Davis Speaks Monday At First Convocation

The FBI invites few platform lecturers to speak at the classes of its Washington academy. One of these few will talk to AC students Monday when Howard Pierce Davis, world affairs analyst, appears at the year's first convocation, at 9:40 in Festival Hall.

Mr. Davis has long been noted among colleges for his brisk and interesting discussions of international problems, according to F. G. Schoff of the Convocation Committee. In addition, he has addressed advertising clubs, Rotary meetings, and Town Hall programs in cities from Boston to Los Angeles.

Recently he has ranged from Tokyo to Trieste to get firsthand knowledge on which to base his analyses. Earlier he was present at the famous meeting of Hitler and Mussolini in Berlin; in the thick of the Czech crisis in 1938, and at the Havana Conference in 1940.

"Far and away the best speaker we have ever had," said an official at Wisconsin State Teachers College of Mr. Davis. "He wastes no time, his or ours, and he holds his audience spellbound for as long as he will talk."

Student reaction after his visit at NDAC a few years back supports this report.

Mr. Davis's speciality is his ability to sense in advance the movements of currents history. His favorite topic, "Unfinished Business," reflects his conviction that the job of perfecting democracy and seeking peace, freedom, and justice for all, never stops.

Decorations, Floats

The house decorations and floats committee for the 1953 Homecoming season reports that all campus organizations interested in entering either or both of these homecoming activities are urged to do so.

The house decorations and the floats do not have to follow the general homecoming theme but rather any individual theme the organizations may choose.

The floats should not exceed a cost of $40. Organizations entering floats in the parade should contact either Don or Gary Hart by 6 p.m. October 28, to receive instructions for parade participation.

Mike Fogel may be contacted by the organizations entering house decorations. To be eligible this contact should be made by 6 p.m. October 28. Completion of the house decorations must be by October 30 at 4 p.m. This will give ample time for the judging.

First and second place trophies will be awarded in all divisions.

Men and womens organizations will have separate classifications. Workmanship will count twenty per cent in the judging as well as appearance and application to individual theme. Originality will count forty percent.

Committees

Committees for the various activities in preparation for NDAC's Homecoming have been chosen by the student senate.

Mike Fogel is chairman for the committee on floats and house decorations; Wesley Rae will head the publicity committee; Don Ellingsberg, homecoming queen; Gary Gibbons, homecoming theme; Dick Wenberg, ticket sales contest; and Barbara Widdifield, decorations.

Don Hart will be parade marshal, and Gary Hart will be his assistant.

Other members of the senate are serving on these various committees.

'John Brown's Body' First Lyceum; Stars Power, Massey, Baxter Oct. 27

As the first attraction in the 1953 lyceum series, Stephen Vincent Benet's "John Brown's Body" comes to the North Dakota Agricultural College on Tuesday Oct. 27, as the new challenge of Paul Gregory who with this all-star attraction reasserts his faith the Americans everywhere, in the cities and smaller towns, will eagerly support the best in the theater if given the opportunity.

The cast of "John Brown's Body" includes Tyrone Power, Raymond Massey and Anne Baxter, together with the world-famed Walter Schumann Choral Group of some twenty, the whole directed by Charles Laughton.

Gregory is the man who conceived the idea of The First Drama Quartette and who, working with Laughton, sent this group of distinguished players on tour in 1951 playing Bernard Shaw's "Don Juan in Hell" before capacity audiences to grosses exceeding one million dollars.

Senior Staff Plans All College Dance

Senior Staff is sponsoring an all-college dance at the field house on Friday, October 9, after the game. Music by George Schoen will begin at 9:30 and continue until 12:30.

Although the cost of bands has increased steadily the price of tickets has remained the same at 50 cents per person. Tickets will be sold at the door.

Gregory thus provided a major "upset" in the modern theater, presenting the subtlest of all Shaw pieces without scenery or props, with the three men and one woman of the Drama Quartett appearing in formal evening dress devoid of costumes.

He assaults tradition with an even more startline departure from old standards and old methods in "John Brown's Body".

