Men Sprout Facial Foilage For Series

Facial foilage will grow rampant on this campus for the next few weeks while men compete for prizes in the beard contest sponsored by the Interfraternity Council. Beards will be judged and prizes awarded on Feb. 23 at the second game of the basketball series with the University of North Dakota.

Appropriate prizes will be given for various types of beards including the trimmest, the shabbiest, the most humorous and the most colorful. Judges will be Miss Phillips, Miss Thompson, and Miss Grimes, all of the ND AC faculty.

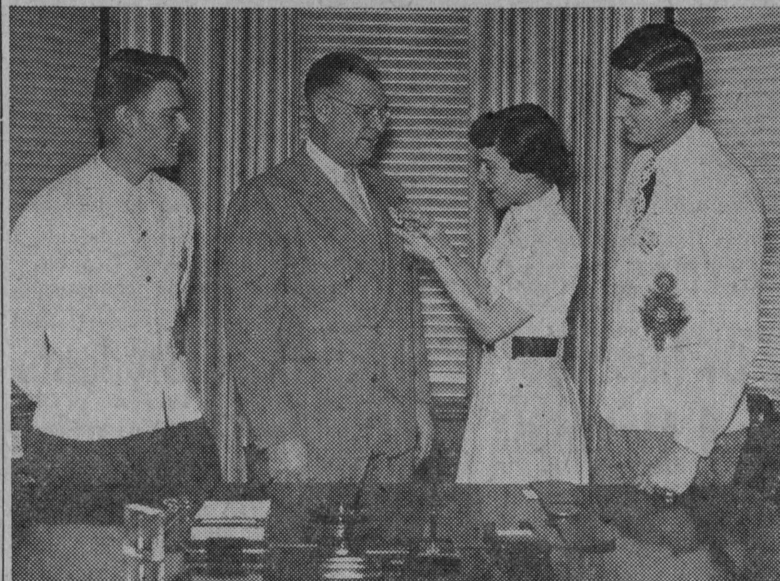

A similar beard-growing contest is being initiated at the University of North Dakota, according to the Interfraternity Council. Judging there will be done at the fourth and final game of the NDAC-UND series to be played March 1 at Grand Forks.

Miss West Announces Cast For Shaw Play

Hultz, while Alpha Phi Omega members, Carl Eloffson, and Douglas Williams look on. Alpha Phi Omega is sponsoring the button sales on campus. Students may purchase buttons from any APO member, at the bookstore, or at the circulation desk of the library.

WSSF Drive Ends In Carnival, Game

Tonight is the big night for the World Student Service Fund drive. The week long drive to raise money for students in foreign lands comes to a climax at the traditional WSSF carnival.

Bob Ouradnick, drive chairman, reports excellent cooperation from all the social organizations involved in bringing to the campus one of the biggest carnivals in recent years. A wide variety of concessions are being planned, each organization operating a booth or stand.

Everything from pie throwing contest to fortune telling to the cake walk will be on hand. Music will be provided for all who wish to dance.

Prior to the dance and carnival will be held the annual "Fat Man's Thin Man's" basketball game in the field house. Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity is handling the arrangements for the game which is to be played at 7:30 p. m.

Hesse, AC Graduate Visits Spectrum Office

Second Lt. John F. Hesse, '50 graduate of NDAC, paid a visit to the Spectrum office last week. Hesse has been stationed with the infantry at Fort Benning, Georgia. After thirty days leave he will report to Camp Stoneman, California.

Hesse was Spectrum sports editor for over two years. He also wrote the 'Willie Best' series for the paper and theme copy for the 1951 Bison annual.

Recognized as a 'senior who made things go', Hesse was a member of Edwin Booth, Blue Key, and Scabbard and Blade. He participated in LCT activities, Bison Brevities, football and intramural sports.

Wohl Speaks At 'Y'

Donna Wohl will speak on the topic, "Marriage", at Wesley Foundation on Sunday, February 3. The supper and worship are held at 5:30 in the 'Y'.

Goven Receives Plane Trip To Chicago By Winning National Cherry Pie Contest

For the first time in history, North Dakota this year will have an entry in the National Cherry Pie Contest to be held Feb. 21 in Chicago. The state's entry will be Margaret Goven a sophomore student in home economics at NDAC.

Margaret won the right to represent her state in a local "bake-off" held this week at NDAC in which eight girls competed. For two hours, the girls mixed, measured, baked, waited and worried under the critical eyes of a jury of Fargo townspeople.

The jury tasted and tested, but found it hard to choose since all the pies were so good. Judging was close. Finally, Margaret's pie was named best because of its excellent brown top crust, rich flavor and other fine qualities. Incidentally, Margaret was the only girl who used milk in mixing her pie dough.

Margaret comes from a farm family of 10 children so she has had plenty of cooking experience. Her three younger brothers can put away one of her pies in record time and still have room for another.

As a reward for her pie-baking proficiency, Margaret will get an expense-paid plane trip to Chicago and stay in one of the city's best hotels while competing in the national bake off at the Hotel Morrison on Feb. 21. Miss Mildred Schmidt, assistant professor in home economics at NDAC will accompany her to Chicago. They will leave Feb. 19.

