

Student Union Board Positions Open; Reorganization Of Student Union Control

The Student Union Activities Board will accept applications to fill board vacancies for this school year starting Monday at the Student Union business office.

All applications must be filed on or before October 29. All qualified applicants will be contacted for a personal interview with the director of personnel and finance.

A new system for conducting student Union activities will be in effect this year. The new system will include five committees—personnel and finance, directed by Guy Enabnit; games and recreation with Bobbie Vaughn as chairman; dance and decoration, headed by Maggie Hunstad; fine arts committee, with Jim Beaty as chairman; publicity and hospitality with Janet Abrahamson as director. President and coordinator of the committees is Kay McGeary.

The personnel and finance committee is responsible for the selection and placement of board members and distribution of funds to the various committees.

Planning and supervision of informal games and recreational activities is the responsibility of the games and recreation committee.

The dance and decoration committee plans and directs all dances sponsored by the student union activities board. The fine arts committee is in charge of music, movies, and art as displayed in the union.

The publicity and hospitality committee arranges publicity for board sponsored events and provides hosts and hostesses when they are required for teas, coffee hours, banquets, etc.

The union board will be the host group at the 7th annual, region 7 meeting of the national association of college unions to be held November 19-20. A large scale program must be planned to facilitate conference business and provide entertainment for the visiting representatives.

Craft Courses Now Open To Entire SC Student Body

Craft courses are now open to all students on campus due to the better facilities and enlarged office space that the art department now occupies in the new home ec. building.

Courses offered in the line of crafts are: ceramics, metal work, jewelry, general crafts, and weaving. Previously these courses have only been offered in alternating years, but now they are scheduled so that each craft will be offered at least one quarter during the school year.

New equipment in the department for use in crafts are a selection of new weaving looms, kiln for firing ceramics, potter's wheel, and ample, well-lighted work space.

Students are encouraged to choose these courses as electives, as they not only familiarize them with the processes involved in the crafts, but develop an awareness and appreciation of design and quality in selecting projects.

Adult evening classes in weaving, jewelry, and general crafts are offered to the public this fall with a large group enrolled.

Samples of the various crafts made in the department are now on exhibit in the first floor display case.

Judging Team Returns Home With Honors

Four NDSC students brought home honors this week from the Inter-collegiate Judging contest at the American Royal livestock show.

The members of the team coached by Merle Light were: Larry Hovland, Edgar Lovitt, Darel Leetum, Lawrence Helt, Alfred Hansen, LaDon Johnson, Raymond Buelow, and Dale Bergland.

The team ranked second in quarter horses. Lovitt was second individual in quarter horses. Leetum placed third high in sheep.

The contest was held October 16 at Kansas City, Mo. North Dakota rated 14th in the contest. Kansas State came in first.

Commendation

The purpose of this article is to give credit where credit is due. The successful and smooth operations of this year's Homecoming festivities are primarily due to them and their assistants;

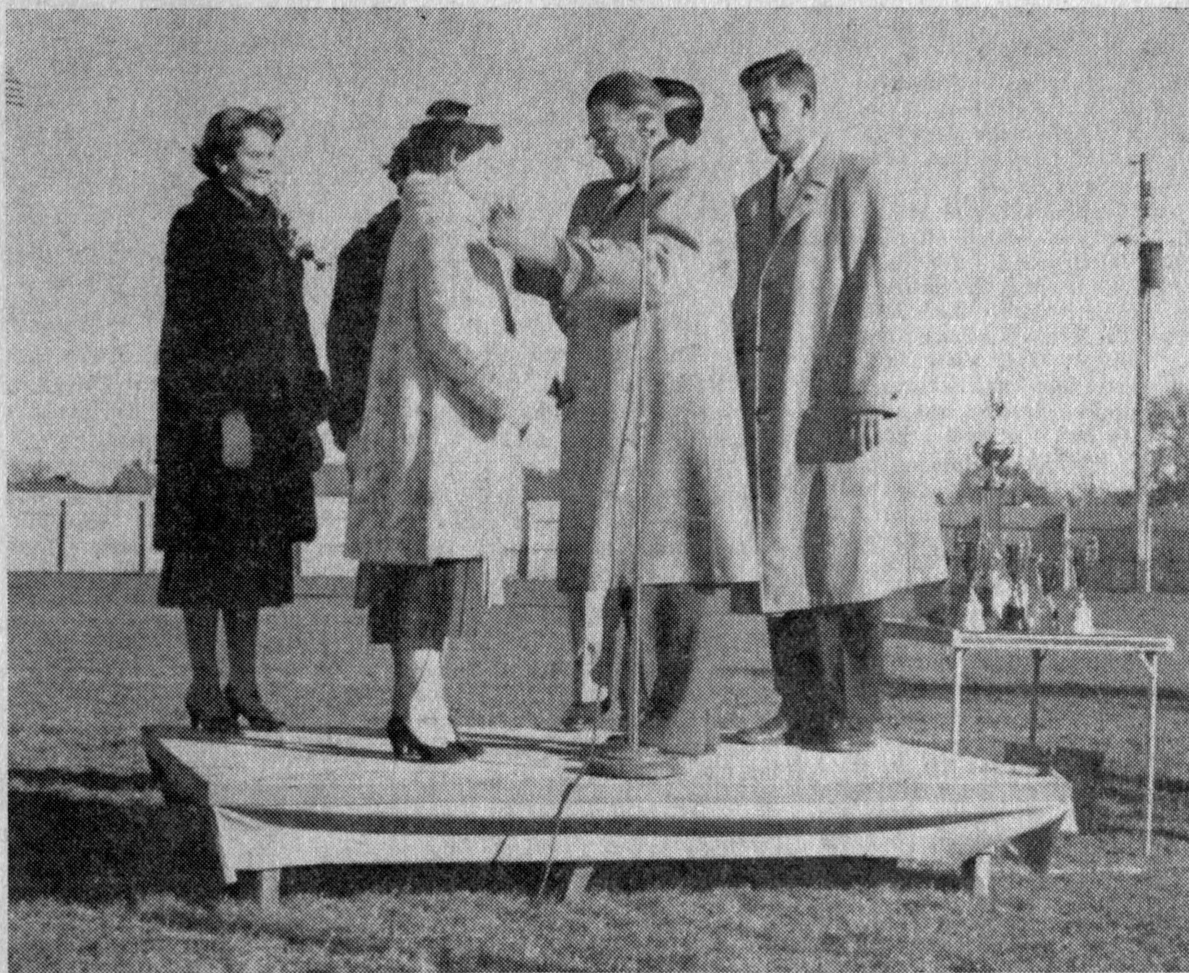

Don Ellingsberg, in charge of the dance; Mike Fogel, house decorations and floats; Renee Baker, publicity; Dorothy Lund, finance, Bob Gion, queen's committee; Gordon Child, theme committee; Gary Gibbons, parade marshal.

