commissioner of the board of public programs.

Mike Fogel is a junior in the school of chemistry. He is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity and of the student senate. At the present time he holds the post of commissioner of athletics.

Robert Gion is a junior in the school of pharmacy and a member of Kappa Psi fraternity. He is also a student senator and a member of the NDSC chorus.

Merlin Ludwig is a junior in agricultural education. In addition he is president of Theta Chi fraternity, a member of the Interfraternity council, and plays on the varsity basketball squad.

The sixth new member of Blue Key is Hal Miller. Hal is a junior in the school of arts and science, and is sports editor of campus radio and the Bison annual. He formerly was sports editor of the Spectrum.

Blue Key is the men's honorary on the NDSC campus. Annually it sponsors the Bison Brevities and the World Student Service fund carnival.

It is composed of junior and senior men on the campus who have proven worthy of membership by showing qualities of outstanding leadership, scholastic ability, and activities.

FFA Banquet Set

A banquet with all the trimmings of the fall harvest is scheduled for members of the NDSC collegiate FFA chapter and guests on December 2, in the union banquet room.

A program with guest speaker and a display of FFA meeting procedure is planned. Entertainment by a combo and individual performers are also on tap.

Tickets of 1.25 per plate are available from all FFA members.

Marks Twentieth Anniversary

By Renee Baker

Well, tonight's the night when all a fellow has to do is snap his fingers and his every wish is fulfilled.

Tonight is the night of Spinster Skip. Tonight it is the girl's responsibility to open all doors, take all coats, provide and light all cigarettes and pay for the tab.

Tonight's Skip is being held in the student union ballroom from 9 p.m. to midnight. Paul Hanson and his orchestra will supply the music; tickets are $1.50 per couple.

With every good deed comes food and tonight is no exception. The Gus XX, a roasted turkey all ready to eat, will be awarded as a door prize. This will be the twentieth turkey to be given away.

James Schaak will be master of ceremonies for the "Gus XX" presentation with Magnes Geston, the chef who will award Gus.

Other door prizes will also be given away. These are donated by uptown business establishments.

The dance is being sponsored by Senior Staff. Committees in charge of various arrangements include: Sally Lohman and Pat Ebeltsoft, publicity; Jane Haas, arrangements; Barbara Arneson, music;

Dorothy Lund and Dorothy Ryan, prizes, and Barbara Widdifield, tickets.

Just remember gals, everything is on us tonight.

Conventioners . . .

SC Delegates Attend NSA Convention

Eleven colleges from Minnesota and North Dakota were represented at the regional NSA convention held at the College of St. Benedict's last weekend.

Representing NDSC were Duane Anderson, student body president, Judy Sherwood, NSA co-ordinator, Lee Johnson, Don Ellingsberg, Renee Baker, Ron Wolf, Duane Swenson. SC is the only North Dakota School in the Minnesota Dakota Region.

The agenda for the three day meeting included a panel on the responsibilities of NSA, workshops of different phases of NSA and plenary session where new resolutions were adopted.

The next regional meeting will be held here in the spring.

Ground Broken For New KKG House

Ground was broken for the building of the new Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority house last week. The house will be built next to the Alpha Gamma Delta sorority house.

The new house will be a one-story structure with the south wall made of glass. The ground floor will include a lounge, housemother's quarters, powder room. The basement will have a living room, powder room, office and kitchen.

The approximate cost of the house will be $30,000. The Gamma Tau Corporation is in charge of the building committee.

Johnson and Benson are in charge of the construction. Kurke Assoc. were the architects.

Regional Union Conference Set Here; Students In Charge Of Arrangements

The Region 7 seventh annual conference of the association of college unions opens today on the NDSC campus and continues through tomorrow afternoon.

Representatives from colleges and universities in several states will register and tour the memorial union this afternoon.

Included in the schedule for

Debate Club Organizes; Invites New Members

A new debate club is organizing on the NDSC campus and everyone interested is invited to attend.

Experience is not necessary.

Anyone interested come to Room 207 of old main next Tuesday evening at 6:45 or contact Miss Connie West at the speech department or Ron Smith at 6785.

The debate club will be taking up the functions of the old organization which went defunct several years ago. If enough interest is shown intrasquad debates will be held and if possible meetings with other schools will be included.

Advisor for the club is Connie West of the speech department.

Come on out, it's a chance to express your own opinions and show off your powers of persuasion.

Prof. Cleland Attends Sociology Meeting

Courtney B. Cleland, assistant professor of sociology at NDSC, is in Chicago this week, November 9 to 13, as North Dakota representative at the fall meeting of the North Central rural sociology committee.

Sponsored by the Farm Foundation, the organization is concerned with raising the level of rural sociological work among the states in the three areas of research, extension, and resident instruction. Professor Cleland is also a member of the group's population subcommittee.

Campus Cutie . . .

Roberta Peterson

Hailing from Fargo, Roberta is a freshman and a graduate from Shanley High School. In addition she is a pledge of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

the two-day session are three workshop sessions when panels of students and staff associates will present discussions of interesting topics concerning student unions.

The keynote address will be given by Gordon Starr, University of Minnesota. Dr. Hale Aarnes, NDSC, will give the address at the conference luncheon.

Committee chairmen for arranging the event are: general chairman, Kay McGeary; registration, Bob Gion; tours, Guy Enabnit; hospitality, Janet Abrahamson; coffee hour and banquet, Maggie Hunstad; exhibits, Ron Wolf, Jim Beatty, and Jim Rumpca.

Fuller, Noted Designer, To Address Architects

Buckminster Fuller, one of the foremost engineers and designers of our time, will be guest lecturer in the department of architecture and architectural engineering at North Dakota State College on November 22 and 23, according to Earl Stewart, assistant professor.

