The Little Country Theatre brings to Fargo audiences again this year Gian-Carlo Menotte's Christmas classic 'Amahl and the Night Visitors.' It will be a joint presentation of the departments of speech and music with the assistance of the division of physical education for women.

The curtain will rise at 8:15 p.m., December 9, 10, 11 and 12, on the impoverished cottage of Amahl and his Mother. The music of the Crystal Star with a tail of fire will herald the approach of the Night Visitors.

'Amahl and the Night Visitors' is directed by Dr. Fred G. Walsh, dramatic advisor and Ernst Van Vlissingen, music director. Mrs. Neva Anderson of the women's physical education department is directing the dancers. Other faculty advisors are Jack Sigman, costumes advisor, Floyd Heckert, technical advisor and J. J. O'Shea, publicity advisor. Students helping with the set are Ray Horn, stage manager, Karen Garrison, properties and Scott Pederson, lights.

'Amahl and the Night Visitors' was the first opera to be written directly for television production. It was originally presented on Christmas Eve, 1951. It has been repeated each succeeding year by the National Broadcasting Company's TV network. In addition it has been presented by the New York City Center's Opera Company as a part of their regular repertoire. Despite the fact that many of these presentations were separated from the Christmas Season by many months, it has been warmly received both in America and in performances given while this company was on world tour.

The story, inspired by the famous painting by Hieronymus Bosch, 'The Adoration of the Magi,' tells with disarming simplicity and lyric directness an incident which might well have happened on the memorable night of the First Christmas time."

The music is simply lyric, conversationally dissonant and maintains an air of wonderful unreality—preserving the frosty splendor of the First Christmas Eve. The weird cadence of the song of the Kings, the brittle sound of camel's hooves crushing the frozen snow, and the mysterious tinkling of their silver bridles all produce the spell so often prefaced with the remark, "... once upon a time ..."

The many and vociferous requests for a repeat of 'Amahl and the Night Visitors' brings this heart warming story to the Little Country Theatre stage again this year despite a policy of not repeating productions. Tickets for 'Amahl and the Night Visitors' are on sale at the Box Office, the Little Country Theatre. All seats are reserved. Holders of Season Tickets must pick them up 24 hours before the performance.

Bison Room Starts Time-Saving Plan

A new time-saving idea has been installed in the Bison Room. This is the plan for us to use the carts and paper deposits that face us as we enter the room. All that is asked is that we take our tray, dishes, and waste paper to these carts as we leave and deposit each in its proper place. Signs have been placed above the equipment to help us do our job.

By doing this small service we can save much time and energy for both those working there and those seeking a place to sit. We should be more remindful of this—especially during the coffee hours when the room is filled to capacity.

Film Forum Presents 'The Brothers' Sun.

by Ruby Enander

"The Brothers", a J. Arthur Rank production, with Sydney Box producer and directed by David MacDonald will be presented Sunday December 6 at 3 p.m. at Festival Hall. This film is sponsored by the YM-YWCA Film Forum Society.

Among the dramatic and significant sequences in this film is the rowing tug of war between the MacCrae and McFarish clans in a traditional trail of strength that settles a feud without bloodshed.

In an early sequence a group of the islands' whisky smugglers executes an informer by strapping cork floats under his bound arms, typing a shiny herring on his head, and floating him upright in the bay for bulls to make a sieve of his skull.

Single admission is fifty cents.

Deans' Coffee Hour

The Deans and their wives will be entertained at a Christmas Season coffee hour on Wednesday, December 9 in the home economics dining room in Ceres Hall by the Monday-Wednesday meal planning class.

DJ Shows Feature 'John-Marsha Letter' Cameras Locked In Safe At Nite Spot;

by Don Berger

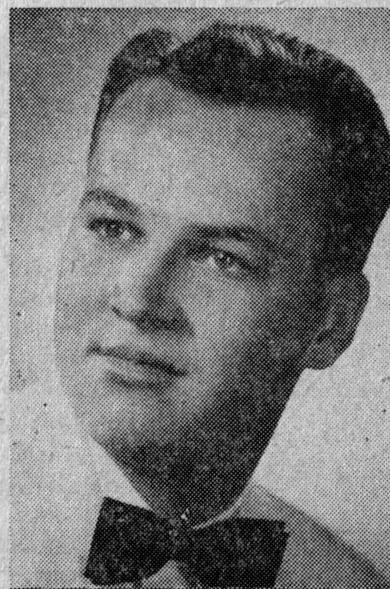

The Film Forum will present another movie this Sunday in Festival Hall. It will be J. Arthur Rank's production of "The Brothers". The screen play is a sociological (but a very entertaining) study of the people on the island of Sky which is off the west coast of Scotland. There are some rather blood curdling scenes, some gruesome humor, and a lot of good acting. The English cast includes Finlay Currie, Will Fyffe, Maxwell Reed, and Patricia Roc.