The Benet poem is translated to the theater for the first time on a major scale, with the three stars and the chorus, under the direction of Walter Schumann, all accepting heavy responsibilities, yet none of them playing a role in the ordinary histrionic sense.

To Tyrone Power is assigned the reading of Benet's lines that set forth the romance of the poem; Massey reads the patriotic and political implication, while Miss Baxter presents the "viewpoints" of the principal feminine characters. Five separate characters for each of the men, seven for Miss Baxter.

These are tasks of large proportions from the standpoint of the memory feat involved alone.

The delineations of characters in Benet's text are works of consummate art, according to critics. Benet knew his American universals, the group of types which, taken together, are the American people. He knew too the leaders. Massey in the author's inspired words evokes John Brown, Lincoln, Lee, and Cudjo, the slave.

Each of the three principal players in "John Brown's Body" comes to the Gregory banner with many years of distinguished performance.

Tyrone Power in his sixteen years of constantly-growing stature in films has become a recognized world personality in the romantic field. Massey, outstanding for a quarter of a century on stage and screen, is assured of a lasting pre-eminence because of his impersonation of Abraham Lincoln in Robert E. Sherwood's "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" while Academy Award winner Anne Baxter, returns to the stage for the first time in a decade.

DAILY REPUBLIC; and during the war years was a civilian employee with the Office of Strategic Services, Washington, D. C.

Hertel is a member of Phi Alpha Theta, national history fraternity; American Association of Modern Language Teachers; American Association of Teachers of German; American Philosophical Association and the Minnesota Historical Society.

Architect Students At Valley City, Jamestown; To View Sites For Present Class Problem

Twenty-five students of the department of Architecture traveled to Valley City and Jamestown

Thursday, Oct. 1, 1953, to look at proposed sites for a hypothetical architectural problem involving a hotel and motel resort area on one of our new lakes in North Dakota.

This hypothetical problem will be the North Dakota Association of Architect's competition problem for the year 1953. Professor Henning, Chairman of the Department of Architecture and Architectural Engineering, said that there is a "great potential for a project of this type on one of the new lakes as a resort for both summer and winter recreation."

All students who have changed their address since they registered are urged to check with the Office of Admissions and Records and get their new address on the records. What's On Our Mind Defend Our POW's They're Americans

The word, progressive, has been employed, by man for years, very loosely in regard to individuals, organizations and societies. To the casual observer, it is now being used in a very definite manner in relation to a very indefinite subject.

When our first returning prisoners of war were sent to Valley Forge Hospital for a psychiatric examination, the army placed a stigma upon these men by naming them as progressives.

The attitudes taken by our self-righteous citizens and unencumbered intellectuals have also put the finger on these men as being traitors, or better yet, the very debasing of the moral fiber of our army. These soldiers, they forget, after fighting to keep us safe, as it were, and being captured, did not develop flabby degeneration of the back porch in these POW camps.

Rather, they were being exposed to many mental and physical tortures, not brutal in the sense of beatings, but rather to break their spirits. They were even given a kind of negative neuro-psychiatric treatment to instill in them a feeling of guilt for even being Americans.

Treatments of confusing nature were given them. Take for example the "Glockenspiel Quartet" as mentioned in "Trial by Terror." A very unique device this, where the chap to be mentally deranged is seated, and over his head a pail placed. Forthwith four of the people's army would beat on the pail with broom handles with as much disregard for tonal values as for what we call human feelings.

We should not, on the other hand, be expected to underwrite the actions and statements of these men, but as supposed rational thinkers and beings would it be too much to expect for us to have open minds as well as hearts for these men and the things that have affected them in the past few years. (It should be remembered that the anti-American statement of the twenty-three "red" American prisoners was released by the Red press.)

The word progressive again comes to light. The American colleges and universities, if I may, in contradiction to Carlyle's statement are more than a collection of books. They are and should be a correlation of instruction and thought intended to bring forth a sounder basis for reasoning.

If it is not the place then, for the American Universities and the students therein as "progressive" founders of sound logic to take the platform against the paltry forces that degrade our returning fighting men, some of them who may be returning to this very college.