On June 6, the North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering conferred the degree of Doctor of Design on Mr. Fuller and on October 4, he received the United States Marine Corps highest citation award.

Mr. Fuller lectures at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cornell, Yale, the University of Minnesota and at many other outstanding schools. Many authorities agree that eventually his ideas will revolutionize building.

Mr. Fuller's visit to NDSC is being jointly sponsored by the department of architecture and architectural engineering and Kappa Tau Delta, honorary engineering fraternity.

Butler Attends ASCE Conference In Illinois

Professor Robert G. Butler of the NDAC civil engineering department will attend an American Society of Civil Engineering conference November 27. The conference is to be on the campus of the Northwestern University in Evanston, Illinois.

This conference is planned for faculty advisors of student chapters of ASCE which are found on most campuses which have engineering schools. Faculty advisors from many of the engineering schools throughout the nation will attend the conference.

Tryota Club Initiates Sixty-Six New Coeds

Sixty-six girls became members of Tryota at the initiation ceremonies held on November 9.

After the initiation, pictures of all the members, old and new, were taken for the Bison annual.

The next meeting of Tryota will be a Wassail tea which will be held on December 15 from 3:30 until 5:30.

The Tryota council met at the home of Miss Mildred Hawkins on November 4 to plan the program for the coming year. Committees were appointed and the meeting dates were set.

NOTICE

This is the last Spectrum until Friday, December 3. There will be no paper published next week because of the Thanksgiving vacation.

From the Spectrum staff, may we wish each and every reader a happy Thanksgiving and a grand vacation.

Lovitt To Manage Little International; Johnson Assistant

Ed Lovitt was unanimously elected manager of the 1955 NDSC Little International Livestock show at the last meeting of the Saddle and Sirloin club.

John Johnson was chosen as assistant manager. Lovitt previously held this post.

M. L. Buchanan, head of the animal husbandry department and club advisor, outlined the Saddle and Sirloin activities to the new members.

Ray Buelow, Bob Curl, and Eugene Rott were appointed to work with the agronomy club on financing the Little International activities.

Melvin Maier, Eugene Jenson, and Don Schwartz were appointed to revise the club's constitution.

Ken De Krep reported on an all college barn dance to be sponsored by Saddle and Sirloin.

Judging Team To Leave On Meat Judging Trip

Five NDSC students will get to see a lot of meat this Thanksgiving time; but very little, if any, of it will be turkey.

The annual meats judging contest will be held November 30 in Chicago at the Wilson and Company packing plant.

The members of the NDSC meats judging team are John Johnson, Donald Phillips, Arlo Howe, Richard States, and Thomas Gates.

The team coached by Verlin Johnson, assistant professor of animal husbandry, will do some practice judging at the George A. Hormal Packing Company in Austin, Minn. November 23 and 24; at Oscar Mayer's in Madison, Wis., November 26 and at Swift and Company in Chicago November 29.

The team will leave here Monday, November 22.

Air Debs, Air Society Initiate New Members

An initiation and banquet was held jointly by the Arnold Air Society and Air Debs recently at the NDSC Student Union, according to Lt. Col. Norris Brill, professor of military science.

The new initiates are Audrey Bilden, LaRae Gendear, Jayne Lee, Sally Anderson, Janet Monson, Joan Nelson, and Shirlene Schnell. Arnold Air initiates include John Burnett, Gerald Duerre, and Solmer Erickstad.

Special guests for the occasion were Colonel Roger G. Fuller, and Lt. Col. Robert Phillips from the AFROTC Headquarters, Montgomery, Alabama.

Placements . . .

On Monday, November 29, a representative of the Naval Air Test Center, Point Muga, California, will interview aeronautical, electrical and mechanical engineers who are interested in guided missile development. Engineering students desiring an interview should contact the Placement Office for an appointment.

Women students interested in working part time as a waitress in a local cafe should contact the Placement Office in the Memorial Union building.

The Armstrong Cork Company is interested in employing sales trainees for the industrial selling field.

MISS SATHRE, instructor in ceramics, and Sharon Kaspari try their hand at the potter's wheel in the newly equipped lab.

Art Department To Offer Ceramics Courses To Any Interested Students

By Elaine Geiszler

Now that the Navahoes have taken over basket weaving 101 so none of us white people can turn out a basket to be proud of, the art department has come to the rescue and is offering a ceramics course to all students on the campus.

This new course is held in the ultra modern laboratory on the first floor of the home economics building. Facilities in the lab include two kilns, a larger one which can fire to 2200 degrees Fahrenheit and a smaller one which has a maximum of 2000 degrees, a potters wheel, and a spray booth and spray gun. Other conveniences in the lab are ample, well lighted work space and storage cabinets.

The products of the course reflect various methods of handling the clay. Some of the students this quarter have made bowls and jewelry by the slab method, in which they started with a flat slab of clay and shaped it to their own design.

Candle holders of various shapes have been the result of practice with the pinch method.

Plaster of paris molds can be used to form figurines and bowls.

Vases are often produced using the coil method.

Plates and bowls can also be made on the potters wheel using tools to shape them.

After the clay has been fired, the glaze is applied. This, too, can be done by various methods; spray, dip, or brush. To begin with the glaze is a colored powder to be mixed with distilled water, then it may be applied by brush, as in painting; the article may be dipped into the solution; or sprayed on with a spray gun.

Soon you may see some of these products as coeds don their hand made earrings, cuff links, and other jewelry. A surplus of ash trays may also be accumulated, thanks to ceramics class. Better yet, you might find some of these things under your Christmas tree.

Not to be forgotten when speaking of ceramics is Miss Eileen Satre who teaches the course. Miss Satre has gained her knowledge and experience in this field at the University of California, University of Minnesota, and through two Pasadena City summer workshops. She also taught ceramics for four years in Pasadena.