To say that these are the only people deserving commendations would be in error. Others, certainly deserving mention are; the Rahjah Club, which did a superb job, Senior Staff, the alumni, the administration, faculty and 90% of the student body.

I feel that we should be proud of our football team, not for losing, but for giving the game their utmost efforts. They did not quit trying and hoping as did a part of the student body who left before the game was over. For this they deserve our respect and congratulations.

Duane Anderson (President of the Student Body)

Hultz Crowns Queen Joan

Being crowned is 1954 homecoming queen Joan Nelson by President Fred Hultz at half time ceremonies in last Saturday's game. Also on the platform are the attendants Joan Grimes and Marlys Wentz; Bob Gion, chairman of queen selection committee, and Duane Anderson, president of student body.

Johnson, Hart, Baker Attend Press School At Washington, D. C.

Three members of the NDSC board of publications control are attending the Associated Collegiate Press short course at Washington, D. C. this weekend.

Lee Johnson, Gary Hart, and Renee Baker will represent the college at this meeting to be attended by over six hundred representatives of college newspapers and annuals from all over the country.

The meeting will be held in the Statler Hotel in Washington this weekend, and features special short courses for college newspaper editors, business managers, photographers, and yearbook staff members.

Prominent figures in the field of journalism will address the various seminars and present new ideas and techniques to add to the journalism knowledge of the various delegates.

Running for three days, the short course is a yearly affair sponsored by the ACP, with headquarters in Minneapolis.

Moen In Hospital

Carl Moen, long time campus policeman at NDSC, is recuperating at St. Luke's hospital from a heart attack.

For the past several years, Carl has served as patrolman and has become one of the better known figures on campus with his friendly smile and courteous manner.

To Carl, from the people of NDSC, get well in a hurry.

Danforth Foundation Fund To Accept Graduate Fellowship Applications Now

The Danforth Foundation, an educational trust fund in St. Louis, Missouri, invites applications for the fourth class (1955) of Graduate Fellowships from college senior men and recent graduates who are preparing themselves for a career of college teaching, and are planning to enter graduate school in September, 1955, for their first year of graduate study.

The Foundation welcomes applicants from the areas of Natural and Biological Sciences, Humanities and all fields of specialization to be found in the undergraduate college.

President F. S. Hultz has named Dean C. A. Sevrinson as the Liaison Officer to nominate to the Danforth Foundation two or not to exceed three candidates for these fellowships.

These appointments are fundamentally "a relationship of encouragement" through the years of graduate study, carrying a promise of financial aid within prescribed conditions as there may be need.

Guidon Holds Initiation For 14 NDSC Women

Guidon, auxiliary to Scabbard and Blade military group, recently held initiation for fourteen girls.

New members include Barbara Pederson, Joline Well, Marianne Hunke, Maxine Brown North, Janet Fagerland, Judith Baumann, Donna Pierce, Marlys Pautz, Sandra Haas, Marlene Pfieffe, Lois Hultstrand, Patricia Monson, Bonnie Litzinger and June Anderson.

The maximum annual grant for single Fellows is $1800; for married Fellows, $2400. Students with or without financial need are invited to apply.

A Danforth fellow is allowed to carry other scholarship appointments, such as Fulbright, Woodrow Wilson, G.E.B., etc., concurrently with his Danforth Fellowship, and applicants for these appointments are cordially invited to apply at the same time for a Danforth Fellowship.

If a man received the Danforth appointment, together with a Rhodes Scholarship, Fulbright Scholarship, or Woodrow Wilson Fellowship, he becomes a Danforth Fellow without stipend, until these other relationships are completed.

All Danforth Fellows will participate in the annual Danforth Foundation Conference on Teaching, to be held at Camp Minnawaca in Michigan next September.

The qualifications of the candidates as listed in the announcement from the Foundation are: men of outstanding academic ability, personality congenial to the classroom, and integrity and character, including faith and commitment within the Christian tradition.

All applications, including the recommendations, must be completed by February 15, 1955. Any student wishing further information should get in touch with Dean C. A. Sevrinson, our Liaison Officer.

Home Ec Building Dedication Today

By Elaine Geisler

Formal dedication of the new Home Economics building is slated for 3:30 this afternoon with open house starting at 1:30.

The $400,000 building occupies three spacious floors of modern offices, classrooms, and laboratories. Special features of the building are the selection of up to date experimental equipment, ample laboratory space, individual staff offices, and the dean's office suite.

Art, equipment, and the textile divisions are located on the first floor along with the assembly room. Consuming the entire width of the east end, the assembly room has a small stage on the end to facilitate style shows, cooking demonstrations, and lectures. Folding curtains divide the assembly room in half for smaller groups.

Experimental equipment is the outstanding feature of the textile laboratory, among which are: the Scott tensile tester, abrasion tester, launder-ometer, and fade-ometer. The conditioning room adjoining the lab is closed off by double doors to insure correct temperature and humidity in the room for testing fabrics. An ample storage closet also adjoins the room.

Three offices for the art staff are located on the south wall. A cloak room, men's washroom and women's washroom are joining the corridor in the center of the building.

Practical experience in use and care of household equipment and appliances is gained in the equipment laboratory, in which both large and small equipment are featured. Storage space is provided for small equipment such as toasters and electric mixers.

Separate laboratories for crafts and home furnishings share the length of the west wall. Special equipment in the crafts room, besides new birch finished table desks and built-in cupboards are a potter's wheel, kiln, polishing motor, and weaving looms of various types.