There will be two showings of "The Brothers" at 3 p.m. and 7 p.m. During the Thanksgiving vacation there wasn't a T.V. set in sight, so the radio again became popular. If you can tear yourself away from your set you might try these:

"NBC Star Theater" has taken up where "US Steel Hour" left off and is doing an excellent job. Next Sunday Jane Wyman will be the star. 7:30 Sunday night, NBC.

The NBC Symphony (Sunday 5:30 p.m., NBC) if you're tired of Hank and Thelma.

THE SPECTRUM

Published every Friday at Fargo, North Dakota by the NDAC Board of Publications, State College Station, Fargo, North Dakota.

Subscription rate $1.00 per term. Entered as second class matter, December 10, 1945, at the Post office at Fargo, North Dakota, under the act of March 3, 1879.

Editor-in-Chief Renee Baker

Chicago (about 790 on the dial) has a disc program from midnight til dawn. The music runs from popular to classical—but its all hushed and echoed for easy listening. The DJ sounds like he's talking in a bale of cotton which adds to the quietness. Its nice for late listening but sometimes you'd like to hear someone drop their cymbals just for the heck of it.

The Record Shows are giving these a big play:

"My Secret Love". Doris Day's version is about the best cause it breaks the monotony with a "High Noon" tempo.

"Everybody Loves Saturday Nite" has Percy Faith and his orchestra knocking themselves out. Too bad the lyricist didn't follow their example.

"Stranger in Paradise" is Prince Igor in a charcoal suit.

"A John and Marsha Letter" by Stan Freeburg takes advantage of three ex-hits (?) and comes up with a combination almost as bad as any one of the originals.

"Moonlight in Vermont" is fast replacing "Tenderly" as the crooners tour de force. ("feat of skill or strength" to you English Majors).

Velure Spends Six Months Studying On Australian Farms; Coffee Hour Given Finds Homes Comfortable, People Friendly, Crops Like Ours

by Robert Velure

In 1947 a program known as the International Farm Youth Exchange began. It is a project for rural young people in the U. S. to live and work on farms in other countries, and for farm youth from these countries to come here and observe our methods and rural life.

The program which initially began in 1948 when 17 young men and women went to 7 European countries has grown so rapidly that 135 young people were sent to 32 different countries last year. I was one of the fortunate young people to be selected last year and was sent to Australia.

Australia seemed very distant to me but with modern air travel the trip took only 30 hours actual flying time. I had done a great deal of studying on Australia and Australian conditions before I left but was to learn a good deal more in the 6½ months ahead.

The climate of the country varies from tropical in the north to an arid climate in most of the interior. Consequently the agricultural products that they can produce are numerous. Wheat is grown in large areas and consequently Australia is a noted exporter throughout the world. She is one of the countries in the International Wheat Agreement.

The growing of crops is much the same as here except that large quantities of grain are handled in packs instead of bulk.

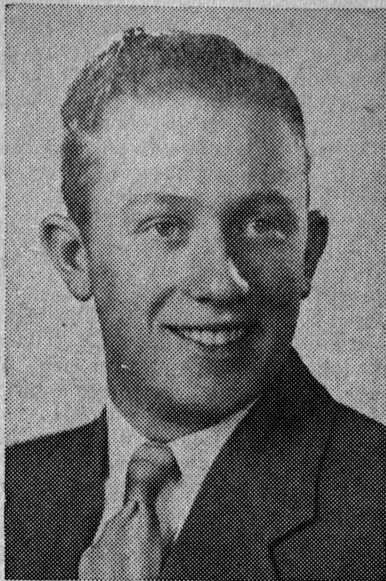

Sugar cane, tropical fruits and fruits of all kinds, cottons, tobacco, corn and peanuts are also grown in large quantities in areas suitable. Large numbers of livestock are also in evidence especially sheep and cattle.