Fargo Bus Drivers Strike Continues; Two Way Compromise May Be Answer

Since the first of July a strike has been in progress involving the Northern Transit Company and their drivers, members of a bus drivers union, with the union demanding a cost of living pay rate increase and the company refusing their demands. Several attempts to settle the disagreement have ended with each side firmly holding to its claim.

This stalemated situation has produced strained feelings on a three way basis: company-union, company-public, and union-public.

The irony in the controversy is seen in the fact that all three groups—union, company, and customers—are adversely affected. The people are inconvenienced by lack of night service. The drivers are at least temporarily unemployed. The company is financially concerned. Here is a condition in which everyone is losing, yet little apparent effort is put forth to find a solution.

The most satisfactory solution in this or any similar situation can come about only through compromise. The meeting of men's minds with the spirit of mutual concession has resulted in the most adequate answer throughout history. It can and must be employed here.

Thompson Missing Basic Instruments For F-M Orchestra

Is there a bassoon player in this community who goes undetected by the questing eye of the conductor of the Fargo-Moorhead Symphony Orchestra? With the first concert of the season only a fortnight away, conductor Sigvald Thompson has had just a little more than the usual difficulty in casting his players for this performance.

When rehearsals resumed last month, the orchestra found that the summer had emptied an unexampled number of its first chairs. Not only was the first bassoon missing, but also the first flute, clarinet, horn, cello, and viola. The ordinary attrition of school graduates or transferals, illness, or removal from these communities had gnawed deeper than usually at the orchestra personnel.

What does a conductor do when one of his two bassoon players turns up missing, or when at the first rehearsal for strings he finds himself with two cellos, his need being for six to a dozen?

Fortunately, Sigvald Thompson explains, the two returning cellists are accomplished musicians. But only two, where there should be at least half a dozen? Well, no. There is, for one, Mrs. W. H. Temple, professional pianist lately turned amateur cellist with little thought of ever performing publicly. Mrs. Temple's participation has been enlisted.

Transference of music students from local colleges to remoter institutions has worked in reverse to bring to the orchestra, among others, cellist Mrs. R. W. Kuehnel, who has had orchestral experience previous to her coming this year to Fargo.

And another resource is the Grand Forks Symphony Orchestra, from which the cello section will be augmented for the first concert here, Oct. 18, by Leo Hoesle and Dr. E. A. Haunz. In return, Fargo-Moorhead frequently sends several of its players to assist in the concerts down river.

"As for the other sections of the orchestra—" Sigvald Thompson intimates that he fully expects the resources of these two communities will be adequate to the orchestra's personnel needs. With a roster of eighty musicians, he does not expect to draw upon other players who in previous seasons have come from as far away as 125 miles to rehearsals.

A present and pressing need, however, is financial support for the five free concerts of the season, says Mrs. W. S. Shaw, president of the Orchestral Association.

The current drive for gift contributions continues. Contributors will receive season tickets for reserved seats for the concerts in the Fargo High School auditorium, she says.

Other new members of the orchestra, so far selected, are: the Misses Joan Melting, Mary Anne Hess, Diane Lynn, and Esther Temple; and Arthur Nix, John Gjerve, Donald Person, and Ralph Thrane.

"An Evening With Charles Laughton" will present Mr. Laughton reading selections from a variety of great works of literature. This is the first number on the Concordia Artist Course.

Movies starting this week include "Arrowhead", Oct. 4-6 at the Fargo. Stars: Charlton Heston and Jack Palance. "Farmer Takes a Wife" starts the 7th of Oct.

"Charge at Feather River" is in 3-D so you won't object to the weapons thrown at you or the horses stampeded through the theatre. Some may take offense at the cavalry sergeant spitting into the audience. It starts at the Grand on Wednesday, Oct. 7.

Sevrinson, Schmidt At 'Y' Coffee Hour

Wednesday, Oct. 7, at 4 p.m. all students, faculty, and especially freshmen are invited to meet Dean Sevrinson, Dean of Men, and Carl Schmidt, personnel office, informally in a discussion on NDAC life and history. American Women Face Fashion Crisis; Dior, Schiaparelli Cause For Confusion

by Walt Fogel

The women of America are facing a crisis! To raise the skirt or not to raise the skirt. That is the question. Whether 'tis nobler in the minds of their husbands to keep the old wardrobe and save the provider a small fortune or whether 'tis nobler to get a new wardrobe and be "in vogue" even though it might take quite a little hard cash.