The Chicago event will have national press coverage with newsreel cameramen on hand. If Margaret wins the national award, she will get a trip to Washington, D. C., and New York and $150 in cash.

National contest rules limited the entries to girls under 21 years of age. Besides Margaret, those competing in the local bake-off included Mary Lucy of Coteau, N. D., Janet Vick of Fargo, Alice Bjorklund of Richville, Minn., Betty Jorgenson of Leeds, N. D., Gloria Hoganson of Fargo, Janice Bohn of Munich, N. D., and Gail Lohse of Fargo.

The jury judging the pies included the following Fargo people: Evald A. Carlson, manager of the Powers hotel; Harry Howland, manager of the Fargo Bakery Company; Ruth M. Dawson, extension nutritionist at NDAC; and Mrs. Arthur C. Forthun, and Mrs. Norman G. Tenneson, Fargo homemakers.

Date Set For Annual Little International

The 26th annual Little International Livestock Show produced by the Saddle and Sirloin club will be held on Sat., March 1. Manager Bob Schnell and his staff are in hopes that the show can be staged in the new livestock pavilion, now Fieldhouse will be reserved as an alternate location.

Featured as the main event will be the livestock show which includes beef and dairy cattle, hog and sheep fitting and showing competition. In addition, there will be agronomy, farm machinery and poultry displays.

All events will be competitive with valuable prizes being awarded to the winners in each division. Progressive North Dakota livestock producers have donated purebred sheep and hogs to be used as prizes. Fargo business concerns have donated a host of coveted trophies and other prizes.

Awards will be made on the basis of showmanship and ability to train and groom the animal for the show ring.

Students in agriculture have selected more than 130 animals to be shown in competition. These students are presently devoting much of their time and talents toward training and grooming their animals.

Special features of the show include the co-ed hog driving contest, a high school horse act and the "Wagonmasters", a popular western band from Minot.

Choir, Band Go On Three Day Tour To Dakota Towns

It's tour time for the choir and band of NDAC as they prepare to take to the road for their annual tour of North Dakota towns. Both groups will travel in chartered busses.

The choir, under the direction of Ernst Van Vlissingen, will present a concert at Grafton on the evening of Feb. 12; Lakota on the afternoon of Feb. 14 and Rugby that evening.

The Gold Star Band, directed by William A. Euren, will give a concert at New Salem and the evening of Feb. 12; Mandan Training School on the afternoon of Feb. 13 and Mandan High School that evening; and Medina on the afternoon of Feb. 14 and Jamestown that evening. A concert is also scheduled for Hillsboro in early March with the date to be announced.

In general, concerts will be presented in auditoriums of local high schools with afternoon performances at 2:30 and evening concerts at 8. Both the band and choir will offer a mixed program of classical and modern music.

Olson Wins Contest For Table Design

A design for a coffee table and magazine rack won Roald Olson of Fargo first place in a recent design contest sponsored by Kappa Tau Delta, honorary architectural fraternity at NDAC.

All students in the architectural departments took part in the competition which consisted of using ordinary materials to design an article of some physical use. Most of the designs submitted were of furniture. The entries will be on public display in the library later in February.

The committee in charge of setting up the problem included Prof. Knute A. Henning, O. Reuben Johnson and George M. Polk, all of the NDAC architectural faculty, and students Arthur O'Conner of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Ellis Jones and Marvin Rosvold, both of Fargo.

Engineer Advocates Unit Standardization

Standardizing building sizes would provide North Dakota farmers with lower cost and more flexible structures, W. J. Promersberger, NDAC Experiment station engineer advises.

Returning from the annual meeting of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers, Promersberger quotes findings of USDA architects, who believe standardization will mean greater building economy and wider use of fram structures.

Standardized structure permit greater use of "stock" sizes of materials, as well as labor savings in handling and construction.

Another advantage is that buildings could be designed for many uses instead of just one or two. Fewer buildings therefore would become obsolete because of changes in farming plans and methods.

Giesecke Attends Meet

G. Ernst Giesecke, dean of the NDAC school of applied arts and sciences, attended a meeting in Bismarck Friday, Jan. 18, of the Educational Policies Commission of the North Dakota Education Association. Dean Giesecke is a member of the commission.

Exhibition Tells Story Of Institute For Preserving Historical Material

The story of the North Dakota Institute for Regional Studies is told in an exhibit on the NDAC Soils Special train which is currently touring the state. A new pamphlet explaining the aims of the institute and its accomplishments is being distributed at stops along the train route.

The Institute for Regional Studies, established in March of 1950 with approval of the Board of Higher Education, is a non-profit organization designed to collect and preserve historical material on North Dakota and the northern plains. It also encourages scientific studies which are published from time to time.

Membership in the institute is open to all individuals and any institutions which may wish to participate in its activities.

Fruit Men Visit NDAC To Recruit

A representative of the United Fruit company will visit the NDAC campus this spring to recruit employees for the tropical divisions of the company, according to William D. Robinson, NDAC director of placement service.

Opportunities are open with the company in shipping, railroading, communications, engineering, research, accounting, sales and advertising. Candidates for employment must hold a bachelor's degree with an above average scholastic record.

Furnished living quarters are provided free to all tropical employees, according to the company statement. Houses for married people are limited, so preference is given to single men on new employees.