Merina's are the leading breed of sheep in the country and the wool trade accounts for a large amount of foreign trade. Some of the top grade wool sells for $3 or more per pound going to all parts of the world.

Ranches (ranches) of 50 and 60 thousand acres and more are situated in some of the drier parts of the country and raise beef cattle or sheep or both. Here all three of the popular breeds of beef cattle are found as well as a large number of Brahma crossbreeds.

The Australian homes are comfortable and are usually a one-story structure. Most homes have electricity and running water and many have telephones. Electrical appliances are not as plentiful as in the United States and many farm women still wash clothes by hand and cook and bake in a wood or coal stove.

Sports are one of the main types of recreation and Saturdays are usually devoted to playing tennis, cricket, croquet and other sports.

Robert Velure

Most stores and business establishments are closed all day Saturday and consequently the cities are much quieter on weekends than ours are. One of the reasons for this is because all labor is restricted to a 40 hour week. Labor is very highly unionized even to the extent of farm laborers.

The Government of Australia is modeled on the British Cabinet system. There are three established political parties—Labour, Liberal, and Country parties. Many social services such as old age and invalid pensions, maternity allowances, child endowment, unemployment benefits, and others are available to all.

Education is compulsory from the age of 6 years until the age of 14 or 15, varying according to state. Free education is provided in state primary, secondary and technical schools of high standard.

I know I have returned home with a broader outlook and understanding on the problems and difficulties that Australia is facing and I certainly left behind some wonderful people who treated me swell and really made me feel "at home away from home."

A morning coffee hour was given by the Meal Planning class, December 3 in Ceres Hall.

'Three D' On Campus As Youth Groups Join

Three D is now on campus in its newest form.

"The three denominations of youth from the Baptist, Congregational, and Presbyterian Churches are joined in one group, so that they may do things together that they formerly could not do alone," reports Rev. Russ Wigfield, Three D advisor.

Stanley Elofson, Baptist; Joan Goodwin, Presbyterian; and Audrey Little, Congregational represent each church group on a governing board, which decides the policies of Three D. The board is contemplating luncheons once a week and late evening and early morning devotions in the Three Denomination's new quarters—the former Lutheran Student Association rooms in the College YMCA.

"Although each denomination meets separately once a week, most of their functions are together. So far, we've held a clean up party and a party to get the rooms ready and to acquaint members of the group," says Rev. Wigfield.

LATEST COLLEGE SURVEY SHOWS LUCKIES LEAD AGAIN

Last year a survey of leading colleges throughout the country showed that smokers in those colleges preferred Luckies to any other cigarette.

This year another nation-wide survey—based on thousands of actual student interviews, and representative of all students in regular colleges—shows that Luckies lead again over all brands, regular or king size...and by a wide margin! The No. 1 reason: Luckies taste better.

Smoking enjoyment is all a matter of taste, and the fact of the matter is Luckies taste better—for 2 reasons. L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. And Luckies are made better to taste better. So, Be Happy—Go Lucky!

Luckies give you finer smokes,
So buy 'em by the carton—
And if you haven't tried 'em yet,
It's time you got a-startin'!

Herd Cagers Drop Two On Road Trip

by John Shepard

Bison_Carls

The NDSC Bison lost their opening game of the season to a classy Carleton quintet last Friday night by a score of 81 to 64. The Bison had the opening game jitters, as was visible by the score. The Bison had more than they could handle in Louis Slocum and Tad Rosenblum, all-conference guards last season, and Bob Buis who was the nation's leading shooter last year with a 60% average. He showed up very well against the herd with a 24 point out put.

Carleton lead all through the game with quarter leaders of 20-14, 43-31, and 59-46 respectively. The herd practically matched the Carls bucket for bucket with Carleton having 29 and the Bison 27 from the floor. The Bison hit on only 10 of 27 gift tosses.

Big Bob Lauf showed signs of regaining last years valued form as he poured in 16 points to be the Bison's top point producer. Jim Akason, sophomore guard, making his debut as a starter for the Bison, played an outstanding game and scored 11 points for the losers. The only other herd cager to hit double figures was Duane Anderson, the team's leading scorer last season. Big Grut hit for 10 points.