This crisis, I am told, had its beginning last spring in the city of Paris, France, when at a showing of new styles for women, some long legged model had the audacity to walk out wearing a skirt which was at least a couple of inches above where it should be—on the leg that it.

The reaction at that time was something akin to the present reaction to the Kinsey Report on Females.—not good. However, as fashions do, it caught on with a few well-heeled, rugged individualists, then a few with good gams liked it, and now as all men can tell you, it is merely a matter of time (and advertising) until all women must follow suit or be out in the cold again.

Why millions of American women allow a few French designers to lead them around by the leg I will never be able to understand.

However, I understand that this year the designers are not in agreement on which way the skirt should go. Representative of the two schools (ha) of thought are Dior (he's a man), who thinks they should go up, and Schiaparelli (she's a woman), who thinks they should stay where they are. I wonder what Christine Jorgenson (its indeterminate) thinks about it.

Dior, you know, is the guy who in 1946 introduced the New Look which dropped skirts to unheard of depths (for this generation), thereby alienating the affections of Betty Grable and a few other flashy legged dames, but at the same time endearing himself to millions of less fortunate women.

Now his conscience must be bothering him because he wants to make amends to all unmarried males by introducing this "new lift" which puts the hemlines up to 17 inches or above the floor (I wonder if that's in front or in back). Whether they should be 17 or 14 inches up makes little difference to me, but I can't understand how Lincoln forgot the women when he emancipated the slaves.

Another new idea that is making headway with American women is this thing called the Italian haircut. It is rather uninhibited, short style containing the valuable element of surprise, because no one will know what it will look like next. Very often these Italian haircuts have impressed me as offering fine inspiration for a Picasso surrealist painting.

A variation of the Italian cut which has not caught on too well yet is called the Italian-Yugoslavian cut. However, it should gain in popularity because it is a style which can be achieved very easily. In fact the only thing that a woman must do to obtain this coiffure is stop combing her hair. After a couple of weeks the variations that can be effected are quite remarkable.

Now that summer is over though, I really shouldn't be complaining so much. The summer attempt of a woman to remain fashionable and at the same time completely comfortable is, from my warped male viewpoint, really ridiculous.

On her head she will probably wear the largest hat she can find. In her hands she will carry a monstrous purse or bag. On the rest of her body she will wear as little as she can get by with, starting from a cavernously cut sun dress and going down to some kind of prehistoric straps on her feet.

I have come to the conclusion that poor old Karl Marx would have done more good for humanity if he had urged a female revolt against vacillating fashions instead of his proletariat revolution. Women of America unite!

Old Enough To Fight, Old Enough To Vote?

ACP—"If you can fight, you can vote."

This statement, made by a law student at the University of Pittsburgh, represents student majority opinion according to a nationwide ACP student opinion poll.

More than a dozen state legislatures this year considered bills dropping the voting age to 18. All bills were defeated, which leaves Georgia the only state in the union where 18-year-olds can vote.

ACP asked the question: Several state legislatures have considered lowering the legal voting age to 18 years. What is your opinion of this plan? Here are the results;

Approve.....	54 percent
Disapprove.....	44 percent
No opinion.....	2 percent

A sophomore at Western Maryland college declares, "People don't really know their own minds till they are a little older, sometimes not then."

Says a coed at the University of Michigan. "If 18-year-olds can die for their country, they should be given the right to vote. If, however, the country does not impose obligations on young people, then the present system is okay."

And a graduate student at the University of Texas, who disapproves, adds, "People over 70 shouldn't be allowed to vote either."

So you have the opinions of college students from all over the country on the 18-year-old draft question. What is your opinion?

Roundup Of Major Freshman Roster Football Contests

The University of Michigan, scoring five touchdowns in a 10 minute flurry, rolled to an overwhelming 50 to 0 victory over the University of Washington Saturday in its season opener before 51,233 fans at Michigan Stadium.