When looking for some interesting courses to take next quarter, remember that the art department now welcomes students from all school on campus.

LCT Begins Work On Next Production

By Monica Savageau

"Gammer Gurton's Needle", introduced as a right pithy, pleasant, and merry comedy, is the next presentation of the NDSC Little Country Theater scheduled for production December 7, 8, 9, 10, and 11 in the Circle T Theater.

Believed to have been written by William Stevenson and first acted by the students of Christ's College in Cambridge, England, the play was written in the 16th century. It is one of the first farces written in the English language.

In the play the old crone, Gammer Gurton, loses her greatly prized needle and is influenced by the mischievous Diccon to suspect her neighbor Dame Chat of the theft.

Doctor Rah, a tipling parish priest, is introduced along with Master Bailey who tries vainly to keep things peaceable until the needle is located.

The lost article is located and painfully enough it is found in the breeches of Gammer Gurton's man servant Hodge, where industry had been employed.

The cast includes Charles Abrahamson, Marion Armstrong, Janice Bakken, Del Hlavincka, Tom Radcliffe, Dunn Barr Sands, and Joyce Volmers. The play is under the direction of Dr. Fred Walsh.

AP0 Elects Officers

Alpha Phi Omega, honorary scouting fraternity, has elected chapter officers.

They include Don Hanson, president; Manual Tally, vice-president; Bob Tucker, secretary; Alan Wieland, treasurer; Vernon Johnson, alumni secretary; and Bruce Farnum, historian.

Several members of the APHO chapter here plan to attend the national convention to be held in Madison, Wisconsin during Christmas vacation.

NDSC Coeds Sweep Clothing Contest Competition

Glorene Denich

Janet Thompson

Karen Sluka

Four NDSC coeds will compete in the state Make It Yourself With Wool contest in Jamestown, Saturday, November 19.

Karen Sluka and Janet Thompson represent the district as winners in the senior division; Margaret Olson, hand woven fabric division, and Glorene Denich, junior division. Grace Gundale of Oak Grove also represents the junior division.

The Make It Yourself With Wool contest is an annual affair sponsored by the national Wool Growers Association. All entries must be made from all wool fabric. Garments are judged on three aspects: general attractiveness, workmanship and presentation of costume. The presentation was determined at the style show held in the assembly room of the Home Economics building.

Girls entered in the senior division were: Judith Baumann, Joyce Berg, Jean Bergan, Nancy Carlson, Patricia Ebeltoft, Ann Ebling, Janet Ann Fagerlund, Janet Farrow, LaRae Gendreau, Sandra Haas, Barbara Hanson, Doroles Hollands, JoAnne Homuth, Margaret Hunstad, Lois Janke, Ann Marie Johanson, Lorraine Larson, Lavon Lee, Dianne Lindobeja, Gloria Lloyd, Peggy McAlister,

Margaret Burr Monteith, Maxine Brown North, Gloria Olson, Avis

Palmer, Marlene Pfeifle, Mary Platz, Grace Price, Dorothy Ryan, Marion Sand, Karen Sluka, Joan Solberg, Margie Stroup, Janet Thompson, JoAnn Tomlinson, Mary Ann Valentine, Shirley Weiss, and Joline Well.

The girls competing in the junior division were Marguerite Ann Braaten, Carolyn Collenbach, Glorene Denich, LaVonne Gravgard, Grace Gundale, Janice Mosher, and Joan Osland.

Margaret Olson, the only contestant in the hand woven fabric division, will also compete in the state contest. Margaret wove her fabric in advanced weaving class last year.

The state winner will go to Salt Lake City, Utah, to compete in the nation fashion show held in conjunction with the 90th annual convention of the National Wool Growers Association, the second week in December.

The grand championship winners in the contest will receive a two week trip to Paris.

Sears Roebuck Company Awards Fourteen Scholarships To SC Students

Sears, Roebuck and company will play host to fourteen Sears Roebuck freshmen and sophomore agriculture and home economics scholarship winners from NDSC on November 23 at the Gardner Hotel.

Neil Rankine of Minneapolis will represent the Sears Foundation. R. M. Hutter, manager of the Fargo Sears store and Robert Walstead, assistant manager, will also be present.

Caroline Budewig, dean of the school of home economics; Glenn Holm, dean of the school of agriculture; and Peder Nystuen, assistant ag dean, will represent the NDSC faculty.

NDSC students who will receive scrolls include Joyce Ericksmoen, Janet Saba, home economics;

Clarence Anderson, Neal Bjornson, James Gruebele, Eugene Jensen, Howard Lahlum, Ronald Mehner, Jerome Onsager, James Sauber, George Schwartz, Dale Sturlaugson, and James Unkenholz, agriculture. Marvin Duncan received the sophomore agriculture scholarship.

The Sears scholarship consists of two hundred dollars per student made payable at the beginning of the winter and spring quarters.

BLEST BE THE TIE THAT BINDS

City cops took a dim view of an impromptu bonfire victory rally in San Francisco after the UCLA-California football game across the Bay at Berkeley. Seems that the L.A. school's supporters tossed No Parking signs, newspaper racks and park benches into a bonfire at Union Square, in the heart of downtown San Francisco. One of the 10 rooters carted off to the pokey was a UCLA student. Others ranged in age from 25 to 59 and in occupation from business executive to waiter.

Letter To The Editor

Recently a petition was signed by 350 Fargo businessmen which expressed the faith these men place in the ability and integrity of Dr. Hultz as president of NDSC. This signed petition was then forwarded to the North Dakota State Board of Higher Education.

Such a petition indicates that a general interest has arisen over administrative conditions existing at NDSC. However, we are of the opinion that this petition was signed without complete knowledge of the existing situation. These men signed the petition after hearing only one side of the story, the administration's side.