Housed on the second floor is the dean's suite, the clothing, and education offices along with their respective offices.

Two clothing laboratories located on the east wall of the second floor are equipped with new sewing tables. Each has two machine heads that may be folded under to provide flat table surface. Individual drawers, called "tote trays", for each girl's sewing equipment are housed in a section of the corridor's south wall. Several makes of sewing machines are in use in the department, compared to the one make used throughout the old department.

The family life lounge on the north side of the building faces the large entry-way window overlooking the mall. Phi Upsilon Omicron, national home economics honor fraternity, Beta alumnae from this campus completely furnished this room which is used for teas, informal meetings, and social activities sponsored by the staff and the students. This lounge is furnished in contemporary modern with many pieces of furniture imported from Sweden.

The design laboratory and education laboratory are on the west end of the floor. A cloak room and women's washroom are also located on the second floor.

Foods and nutrition laboratories, staff offices, a dining room, and a small kitchen occupy the third floor. The meal-planning kitchen adjoins the dining room located in the south east corner.

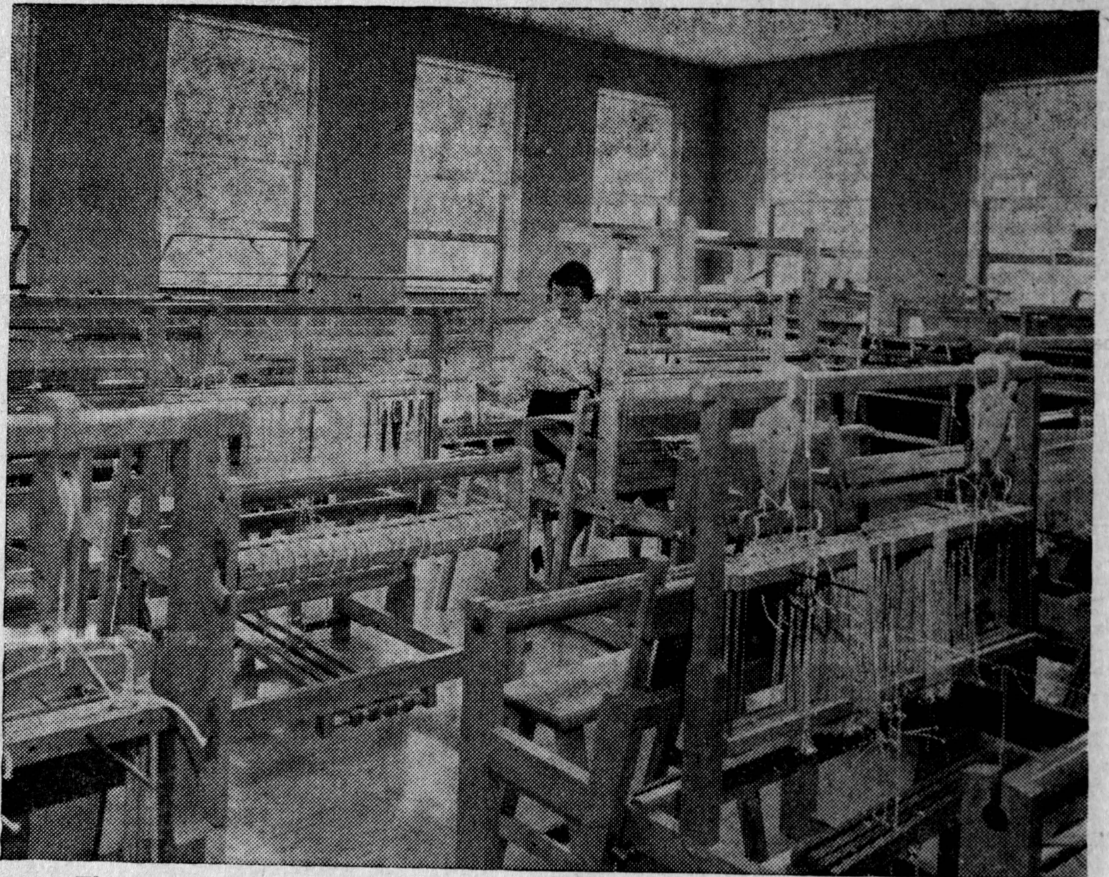

Offices of the staff of the foods and nutrition departments look onto the mall. A washroom, student dressing room, and a lecture classroom are all on the north side of the corridor. Three foods laboratories, equipped with modern appliances and cupboards offer experiences in use of different makes and types of appliances.

Above is pictured one of the two clothing laboratories incorporated in the new Home Economics buildings. Several different makes of sewing machines are featured in this lab.

Student Committees Aid Faculty In Dedication Of Building

Student committees have been selected to assist faculty members in the final preparations for the dedication of the home economics building.

The general planning committee members in charge of arrangements are: Misses Lorissa Sheldon, Emily Reynolds, Christine Finlayson, Elvira T. Smith, Caroline Budewig and Mrs. John Oakey. Students serving on the planning committee are Barbara Widdifield and JoAnn Willert.

Newspaper publicity for the dedication is being supervised by Miss Marion Benson and Miss Eleanor Vergin. Elaine Geisler, Sonia Swanke, and Janet Abrahamson are working with the faculty members.

Miss Emily Reynolds is in charge of television and radio publicity. Joan Zielsdorf, Dorothy Asker, Sharon Evenson, Lorraine Olson, and Beverly Simons are in charge of posters and art for the event.

Displays in the home economics building will follow the general theme, Looking Forward. Students assembling the displays and exhibits are: Sonia Swanke, Dorothea Christian, Pat Monson, Margaret Wiseness, Shirley Sorenson, and Mary Ellen Peach. Miss Wilbur Armistead is advisor for this committee.

Hostesses at the guest book for open house are: Margaret Hunstad, Pat Ebeltoft, Janis Hamilton, Carol Roehrich, Sally Lohman, Gail Fitzloff, Bonnie Litzinger, Gretchen Wilson, Lois Hulstrand, Joan Solberg, and Norma Skaar.

