Bruce Dybvig's All-American Band Plays For Military Ball

The 1952 Military Ball will open have been on tour in the East and the Fargo-Moorhead formal-social into Canada where they played the season on the NDAC campus Friday, January 18 at 9 p. m. Music will be provided by Bruce Dybvig and his "All-American Band."

In 1946 LOOK Magazine started a nation-wide contest for the All-American orchestra. Bruce Dybvig entered his band, won the district contest, moved on to win the sectional at Chicago and then went on to win the national finals at Carnagie Hall and hence the title of "All-American Band."

leading night clubs, ballrooms, country clubs, and schools. The orchestra features a very danceable style of music intermingled with modern and a very little jazz. The vocals will be handled by beautiful Jeanine Carlson and alternate Ben Mostrom.

Highlighting the dance will be the crowning of the "Queen of the Military Ball." The Air Force ROTC drill team will act as honor guard for the queen presentation. The queen will be chosen by a local photograph-

Decorations for the formal ball will carry out the theme, "The Old and the New" with flats and paintings contrasting the old muitary styles with the modern.

Committee chairman in charge of arrangements for the ball are: Kenneth Ward, master of ceremonies; Robert Gruel, finance; Art O'Connor and Marilyn Hunter, decorations; Dave Robinson, furniture; Byron Lawrence, tickets; Warren Frank and Ray Curtis, concessions; Edward Sveinson, publicity; and Donald Eyolfson, cleanup.

The dance is strictly formal, requiring either a uniform or tuxedo. Tickets are $3 a couple and may be purchased from any advanced RO-TC cadet, the AC Bookstore, or at Daveau's music store.

A variety of courses at the graduate and undergraduate levels will be offered to 1952 summer school students at NDAC, according to G. college dance in Festival Hall on Ernst Giesecke, director of the sum- Feb. 1 for the purpose of selecting mer session and dean of the NDAC | an NDAC "Queen of the Campus" School of Applied Arts and Scien- to represent the college in Fargo's

Features of the summer session will include a course in conservation education offered by the School of Agriculture. Various soil conservation districts are cooperating by making available scholarship grants to teachers of conservation.

Two workshops are planned. A one-week workshop on guidance for rural youth will be sponsored by the department of education and phychology and the department of student personnel. The department of mathematics is planning a workshop for teachers of secondary school mathematics.

For science teacher, the department of entomology will offer work in new techiques of collecting, mounting, display and teaching.

The School of Chemical Technology will hold the fifth annual paint short course and the second annual advanced paint short course.

The six-week summer session is extend through July 19.

Alpha Phi Omega Sets Dance To Select Queen To Represent NDAC

Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity at NDAC will sponsor an all-Jack Frost Winter carnival queen

Selection of the campus queen will be made at the dance. Each person attending will be allowed one vote which he will cast by writing the name of his choice on the reverse side of the admission

This is the second year that Alpha Phi Omega has sponsored the NDAC contest for gueen selection.

Student Union Board Of Directors Sponsoring Competition

The Memorial Student Union building is shown form the Southeast perspective. The Board of Directors of the Student Union is sponsoring a contest for a design on the surface included within the dotted line.

Board of Directors is sponsoring a competition for the design on a motif for the North wall adjacent to the East entrance of the Student Union. It is felt that some type of a motif, decoration, will act as a relief treatment of this surface.

The contestant should keep in mind that the competition is being held to obtain ideas for this motif. The architect for the building, Wm. F. Kurke and Associates, will complete any design, if necessary, and include same on his working drawings.

The surface under contruction will be of a medium red buff colored brick. The contestant may use any material or materials he may desire for the design.

Any student enrolled at ND-AC is eligible to participate. There will be three cash prizes of $25 for first place, $15 for second place and $10 for third place.

Perhaps you are wondering why and how I came here. Bill Stern of the Dakota National Bank and a director of Northwest National Bank, once came to Tokyo with a United States senator on a business trip. On this trip he attended a banquet where an American general heard him express the wish to sponsor a young Japanese student at an American college.

Mr. Stern wished to improve public relations between the two countries by this means. The general was a friend of my family and suggested my name. Everything was settled within

Before I came to this country I spent three years at the University of Tokyo. Right now I am majoring in English since I am not too good at applying American slang in the correct places. Later I will take up economics.

We did not want the war as war: for we believed that all disputes should be settled by peaceful negotiations. However, if war were the only way we could free Asia from foreign domination and if war were the only way we could get markets then war would become a necessary evil".

China was our main possibility for a market and the United States was our competitor. She had to be eliminated if Japan was to have a balanced economy. However, we believed that the government attacked Pearl Harbor before other solving methods had been used up.

The majority of the people have economic and political problems.

Perhaps confusion is the best of the Japanese when they found they were losing the war. Their country turned out to be a false idol. The people lost whatever faith there was in their lives and they were left with no possible answer to their problems.

Spectrum Seeks Solution

Time: Any Friday morning at 11:00 a.m.

Place: Minard hall.

Characters: NDAC students scanning the Spectrum.

Sports Enthusiast: "Only one page of sports. Some paper! ROTC Student: "Looks like an AFROTC paper." LSA Member: "They cut the religious news again."

Scholar: "Devoting an entire page of this periodical to the unacedemic subject of, if you'll pardon the expression, 'sports' is not understandable; and furthermore

The problem is evident: You can't please all the people all the time. The solution is equally simple: Attempt to please most of the people most of the time. Unfortunately minor details such as mechanical requirements and journalistic polices complicate the situation. A Spectrum page contains five columns, each two inches wide and 15 outstanding theme for the top soinches long. Type-streachers and type-condensers haven't been devised cial event of the year. The whole yet, although a would-be inventor might tackle the problem. A newspaperman, when preparing a page for print, generally places the longer articles on the page first and fills in with the shorter stories. This seems to indicate that short stories are used for filler. This is not always true. Care is taken to include important notices.