Persons unable to get an interview with the company representative may write to the employment department of the United Fruit Company, 80 Federal Street, Boston, Mass.

Hunter Loses Billfold

Marilyn Hunter lost a green leather billfold last week. The finder may return it to her at the Publications office.

Betty Lou Danielson lost a psychology book last week. The finder may return it to her at the Publications office.

The institute is governed by a board of director with G. Ernst Giesecke, dean of the NDAC school of applied arts and sciences, as executive secretary. Grants-in-aid and other types of assistance backed by institute funds are governed by the board.

Gifts to the institute have included three large collections of photographs totaling nearly 8000 early pictures, copies of many county histories long out of print, authors' manuscripts of recent books, correspondence files, privately printed books and rare newspapers.

"The board of directors wishes to thank the many friends of the institute who have contributed valuable gifts to the research center," said Dean Giesecke. "We want to explain that this material is available to the general public. Some of the rare materials cannot be given general circulation, but people are always welcome to see them at NDAC."

Emphasis is placed on publication of the results of significant research. The institute's first publication, "Handbook of North Dakota Plants," by Dr. O. A. Stevens, was followed by several poetry chapbooks. Currently, Dr. W. C. Hunter is working on a history of the college while Kenneth Kuhn and Richard E. Lyons of NDAC are preparing an anthology of North Dakota writings.

Schultz Speaks On Campus Crisis

Pastor John Schultz will begin his fourth year as pastor for students by sharing some of his experiences and thoughts on "The Campus Crisis and the Christian Answer," on Sunday, February 3, at 5:30 in the LSA center.

Pastor Schultz has spoken on facets of this subject to Convocation groups at NUD and SDSC, in the past year, as Religious Emphasis Week speaker.

"As in every generation, the Christian is part of the problem, differing from others only in that he believes that he has knowledge of where the answer may lie," Pastor Schultz points out. The person who seeks for a solution must know the problem, and his own involvement, if he is to choose wisely from one of the many faiths offered him.

Education Students Discuss Cooperation

A panel discussion on "Working Together in the Secondary School System" will highlight the program at the annual joint meeting of home economics, general education and agricultural education students.

This meeting is sponsored by the collegiate FFA chapter and will be held Wednesday, Feb. 6, at 7:30 in Room 215 of Morrill hall. All education students are invited to attend.

Home Economic Students Get Credit In Nursing Course

The first women in NDAC home nursing to qualify for Red Cross certificates were presented their "sheepskins" this week by Mrs. Eugene A. Revell, assistant chairman in Fargo of the Red Cross home nursing program.

The NDAC women earned the Red Cross certificates through taking a college credit course in home nursing during the fall quarter. Since the course was taught by an authorized Red Cross instructor, Miss Eleanor Vergin of the home economics faculty, the students qualified for their Red Cross rating along with meeting the college requirements.

Students in future NDAC home nursing classes taught by Miss Vergin also will be eligible for the Red Cross certificates. In line with the civil defense program, the Red Cross hopes to have at least one accredited home nurse in every home for emergency call.

Staff Party Honors Arvold On Birthday

A. G. Arvold, head of the NDAC department of speech, was guest of honor at a coffee party given January 23, by the staff of Dean C. A. Sevrinson's office at the college. The occasion honored Professor Arvold's birthday.

Norwegian delicacies made by Mrs. Sevrinson were served to college personnel of the main administration building. Miss Emily Dakin, NDAC bookstore manager, poured. An out of town guest was Dr. A. F. Arnason, commissioner of the state board of higher education.

Library Reaches Milestone

Dr. Stevens Presents Latest Volume; Botany Book Contains Personal Letters

The book Dr. Stevens presents in the picture above is "The Flora of North Dakota," written by the late Dr. J. Lunell, nationally known botanist and one-time physician at Leeds, N. D. Bound in the book are many personal letters written by Dr. Lunell to Dr. Stevens.

The two botanists were close friends and Dr. Lunell's work indirectly led to Dr. Stevens writing his own "Handbook of North Dakota Plants," published recently under the sponsorship of the North Dakota Institute of Regional Studies.

The 100,000th volume was added just 16 months after the modern new NDAC building was dedicated. Stack space in the library is sufficient to store larger collections which will be added in the future. The library also houses the research center for the Institute of Regional Studies which is acquiring source material on the northern plains region.

Safety Committee Gives Precautions For Winter Driving

Based on authoritative research by the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards, the following are recommended precautions to avoid accidents and traffic troubles this winter:

1. Get the "feel" of the road by trying your brakes while driving slowly and when no other vehicles are near.
2. Adjust your speed to road and weather conditions. Realize that synthetic tires skid and spin more on snow and ice than pre-war tires, although cold synthetic rubber wears better and performs better normally on wet or dry pavements. But slow down on snowy or icy roads so you can stop when you have to.
3. Use tire chains for severe snow or ice conditions. They cut braking distances on cars and trucks 40 to 70 per cent and provide needed stop-and-go traction. Even with definite help of chains, careful driving is necessary.
4. Follow other vehicles at a safe distance—remember that, without chains, it takes from 3 to 12 times as far to stop on snow and ice as on dry concrete.
5. When you have to stop, pump your brakes up and down, jamming them on may lock the wheels and throw your car into a skid.
6. Keep your windshield and windows clear of snow and ice, fog and frost. Be sure your headlights, windshield-wiper blades, and defrosters are in good working order. You must see danger to avoid it.

