William Masselos

William Masselos, brilliant young pianist, will be heard in recital here tonight at Festival

Hall as the third attraction of the Lyceum series. Students will be admitted on activity cards.

Campus Polio Fund Behind Schedule, Drive Leader Says

NDSC's polio fund drive is behind schedule, according to fund chairman Ray Horne.

The campaign has so far been centered mainly around collection boxes placed in fraternity houses and in various other places where college students gather.

Last evening a special dance was sponsored by the union activities board, featuring the Kappa Psi jazz band. A twenty-five cent admission charge was collected at the door with all proceeds going to the March of Dimes.

According to Horne, the campus drive goal of 1000 dollars is still far under the amount set by Blue Key when they initiated the polio drive here.

Several students have discussed projects recently for raising additional money as painlessly as possible, but so far the only concrete plan is the Bromo Bowl which is sponsored annually by Alpha Tau Omega fraternity and Gamma Phi Beta sorority.

The Bromo Bowl has been set for sometime in February, and all proceeds of the affair will go to the college polio drive.

Under plans originally laid down by Blue Key for the polio fund drive on campus, each student would be asked to contribute 40 cents.

If this figure could be reached, it would more than double the figure contributed by SC last year.

Five Production Numbers Chosen For Bison Brevities

By Norman Reinke

Five production acts were chosen to appear in the Bison Brevities of 1955, in tryouts held at Festival Hall last Wednesday evening.

The five acts were picked from among seven competing numbers for places in the annual variety show to be held in April under the sponsorship of Blue Key service fraternity.

Four judges, Merle Nott, Robert Dietz, Eleanor Satre, and Jack Sigman, served as judges for the production competition.

Production acts selected to appear in the Brevities were "Poor Little Girl", Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and Theta Chi fraternity; "Wizard of Oz", Kappa Delta sorority and Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity;

"Castle In The Clouds", Alpha Gamma Delta sorority and Alpha Tau Omega fraternity; "Flight Fantasy", Gamma Phi Beta sorority and Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity;

And the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, Sigma Chi fraternity production of "Isle of Dreams".

Tryouts for the five minute curtain acts were held last night, with the final makeup of the 1955 Bison Brevities scheduled to be announced at completion of the preliminaries.

Altogether, ten acts will make up the Brevities. Five of these will be the above mentioned production acts and the other five to be curtain acts.

Goodbye

NDSC is sad to say goodbye to one of the best known members of the student body for the past few quarters, Manuel Vera Carneri.

"Cookie", as he has been known on campus, is a resident of Lima, Peru, but for the past year and a half he has been working on his masters degree in paint chemistry.

Kuhn In Hospital

Kenneth Kuhn, chairman of the NDSC English department was stricken with a heart attack yesterday morning.

Take to St. Luke's Hospital, word on his condition had not been received up to Spectrum press time.

Botany Professor Writes UN Manual

Dr. Helgeson, chairman of the botany department, has completed a Weed Control Manual for the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations. The manual includes all methods of weed control, including chemical and cultural methods, and is to be used by technicians all over the world. The publication is to be printed in English, French, and Spanish.

State Board Sets Hearings For March; 32 Faculty Members Write Letters

By Larry Sjaastad & Lee Johnson

New developments in the current dispute at NDSC came during the past week when 32 faculty members, in two open letters to the people of North Dakota, aligned themselves with the four professors suspended by the Board of Higher Education. Included among the 32 faculty members were seven department chairmen from the various schools.

The four professors, Drs. Cecil Haver, Baldur Kristjanson, Daniel Posin, and William Treumann, were suspended on January 17, pending hearings which are to be held by the college advisory council. The council is made up of the dean of men and the dean of women, the deans of the six schools on campus, plus two additional members.

In an announcement Tuesday, the Board of Higher Education stated that the hearings were to be scheduled for the early part of March. Meanwhile the four professors remained suspended with pay.

At the time of the printing of this paper, no word has been received concerning the nature of the charges levelled against the four asked to resign on January 8 and later suspended January 17.