Dr. Marion Wharton is chairman of the guestbook and registration committee.

Tryota members will act as guides for tours of the home economics building Friday and Sunday afternoons. Girls acting as guides are: Marilyn Johnson, Erlis Fernow, Dorothy Radi, Charlotte Aamodt, Pat Larson, JoAnn Johnson, Margaret Henning.

Donna Crosby, Lorna Larsen, Marilyn Brunsvold, Roberta Peterson, Sonai Scott, Nancy Fredricks, Joan Stammen, Donna Reynolds, Joan Cantwell, Ann Ebling, Jean Bergan, Sally Fossay, Janet Thompson, Shirley Weiss, Phyllis Schmidt, Carmen Posey, Lila Peipkorn, Darlene Bender, Beverly Askling, Janet Fagerlund, Donna Barstad, and Pat Trom.

The meal planning classes will act as waitresses for the dinner Friday evening after the dedication ceremonies.

Punch is being served Sunday afternoon at open house by officers of Tryota and Phi Upsilon Omicron.

Employment Opportunities Available

Miss Doris E. White, the field staff representative for the YWCA, will be on our campus to discuss employment opportunities. Women students interested in professional YWCA positions across the United States are asked to contact the placement service in the union to arrange for an interview.

Miss White states she is especially interested in interviewing students majoring in social work, psychology, recreation and physical education, home economics, education or guidance.

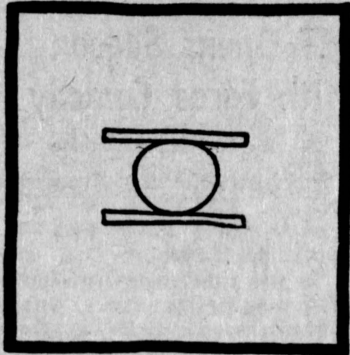

Interviews will be held in the Union on Wednesday forenoon, October 27.

Friday, October 29, interviews will be held by representatives of the San Francisco Naval Shipyard for architectural, civil, electrical, and mechanical engineers.

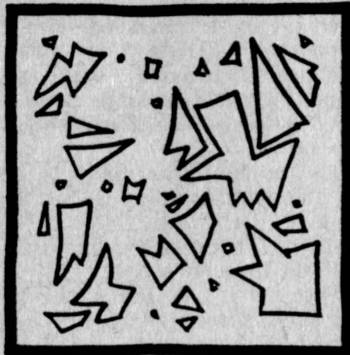

Tuesday and Wednesday, November 2 and 3, the General Electric Company will interview senior engineering students.

Deere and Company of Moline, Illinois, will have a representative on the campus on Wednesday, November 3, to interview agricultural, industrial, and mechanical engineers. Invitation is also made to students in business administration and other fields who are interested in sales work.

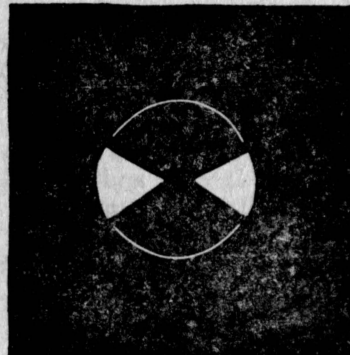

If interested contact the Placement Office in the Memorial Union for an appointment.

What makes a Lucky taste better?

to taste better!

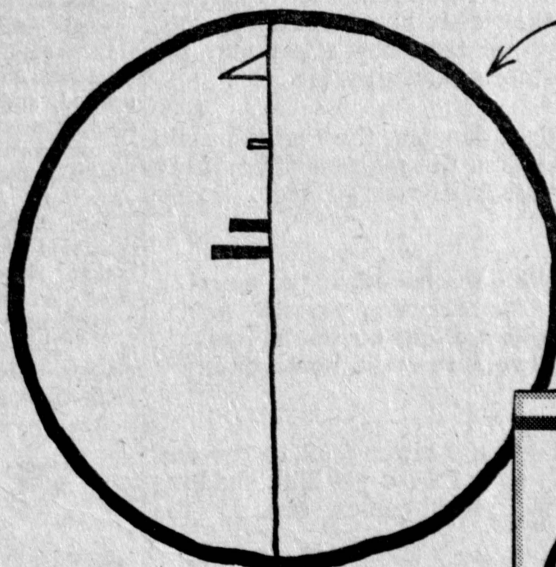

Doubtless, you've guessed that the Doodle at the right is: Careless two-gun cowboy enjoying better-tasting Lucky while waiting in ambush. Lots of other two-gun cowboys—and many millions of no-gun folks—agree that Luckies taste better. Students, for example, prefer Luckies to all other brands, according to the latest, biggest coast-to-coast college survey. Once again, the No. 1 reason is that Luckies taste better. They taste better because Lucky Strike is the cigarette of fine tobacco . . . and “It's Toasted” to taste better. “It's Toasted”—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' light, mild, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better. So, enjoy the better-tasting cigarette . . . Lucky Strike.

Congratulations

The Spectrum staff wishes to thank, on behalf of the students of NDSC, everyone who contributed to make this year's homecoming one of the best.

To all of you forgotten souls who worked on floats, house decorations, open houses, guided tours, or just turned out for the pep rally; thanks a lot.

Homecoming is the one time of the year when all of the varying streams of college life are harnessed in one mass endeavor. The results of last week show that the spirit of cooperation is still strong on our campus.

Thanks again, and let's get together more often.

School Spirit Improves

North Dakota State College's annual homecoming went off with a bang last week. Due to splendid cooperation on the part of many organizations and individuals, the various events making festivities clicked in perfect order.

Spirits were high and satisfied smiles lit the faces of alums and students as homecoming prepared to reach its highest point with the Saturday afternoon football game.

Cheers filled the air and the rah-rah atmosphere clung over the stadium throughout the first half of the game. Then, as the Herd began to fall farther and farther back in the game, the spirit and fight in the crowd began to die.

Almost as soon as the second half began, people started to file out of the stands. En masse the Bison rooters deserted the desperately fighting gridders.

The once lusty cheers of the NDSC rooters dwindled down into a mere whisper. Desperate efforts by the tired cheerleaders failed to rally the depleted ranks of the state rooters.