But, what is an important notice? Is the announcement of a meeting of an organization which meets regularly every week at the same is big, and it will be very effective. time important? Consider the problem if every organization on the campus—Blue Key, Student Commission, all the engineering clubs, the chemistry club, all of the 14 Greek organizations-wanted their meeting explain-but there is one thing I announced every week in the Spectrum.

The following passage is taken from a letter sent out to homes of tra, and the new costuming. Bruce NDAC Lutheran students by the Lutheran Student Foundation on this Dybvig and his orchestra have been campus Dec. 26, 1951;

"Many more of you have seen Christianity relegated to a position of unimportance in campus life ("The Spectrum won't print it"; "We cannot announce your Freshman Party, John."; "There will be no Religious Emphasis Week this year.")"

Who do those quotations marks indicate? Where does he gain his information? When has the Spectrum dogmatically stated, "We won't and has quite a colorful history. To print it!"? Dybvig was put into the limelite phasis Week because the Spectrum won't support it in the manner they desire? We would be the first to assert a campus newspaper is important, but we didn't realize that the Spectrum had the power to cancel an entire movement.

Twelve issues of the Spectrum were printed last term. Eight of them contained religious news. News from LSA was not submitted for the first issue of the term or for the Dec. 7 issue. The church notes omitted were, in every case, notices of regular meetings. Last week, no church organization submitted news. This week a complete schedule of LSA weekly meetings is printed. Readers, clip it out for future reference because in some future issue we may not find space to tell you that LSA meets every noon at 12:00.

We realize that a religious group would be the first group to execute | finest Military Balls in history. brotherly understanding. But understanding can only follow from the facts on both sides. Here are some facts on the journalistic side. They are taken from the NDAC Student Publications Style Sheet which is based on accepted journalistic practices. The style sheet had both student and faculy approval before it was published four years ago."

Rule One: "A reporter does not editorialize." This means that a reporter does not give his opinion in a news story. The only place for opinions in a newspaper is in a bi-lined (signed) column or in an editorial, which is theoretically signed by the paper.

Rule Two: "A reporter does not urge". This explains why we eliminate such sentences as, "Come to morning devotion hour and prepare for your day with prayer."

Rule Three: "A reporter cuts wordage." The London Time prints the world's intelligence in eight pages every day. The Spectrum does the theater opens for the initial not print the world's intelligence but then the intelligence of the Spectrum staff doesn't equal the intelligence of the Times staff. (Now there's a statement everyone should agree with.) By following this rule we often condense a half-page article into one or two sentences.

Plans for partys, previews of coming speakers, reports of a group activities constitute good news. But the announcement of a regularly scheduled meeting will never make headlines.

Theme Outstanding For Military Ball

by Ken Ketchner

"The Ball of the Future"-sounds good, and will be better than ever. It's the 1952 Military Ball. Art O'-Connor, who has been working for several weeks on the details of the decorations, has come up with this idea, as I managed to grasp, will consist of sketchs of old airplanes, and sketchs of new airplanes resting against a background of mutilateral-symetery! This multilateral-symetery business sounds big, it

The theme business is hard to can explain, and that is the orchescontracted to play for the ball, and for the benefit of those who aren't familar with this band, possibly a few words about them would help in 1946 when he and his band won ion season. "The Dective Story!" "One of the greatest movies seen during the past 12 months", that is the comment and opinion of many students who have seen the picture currently showing at the Fargo Theater. But to one lad on this campus it means much more, it means weeks of preparation and planning, days of figuring, and finally hours of sweating, waiting for the hour when showing. The deal is this, Kirk Douglas plays the leading role, but of course the story is the same each time he does appear in the twin cities in any picture. Howard Preckel is a great admirer of the movie star, and has been ever since he appeared in "The Champ." Preckel has been called the "Champ" for several months now, and lives up to the name by getting his reservation in weeks ahead of time for each Douglas film, and finally by appearing at the theater with his roll of tickets ,and naturally his iunch.

Scholarships For Study Abroad Available Now

Applications for fellowships and scholarships to study abroad during the 1952-53 academic year are now being accepted by the Institute of International Education, according to C. A. Sevrinson, NDAC dean of men who is local advisor on such awards.

Competitions are open for study in countries of Latin America, Asia and Europe, said Dean Sevrinson. Most of these competitions will close in February or March although a few close earlier or later.

Eligibility requirements vary slightly for each competition. Generally, a candidate must be a United States citizen and hold a college degree (or meet this requirement by the time of departure). Applicants must present and capacity for independent Preference will be given to candidates under 35. Unless stated otherwise in announcements from various countries, both married and unmarried candidates are eligible.

Before making formal application, candidates are asked by Dean Sevrinson to read carefully the eligibility requirements and decide which competition best suits their plans. Further information may be secured from Dean Sevrinson or from the Institute of International Education, 2 West 45 Street, New York 19, N. Y.

Dean Sevrinson also announces that competition for 1953-54 Fulbright scholarships for graduate students will open this spring and close in October. Nineteen counries are now participating in the Fulbright program with three more countries expected to enter.

The Traill County show was so successful that NDAC actively promoted what was then called "industrial contest work." This led directly into organized extension work at the college. Passage of the Smith-Lever Act in 1914 made cooperative extension work nation wide. The following year youth Dakota.

Here are some answers the students at the University of Rhode Island gave to the question: What do you think of studying in the library?:

"I go there because I like to meet people, and you never can tell who you will find under the tables, The beavy reference books make good pants pressers, After studying for 15 years, it is too hard to concentrate with no noise."