Food Preservation Course At NDAC Teaches Freezing

NDAC is one of the few home economics schools in the country which offers a course devoted to food preservation.

Instruction in freezing foods is given by Mrs. Bethel McLeod. Miss Mildred Schmidt and Mrs. Elizabeth Cassell teach canning, pickling and jelly making.

In the frozen foods division of the classes students made field trips to various freezer locker plants in the Fargo-Moorhead area. At the end of the course they make a meal from the foods they prepared. Students learn the selection of fruits and vegetables for freezing and they get experience in using different types of jacking materials.

Use of different types of pressure cookers and pressure pans is taught in the canning section of the classes. Foods are canned in both glass and tin containers.

Foods used in the food preservation course were either grown on the college farms or purchased locally.

Becht Relates German's Reaction To Nazi Program

By Dorothy Morrow

He was playing something by Beethoven, that much I knew. I thought it was good; I liked it although Beethoven isn't on my current hit parade.

Under him was crumpled a navy jacket, the chair was too low for the piano. His shoulders were squared but his body was as relaxed as if he were playing cards instead of Beethoven. Only his strong hands gave way his concentration.

When I asked for an interview Herman Becht threw back his head and laughed. "No, you don't want to interview me." A slight German accent colored his voice.

"Why not? A couple of weeks ago we interviewed a Japanese fellow, don't you think Germany should be represented on our world tour?"

"No, I'm too tired." He shook his dark curly hair and looked stubborn. Later he told me that stubbornness was a German trait. At last after more excuses and begging Herman said he'd answer some questions.

"Yes, I'm over here on a student exchange program for a year. I got assigned to the AC because it offered a scholarship in agriculture, that's what I'm taking.

How do you think our education compares with Germany's?"

"Well, over there schooling is much more formal. We have nine years that correspond to your junior and senior high. When the teacher comes in the room we stand also we stand when we are asked to recite. In college though we don't stand any more. It's nothing to have the teacher hit a child."

"How about the courses, are they as stiff or easier?"

"Oh, they are much stiffer. We really get down to business. Much of what I'm learning now, I learned in high school. In Europe admission to colleges is so difficult that you have to be outstanding to even be considered."

"I suppose you were quite young when the war was on but can you tell me how the Nazis took over the schools?

"I was only 13 during the last war so I can't tell you much about the Nazis theories but they did take over the schools completely. We knew nothing except what they taught us. There wasn't any other side of the story."

"What exactly did they teach the boys in the Hitler Youth Groups?"

"Fatherland, Feruher, and the People (Volk). Believe me we believed it."

"But surely not everyone fell for that."

"What do you mean? It wasn't a new doctrine. Germany had had a nationalistic viewpoint for a long while and the complete socialism that Hitler offered was just another step in that direction.

In other words the German people weren't swayed by Goebbels and their empty stomachs into accepting the Nazis rule on the spot."

"Goebbels was a propaganda genius, very true; but the bad economic conditions in Germany were probably more conductive than anything else. But this swaying business—do you think that we Germans are any more easily lead than you Americans?"

Look how you and Russia were buddy buddy until after the war had been won. You were the best of pals. Now you are enemies and we Germans, your war time enemies, are the new buddies. It doesn't take much to change American minds does it?"

"Tell me what other attitudes do the Germans have toward us?"

The two biggest things that Germany holds against the United State is the starving that you let us go through in 1948. Americans were dumping potatoes and wheat in the ocean and we're dying for lack of food.

"Another thing, of course, is the partitioning of Germany according to the Potsdam and Yalta conferences. If war comes Germany will be the first place hit. Why should we build a German army to fight against itself when the cold war turns hot?"

"You believe then that Germany should be united if it is going to get back on its feet?"

"Certainly. Also, our lack of natural resources and the flood of refugees from Eastern Europe make socialism a necessity. We also have to help support foreign troops on our small income."

"Then you think Hitler's economic policies were needed?"

"Yes, he did much good but his dictatorship was hated by many Germans even when we needed the jobs and good roads. Democratic rights or civil liberties will be part of the socialistic government.

"Do you think that East Germany will go Communist?"

"The Free German Youth programs are quite strong and the Communists use the same education techniques that the Nazis used. One thing, the higher standard of living in West Germany, will probably keep the East Germans from going over to the Reds."

"This has been a very serious interview, why don't you tell me about the German college students as compared with the American ones."

"They're about the same. They dance (waltz), have parties, drink, tell jokes. I think though that they are more cultured. They know good music and can talk about books and plays. An educated man knows about these things because he is educated. Its part of his education whether he is a chemist or a teacher or an engineer."

The interview ended and we left the building. He walked away, an NDAC student from the Black Forest of Germany. Its hilly country is different from North Dakota, different in language, customs and needs but not so different in people.