The position of the thirty-two faculty members was made in two open letters to the public. In the first one, signed by 13 faculty they stated that the geology issue, in which the geology major was abolished, was not the cause of the conflict. Rather, they said that it was due to "an attempt to bypass the provisions of the college constitution".

Four cases were cited in the letter in which the four suspended professors opposed the administration, including action on the graduate school, the geology issue, the establishment of a director of Resident Instruction, and finally, a college council meeting last fall in which four professors were accused of being associated with a "dissident element" by Dr. Hultz.

Later the signers of this letter were joined by 19 more faculty members, who "subscribed" to the contents of the first letter. In both letters the signers expressed regret that the investigation of the college situation had turned into a trial of the four ousted professors.

Nine students in the school of chemistry have written a letter to the Board asking that Dr. Treumann be reinstated as he "is the only person in the area that is available and capable of teaching physical chemistry courses which are required for all chemistry students".

Because of the suspension of the professors, several seniors and graduate students will not be able to complete their work as they had scheduled it. Many students have expressed their desire for the reinstatement of the professors and for a complete investigation in a petition circulated on the campus this week.

With new developments coming almost daily, the situation is very much unsettled. Student opinion seems to be that a speedy settlement of the situation would be best for the college and for all concerned.

Placement

Mrs. Mamie Searles of the United States Department of Interior Bureau of Indian Affairs plans to visit the campus on the morning of February 8 to discuss teaching opportunities in Federal schools. Interviews will be held in room 327 of Minard Hall from 9 to 12 a.m.

Wesley Varieties Slated At YWCA Tomorrow Night

The Wesley Foundation will present the "The Foundation Follies of '55" on Saturday, January 29, at 8:00 p.m. at the college YMCA. It will be the Methodist group's first attempt to present a variety show. All the proceeds from the show will be directed toward a student scholarship fund.

The production is under the directorship of Ed Aluzas, with NDSC faculty member Jim Bacus acting as advisor.

Ten separate acts are billed for the evening's activities. Choreography, music, comedy, pantomime, and drama will constitute the respective acts.

"Gaslight Varieties" will be an attempt to bring back some of the nostalgic songs that were one-time favorites in "days gone by". The Wesley Foundation's quartet will be featured in the act, harmonizing to three selections.

The quartet is made up of Norm Pilgrim, Dick Teichmann, Jim Unkenholz, and Jim Pomeroy. Rounding out the act will be a song-and-danceman routine by Lloyd Larsen and Ed Aluzas.

"Pantomimics" will be based on three separate scenes. Taking part in pantomiming "Mammy", "Darktown Poker Club", and "Dear John", will be Herb Asleson, Norm Pilgrim, Jim Giese, and Jane Kanellos.

A scene from the motion picture "Gunga Din" will supply drama. The scene will involve three British soldiers and an Indian chieftain located in the tower of a temple in India. Cast in the roles will be Ron Smith as "Sgt. McChesny", Jim Unkenholz as "Sgt. Valentine", and Lloyd Larson as "Sgt. Cutter".

Several Foundation girls will attempt to demonstrate that "you can't get a man with a gun" by singing to the tune bearing the same name. Featured will be Dorothy Lund, Maxine North, Iris Nelson, Jo Tomlinson, and Nancy Kaiser.

An interpretive dance number, contrived and put to choreography by Dorothy Lund and Nancy Kaiser, will add a more serious tone to the show.

Tickets for the "Follies" are obtainable from any member of the Wesley group and may be purchased at the door on the evening of the performance. Tickets can also be procured at the Wesley Foundation rooms at the College YMCA at noon on any day of the week. Admission for adults is $.50; children will be admitted for a $.25 donation.

SC Credit Union Reports Increased Assets And Volume

NDSC's Credit Union credit committee, consisting of Richard L. Witz, Norman Seim, and H. Dean Stallings, reported this week on the business completed in 1954.

The Credit Union, financed and maintained by the NDSC staff, reported assets of better than $71,000 compared to last year's $54,000. Loans, the primary business of the Union, rose from 1953's 98 to 145, involving $44,083 compared to $42,091 in 1953. Membership jumped from 201 to 224.