Coach Bennie Oosterbaan's smooth-working Wolverines started rolling midway in the first period and completely out-lassed the West Coast team.

Michigan capitalized on every break it got, turning two intercepted passes, two fumbles and a blocked kick into touchdowns.

Tony Branoff and Ted Kress, Michigan's regular halfbacks, led the assault with two touchdowns each. Other scores were added by Bob Hurley, Ed Hickey, Dave Hill and Baldacci.

Both Michigan State and Ohio State won as impressively as expected. The Spartans racked up their 25th straight triumph, 21-7, over Iowa while Ohio State dropped Indiana, 36-12.

Iowa lost the ball four times on fumbles against Michigan State and lost possession another time on a pass interception as Tom Yewic hit on one of 13 passes for 109 yards for the Spartans.

For Ohio State John Borton pitched for 122 yards and two touchdowns, while Howard Casady averaged nine yards per carry and made a 25-yard touchdown run. Bobby Watkins, a standout also on defense, averaged five yards a try.

Other opening games boasted only one upset as Missouri scored touchdowns by recovering a blocked kick in the end zone and by taking advantage of a fumble deep in Boilermaker territory to beat favored Purdue, 14-7.

Illinois, a two touchdown choice, had to come from behind in the last period to tie Nebraska, 21-21, as J. C. Caroline turned in a 73-yard touchdown run.

Northwestern, with Lloyd Israels scoring twice, trounced Iowa State 35-0 and Wisconsin walloped Penn State, 20-0, as Alan Ameche ran for 115 yards.

Paul Giel turned in a 67-yard run to set up a Minnesota touchdown, but he had a kick blocked in the end zone for one score and fumbled a lateral on his own 14 to set up another touchdown as Southern California downed Minnesota, 17-7.

Notre Dame, scoring three touchdowns after four Oklahoma fumbles and an intercepted pass, came from behind to defeat the Sooners, 28-21.

Games this week end are Stanford at Illinois, Indiana at Southern California, Washington State at Iowa, Michigan State at Minnesota, Army at Northwestern, Ohio State at California, Oklahoma at Pittsburg, Notre Dame at Purdue and Marquette at Wisconsin.

Notre Dame Rated First In Country

Notre Dame, after its impressive opening game performance against Oklahoma, ran away with the honors in the first Associated Press poll of writers and radio men to determine the 10 best college football teams.

The Irish, third place winners in the final tabulation of 1952 but easy winners in the pre-season election two weeks ago, snared 71 of 98 first place votes. Michigan State, winners of the mythical National championship a year ago, slipped to second place in the balloting after being held to a 21-7 triumph by Iowa.

Notre Dame garnered 907 points on the basis that 10 points are given for each first place, nine for second and so on until only one is given for 10th place. The Spartans, with six firsts, were second with 692 points.

The top two were followed by Maryland with 501 points. Michigan with 403, USLA with 391, Ohio State with 380, Southern California with 346, Oklahoma with 316, Georgia Tech with 242 and Baylor with 188.

This weekend Notre Dame plays Purdue, beaten last Saturday always a rugged foe for the Irish. Michigan States takes on Minnesota, Coach Biggie Munn's alma mater.

The second ten teams are listed belows:

- 11—Mississippi State, 12—Duke, 13—West Virginia, 14—Rice, 15—Mississippi, 16—Wisconsin, 17—Texas, 18—Georgia, 19—Louisiana State and 20—Holy Cross.

North Dakota Sioux Defeat Augustana

North Dakota Universtiy's Dick Ryan, a NCC all-conference end last season, proved that he could switch successfully from end to halfback Saturday by pacing the Sioux to a 35-0 victory over Augustana.

The Sioux used a well balanced running and passing attack as they handed the Viking their third defeat of the season with ease.

Augustana, undermanned with only 21 players in uniform was able to penetrate the Sioux' territory only twice during the game and made no big scoring threat.

NDU tallied the first time it gained control of the ball. Sparked by runs of 16 and 32 yards by Emil Baufield, the Sioux drove over for their first score in eight plays. Ryan squirmed the final 9 around his right end. Dale Telle booted the extra point.