Longer Library Hours, Say Students

In conjunction with the proposed change in library hours discussed in the editorial column last week, we have the following results of a student poll. Since any student could vote for any, all or none of the categories listed below, the total number of votes exceeds the number of students polled. Out of 110 students polled, 97 expressed a desire for more library hours. Only 13, or roughly 11.8 percent of these polled wanted no change in the library. In the table below we have the breakdown according to schools.

| No. Polled according to school | Want later hours every evening | Want later hours on Fri.-Sat. | Want library Open Sat. evenings | Want library Open until 6 p.m. Sun. | No changes desired |
|--------------------------------|--------------------------------|-------------------------------|---------------------------------|-------------------------------------|--------------------|
| AAS-46 | 22 | 16 | 5 | 35 | 7 |
| Eng.-21 | 16 | 12 | 11 | 13 | 2 |
| HE-16 | 14 | 8 | 1 | 15 | 1 |
| Chem and Pharm-10 | 4 | 3 | 1 | 6 | 1 |
| Agr-10 | 8 | 5 | 3 | 8 | 1 |
| Arch-7 | 5 | 2 | 1 | 4 | 1 |
| Totals: | | | | | |
| 110 | 67 | 46 | 22 | 81 | 13 |

Total number of students desiring some change—97 or 88.2%
 Total number of students desiring no change—13 or 11.8%
 Total number of votes cast for some change—216
 Total number of votes cast for no change—13

We think these results speak for themselves. Certainly they should merit someones attention. We realize that we did not poll the entire student body, but we do have a good cross section with the major departments being represented.

It is certainly significant that 88.2 percent of the students polled feel that the existing library hours are not sufficient. Since this many students felt the need for longer hours, they would presumably take advantage of any forthcoming change. This would justify some action on the part of responsible people who are able to indicate such action.

Student Commission Minutes . . . Commission Talks Of Senate Plan

January 29, 1952

The meeting was called to order by President Schnell. Members present were: Bob Schnell, Ed Boerth, Bob Colliton, Bob Gruel, Ken Ward, Kaye Bayley, and Merle Nott. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Constitution revision was discussed and the following plan was proposed by the Commission as a basic plan of government.

Popular election of the president who must be a senior; student senate composed of 18 members elected at large; six of these members will be elected as sophmores for a two year term to provide for a carry-over each year on the senate.

Of these 18, or of any qualified students on the campus not a member of the senate, the President will elect six as members of the student commission who will act as commissioners of the various boards. These selections will be subject to the approval of the senate. Commissioners as well as their commissioners will be voting members.

The Board of Campus Affairs was instructed to establish election procedures and set up a skeleton constitution for this form of government to be approved by the Commission.

Motion to adjourn made by Ed Boerth, seconded by Bob Colliton. Motion carried. Meeting adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,

'Dad' Wonders About Incidental Fee

February 1, 1952

Dear Son:

Glad to hear you got out of the way of the snowplow alive. Can't Buildings and Grounds keep the walks cleaned off without endangering the lives of the students.

Say I've been looking over your registration receipts and I've wondering what that $20.00 for incidentals is for. Why don't you find out where it goes?

There seems to be a lot of changes down there since I was going to college. I guess you think there could be some more changes by the sound of your letter. Well, remember son that you always have the right to change things if you can convince enough that you are right. In fact its your duty to try and change anything you think is in need of change or revision.

One should never take anything for its face value, but dig into it and find out if its as good as is supposed. If you do find something suspicious get the student body behind you. You have powerful organization there if you utilize it. Well, enough lecturing.

I expect to be a Legislator again next year. If I can get on one of the appropriation committees, maybe I can find out about a few things.

Say, I thought you might like to know that Lena Genster and Ole Barnsted got married last Saturday. Sure was some party.

Mama wants you to wear your overshoes and don't catch cold.

Gagnon Moves Around In Navy; Paper Follows With Each Address Change

Ken Ketchner

Everyone by now has heard of the beard contest and from the looks of several individuals the crop is coming along fine. This contest is open to both men and women! Harvery—North Dakota U columnist will probably say, "We thought of it first!" granted, maybe you did; it's still a good idea.

Contrary to general concensus and the essence of several press releases, the judges of the mens contest are not Profs Elam, Pettie and Moberg, but instead Miss Phillips, English department, Miss Thompson and Miss Grimes, both of the mathematics department. Moberg and his crew are the judges of the "longest women's mustach division".

I have one more suggestion for Bob Fisher, sports editor of the Spectrum. If he was sincerely interested in writing some constructive criticism I know of some pretty fine material for him. I think many of the students of the school are also aware of the condition. The person I'm speaking about is a sports announcer and he used to broadcast NDAC basketball games.

For many months now, no broadcast; and dozens of plugs for the University. His last one was, "Since so many people of Fargo and Moorhead are interested in the SDU-NDU basketball game, this station will present a play-by-play broadcast." Maybe he isn't aware of the fact that Fargo is the largest city in the state and that the North Dakota State Bison, whose campus is located in Fargo, are currently leading the conference race.

Bob Gagnon, currently serving a hitch with the U. S. Navy and attending a Dental Tech. School, dropped another letter at the Spectrum office. Each time he changes address he does so, and each time he says, "Keep the Spectrum coming!"

