Chuck Ridder, Quincy, Ill.

Matches concluding the fall term firing are with the University of Michigan this week, the Hearst national intercollegiate trophy match next week, and with Ohio Wesleyan University the week of December 15th.

East Stand For NDAC

Students attending basketball games should enter the front door of the field house. The entire East stand is reserved for NDAC students.

Volleyball Progressing; Basketball Next In IM

Volleyball heads into it's third week of play, with several teams still undefeated. The turnout has been better than expected, and the games are real thrillers.

The following changes have been made in the schedule for next week:

SAE vs Sigma Chi—9—Tues. Dec. 4th; AFROTC vs ATO2—7:45—Thur. Dec. 6th; SPD vs Kappa Psi—8:15—Thur. Dec. 6th; ATO vs Theta Chi—9—Thur. Dec. 6th.

All organizations interested in intramural basketball, must have their entry fees in by Dec. 10th. The brackets will be decided upon at that time.