Ryan also counted the Sioux' second TD as he sprinted 45 yards in a brilliant run through the entire Augustana team. Telle used his toe again to make it 14-0.

Dick Greengo went 8 yards off tackle for North Dakota's third touchdown before half-time. Greengo's run followed a 22 yard pass from Cal Hallada to Ryan.

Two more tallies in the third period wound up the scoring. After kicking off to Augustana the Sioux held the Vikings and scored in three plays. Jack Behl went the final 29 yards and then kicked the point from placement.

A 21 yard pass from Hallad to Greengo accounted for the final tally with Behl kicking the placement.

North Dakota State Opens Title Bid With Morningside Tomorrow

Bison Seek Revenge

North Dakota State will take the first step in its bid for the NCC championship tomorrow when the Bison journey to Sioux City, Iowa, for a contest with Morningside College.

The NDAC gridders will be seeking revenge for the 12-0 setback they suffered at the hands of the Maroons last season. The 1952 contest saw an alert Morningside squad recover five of seven State fumbles and intercept two passes which ended Bison scoring threats.

The '53 Morningside eleven is strengthened by seven returning regulars—end Walt Wegner, tackles Bob Motter and Bill Thomas, guards Kernit Isaacson and Roger Gohring, center Paul Kirkegaard and back "Buck" Miller. Miller, the Maroons leading passer, accounted for 542 yards and six touchdowns in league games by passing last year.

Both teams have a 1-1 record, but the Bison will be the general favorite when they take on the Maroons.

Tomorrow is the "Big Day", the day when the Bison kick off competition for the NCC football championship. We haven't added a football championship trophy to our shelf since 1932. That's a long time and we need one in the worst way! And, for what it's worth, this reporter thinks that next one we get will be dated 1953.

North Dakota State and Morningside will both go into this first conference contest with 1-1 records. The Maroons beat Wayne TC 21 to 7 and gave ground to Omaha 27 to 19. The Bison record, as you well know, lists a victory over Concordia and a loss to Detroit.

The Bison have an advantage for tomorrow in that they had an open date last weekend. This has given the Wenskunamen a chance to sharpen their game in practice. However, they will be carrying the "road" handicap that is always present when a team plays away from home.

That old urge for revenge might also aid North Dakota's Aggies, for last year the Maroons came up on the Bison schedule just in time to trim an unstable, injury ridden State team 12 to 0. Fumbles and interceptions played a major part in the contest which saw an alert Morningside eleven recover five of seven State fumbles and intercept two passes deep in their own territory.

Three Teams on TV

Local football fans who can beg, borrow or steal access to a television set are in for a season of viewing some great athletic contests.

Three teams—North Dakota State, Minnesota and Notre Dame—will have their games televised over WDAY-TV every week. NDAC's games, which are to be televised each Monday at 9:15, make the most interesting viewing from the standpoint of local interest; while the televising of Minnesota and Notre Dame contests will give us a chance to watch many of the Nation's leading teams in action.

Michigan State, Northwestern, Illinois, Michigan, Pittsburg, Indiana, Iowa and Wisconsin are included in the list of foes to be played by Minnesota; these game will appear on television on Monday evening at 6:30. Notre Dame's contests will be televised on Wednesday at 10:30 P.M. Included on the Irish schedule are Oklahoma (the Irish Sooner 28-21 tilt was on TV last Wednesday), Purdue, Pittsburg, Georgia Tech, Navy, Pennsylvania, North Carolina, Iowa, Southern California and SMU.

Oklahoma Fan Spirit

Below I have reprinted what a Minneapolis sports writer, Joe Hindrickson, had to say about the spirit shown by fans who support the University of Oklahoma football team.

Read what he has to say and then lets duplicate that spirit at North Dakota State; lets let the world know that our small college team has more than small college support.

"Oklahomans like their football hot tomale style. If there are fans any more rabid than the 59,000 Oklahoma backers who jammed the fine Sooner stadium, the heart specialists in such an area are sure to enjoy a thriving business.