Gagnon was last years president of Kapp Psi fraternity and is typical of many former NDAC students in the service. If you have any friends in the service who would like to receive the Spectrum each Friday, bring his address down to the office.

Student Tells Why Against Sororties

The University of Buffalo Spectrum recently printed six reasons "Why I Never Joined a Sorority." They are:

1. I wanted to do as I wished and think for myself instead of being led around by a bunch of sorority sisters.
2. I had never gone into women's clubs and organizations before I came to college and I didn't want to start.

Psychologist Gives Tips For Recovery To Forlorn Lovers

To help speed recovery, from broken engagements, Dr. Adams, a psychologist at Pennsylvania State College gives seven suggestions offered by people who know best—those who have suffered from a broken engagement themselves:

1. Don't feel sorry for yourself. Statistics prove that you can love many people—there is no one and only. Next time you may be able to choose more wisely.
2. Objectively review the past courtship. When you analyze misunderstandings, disagreements and incompatible traits, you will realize that the present course action is wisest.
3. Cut all ties with your ex-fiancee or fiancee—return letters, gifts and pictures.
4. Consider similar experiences of friends, those now happily married or engaged in a career. Your problem is not uncommon. A recent study of a thousand engagements shows that more than four in ten failed to result in marriage.
5. Resume former social activities. Accept invitations, look up old friends. Get some new clothes, put on a smile and start stepping out.
6. Don't be bitter about your broken engagement. Keep any explanations to your friends simple, dignified and fair.
7. Fill your days with constructive things to do. A job, volunteer social work, study or hobby will help give you a bright outlook.

And remember: a broken engagement is preferable to a broken marriage. Best of all, Dr. Adams says: "Out of your experience may emerge a deeper sympathy for others, a great insight into yourself, a richer challenge in the months ahead."

Microfilm Record Of Rare Book Here

How early Indians cured aches with a salve of hog grease and juice for the 'humming bird tree' is one of the descriptions contained in an unusual gift recently made to the NDAC library.

The gift is a microfilm record of the first book ever published on North American natural history, "New England's Rarities Discovered," by John Josselyn. The microfilm was given to the library by Dr. O. A. Stevens of the NDAC botany department who obtained it some years ago from the Library of Congress.

The book itself, published in 1672, is quite rare. In it, the author treats of birds, beasts, fishes, serpents, insects and minerals. The list of fishes is extensive, but with little description. The treatment of plants "such as are proper to the country and have no name" is probably the best.

The descriptions of various plants coincide with identification made by later botanists. The microfilm is available at the library for any interested persons who wish to see it, according to H. Dean Stallings, librarian.

Agronomy Club Plans Meeting For Thursday

Mr. Stoa, head of the NDAC agronomy department, will speak on his trip to the national crop's show in Chicago at the Agronomy club meeting February 7. The meeting will be held in Room 210, Morrill hall at 7:30 p. m.

Pointers on how to show grain samples for the Little International will also be given and lunch will be served.

Agricultural Short Course For Winter Term Enrolls 96

The agricultural short course which began Jan. 7 and runs through March 2 has an enrollment of 94 students. This enrollment exceeds earlier estimates, according to Peder A. Nystuen, short course director and assistant to the dean of agriculture.

The North Dakota Bankers Association provided $125 for each of 51 scholarships for the course which is designed to keep young farm people interested in agriculture and encourage them to remain on the farm.

Sixty-three banks cooperated in providing the scholarships. The money was raised under the leadership of Secretary C. C. Wattam of Fargo, State President A. R. Weinhandl of Minot and State Scholarship Chairman Harris Sorenson of Fargo. At Minot, the banks had assists from the creameries and implement dealers, each group sponsoring a scholarship.

SKINHEAD!

The Bison have a weekend off, which gives them a much needed rest.

Currently nestled in undisputed first place, the Bison stand a good chance to strengthen their hold on the top rung this weekend. Although they are idle, the Bentsonmen can possibly gain ground in the loop race.

Tonight, the Morningside Maroons invade Brookings, S. D., to tangle with the dangerous Rabbits of South Dakota State. Tomorrow night, the University of North Dakota will play host to South Dakota University.

The Maroons and the Sioux are the only NCC teams, besides the Bison, who have lost only two contests. If, SDS and SDU can win, the herd would stand a good chance of at least a tie for the crown.

NDAC on the other hand has two tough road trips ahead. They travel to Brookings, Feb. 11, and Grand Forks, Feb. 29-Mar. 1.

At home, where the Bison have a perfect record against conference foes, they meet SDU, Monday, and Augustana, Feb. 15, as well as the annual two game series with NDU, Feb. 22 and 23.

If, the Bison can keep their magnificent home record intact, they will undoubtedly emerge as conference champions. If, the Herd can win on the road, they will undoubtedly emerge as conference champions. There are a lot of 'ifs' connected with this theory, but there are few connected with the Bison record to date.

Heard a lot of comments about the Concordia game last Saturday night. The Bison were certainly far off form during that first half, but the Cobbers could have beaten any team they faced with that first half splurge of uncanny marksmanship. The Cobbers were certainly a different quintet than the Bison faced before. They were gunning for that one, and played marvelous ball. All in all, they just outplayed us.