This petition was circulated in downtown Fargo for a period of one week. It strikes us as rather odd and significant that one week's canvassing could produce only 350 signatures in a city with a population of nearly 40,000.

It has occurred to us that a larger list of names could have been obtained from those persons who would not sign the aforementioned petition. Certainly the person or persons circulating a petition of this importance would have contacted many times the number of signers obtained. From this we conclude that many more people rejected the petition than signed it.

nized by its sponsors as a rank form of intimidation, and, at a meeting called that evening, the petition was burned. We feel such an action speaks for itself without further explanation.

We would like to know just one thing. Why are the students ignoring this issue when so many other groups are taking an interest in it?

Student Apathy High

Last Wednesday the student government of NDSC sponsored the first in a series of open forums to acquaint the students of the college with the activities of the senate, was held in the union ballroom.

The turnout at the forum was dismally small compared to the present enrollment of this college, but the interest of those attending made up for the lack of numbers.

It is the intention of the student government to continue to hold these forums until such time as the students of the college are all acquainted with what their government is doing.

One measure of paramount interest that was discussed was the opening of the floor for suggestions on how to secure a swimming pool for the college.

Anyone with any ideas at all is urgently asked to contact any members of the student government. Your ideas will be appreciated.

Back on the track again. At the next open forum to be held sometime in December, everyone is invited to attend.

Down Here . . .

By Lee Johnson

Can it be possible. Only a few more days until the first vacation of the term, Thanksgiving. Man, is that going to be the time for relaxation and catching up on sleep. Hah, for four whole days there won't be any worry about books or anything. I hope.

Looks like snow up here in the gleaming headquarters of the Spectrum. The breeze blowing in through the open window carries just a hint of winter in it. Oh, well, it was fun while it lasted.

Heard in the Bison room. "When is that coffee coming? I don't know, did it go someplace?"

Information for the Sooks of polar bear tech, the Herd seems peculiarly anxious to meet your basketball contingent this year. Spies report that now the one man team of yesterday has departed from the wasteland, you fellows can't find any ten men who can be on the floor at the same time to fill his shoes.

Nasty note department. Got a slip the other day about that editorial that ran on the front page of the paper last week. It was purely my own personal opinion, and if such matters are of no concern to NDSC students I will try and refrain from printing such editorials in the future.

Sort of in the picnic mood this week. Wonder if there'll be time for one or two little get togethers before things begin to scramble back inside for the winter.

New recruits for the Spectrum forces this week include two of the better looking girls on campus. They are Darlene Bender and Janie Heifort. Glad to have you aboard gals, the office was getting a little on the dingy side with only old weakeyes and fatback to gaze upon.

Did you all take in the play last week. It was a lot of fun and games for those few who bothered to take the long walk over to old main. Come on now, be ashamed of yourself.

While we're on the subject, I have a favor to ask of all of you. This weekend when you go home talk to your folks and get them enthused over our proposed college building program.

Tell them how much old state needs a new pharmacy building and that swimming pool. After all, our folks are the voters in this state and if they can pressure the legislators we may end up with our campus improvements after all.

Get on the band wagon, help make NDSC grow.

Alums from old state keep popping up all over the world. Clark Ewen, the famous old tentmaker from Mayville is currently defending the nation on the football field over in Berlin, Germany.

Playing tackle for the army football contingent behind the iron curtain, Amos is one of the stars of the team.

The wandering conventioners seem to have at last all gathered in to the roost. During the past few weeks great numbers of NDSC students were traveling around the country, but now the trip traffic seems to have fallen off for awhile. Welcome home, wanderers.

Haven't said much this week. I hope you'll bear with me. No paper next week, happy Thanksgiving, and enjoy yourself. Until two weeks from today, remember Argo.

Institute Of Regional Studies Produces Works About State

"North Dakota Institute for Regional Studies". How many times have you seen this by-line on books, pamphlets, and exhibitions and wondered what it signified.

Would you like to know a little about this Institute, their purpose and some of their accomplishments?

The Institute was founded in 1950 by the faculty of the School of Applied Arts and Sciences and the Librarian of NDSC. It is their purpose to focus more attention on North Dakota and the northern plains region.

One of the specific aims of the Institute is to assist in editing, publishing, exhibiting, and disseminating the results of significant scientific, scholarly and artistic work.

A few of the books which the North Dakota Institute for Regional Study has published are:

"CALL BACK YESTERDAY" by Leonard Sackett, is a booklet intended as a useful guide to all who are interested in our heritage.

"MODERN SAGAS" by Thorstina Walters has been ordered by six foreign countries from the Institute. It is the story of icelander farmer immigrants in North Dakota.

"WATERFOWL OF NORTH DAKOTA" by Paul A. Johnsgard will serve as a guide in identifying birds and pointing out their habits and importance. Copies of this booklet, totaling 20,000 have been sent all over the world.

"MEASURE OF MY DAYS" by Aagot Raaen, is the story of Miss Aagot, a Norwegian pioneer in North Dakota.

"AN APPRAISAL OF CONSERVATION, PURPOSE AND POLICY" by G. B. Gunlogson, presents a discussion of the goals and instruments involved and the underlying philosophy and policies relating to uses and conservation of national resources.

The Institute's first publication was "HANDBOOK OF NORTH DAKOTA PLANTS" by O. A. Stevens. It presents a systematic treatment of the State's botany.

These books are in your college library. Why not make use of the material the North Dakota Institute for Regional Studies has furnished for you.

Mixer Party Tomorrow

Q. Japi Turns Campus Cop For Day; After One Accident, Turns In Badge

Rush, rush, hustle and bustle. Traffic whizzed by on every side and Q. Japi stumbled for safety, hoping that he wouldn't be run down by some of the reckless drivers.