On the field, the team fought on. Deserted by their own school mates at homecoming, some of them could have lost the urge to fight; but none of them did.

Such a sad exhibition of bad manners and lack of school spirit casts a gloomy light on the efforts of NDSC to rebuild their athletic machine.

Shame, shame on all of you who walked out. The Bison played the football game for your enjoyment, and you let them down. In so doing, you hurt yourself.

Homecoming Comes And Goes Again

By Lee Johnson

It's all over. Now all of you can sit back, hold your heads, and try and get over it. Homecoming for 1954 has passed into history, and a magnificent homecoming it was, too. Except for that little episode Saturday afternoon, the festivities could not have been more nearly perfect.

Cheering, laughing, marching, dancing, the events passed in too rapid succession. By the time the magical atmosphere of homecoming had reached a peak, it was all over. So we pass on until another year.

Pats on the back to the Rahjahs for all of the merriment they contributed to the homecoming parade. And to all of the unsung heroes who worked on floats, house decorations, and just general work to make homecoming a success, a hearty well done.

And now we're back on the long, bitter trail to the end of the quarter. Those books seem to follow you like shadows and haunt you in your sleep. Well, it all comes out in the wash.

Sitting around in the office makes me think of being outside. Ah, man. . . for the joy of a good old-fashioned college picnic complete in all respects.

Before we forget. Thanks for plug, Marv. It seems that our northern neighbors are still publishing a paper. Anyway, fellas, remember that Sioux without horses can't catch Bison.

By the time all of you jolly people read this little missile, your old editor will be safely located in the Statler Hotel in Washington, D. C. Hope you'll give Tunt lots of cooperation in getting out the old scandal sheet next week.

Guess we'll be meandering. Wish we could have Doc Evans around town every week. That cool music of his seems to send chills up the spin. And so unconscious. Seems to me that his outfit is the best to hit these two small towns in many years.

See you soon. Until then, remember Fang and Argo.

Kutpepper Sleeps Through Midterms; Better Off Anyway

By Lee Johnson

Q. Japi Kutpepper stared gloomily at the pile of books lying on the floor beside his haypile. With one finger he poked at the books and then let out a wild scream of terror.

Midterm week was holding the campus in its grip, and poor old Japi still hadn't recovered from the homecoming weekend. Finally the kid from Danzig forced himself out of the haypile and placed himself in front of the door to the barn.

The lack of electricity in his dwelling unit was not particularly conducive to study, but Japi derived the light he needed from the moon.

With red-rimmed eyes, Japi glanced over his meagre notes for his courses and decided that it was no go.

Just as Japi was ready to give up the ghost a voice in his head warned him, "Japi, think of how hard your parents are working to put you through school."

That did it and Japi shook himself up and plunged back into the maelstrom.

It was a terrible grind. Throughout the entire night, Japi battled incessantly with his studies. During his rambles through the books he discovered many things that he hadn't even heard of before.

All of which goes to show that if Japi would have attended more than three classes during the first half of the quarter he wouldn't have been in such bad shape.

Finally as the first grey light of dawn crept over the horizon, Japi dropped his last book into place on the table. His head fairly bulged with knowledge, but the facts were all jumbled up in an impenetrable mass.

Back to the haypile went Japi for a few minutes of sleep. Bells rang and the campus thronged with people. Classes began and all over the area could be heard the moans of people taking tests.

Still Japi slept on and on. At long last the famous yellow eyes opened, and Japi was awake. He glanced at the hour glass propped in one corner of the barn, five o'clock. Goodness, he hadn't slept very long.

Japi clambered to his feet and stumbled out to the watering trough. Hey, what was this! It wasn't early morning.

"Oh, no," thought Japi to himself. "I've slept through all my classes. Well, anyway it keeps me from flunking everything."

Sumac Appears Here At Field House

Yma Sumac, famous Peruvian songstress, will appear at the NDSC Field House Friday, October 29, at 8:15. Reserve tickets may be obtained at the Little Country Theater Office. A special rate of $1.25 for students will be made.

Sumac's voice has an unheard of range of five octaves, which is enough in itself to insure her a place in musical history. Her first record album, called the "Voice of the Xtabay", appeared unheralded in 1950 and soon reached the best seller list. By 1951 it was number one on the list.

She has given performances almost all over the world, in Canada, England, France, Germany, Spain, the United States, and all of South America, to mention a few. Much of the music she sings is composed by her husband, Vivanco.

It has been thought by some that Yma's voice is possibly a throwback to a primitive era when voices of a much greater range than common today were widespread.

"Tonight I am going to study!"

Wearied from the effort of such a tremendous decision she curled herself into a chair, lit a filtered cigarette and continued to run her fingers through her crew-cut.

"I've got a psych test tomorrow so I have to memorize the answers tonight, my book report on 'From Here to Fraternity' is due so I'll have to read that. Oh, and jean-clad figure on the floor. "I haven't even been out since Wednesday nite," offered another femme fatale.

The discussion swirled and changed in rhythm with the blue smoke in the room. At nine o'clock they were still discussing the possible reasons why the fellows imported dates for the Homecoming dance.

"With all the material around here ya wouldn't think they would have to go to the business colleges for dates," moaned a wide-eyed disillusioned frosh.

"Let's riot!" shrieked a noisy blonde in her best 'let's have a party' voice.

The buzzer electrified all and forty-five minutes later roomies dragged into the room looking twisted from her cramped quarters in the phone booth. "I sure would like to go to the union for cokes but I have to study and he just wouldn't believe it. I'm going to start studying my buyers guide right now."

She energetically seated herself at her desk, arranged her books and started looking for her notes. Half an hour later, after much banging of drawers and slamming of books she had her desk and wardrobe drawers completely cleaned.

"Found my notes," she announced, "but it's time to take a shower and wash my hair."

Slightly blue from the ordeal she returned, fixed her hair, continued her sermon on what studies she had to do, and left for two hours of coffee, popcorn, and more chatter in the kitchen.

Much later in the night she returned to the room again took out her books and proceeded to polish her nails.