The Board of Directors, in a report of their annual meeting, held on January 19, reported three changes in policy, which, though not drastic, are expected to increase the benefits available to the majority of its members.

These changes make it possible for a member to borrow up to $400 without a co-signer, or for an individual to change a one-payment loan into a monthly payment loan, if he so desires.

The other change, made in an effort to safeguard the rights of the individual members, makes it impossible for the maximum shares in an individual account or a single joint account, to exceed $5000, or to place more than 10% of the total assets of the Credit Union in the accumulated accounts of any one immediate family.

The Board of Directors, consisting of P. M. Green, T. L. Forester, E. W. Pette, R. H. Peterson and R. L. Witz, further stated in their report that they wished to thank all who cooperated in making 1954 a successful year for the Credit Union.

The credit committee, in a statement that should be of more interest to stockholders, reported that dividends of 3% will be paid within the next few days.

NOTICE

The results of the placement tests taken by all new students last fall are now available in the Personnel Office. Any interested persons may see Carl Schmidt in the personnel department.

is one of the oldest traditions on the campus.

In the beginning the livestock exposition was first held for the promotion of interest in animal husbandry. Since that time the show has been greatly enlarged.

On February 12 the show will feature the showmanship contest which is the major part of the entire show. About sixty students will be actively participating for the grand champion showmanship award. The events will be judged by outstanding showmen from North Dakota.

The farm equipment demonstration, to be held in the Agricultural Engineering building on the afternoon of February 12, will feature a rural electrification display, a farm machinery show, a soil and water management demonstration, and a structures display. This division is sponsored by ASAE.

In conjunction with these two divisions is the agronomy club's crops show and crops judging contest. About 100 exhibits of grasses and grains will be entered by students competing for awards. Many FFA and 4-H judging teams, together with student judges, will compete in crops competition.

Ray Buelow, chairman of the Hall of Fame banquet, has announced that this year's banquet will be held in the student union ballroom.

Each year since 1923, a man has been honored for outstanding contributions to agriculture in the state, by having his portrait hung in the Saddle and Sirloin club's Hall of Fame.

The man to be honored this year has already been chosen by club members but his name has not yet been announced.

NDSC's livestock pavilion, Shepard Arena, will house most parts of this year's Little International.

Placements . . .

Tuesday, February 1, 1955, a representative of the Rural Electrification Administration, US Department of Agriculture will interview electrical engineering seniors.

Delco Products will interview engineers interested in product development and sales on Wednesday, February 2, 1955.

A representative of the Naval Air Missile Center at Point Mugu, California will interview engineering and physics students interested in guided missile development on Wednesday, February 2, 1955.

The Chance Vought Aircraft Corporation will interview aero, mechanical, civil, and electrical engineers on Thursday and Friday, February 3rd and 4th.

Wisconsin Institute Gives Experiment Station $1000

The Malt Research Institute of Milwaukee, Wisconsin has given $1000 to the NDSC experiment station in Fargo for work in cereal technology, according to Dr. R. H. Harris, department chairman.

The grant will be used for research in development of new barley varieties and other problems of barley quality. David Myhre, a graduate student studying for his master's degree in chemical technology, will conduct the research under the provisions of this grant. Myhre is from Wahpeton, N. D.

The Nodak Rural Electric Cooperative, Grand Forks, has given the NDSC experiment station in Fargo a grant of $200 for use by the agricultural engineering department, according to W. J. Promersberger, department chairman. The money will be used to test standby generating plants for use on farms in the event of power failure.

The H. Peavey-Van Dusen Harrington Co. has renewed the annual cash award of $300 to be given to a junior or senior student majoring in agronomy at NDSC, according to Dean G. C. Holm. Scholarship and need are the primary considerations in awarding this scholarship which has been given to the college by this donor for several years.

Experiment Station Gets Land Grant

Deed to 600 acres of land, known as the Pyramid Park experimental area, has been given to the North Dakota Agricultural Experiment Station by the U.S. government through the USDA Forest Service, according to Experiment Station Director G. C. Holm.