Scott Thayer, who was hampered with injuries last season, hasn't regained his great sophomore form as yet, but he probably will materialize as the season progresses. Walt Fogel and John McDermott, who alternated at a forward post, dumped in 13 points between them.

Bison_Gusties

The NDSC Bison lost their second game in their two day road trip as Gustavus Adolphus whipped the Bison by a score of 78 to 61.

The herd was vastly improved over their opener at Carleton the night before, but the 6'7" Gustie front line proved to be too powerful for the Bison.

The Gusties had a 37-31 lead at the end of the first half. The herd came within six points of the Minnesotans late in the third period, but could not maintain their lead against the rangy Minnesotans. The shooting percentage, however, was the decisive factor in the tilt as the Bison shot a lowly 23 percent from the floor compared to a hot 42 percent for the Gusties.

Jim Akason, sophomore guard, again playing exceptional ball for the Bison, led all scorers with 18 points. Bob Lauf chipped in 15, 13 of which were charity tosses, and Walt Fogel hooped in 11 to round out the scorers who hit double figures for the Bison.

Cliff Straska and Jack Calvard each counted 16 points in the well balanced Gustie scoring attack.

Another invitation has been extended to any organization that is interested in taking part in the Intra-Mural Basketball league.

Sioux Picked To Take NCC Cage Crown

Bison Predicted In Tie For Fourth

by Mel Ostby

North Central conference football action has been tucked away for another year. Basketball is now rapidly stepping into the spotlight as the loop court teams prepare themselves for the coming season. Thus in everyone's mind the perennial pre-season question arises as to how the conference teams should shape up for the 1953-54 basketball season.

North Dakota University is rated to be the top team in the Conference. The Sioux have four starters back from last year's powerhouse. The big loss to the tribe is Chuck Wolfe, who won an all Conference berth for three years in a row.

Outside of this great loss they will have smooth working John Haaven at center. Big John was an important cog in the Sioux cage machine last season. The upstaters have their two starting guards back from last year in Ron Lackie, stellar set shot ace at a guard post coupled with George Razook, classy drive-in artist. One forward post will be handled by Don Augustine, who started as a freshman. Harvey Burkholder and Jim Tollefson are expected to be contenders for the other forward spots. Along with this smooth working combination, the Sioux have reliable reserves in Jack Anderson and Big Carl Hendrickson.

South Dakota University is expected to be the runner-up in the loop. The Coyotes have four of their last year's starters on hand. The team will be centered around all-conference forward Jim Tays, and six foot seven inch, 240 pound center, Don Jongewaard. However, Don is scholastically ineligible until the second semester. One starting guard position will be held down by Jim Rath, and the other guard spot has not yet been determined. Along with these four starters and three more lettermen returning as reserves, the Coyotes should place high in the final standings.

Rated to take third place in the loop is the Morningside Maroons. This squad has four returning starters back from last year, with Long at center forming the nucleus of the high powered offense.

Fourth place is expected to be a toss-up between North Dakota State, Iowa State Teachers College and South Dakota State. The North Dakota State Bison will have three starters back from last year's cage squad. At center, the Bison will have much improved, big, rugged Bob Lauf. Expected to help Lauf along at his pivot post are Harold Anderson and Paul Granum. Both of these boys are lanky 6'6" material. One forward spot will undoubtedly be held down by Duane (Grut) Anderson, who was the team's leading scorer last season. Walt Fogel or John McDermott will be competing for the other forward slot, with Gene Gamache pressing them hard.

At one starting guard will be flashy Scott Thayer, who was out with injuries throughout most of last season. The other guard slot will be fought out for between Lyle Fugleberg, Doug Walstad, and Jim Akason. Dependable Doug Walstad has been outstanding in his floor play, and Jim Akason has shown a terrific scoring spark. Other members who are expected to help the squad are Mike Fogel, Morris Holme, Merlin Ludwig, and Kermit Quanbeck.

South Dakota State will form their basketball team around three returning lettermen. The Jack-rabbits have a small fast breaking team, and they are always a threat to any conference team.

Iowa State Teachers has been hindered greatly by the loss of Al Carew, who has gone into service, and Lowell Rollinger, who has suffered a broken neck. These men were the main stay of the Panther squad last season. However, Iowa Teachers has Dick Beetsch, a spark plug of the team last year back. They also have several transfers which should add depth to the team.