At two a.m. she prodded, "Hey roomie, wake up. I think I'm too tired to study. Wrote a letter to my mom and she will be just furious when she hears how they make us stay up all nite and study. Tomorrow I'm going to study real hard, I have my —umm math to do and—".

TO THE STUDENT BODY OF NDAC:

THIS LETTER WAS ORIGINALLY WRITTEN TO THE EDITOR OF THE SPECTRUM AND WAS SCHEDULED TO BE RELEASED WITH HIS APPROVAL. HOWEVER IT WAS CENSORED AFTER DELIVERY TO THE PUBLISHER.

To the Editor of The Spectrum:

We have become aware, through very reliable sources of an administrative policy existing at North Dakota Agricultural College which poses a definite threat to the future of our college. This situation became apparent two years ago with a major staff appointment made by our college president without prior consultation with the College Council. This act was then and is now in direct violation with the constitution and principles of the college. The situation has grown steadily in magnitude since that time.

Last week at a meeting of the College Council, the above described situation became so acutely evident that it no longer can be ignored by any person who cherishes an interest in the future welfare of our college. A knowledge of the proceedings of this meeting has become quite general on the campus. Our college president, at this time, launched a completely uncalled for attack directed at the integrity and good intentions of four NDAC college professors. These four men, whose character and sincerity we believe are beyond question, were ridiculed before the entire College Council. The four professors under questions were Dr. Ranier Schickele, Dr. Daniel Posin, Dr. Baldur Kristjanson, and Dr. William Trueman. We feel that such conduct by a college president is highly unethical. To add insult to injury, Dr. Ranier Schickele was not present to answer such ridicule. Dr. Schickele recently left NDAC to accept a position of tremendous responsibility with the United Nations World Food and Agriculture Organization in Rome, Italy. To question the integrity of a man who occupies such a position is utterly repulsive to us.

Any student who has experienced the good fortune to obtain instruction from either of the other three professors in question can testify to their ability as instructors and integrity as men. We, as students, feel that men of such high moral fiber should not be exposed to such open and direct intimidation. We question Dr. Multz's ability to justify his action.

Our purpose in writing this letter is to expose this issue to the students in the hope that positive action will be made to rectify this condition. We pose one question to the student body of NDAC: "How much longer can we tolerate such conduct on the part of our administration?"

Respectfully submitted,

Ronald Krenz

Destine, Dancer-Choreographer From Haiti, Appears At Festival Tonight

Tonight at 8:15, Jean Leon Destine, "Haiti's greatest dancer", will present a program in Festival Hall for the second of the season's museum series. Students are urged to attend and are reminded that they are admitted upon presentation of their activity cards. Destine, who has been called one of the most magnificent dancers of our time by New York critics, has based his exhibitions on the native folk dances of Haiti.

Rare Coin Collection Displayed At Library

By Audrey Holt

Have you ever seen a one-half cent coin? Did you know that at the time the United States used a three cent coin?

These coins and many more are now on display at our college library.

Major W. C. Broome USAF, assistant professor of air science and tactics, is owner of the collection. Thirty-seven countries are represented, with from four to eight pieces of coin and currency representing each country.

Major Broome started his collection in 1953 when he was stationed in these countries while in the service.

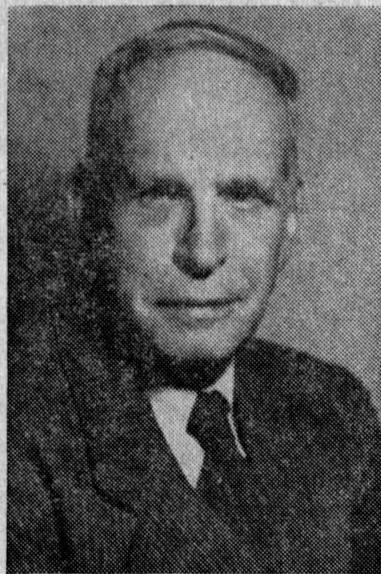

Major Broome is a member of the American Numismatic Association. This association publishes a monthly magazine which contains articles on coins of all kinds.

If you have some old coins or currency, Major Broome is willing to pay catalog price for them. He is interested principally in United States coins dating back to before 1880.

The display represents only about ten per-cent of Major Broome's total collection. Some of the coins on display are an 1835 one-half cent piece, 1851 large cent, 1865 three cent coin, 1864 two cent coin, and quarters, dimes, and nickels dating back to 1818, 1842 and 1868.

A few of the countries represented are Africa, Argentina, China, Egypt, England, Peru, Palestine, Russia and Turkey.

Johansen, Pianist And Composer, To Appear Here Soon

Internationally known pianist and composer Gunnar Johansen will be guest artist when the Fargo-Moorhead symphony orchestra presents its first concert of the season Sunday afternoon, Oct. 31, in the auditorium of Fargo central high school, announces Sigvald Thompson, conductor.

Now resident in California, Gunnar Johansen was born in Copenhagen, the son of a Danish musician. Studying in Berlin, he was hailed there as a brilliant performer, as also in Paris, Helsingfors, Amsterdam and New York.

He has returned to European capitals repeatedly on concert tours; living at the University of Wisconsin as artist in residence, and along with his colleagues of the Pro Arts quartet; given weekly NBC recitals for five years.

Johansen's ability to make the piano a singing instrument was pointed out by the New York Sun after a recent Carnegie Hall appearance and by a writer for the Times when, in the same season, Johansen played at Town Hall. The Herald-Tribune likened his playing to that of Chopin.

"This surely is the piano playing of the future," commented a writer in the Washington Herald-Times.

Eugene T. Paulson, president of the orchestral association, reports that ample space is reserved in the programs for the names of those whose contributions make these concerts possible.

He adds that reserved season tickets will also be sent to those who mail contributions to treasurer W. J. Mohr, Jr., P.O. 1753, Fargo.

She was roused from her slumber some time later by the arrival of the hungry mob. As they departed for the Union she was again telling of her program for the evening. Peace and quiet reigned in the dorm the two hours they were out eating.

When she returned she was still expounding on the load of work assigned her to the friends who shuffled into the room behind her.