Walking from his barn to classes, Japi daily took his life in his hands. It seemed that the wildest drivers in the country had assembled at State College just for the purpose of running over the Danzig tiger. Japi meandered on his way and finally ran smack dab into a large cattle truck driven by one of the employees of the NDSC experiment station.

The truck driver was just a bit oversized and when he saw poor old Japi clobbering over the pavement, he just couldn't resist getting out and cuffing the little fellow in the side of the head. During this small escapade, the campus cop was busy elsewhere. Surrounded on all sides by traffic violators, the campus cop found that he simply could not do everything at once.

Finally he just picked up his motorcycle and pushed it up on the curb. One person just couldn't handle the job. He desperately needed more help and it seemed as if all his appeals had been in vain. Suddenly Japi Kutpepper rushed into the breach. He screamed at the campus cop that he wanted protection from the drivers who were cutting several years out of his life span every day.

The campus cop picked up his badge and threw it at Japi. Then as an after-thought he rushed over and pinned it on the young farmers jacket that Japi wore so proudly.

Japi was suddenly seized with a desire to do good by the wonderful school that he was attending.

Vaulting onto the campus cop's motor scooter, Japi roared off down the street and began to throw traffic tickets right and left.

In front of the student union Japi ran into one of the worst traffic jams that anyone had ever seen on the campus. Four cars had jumped the curb and piled onto the sidewalk leading up to the main stairs of the union.

Japi piled onto the curb and began to push people out of the way. Suddenly he was confronted by a huge person who knocked him to the ground and carefully began to kick his teeth out.

Japi vaulted up from the ground and grabbed the big fellow around the neck. With one throw he spilled him into the flowerbeds and then proceeded to restore order to the area.

In half a dozen minutes Japi had things back to normal. Then he began to systematically hang tickets on everyone in the crowd and carefully noted the names of the people who had been involved in the accident.

After the trouble was over and the smoke had floated up into the cold clear air, Japi realized that he was not quite cut out to be the campus cop.

Although quiet now prevailed over the area, Japi rushed over to the administration building and turned in his badge.

Then he turned on his heel and slowly wandered toward the barn. Things had certainly been in an uproar lately. Japi had missed an entire sheepshearing lab, and was he going to hear about that.

"Well," thought Japi to himself. "At least I've eliminated the traffic menace on the campus." Just then a large truck ran over him and blew out two tires.

With that last slam, Japi rushed madly over to the barn and huddled back under his horse blanket.

Staff, Notes Club Elects

Staff and notes, the NDSC music club, composed of students interested in music, has elected officers for the school year.

Officers include Joyce Larsen, president; Mary Ostland, vice-president; Mary Sinner, secretary; Glen Harrison, treasurer; Conrad Kvamme, publicity; Marilyn Hagen, social chairman; and Mary Ostland, programs.

Meetings are held the second and fourth Tuesday of every month. A Christmas program is planned for December 14 in the student union.

Private Tells Of Tragedy In Forgotten City In Korea

(Editor's Note: This article was written for and published in The Daily Californian, Berkeley, by a former reporter who is now stationed in Pusan with the Public Information Department of the 7th Transportation Command. He is a June, 1953, graduate of the University of California, with a major in journalism. This article is distributed to about 600 college newspapers throughout the country by the Associated Collegiate Press.)

By Private Jim Dempsey

Today I made a trip over muddy back roads to a leper colony located about 10 miles outside of Pusan. Seeing is believing, they say—and I saw.

I saw what few human eyes have seen. I saw the tailings of humanity. I saw 1600 of the saddest people on the face of the earth.

There are a lot of nasty places in Korea, but this one really takes the cake. Here human dignity has hit a new low. Scantily clothed, underfed and housed in shacks, these people have nothing to live for. They are truly "the forgotten people."

They live in the mountains, away from civilization. It is a little town—the town with no name, Korea. It's very peaceful there. You'd never know that 1600 people are dying.

Take six-year-old Kim Sook Ja, for example. She's a healthy-looking girl. You'd never guess that this will be her last Christmas. If course not—how would you know that the dread disease is systematically going about its deadly work inside her frail body.

Kim doesn't know either. She just plays with a raggedy doll someone gave her. She doesn't know what took away her mother and father will soon take her. She plans to see Santa Claus many more times.

And who has the guts to tell her otherwise? Who has the guts to go around to 400 other children and tell them that they'd better play hard while they can—that they had better hurry and live fast, because leprosy won't wait.

But even in her last days, Kim doesn't have it easy. Life is hard, even for a six-year-old. She lives in a small, crowded room with five or six other people. She spends her nights on a straw mat, searching for warmth that just isn't there. What chance has a straw mat and one worn dress against a bitter Korean winter?

Her play is confined either to her well-worn raggedy doll or the mud puddles. No one ever comes to see her, nor can she go see the world she has never known. She must stay behind those big red and yellow signs that say: "Keep-out-Leprosy-Keep out."

The only people Kim sees are those five or ten "sick people" that come to the gate of the town each day. They never come in. There is no room. They must go back to Pusan to spend the rest of their agonizing days. Even Kim is better off than they.

Hunger also plays a big role in her little life. Most little girls her age get about six handfuls of rice a day. Kim gets four. And it's barley, not rice. Second grade barley at that. She doesn't know that outside her little world that type of barley is fed only to horses.

The people sometimes grow a few vegetables but there is never enough to go around. Kim eats her barley, and for her, it's the only food in the world. She doesn't know about ice cream cones, banana splits, pop corn and movies. How could she?

Kim doesn't know much about dying. She has a hard time figuring out why some of her playmates have suddenly "gone away." Her childish mind can't understand why others—young and old—can go away from her little world and she can't. Everything comes hard for Kim.