Transfer was made through P. D. Hanson of the USDA Forest Service, Missoula, Mont., and Lyness G. Lloyd, state conservationist, Bismarck, N. D.

The land is about eight miles southwest of Fryburg in Billings County, N. D., on the eastern edge of the breaks of the Little Missouri River Badlands. The U.S. government purchased this land from the farmers of the area during the drouth period of the 1930's.

Use of this land by the NDSC experiment station was acquired in 1936 from the USDA Resettlement Administration. In 1939 a formal lease was signed with the USDA Soil Conservation Service which took over the Land Utilization Project in this region. The USDA Forestry Service later acquired the land from the Soil Conservation Service.

The Pyramid Park tract is a part of the Dickinson branch experiment station, Dickinson, N. D., and has been used for range improvement and grass studies since 1937.

The Federal government retains all rights to fissionable materials and three-fourths of other mineral rights. Use of the land is restricted to experimental purposes, under the transfer agreement.

Aarnes Guest Speaker

Dr. Aarnes of the education department of NDSC, is scheduled to be guest speaker for the annual conference of the North Dakota Association of School Administrators. The meeting is to be held in Bismarck next Monday.

Little International participant Ronnie Brandvold is given a demonstration by Arlo Howe, dairy division manager, on proper hoof trimming technique for dairy cattle.

Ag Econ Club Goes South; Eleven Education Students Visit Wahpeton

Ag Econ Notes

NDSC's agricultural economics club will travel to Brookings on February 9 for a visit to the organization at South Dakota State, according to club president Don Bostwick.

The SDS club will return the visit sometime during the spring quarter. The exchange has been arranged to promote relations among students of agricultural economics in both schools.

DeAlton, Colwell Travel

Ernest DeAlton, state supervisor of agriculture education and his assistant Dell Colwell, will attend the annual school administrators meeting at Bismarck Monday and Tuesday.

Barr Represents NDSC

Burton Barr, graduate student in agriculture economics, attended the meeting of the Midwest Barley Association held in Milwaukee this week. He went as the representative of the NDSC agriculture economics department.

Eleven Students Observe

Eleven students of agricultural education observed the Wyndmere and Wahpeton vocational agriculture departments recently, under the direction of assistant state ag education supervisor S. D. Owen.

The students will begin practice teaching February 14.

FFA Meeting Set

NDSC's collegiate FFA chapter will hold a regular meeting next Wednesday, in room 215 of Morrill hall, according to president Melvin Maier.

HOME EC MEETING

A home economics supervising teacher's conference is being held today at the home ec building.

Dr. Ruth Tasch will demonstrate adult discussion techniques by the use of filmstrips and role playing.

A demonstration on cutting garments to fit will be given by Miss Emily Reynolds. Miss Marion Benson will lead a discussion on the use of the supervisors' self-rating scale and Miss Lucile Horton will discuss the problems of a supervisor.

Tea will be served for prospective student teachers and the supervisors at the close of the conference.

NOTICE

NDSC's Newman club wishes to announce that there will be no meeting of the club this Sunday evening.

The club, however, will meet next Sunday evening.

Del Schoephoerster

Del Schoepoerster was recently elected president of Sigma Alpha Epsilon social fraternity.

A junior in electrical engineering, Del comes from Lisbon. He is a member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and the SC Vets Club.

Other officers of SAE include Martin Borchelt, vice-president; Dale Wallentine, secretary; Don Ulness, social chairman; Guy Enabnit, pledge trainer; Jerry Schaak, correspondent;

Tom Radcliffe, treasurer; Robert Johnson, chronicler; Don Ellingsberg, warden; Bill Hays, house manager; and Martin Burley and Roger Johnson, co-heralds.

Three AFROTC Grads Ordered To Report

Three NDSC air force ROTC graduates, commissioned last summer, have been ordered to active duty with the air force, according to air ROTC commander Lt. Colonel Norris Brill.