The Air Force ROTC department has certainly done a wonderful job with athletics. Not only do they represent the college in intramural activities, but have now added a Rifle Team and a Ski Team.

South Dakota State was held without a bucket for twelve minutes while playing host to UND Jan. 18. They finally broke the ice and hit a felder on their twentieth attempt.

Big party at the Sig house this week. Steve Canyon, famous Sig brother of comic book fame caught his man . . . no it was a woman. Anyway, he was successful in his mission to Maumee University. Good work men!

After reading the terrible words of Ken (double A) Ketchner last week, I was so shocked I went to my room and sulked for ten minutes. But, after thinking it over, I guess every fashion reporter loses his head once in a while. How were things at the modelling show last weekend sport

Jack Monson, acting as representative of the AGR's has challenged the Theta Chi's to a bowling match this coming Sunday. The match will be rolled at the Berry Bowling Lanes. Why not come down and take it in. You might enjoy seeing the good times one can have in such clean sport. The more the merrier.

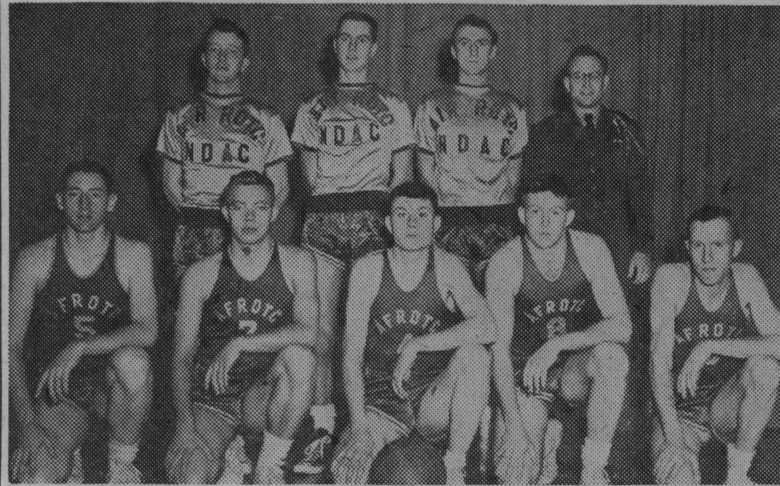

Most of us were a little disappointed when learning of the resignation of backfield coach Bernie Krueger.

Those of us who know Bernie realize that he has been more than a coach or instructor to us. Bernie is one of us. Even those who do not come in contact with him daily regret his leaving.

Bernie, on the street or in the classroom has made a wonderful impression on the students of this college. His pleasant personality and nature have made him most popular with faculty and students alike.

We'll be sorry to see you go Bernie, but you've made your decision and on behalf of the students at NDAC we wish you luck in your future position.

Air Force Team Undefeated

The AFROTC Basketball team challenged two Southern District Amateur League teams last weekend, defeating Lidgerwood 56 to 43 and losing to Hankinson 57 to 43. All proceeds from both games went to the March of Dimes fund.

The recently organized Air Force team has been completely equipped with new uniforms and warm-up jackets. It is the first basketball team organized in the Tenth Air Force area with only AFROTC cadets on its roster.

IM Volleyball Sets Elimination Games

With only two games left to be played, before the championship round begins, the intramural volleyball program heads down to the final wire.

Each team has been defeated at least once, causing complications as to which teams will be in the playoffs. However, according to E. E. Kaiser, the intramural board voted that the top two teams in each bracket will enter the finals.

In case of ties for first or second positions in each bracket, elimination contests will be played.

Army ROTC Squad Beats Missouri

Firing their highest postal match score of the season, the Army ROTC Team defeated the Missouri Military Academy of Mexico, Missouri, by a score of 1835 to 1765 last week.

Gene Schuschke fired a 378 to lead the Bison team's scoring. Curtis Norenberg and Eugene Norheim were close behind with 373 and 371, with Ed Zimmerman and Joe Helle completing the scoring with 357 and 356.

Don Hastings, Thomas Howitz, Doug Williams, and Vincen Hatlen also fired for the Army team. Being fired this week are Stage 3 of the Fifth Army Match and a postal match with South Dakota State.

LMC, ATO, AFROTC Remain Unbeaten In IM Basketball

Next Monday evening, the Coyotes of South Dakota University will be in town to meet the league leading Bison of NDAC. The Coyotes will be out to avenge an earlier beating suffered at the hands of the stampeding herd.

Coach George DeKlotz, SDU mentor, said early in the campaign that the Bison would be the team to beat for the NCC title. Now, a month later, most coaches in the loop agree with DeKlotz.

The Coyotes, however, have been holding their own in conference play, currently holding a 2-3 won-lost record. The South Dakotans are tall, aggressive, and mighty upset conscious, as will be all Bison foes from now on. The Bison are a marked team, and will have to play excellent basketball for the remainder of the season if they are to keep the number one position in the standings.

DeKlotz is expected to start this quintet against the herd; forwards, Mel Heer and Don Bruce, a one-two scoring punch, with Harvey Hanson another point getter at center and Erickson and Sullivan at the guards.

Monday night the Coyotes knocked off Augustana 69-60, a team that forced the Bison into an overtime victory in the first conference game of the season.