She doesn't know that the only reason most of them are dying is because of a lack of medicine. Words like diazone, propone, and DDS mean nothing to her. She doesn't know that these "big words" could bring her about fifty more Christmases.

But others know. They know that they can't get enough of it to treat any but a few of the cases. They know that there just isn't enough to go around; that as a result, the curable cases—like Kim's—become incurable by the time they get the medicine.

But Kim can't see the vicious circle. She doesn't know that her mother and father might be with her still if they had those "big words."

I told Kim that maybe, as a Christmas present, I could get some people in the United States to help her and her friends; to send some of those "big words"; to send food and clothing.

I told her that someone might even be able to send some toys for her and for the other children. I promised to get her some things from that world that she has never known. I didn't have the guts to say otherwise.

After all, it's Kim's last Christmas.

Editor's note: Anyone interested in helping Kim and the other citizens of the "forgotten town" may send articles of clothing, food, toys or donations to: Public Information Office, Headquarters, 7th Transportation port command (C), APO 59, c/o PM, San Francisco, Calif. Mailing deadline for Christmas, however, was Nov. 15.)

Stockman Named LSA Vice-Prexy

Howard Stockmen was elected vice-president of the North Central LSA during the regional conference which was held on the NDSC campus this weekend. A member of the Gold Star Band and Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, Howard was the only successful SC candidate for office.

Other officers include: Stan Rosengren, Concordia, president; Elaine Kvaal, UND, publicity secretary; Marjory Tveet, Augustana, service secretary; and Gloria King, South Dakota State, study secretary.

AGRs Cop Trophies At National Convention

Epsilon chapter of Alpha Gamma Rho received three trophies at the national convention recently. The convention, held at Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio, was attended by George Hildre, chapter president, and Gary Hart, chapter vice-president.

Hart placed first in individual activities from all colleges throughout the nation; the chapter took second in chapter group activities in the small college division, and also took first place for stories and pictures with the most variety and the best quality for the fraternity magazine, "Sickle and Sheaf".

Dr. Earl Butz, assistant Secretary of Agriculture, was guest of honor. About 250 active and alumni members attended the meetings.

Bowling Highlights . . .

By Lee Maxwell

The top spots in both I-M leagues were changed somewhat this last week.

In the Classim I-M league the ASME team moved into a first place tie with the Vets Club. The ASME team took three from the Dakota Hall team as Buzalsky led the winners with a 494 series. Isaak stood out for the losers with 429.

The Vets Club also took three from the Sigma Chi team led by Friskop with a 487 series. Morgan was high for the losers with 441. That put the two leaders of last week in a tie for third while the two tied for third last week crept into the top position.

In other action the Theta Chi's won three from the SAE's to move into 4th place. Nick Roster led the winners with his new league high game of 211 and series of 486. Schoephoesister stood out for the losers with a 441 series.

The SPD's dropped 1 to the Kappa Psi's which finally put the Kappa's in the win column. Devo was high for the SPD's with a 489 series while Erickson was high for the losers with 450. The weekly high five include; Roster 211, Borchardt 199, Nielson 196, Friskop 184, Dewey 183.

Hot Action During Intramural Touchball Championship Game

Kappa Psi Beats ATOs For Championship

Kappa Psi swept through the intramural touchball league undefeated this year. Kappa Psi used the two platoon system to wear down the opposition. Their opponents scored a total of twelve points all season. Six of these being in the championship game.

The ATO's bowed to the Kappa Psi's, 12-6 in an overtime contest for the crown.

The Tau's drew first blood in the second quarter on a spectacular catch by Dick Malmo. Three plays later Kappa Psi scored on a Simon to Rumpca pass.

Kappa Psi dominated play in the second half, but failed to score. The game ended in a 6-6 deadlock. Overtime resumed with each team being awarded four downs. The team piling up the most yardage in the overtime to be the winner.

Kappa Psi scored a touchdown in two plays on beautiful catches by Don Schiefer and Bob Boudreau. ATO failed to score and were held to two yards by the alert defense of the Kappa Psi's.

Members of the winning team are J. Herman, J. Churchill, K. Sack, D. Schiefer, B. Boudreau, B. Simon, J. Rumpca, G. Sele, C. Wallace, D. McCullough, J. Riepel, D. Erickson, J. Stuntebeck, R. Wolfe, W. Nelson, J. Arneson, and L. Russell.

Playoff results: ATO defeated Theta Chi, Kappa Psi defeated ASCE, the Kappa Psi's defeated the ATO's in the finals.

SDS Beats Teachers; Bunnies Stop Capitani

South Dakota State's Jackrabbits earned a co-championship with Morningside by downing Iowa State Teachers 41-20 last Saturday.

The Bunnies held Ralph Capitani to only 64 yards which kept him from repeating last year's performance of small college total offense champion. He needed 142 yards to retain his title.

Capitani finished the season with a total of 1,568 yards as compared to Omaha University's Bill Englehardt's 1,645, the unofficial champion.

The Bunnies pounded out a 27-0 lead, before the Peds cashed in on a 47 yard touchdown pass to all-conference end Dick Beetsch.

Larry Korver, Jerry Welch, and Peet Franz each scored on long runs for the Rabbits. Korver traveled 53, Welch 52, and Franz 40 yards on an interception.

South Dakota State completely dominated play throughout, grinding out a healthy 395 yards rushing.

Bentson, Hill, Anderson To NCC Convention

The annual fall meeting of the North Central Intercollegiate Athletic Conference is slated for the Andrews Hotel in Minneapolis, Minnesota this weekend.

The meeting, which gets underway today, will be attended by coaches and faculty representatives from the North Central Conference.