Highlights Of 1954 NDSC Homecoming Festivities

This year's homecoming festivities got under way last Friday morning with a pep convo in Festival Hall sponsored by the Rahjah Club. Friday night many of the students at NDSC participated in a bonfire and snake dance held on the athletic practice field.

Saturday morning's parade was very successful in the opinion of many. First prize for the best women's float went to Gamma Phi Beta sorority with Kappa Delta taking second prize. Kappa Sigma Chi fraternity won first place in the men's division with their float, with Sigma Alpha Epsilon placing second.

In the house decoration competition, the prize for the best decoration went to Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. Sigma Phi Delta was successful in winning second place with their decoration.

This year's homecoming dance, at which the music was supplied by Doc Evans, was well attended, there being over 400 couples in the Field House. The student government reports that the dance was also a success financially, which is contrary to the reports of former years.

Lee Johnson, editor of the Spectrum, has said that in the three years he has been at SC, this year's homecoming was the "best yet."

Bunny Go Round . . .

Here is a shot of the Gamma Phi Beta sorority float which took first place in the women's division. The float is a merry-go-round with rabbits going in a never ending chase. The girls are on for added attraction.

Bison Lower The Boom . . .

The Kappa Sigma Chi's version of the Bison lowering the boom and disposing of the haggard Rabbits proved good enough to bring home first place in the men's float competition.

Bison Attack . . .

An angry Bison chasing a replica of Bugs Bunny over a football inscribed, "Bison Attack, Drive Bunnies Back," provided the ATOs with first place in house decorations.

Convo Enthused Anderson; Thanks Students Support

by Weakeyes

As you read your Spectrum, the Bison are in Detroit, Michigan preparing to meet the Tartars of Wayne University. Saying nothing about the game last week would probably be best; but the Jackrabbits have a fine team and should get much credit.

S. D. State's coach Ralph Ginn has a real powerhouse this year. Jerry Welch is one of the best backs these weak-eyes have seen in a long time; and I guess they'll take the conference again.

Del Anderson, varsity coach, thanks the student body for the fine backing at the pep rally. Anderson also had this to say; "The coaches were told to be at the convo at 9:40 a.m. Somewhere along the line the program was moved ahead to 10:00 a.m. We all wanted to be there, both as coaches and players."

"We want the student body to understand why all of us were not present at the convo. We realize that to build up tradition in athletics we must all work together; players, coaches, and students."

Most Guts Awards this week go to Ivan (Gigilo) Lang, and Bob (June-Bug) Zuklic's date for their nobility during homecoming.

Weakest Eyes Award this week goes to my date at the homecoming rassel? (Yes, she was a "blind" date?)

Bill Euren and his fine Gold Star Band have done a wonderful job again this year. Not only does Bill make music for the varsity games, but on that cold night the Frosh beat the young Sioux, he had an aggregation out — and they really loved it up!!

Being unique is really something nowadays. Well, we have the real cat's pajamas in Tony Haberlik. Look at his profile and you'll get it too!

Have fun at Friday club and plan a trip to upstate normal next weekend. We'd really like to burn down the tee-pee at their homecoming.

Froshmen Beat Sioux In Initial Engagement

On a night fit only for denizens of the frigid north, the baby Bison of NDSC over-ran the small apoosees of NDU to the tune of 3-6.

Playing on a cold, windswept field, the baby Bison out-manuevered and out-fought the NDU frosh.

Bob Sturdevant, on the third day of the game, rocketed 45 yards around his own left end to score. With quarterback John Willman holding, Dallas Kopp split the uprights to make the score 7-0.

Late in the same period, the apoosees' Dick Ryan scored from 3 yards out by slanting to his left and cutting back up the middle. On the try for the extra point, Ryan tried his right side only to be confronted by a brick wall to leave the score at the end of the first quarter 7-6.

The little Herd marched steadily 60 yards in the second quarter only to have their touchdown called back by a clipping penalty.

In the third quarter Delmar Benesh crossed the line to run the score to 13-6. The placement attempt by Koop failed.

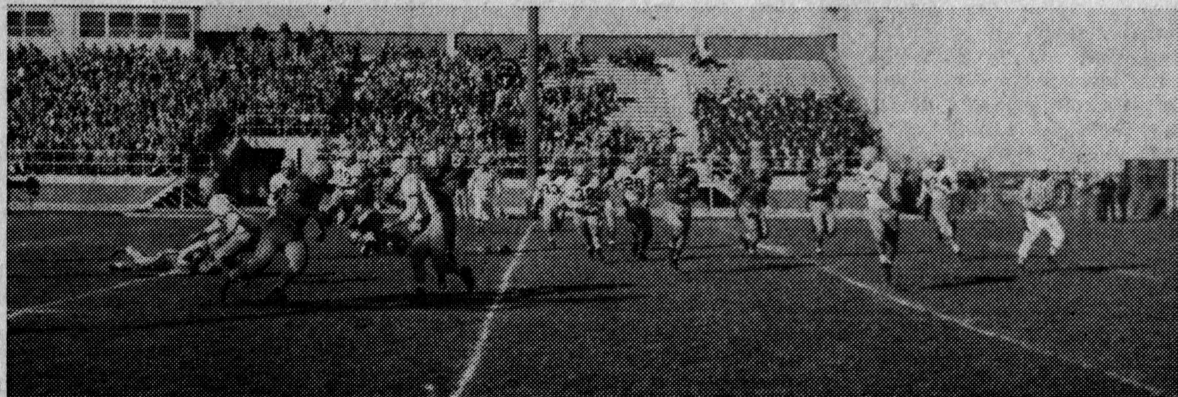

Dave O'Brien's baby Bison took bigger steps than the apoosees as the small Sioux gained only 94 yards offensively, while the Bison frosh racked up a total of 316 yards.

For the university frosh, backs Dick Ryan and Steve Piasecki, along with transfer student Steve Myrha, hit hard when the mood seized them.

Next Friday, October 29, at 3:30, the frosh travel up north to engage the small Sioux of NDU.

Next Thursday night, the BB's play Concordia's frosh. Two weeks ago, these teams played to a 13-13 tie.