Doomed in the cellar spot of the conference should be Augustana. The Vikings were the cellar dwellers last year, and they have lost two returning lettermen from last year's team to the Military Service.

"Playday" Successful

by Judy Sherwood

The Women's Athletic Association reported a successful "Play Day" as sixty-four girls from five colleges throughout the state entered athletic competition at the NDSC Fieldhouse Saturday, Nov. 14.

Exceptionally warm November weather contributed to the fine turnout, making it an ideal outdoor sport's day rather than a day to participate in inside athletics.

Basketball action started at 10:00 in the morning, immediately following the registration of the participating schools. In the final round of play, Valley City came out on top over the Jamestown "A" team and the U of North Dakota tied the Jamestown "B" squad. Play including Aerial Darts and Deck Tennis continued until noon.

Volleyball and Badminton highlighted the afternoon play which began at 2:00 and at this time a representative from each of the participating colleges gave a short report on the activities of her respective athletic group.

Mrs. Ihlenfeld and Ruth Gaebe refereed the basketball games. They also did the whistle blowing in the volleyball participation assisted by Lavonne Toepke.

In charge of all the arrangements for "Play Day" was WAA President Beverly Bowmen. Norma Skarr held the position of General Program Manager and was ably assisted by her committee composed of Joan Nordlund, Phyllis Nelson, Ada Hartmann, and Margaret Henning.

Dorothy Ryan and Ruth Gaebe were in charge of planning the noon luncheon and the accompanying program.

At the registration table were Dorothy Ryan and Arlene Teigen. Acting as the timer was Delores Olson. Sonja Swanke made all the necessary arrangements for the team lineups.

Hamline Tops NDU

The Pipers of Hamline University staged a third quarter rally to trim the NDU Sioux, 62-53 on the tail end of a twin bill played last Saturday night.

The game was played on the Hamline court, and was highlighted by the frequent change of leads throughout the first half.

Center John Haaven was the offensive gun for the losing Redmen, garnering 25 points, 17 of which were scored in the first half. Donlin and Porter paced the winners by pourngi through the net 15 points each.

Don't Drop It !!

The Bentson boys are getting a chance to move the ball as the Bison cage mentor is emphasizing basketball fundamentals in the early season's practice. Fourteen men round out the squad.

Competition Begins In Faculty League

Twelve teams, in two divisions of six teams each, began action last Monday, Nov. 30 in the faculty bowling league. The teams, which represent schools on the campus, are each rounded out with a four man squad.

Schools composing division "A", which begins play at 5:00 p.m. on the scheduled dates, are Agriculture Engineering, Animal Husbandry No. 1, Chemistry, Engineering, Pharmacy, and U.S.D.A.

The Athletic Dept., Air Force, Agriculture Economics, Agronomy, Animal Husbandry No. 2, and the Soils Department are contained in Division "B" which begins play at 7:00 p.m. on the same days that the "A" Division plays.

A complete faculty bowling schedule is posted on the counter in the Student Union bowling alley room.

A question frequently bobbing in and out of the mind of many coaches, managers and avid fans of athletic participation in North Dakota is: What is the underlying factor contributing to the promising high school athletes leaving the state and going to schools elsewhere?

Many coaches throughout the state have one very good reason in mind—that of financial attraction. Of course a larger school would have a much higher offering to the prep athletes and many of the smaller colleges offer little or no deal along this line.

In other words, everyone should agree that one can not acquire an accredited education as economically as in North Dakota. Those athletes, though, who strive to be a member of a team which is recognized as being one of high competition and status, would naturally attend these schools regardless of the cost.

The answer isn't entirely of a financial competition between N. D. colleges and schools of higher learning in other areas. A large percentage of high school and college coaches would never stand in the way of promising athletes who wanted to compete for berths on higher class ball clubs such as those in the Big Ten and Skyline conferences.

North Dakota college coaches agree in unison that the state's high school athletes possess the necessary qualifications to represent North Dakota in any prep grid or cage participation.

Another alternative is that many prep athletes may find a course preference in one of the larger colleges. Such a school, as any in the Big Ten conference, undoubtedly has a much wider choice of rounded out fields than many smaller schools in North Dakota. No doubt the larger colleges have a good drawing card for this reason alone. North Dakota high school athletes who are looking for a rounded out educational and athletic career in college very frequently are satisfied only in the larger schools outside of the state.