NDSC football coach Del Anderson, assistant football coach Jesse Vail, and basketball coach Chuck Bentson will represent the NDSC coach staff. Faculty representative from NDSC will be A. Glenn Hill. Hill, who is president of the North Central Conference, will preside at the meeting.

One of the topics on the agenda of the meeting are the arrangement of the football and basketball schedules for 1956 through 1958. The coaches in attendance will choose the all-conference football team, and the most valuable player in the conference will also be chosen at this time.

Also for consideration on the agenda is a proposal by Morningside college to make freshmen eligible for conference varsity participation. According to president Hill, the remainder of the meeting will be concerned with routine business.

Hal's Contortions

By Hal Miller

Speaking of turtles, we're supposed to write about our visit with this little man who isn't the greatest authority on basketball since Bill Milkny. Or anybody else for that matter.

Things were rather tense when our friend left last week. He was getting to the beginning of the basketball game when he left for cigar chewing lab 101½. We looked for him all week and just caught him Thursday.

Slapping a quarter or so into the cigarette machine what should slide out but our friendly friend. He handed me my two cents change and started babbling something like this

"Well, last time I was telling you gently about these ten fellas on this floor bouncing leather ball fro plus to; and two other elderly gents with striped shirts standing around looking important.

"It turned out that they were important, as a matter of friendly fact; because all the ten guys with the colorful shorts and goosepimpled knees were gathered around them. One of these striped people threw the ball up, and chaos resulted for quite some time.

"I tried to find out what was happening from the guy sitting next to me, but whenever I opened my mouth he stuck a program in it. The ink was pretty bad, so I gave that up.

"Meanwhile, all these fellows were running around the floor in semi-naked condition, throwing the ball all the while. I noticed an electrically-lighted board on one side of a wall. The number on it kept getting higher, and higher, and whoever set the clock didn't know what time it was.

"Everyone in the crowd was shouting at the men on the floor but they couldn't seem to get their attention. But what I thought was really odd—I'm sorry, but I'll have to go now. I'm out for varsity molly-coddling and the coach is a bear for punctuality."

And, he left. We may catch him again, but we can't tell where.

Pete George, Ohio State University dental student, came home for the second straight year from Vienna with the world's middle-weight weightlifting crown, the Ohio State Lantern reports.

He copped honors with a 259-lb. press, a 281-lb. snatch and a clean and jerk of 352-lbs. for a total of 892 lbs. He edged Bogdanovski of Russia who had a sum of 885 lbs. Twenty-eight countries entered the world's championship match.

ON THE SUNNY SIDE

BY WEAKEYES

Well, the old moleskins and pigskins have been packed away for another year. Basketballs are once again filling the air. But, before wrapping up the season here, I'd like to dole out a little credit to a score of guys and their coaches.

To every member of the Bison and to Coaches Del Anderson and Jesse Vail, congratulations. The past season has been anything but successful in the won and lost columns. However, you have put something back into the sport that has been lacking here for several years.

I'm talking about school spirit, determination, and love for the game. Not during one game did the Herd lose the will and desire to fight. The team may have been behind, but they were always giving the opposition a battle.

The Bison victory over Morningside is an example of what I'm pointing out. That night, any team in the conference would have met the same fate against the Herd.

Against South Dakota U, time just wore the team out. Trailing 27-20 at the start of the fourth quarter, lack in reserves proved fatal. Any team that plays ball for three quarters against superior odds can be proud. And I'm sure the students and faculty at NDSC are proud of their team, regardless of victories and losses, because they always made a game of it!!

We always say, "Wait until next year," but with these same men returning and a good crop of freshmen, look out opposition.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL: Organizations interested in having an entry in the I-M basketball league must have their rosters and fees in before November 29th. Volleyball rosters are due at the same time.

WANTED: Someone with a little influence to draw pictures for the members of the State Legislature on the importance of a swimming pool. . .

Congratulations to Paul (Marlon Brando) Werner. . . for those who have not heard the horrible truth, the Big Dog got drafted the other day!! Must be a war in the making.

Three cheers, ten hip-hips, and 500 zipidedodas for the student nurses from St. Lukes.

SCOOP: After several weeks of trying to outdo Renig, I've finally come up with something. Sterling Stenerson, former Intramural great, is home from the wars on furlough and has presented Kay Donovan with a big hairy diamond. . . yak, yak!!

Evidently the person who wrote the article which appeared on the front page of last week's Spectrum doesn't fully acknowledge the strength of the Russians. The Russki women athletes appear to have more muscles than the average American man. Quite a writ-up in one of the current sports magazines on how the Russians will win the Olympics. Could be, but I still like my women feminine. . .

Weakeyes Award for the Week goes to Jack (Whitehouse) Clark for his magnificent five in a row gutter balls during a recent bowling contest!!

Another scoop on Renig; Gorgeous George pinned Abe "King Kong" Kashey last week at Williams Arena.

Nice going Erv Kaiser and the Intramural Board. The I-M set up at this school has been upped 100% in the past few years. There's now a possibility that ping-pong will be added to the program. . .

Tonight's the Spinster Skip, so I'll hafta run home and shave. . . my cadaver's picking me up at 7:30!!

Bison Drop Finale To Coyotes

Becker (35) picks up yardage with aid of fine block.

Bison Finish Sixth

By Ann Eyewitness

The South Dakota University Coyotes tore loose for three touchdowns in the last period last Saturday to down North Dakota State 52-20. It was the final game in the North Central Conference this season.

Sophomore Carl Johnson, Coyote halfback, chalked up five tallies against the Herd to take individual scoring honors for the season.

The Bison scored twice in the second period. Dana Hill pitched to end Bill Skrei for the initial score. With 25 seconds remaining in the stanza, Dana flipped 22 yards to Glen Hill and paydirt. Geno Cortese booted the point.