The University still has an outside chance for a share of the championship, and will be striving all the way Monday night to keep their hopes alive.

The Bison on the other hand have everything to lose, by dropping this contest. A loss would give other teams an incentive to pull away from the herd and drop them mentally.

Last Friday night's victory over South Dakota State was the best game the Bentsonmen have played to date. Only free substitution by coach Chuc Bentson kept the score reasonable. It was truly a team victory, every man playing heads up ball.

Bentson still believes in playing them one at a time. Sure, the team is championship conscious, but every game counts more and more each week. This might be the big game. If the Bison knock off SDU, they will have entrenched themselves tighter on that top spot in the NCC.

Bentson is expected to stick to his regular lineup of: Gerry Geisler and Don Fougner at the forwards. Big Art Bunker, the herd's top scorer, and fourth in the league scoring, will start at center. The guards will be named by the 'gold dust twins,' Scott Thayer and Rod Fercho, the envy of the conference.

NDAC Ice Squad Takes Third Victory

by Dick Kloubec

North Dakota State Hockey team ran its win streak to three games this week by defeating the Detroit Rangers 8-0 on their home ice. Even though the game was played under -15 degree weather conditions the seven Bison skaters performed tirelessly.

Larry North started off the scoring with two quick goals in the first five minutes of play. George Zwack and "Magnet" Rosenberg, standout defense men, both scored twice.

Dick Kloubec pushed through the only goal in the second period when he received a pass from "Klige" Hermanson. In the final canto Hermanson again proved his ability as a play-maker when he passed to North for goal number eight. Other Staters making the scoring column were Baldy Gronland and Gopher Lien, both having an assist apiece.

In the nets for the Bison was Ray Novack, former All-State football tackle at Shanley. Playing an outstanding game for the Rangers was Bob Migill, former Saint Paul Saint goalie. Ray had 22 saves for the day. Migill had a phenomenal 90 turnbacks.

Tuesday night the Bison won a game from Concordia 1-0 on a forfeit.

State Game Department Answers
 Common Hunting-Fishing Questions

Question: What is the minimum age after which a license must be obtained for fishing and hunting in North Dakota?

Answer: All persons over the age of eighteen years must be licensed to fish. All persons must be licensed to hunt in North Dakota, whether for upland game or for waterfowl or for big game.

Question: May one hunter, upon filling his bag-limit, hunt for another hunter in the same party?

Answer: No. It is illegal for one hunter to hunt for another either for hire or to satisfy a mutual agreement as to the filling of a bag limit. Of course he may aid another hunter in searching for or flushing game from cover, but he must be able to prove his intent.

Question: May a resident landowner or lessee of land shoot deer upon his land without first having obtained a license therefor?

Answer: Yes. Any person having purchased a license to hunt or fish in this state may apply to the Commissioner for a permit to keep or store game or fish, which permit, if issued will entitle the holder to keep a possession limit for a period not to exceed May 1st following. All such game and fish must be legally tagged as required by law. But the State has no power to legislate on migratory waterfowl, so the federal laws must be followed in such case.

Question: May big game be pursued by means of horse or motor vehicles?

Answer: No. Horses or motor vehicles or other artificial devices may not be used in the pursuit of big game, except for purposes of retrieving such game after shooting.

Question: What is a lawful blind for shooting migratory waterfowl?

Answer: A blind to be lawful must be stationary and constructed of native natural material.

Home Ec Students Serve Noon Meals In Cookery Class

Foods majors enrolled in the quantity cookery course at North Dakota Agricultural College have started their annual winter project of feeding from 50 to 100 people every Tuesday and Thursday noon in Dakota hall.

With many members of the class preparing for careers as dieticians or managers of tea rooms and restaurants, the course is a practical undertaking. During the term, students learn to figure the cost and food value of each serving. They learn to use various types of equipment needed for quantity cookery.

One of the most important phases of quantity cookery is learning how to judge food servings. Students must know how much chicken to buy in order to get a certain amount of white meat. They learn how to judge the percentage of meat to the bone and how to plan 'chicken ala' for 100 people.

Major General Carpenter Discusses Need Of 'Code Of Ethics For Officers'

Major General Charles I. Carpenter, Chief of the U. S. Air Force Chaplains, addressed a joint Army-AFROTC general assembly last Monday. The two star general cited the need for a "Code of Ethics for Officers" which was the topic of his speech.

"Your responsibilities as officers carries a tremendous weight, and the day will come when we will find if we are ready to bear the responsibility that is ours," stated General Carpenter.

General Carpenter was introduced by Fargo Mayor Murray Baldwin, who, being a naval aviation officer in both World Wars, could only have high praise for the Chaplain Service.

To him "It is the duty of the Chaplain Corps to maintain high morale among the Armed forces." Other distinguished speakers were NDAC President Fred S. Hultz and Lt. Col. Robert E. Phillips, PAS&T.

Major General Carpenter entered the service as a Methodist chaplain in 1937. He established the Chaplaincy Service in 1942 for which he received the Legion of Merit. He received an Oak Leaf cluster on the Legion of Merit for his outstanding work in Europe during World War II.

He was appointed Chief of Air Force Chaplains in 1948. He is also Chief of Chaplains, Bureau of Armed Forces.