Lt. Robert Wolfe has reported to the St. Paul International Airport at Minneapolis.

Reporting at Lackland Air Force Base at San Antonio was Lt. Donald Sondrol. He has reported for observer training.

Ordered to report for observer or flight training on February 13 is Lt. Irvin Meyers.

The promiscuous finger of the professional redhunter is pointing at you.

People are saying that the United States National Student Association, to which you belong, is "pro-Communist" and "an insidious leftist pressure group."

NSA represents you in this country and abroad. You are a member of the association because the student senate joined, and the student senate speaks for you.

These charges were first leveled at NSA two years ago by the president of Students for America, the remnants of the "McArthur for President" clubs, speaking at the National Interfraternity conference in New York.

Since then the charges have been repeated by such people as Walter Winchell, John T. Flynn, Martha Rountree, and Fulton Lewis, Jr.

Now just what are the facts about NSA?

It is an organization of about 300 college student bodies in the United States represented through their elected student governments. It has no political objectives, but is concerned only with voicing the wishes of American students on questions directly affecting students. It is also a clearing house of student opinion and activities.

NSA was formed in 1946, when 25 American students, returning from the World Student Congress in Prague, called a conference in Chicago to make plans for the student organization. In 1947, a constitution was approved by another conference meeting in Madison, Wisconsin and NSA was born.

Leftist youth groups, such as the Abraham Lincoln brigade, Young Progressives of America, and American Youth for Democracy, tried to get control of the congress at Madison.

These groups called for the NSA national congress to be made up of delegates selected from organizations and the campus at large. With this plan, they hoped to control NSA by having their partisans infiltrate it on individual campuses. When the Madison conference voted to have representatives selected through student governments, the leftists were beaten in their grab for power.

A team of FBI agents covered the initial NSA conference and gave the association a clean bill of health. The House un-American activities committee has also attested to the non-political character of NSA.

Prominent national leaders have paid tribute to the work of the organization too. Former president Harry Truman, Harold Stassen, Governor G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, Adlai Stevenson, Secretary of State

John Foster Dulles, Senator John Bricker of Ohio and retired General Omar Bradley have all endorsed NSA.

President Eisenhower sent a special greeting to NSA when it held its sixth annual meeting a year ago.

Said the President: "By making possible ever greater opportunity for the exercise of democratic responsibility on the campus, and by enabling American students and students of other lands to work together towards the solution of their common problems, the United States National Student Association is rendering a significant service to the people of this country and to the world."

Campus Needs Improvements

North Dakota State College has been the center of much attention lately, almost all of it over the current situation on campus. In this situation four professors have been suspended by the board of higher education and open hearings, to be conducted by the college advisory council, have been set for early March.

The Spectrum wonders why this affair is receiving so much sympathetic attention? Why is that now that the college is having trouble everyone looks at the school and seeks to help. When affairs are running smoothly and there is no friction, most of the people around the state cease to remember that there is a state college located in Fargo.

Certainly the current affair on campus deserves much inspection and attention. Still it seems a little strange that only when the school receives great publicity does anyone pay any attention at all to what goes on at SC.

At the present time the college is seeking a new pharmacy building, an addition to Morrill hall, funds to complete our long idle swimming pool, approval to construct a new men's dormitory to be financed by self-liquidating bonds, and money for various other campus improvements. Also the school is desperately in need of additional instructors in certain departments.

In the midst of all the limelight there seems to be no room for support of these proposals which would mean so much to the continued improvement and growth which NDSC needs to effectively survive.

Is there not anyone in the state who is interested in forgetting the current troubles of SC for a short time and taking a long glimpse at the future.

Mayor Writes Letter

Last week the mayor of Fargo, Herschel Lashkowitz, addressed an open letter to the governor of North Dakota concerning the present controversy at the State College.

While other incidents in the controversy have been heralded with much publicity by the newspapers throughout the state, Mayor Lashkowitz's letter has been practically ignored, except possibly by the Fargo City Commission. This letter, which contains references to the transcript of the Pearce investigation, expresses Lashkowitz's opinion on the matter as a lawyer and the mayor of Fargo.