The halftime score was 27-13. Again the Herd closed the gap when Skrei recovered a fumble on the enemy 19. A few plays later, Cortese bucked over from the one and added the point.

At this stage of the game, the exhausted Herd trailing by one touchdown, fell by the wayside.

Johnson's splurge was by far the greatest individual performance of the season. He garnered a total of 99 yards rushing in 16 carries. Johnson scored twice on passes and on runs of 2, 2, and 10 yards. The result evened SDU's conference record at 3-3 and gave the Coyotes a tie for second place in the standings. The Bison finished only ahead of Augustana.

The Bison passing game failed to click as the Herd completed only 5 of 24 passes for 89 yards. They picked up a like number of yards rushing.

Billiard Ace Here

By Chuck Phillips

Charles C. Peterson, the world's fancy shot billiard champion, will give billiard exhibitions and instruction in the game room at the Union on Friday at 2 and 8 p.m. and on Saturday at 3:00 p.m.

"Pete" is perhaps one of the most amazing billiard players of all time, whose trade mark is—"show me a billiard shot I can't make."

Peterson's exhibitions of fancy shots is drawn from a repertoire of more than 1000, gathered in the course of many years.

Most spectacular, perhaps, among his collection is the "silver dollar" shot. In the last named, he uses a silver dollar instead of a billiard ball.

During his exhibition here, Peterson will gladly give advice to anyone who asks it. His lecture, which is part of his regular program, is enlightening and has resulted in improvement in the play of anyone who will follow his advice.

Former Pin Champion To Give Tips Here

Jess Young, one of the five most outstanding bowling instructors in the nation will be at the union bowling alleys, November 29 and 30.

He will instruct beginners in the fundamentals of bowling and will help advanced bowlers to improve their games.

Young appeared here last year. During his career he has rolled several 300 games, and two of these were in league play. He broke the world's record double pin score in 1929 with his partner when he scored 1441 pins.

He holds the all time Fargo singles record with 745 and the all events record with 2003 pins.

Averaging between 202 and 208 in league play for 15 years from 1926 to 1941, Young has 114 700 series totals and his thirty-five year average stands at 195.

Anyone interested in meeting with Young and obtaining some advice, come to the union alleys from 2 to 4 p.m. on the 29th and 30th, and 7 to 9 on the evening of the 30th.

AROUND THE NORTHWEST

Thirty basketball hopefuls reported to Coach Stan Hall at Iowa State Teachers college to begin preparations for a stiff 19 game schedule.

Hall, who replaces O. M. "Hon" Nordley as head coach after seven successful years at Bemidji State Teachers, welcomed seven lettermen back from last year's squad.

The Panthers also welcomed back Howard Pigg, a letter winner two years ago who has just returned from a stint in the service.

Dallas Hoff, South Dakota State halfback, ended his grid career with the mark of having been on teams which lost only two league tilts. He was on the undefeated but tied 1950 eleven, the 1951 club which lost one, and the 1954 co-championship team which dropped one loop contest.

South Dakota State college's cross country team will compete in the 16th annual Collegiate Athletic Association meet Monday, Nov. 22nd, at East Lansing, Mich.

The North Central Conference will hold their annual fall meeting this weekend in Minneapolis. On the agenda will be awarding of the 1954 football championship, selection of the all-conference team and most valuable player, approving football and basketball schedules for the next two seasons, and discussing of eligibility for freshman competition.

The ISTC Panther grapplers will be led this season by a former NCAA champion who returns to the mats after a hitch in the service and three lettermen back from last year's squad. Bill Weick, back after two years will be out to defend the 157 pound crown he won in 1952.

Lettermen include heavyweight Gus Gatto, a semi-finalist in the NCAA tournament three years in a row, Fred Loffredo, 167 pounder, and Roger Hansen at 123 pounds.

University of Vermont baseball fans are awaiting the appearance of George Plender in intercollegiate baseball come spring, according to the Vermont Cynic, university weekly newspaper. Plender shattered sports record books last spring when he pitched an "impossible" 57 2/3 straight scoreless innings in intercollegiate baseball for the University of Vermont.

All that Plender can say is, "Well, I had to make up for my .038 batting average somehow!"

Judging Team To Attend International

Merle Light, coach of the NDSC livestock judging team announced this week the men who will take part in the Intercollegiate Judging contest to be held in connection with the International Livestock Exposition at Chicago, November 26 to December 4.

Team members include Edgar Lovitt, Darrel Leetum, Dale Bergland, Larry Hovland, LaDon Johnson, Ray Buelow, and Alfred Handson.

Approximately thirty-five teams from colleges throughout the nation will take part in the livestock judging contest, Saturday, November 27.

Practice judging on the trip to Chicago will include stops at the University of Minnesota on November 21 and the University of Wisconsin on November 22.

Other stops will be made at various cattle and sheep farms in Wisconsin and Illinois.

The judging contest Saturday will be the opening event of the exposition.

Dunbar, Bosch Attend

Drs. R. E. Dunbar and Wouter Bosch are in Chicago this week attending the 66th annual meetings of the National Paint, Varnish and Laquer association and the 32nd annual meeting of the Federation of Paint and Varnish Production Clubs.

Dr. Dunbar will meet with the education committee, research committee, and research evaluation committee and assist in these various capacities in planning future research activities of the Federation.

Dr. Bosch will present a paper on Thursday dealing with the "Stress Strain Properties of Pigmented and Unpigmented Films."

Ag Econ Seminar

The agricultural department announces an ag econ seminar for 4 p.m. December 2 in room 215 of Morrill Hall.

The featured speaker will be Dave Bateman, associate extension editor of NDSC. His topic will be "Disseminating Economic Information by Television". All interested persons are invited.