Oklahoma backers put pressure on an opposing team. They cheer their athletes into a frenzy. Oklahoma's great start at Notre Dame Saturday was partially due to the hooting and tooting in their behalf prior to the kickoff and through every play.

Notre Dame was under terrific pressure. It is understandable how 25 previous teams succumbed in this environment at Norman. Notre Dame, of course, had the poise and retaliatory power that Notre Dame teams always have. The Irish had to have it or they would have been run out of the stadium at Oklahoma.

The enthusiasm at Oklahoma games, when blended with the speedy Sooner attack, gives the onlooker a tremendous show. It is football in its most interesting tempo.

We used to think Texas football was the most exciting brand in color and action, but Saturday's show forces a belief that Oklahoma's is tops."

HERD-o-MEN

CHUCK THURM

FRANK ESPOSITO

PAT VICKERS

BOB NENNINGER

Captain and left end of this year's squad is Charles "Chuck" Thurm. Hailing from Lake Forest, Ill. Thurm is an outstanding example of the 1953 State gridders.

Offensively Thurm has established himself well in the NCC. North Central coaches and teams dread his pass snatching and his body jarring blocks. This year with the advent of one platoon ball opposition coaches are stressing more than ever the danger of letting Thurm into the secondary.

Thurm is a definite repeat contender for all-conference honors.

Number 14 and starting quarterback is Chicago's own Frank Esposito.

Esposito's chances in one platoon football were ranked very small by most of the pre-season dopsters, however, Frank has proven them wrong. In State's opener with Concordia "Espo" was not only sharp on his offensive specialty but also a keen tackler and terrific punter.

A returnee all-conference quarterback, Esposito is bound to repeat in that department and perhaps in others as the season progresses.

"Sophomore center Pat Vickers is perhaps one of the most neglected gentlemen in the laurels department, but definitely one of the most deserving.

Out of Claremont, S. Dak., Pat is making his debut with the Herd's first squad this season. Even though a novice he has already been acclaimed by State grid fans as the man who'll stop 'em.

A very soft spoken gent, Vickers is the last one to speak of himself, but his fellow footballers lose no time in telling you that he is a mighty important reason why the State line is rugged.

The lone southern gentleman on this year's Bison squad is big Bob Nenninger.

A very definite iron man on the Herd, Bob portrays the duties of his position to the utmost. Guarding his backfield maneuvers as well as making sure State's opponents don't make scrimmage Nenninger puts his three experienced years to good use.

Bob, who is ranked by his teammates as a mighty tough customer, is a very big cog in the AC line. Nenninger could well be the reason for State's success during the remainder of the season.

Vogue Contest For Senior Women; Prize, Paris Trip

Vogue's famous competition for senior college women which awards jobs to winners is accepting enrollments now through October 15. First prize in the 19th Prix de Paris is a one-year job with the magazine as a junior editor. The winner will spend six months of her year in Vogue's Paris office, with transportation to Paris and back, in addition to her salary, paid by the Conde Nast Publications Inc. The other six months will be in Vogue's New York office.

Second prize in the Prix de Paris is a six months' job as a junior editor in Vogue's New York office. If the trial period is satisfactory, both jobs may be extended to permanent positions on Vogue's staff.

Sixty more college women will be helped with their careers: ten Honorable Mention winners will receive $25 and first consideration for jobs on Vogue, Glamour, House & Garden and Vogue Patter Book; the next 50 top-ranking contestants will be introduced to stores, advertising agencies and other magazines.

Writing ability, grasp of subject matter, general intelligence, originality and demonstration of special talents are the points on which contestants are judged. Using Vogue as a textbook, Prix de Paris competitors complete two quizzes of four questions each, based on actual editorial problems. The first quiz appeared in Vogue's College Issue (August 1); the second will be in the December issue. Those who satisfactorily answer the quizzes will be eligible to write a 1500-word thesis on a general subject which gives them ample scope to express their own ideas.

Enrollment blanks are available upon request from the Prix de Paris Director, Vogue, 420 Lexington Avenue, New York 17.

1547 students from 380 colleges entered the 1953 Prix de Paris. Edith Nalle and Judith Waldrop, both Bryn Mawr students, took first and second prizes.