Among some of the outstanding high school athletes of this state who have made good are John Baumgartner of Bismarck, Hagemeyer of Mapleton, Ron Wallin of Valley City, John Wallerius of Sacred Heart in Fargo and many others. Jarrin-Jawn and Hagemeyer along with Wallin were stellar performers on the Minnesota gridiron, and Wallerius saw much action on the Gopher cage court.

This proverbial question is being raised in sport's conversations throughout this state in particular and undoubtedly it will be a controversial matter in years to come.

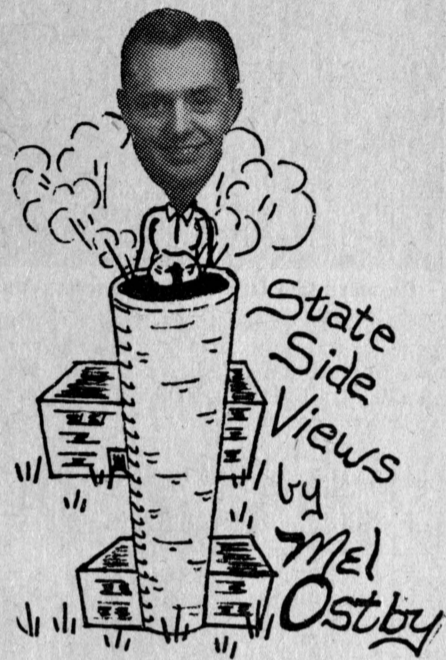

The basketball agenda at old State has begun for another year. Last weekend the herd made a two game journey to the far part of Minnesota. As before the Bison began their season playing two highly touted cage teams and went down to defeat as was expected by everyone.

But the defeats did not come as a complete loss. Coach Chuck Benson had ample time and opportunity to catch the herd's shortcomings and blunders.

Looking at the scoring angle in the double test for the Bison, there appears to be two standouts. Big Bob Lauf had a two game average of 15.5 points per game and the surprising Halstad ace, Jim Akason owns an overall 13.5 average for the two games. Akason has begun the season spectacularly with an early scoring spurt.

An interesting incidental note is that the upstaters predicted that the SDU Coyotes will take top honors in the final NCC Basketball standings. Their own Sioux will be the runnerups and the Bison will occupy the third rung on the ladder. The other Dakota Stewdent placings ran quite true to form with the Spectrums.

That's about it from State Side this week, but always remember that the best policy is to hang loose—never hang tough!

Maryland; Leads Poll 19 Remain Undefeated

In the United and Associated Press' final poll, Maryland led second place Notre Dame by the narrow margin of six points in the final voting.

The A.P. top ten teams are Maryland, Notre Dame, Michigan State, Oklahoma, UCLA, Rice, Illinois, Georgia Tech, Iowa, and West Virginia.

The unbeaten-untied major colleges included:

Ten games: Maryland, Prairie View (Texas), and East Texas State.

AC Radio Club Seeks New Members; Begins Construction Of New 350 Watt Radio Transmitter

One of the most interesting organizations on the NDAC campus is now in the midst of a drive for new members. It is the NDAC Ham's and Dan Turner, public relations. At present, the club has a transmitter and full equipment whose use is open to all interested persons. Anyone is free to come in and work or practice for one of the ham licenses which is required of every person planning to use amateur radio equipment.

Club. Headed by Ralph Wheeler, president; and Jerry Vanderhyde, vice-president; Jerry Myller, secretary,

The two ham licenses are available free of charge and they are automatically renewable after five years, providing the operator has continued to make use of his license.

One, the novice license enables the holder to use the radio key only. Requirements for the license are five words per minute of International Morse Code, sending and receiving.

Next step up the list is the general operator's license. The test for this class is 13 words of Morse code per minute, both sending and receiving. This license enables the holder to use both voice or key and to operate on any of the recognized ham bands. In addition, the operator is qualified to operate both fixed and mobile transmitters.

Anyone interested in working for their licenses are free to use the Ham Club equipment at any time and are also urged to help work on the new 350 watt all band transmitter now under construction to replace the present transmitter.

The Ham Club is sponsored by the American Institute of Electrical Engineers & the Institute of Radio Engineers, student branches.

Also, classes are given in morse code to enable people to qualify for their ham licenses. Anyone interested in radio, why not drop in at Room 106 in the old engineering building at 7:30 p.m., December 8.