Bunnies Crumble Staters Homecoming Gridiron Hopes As Southerners Trounce Herd 50-13 Last Saturday

By Mike Fogel

The NDSC Bison lost their second conference game 50-13 to the SDS Jackrabbits here on homecoming day.

The Bison could do virtually nothing against the tremendously big line of the Jackrabbits. The Herd's best offensive weapon, the long pass, was seriously hampered by the loss of Glenn

Hill, who sat out the second half with a leg injury.

The Bison's first TD came on a screen pass to Tony Haberlach. The Herd scored again in the closing minutes on a pass to Allen Zaeske, who played a fine game at end.

Outweighed, but certainly not out fought, the Herd could not stop the Bunnies vicious ground attack which gobbled up yardage almost at will.

The Bison's only consolation was that they were the first team to score against the Jackrabbits this year in conference play.

If the University does as well against SDS as the Herd this writer will be quite surprised.

Herd Invades Wayne With Injuries; Lack Of Depth Noticeable

This week-end the thundering Herd from ND State invades the land of the Tartars, Wayne University in Detroit.

Wayne, which is one of the colleges which dropped football a few years ago is again on the upswing in the football ranks. Their season's record as of now is 2-2-1. Last week they ran over highly favored Washington University of St. Louis 23-0 at Wayne's homecoming.

Coach Louis Zarza's 36 man squad consists of 16 lettermen and 17 freshmen, providing both youth and experience on a fairly well balanced squad although they appear a little weak in the backfield. Their big gun on offense is Victor Zucco with a 5.8 yard average per carry for 48 attempts.

The Bison, although plagued by injury, should provide the boys from back East a little stiff competition. Skrei, Werner, and Dana Hill were kept to limited practice this week although they should be in shape to start.

Timm's knee is still giving him trouble, but Coach Del Anderson hopes that he too will be able to start.

The probable starting line for the Bison barring any more injury is: ends, Skrei and Glenn Hill; tackles, Werner and Copp; guards, Timm and Zuger; center, Vickers; quarterback, Dana Hill; halfbacks, Becker and Cortese; and fullback, Haberlach.

Frosh Blank Dragons

In a scrimmage held under game conditions last Tuesday night, the Baby Bison slapped a 25-0 defeat on the freshmen from MSTC. Coach Dave O'Brien used reserves throughout most of the game, giving those who hadn't played much a chance to show their stuff.

Quarterback Lloyd Larson threw a touchdown pass to Ray Myers on the first play of the second quarter. Before this, the game had been one of defense with neither team earning more than one first down when they had the ball.

For the next two periods, the game reverted back to defense with neither team being able to put across a score. Midway in the fourth quarter, fullback John Morgan scored on a ten yard jaunt around right end. The hard charging BB line had blocked a kick to set up the score.

The next time the SC'ers got the ball, Morgan again scored, this time on a 45 yard run. Bill Bachmier drop-kicked the extra point.

A Bachmier to MacKay pass on a fake kick play accounted for the final score.

Prominent Church Leader To Address Special YM-YWCA United Nations Meeting Sunday

The Rev. Herman F. Reissig will speak Sunday evening, October 24, at 7:30 p.m. in the college Y auditorium. Rev. Reissig's appearance is a feature attraction of UN Day, with all student religious groups attending as their Sunday evening program.

Presently holding the title of international secretary for the council of social action of the Congregational Christian Churches, Rev. Reissig is greatly interested in the work of the United Nations, as he has done much traveling abroad working with European churches.

He has held various positions concerning international relations, some of these are: field secretary of the American committee for the world council of churches, international relations secretary of the council for social action, and director of an American organization giving relief to the Spanish Republicans during the war in that country, and later to the Spanish refugees.

Rev. Reissig has written several articles for religious periodicals as well as "American Leadership in a Revolutionary World" and "The Christian Faith and World Upheaval," which appeared in Social Action.

Students and faculty as well as the public are invited to hear Rev. Reissig's speech Sunday evening.

Architect To Speak

Buckminster Fuller, one of the most prolific idea men in architectural engineering for over 20 years, will be guest lecturer at the NDSC department of architecture and architectural engineering on November 22 and 23, according to Earl E. Stewart, assistant professor.

Mr. Fuller will give a series of lectures and demonstrations to Architectural and Engineering students.

Donald W. Sundstrom received his B.S. degree in Chemical Engineering from Worcester Polytechnic Institute in 1953. He's currently studying for an M.S. degree and expects to receive it next year. Like other engineering students, he's asking a lot of searching questions before deciding on a permanent employer.

Don Sundstrom asks:

What are my chances for advancement in a big firm like Du Pont?

Gerald J. Risser, B.S. Chem. Eng., Univ. of Wisconsin (1937), is now assistant manager of the Engineering Service Division in Du Pont's Engineering Department, Wilmington, Delaware.

Jerry Risser answers:

I THINK I know exactly what's behind that question, Don, because the same thing crossed my mind when I first graduated and looked around for a job. That was about seventeen years ago, when the Du Pont Company was much smaller than it is today. And there's a large factor in the answer, Don, right there! The advancement and growth of any employee depends to a considerable degree on the advancement and growth of his employer. Promoting possibilities are bound to be good in an expanding organization like Du Pont.

Right now, for example, construction is in progress or planned for three new plants. That means many new opportunities for promotion for young engineers. And, in my experience, I have found it is a fundamental principle of Du Pont to promote from within the organization—on merit.

My own field, development work, is a natural for a young graduate, because it's one of the fundamental branches of engineering at Du Pont. There are complete new plants to design, novel equipment problems to work on, new processes to pioneer—all sorts of interesting work for a man who can meet a challenge. Many of the problems will involve cost studies—some will require evaluation in a pilot plant—but, in every case, they'll provide the satisfactions which come from working with people you like and respect.

All in all, Don, your chances of advancement on merit are mighty good at Du Pont!

Want to know more about working with Du Pont? Send for a free copy of "Chemical Engineers at Du Pont," a booklet that tells you about pioneering work being done in chemical engineering—in research, process development, production and sales. There's a step-by-step outline of the leadership opportunities that confront a young Du Pont engineer—how he can advance—and how he can obtain help from experienced members of the team. Write to E.