Undoubtedly, the readers have learned of the City Commission's cold reception of the mayor's letter. It seems very unfortunate that such a body should object to the mayor expressing his opinion on the controversy, especially when two of the commissioners have already involved themselves by testifying at the hearings on the situation, which they now say is none of the city government's concern.

A complete airing of Lashkowitz's letter, possibly by the Fargo Forum, would be very effective in making the mayor's position clear. People have a right to know what is going on among their elected representatives. Since these office holders are responsible only to the voters, it would appear that the public should know the facts so that they can make the final judgement. As much of the present controversy seems to be over stifling of information, comment by the mayor of Fargo should not be withheld from the public.

The Spectrum is hoping for an early settlement of the dispute. It is conceivable that this could be obtained if all the "facts" were presented to the people.

Down Here . . .

By Lee Johnson

Well, a happy day to all of you people out there. How are you on this perfectly miserable Friday morning? Seems as if winter will never end. Oh well, mid-terms start next week and that should take care of most of our spare time for the following few days.

Was reading in the dakota stewardent the other day that they had looked over ye olde Spectrum and had given it a free critique. Friends, I found your free rating in our mailbox a few days ago and thank you very much. "For what I don't know."

Unfortunately the poor, tired old journalists down here don't feel they are qualified to rate other papers. We have enough trouble getting our own out. However, if you really insist, the tired remnants of the Spec staff will give a whirl to checking over your paper.

* * *

The wonderful Bison put on quite a show for the homefolks last Friday evening with that tremendous win over the so-called vaunted SDS Jackrabbits. Against Concordia the Herd came through with flying colors, too; but it seems impossible for any ball club to play real good ball against the undermanned Cobber crew.

That gang from the wrong side of the river sure shows a lot of promise, though. Wouldn't be surprised to see them near the top in their conference next year.

Syrian Pharmacy Students Picks SC

By J. Evanstad

"The Pharmacy students in Damascus, Syria have more social life than the students here. We had many clubs and parties with a great deal more free time to enjoy these social activities."

Who made this statement?

Sami Hamarneh, smiling black-eyed student from the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan who is enrolled as a graduate student in Pharmaceutical Chemistry in the School of Pharmacy.

Easily able to lecture any class in geography, he swells with pride as he relates the history of his country. It is a part of the Holy Land, a tiny state of one and a quarter million people in an area estimated to be a fourth of the state of North Dakota.

Concentrating on his choice of words he continues. "Formerly under the Turkish regime, then included in Syria, my country finally has become an independent state. First it was called Trans Jordan and then it incorporated the whole area of the river of Jordan and assuming its present name. Still under English rule, it has its own government for internal affairs within the state."

He was born and educated in the capitol city of Amman where English was taught in the high schools as well as Arabic. He was graduated from the Syrian University College of Pharmacy, noted for its enrollment of students from all the various countries in the Near East.

A scholarship was presented to him during his undergraduate study and in addition he worked part time in a British hospital pharmacy. Here he met and married a pretty dark haired nurse and together they returned to his home where he worked in his own pharmacy for three years.

Arriving in the United States with the staggering sum of forty dollars Sami and his wife lacked none of the incentive which brought them to their original decision. Here the educational opportunities were the greatest and this was a peaceful, Christian country.

A year in Lindhurst, New Jersey provided the necessary funds and time for consideration of a college in which to do his post graduate work. He chose NDSC because of its high national rating in pharmacy and the fact that it was a small school, able to give him the individual help he needed with his language difficulties.

The opinions he has formed of American food are not very favorable since the food is lacking in spice and the coffee is much too diluted. The rush-rush activities of the American people are a deep contrast to his nature as is the relaxed treatment of guests in opposition with the formality of the Near East.

Sami's eyes speak of merriment and zest for his work, then facial contortions of a deep frown are indicative of a very serious nature and his concern for the people of his native land. He thinks, then carefully and laboriously attempts to put his thoughts into English words.

"The question of whether to remain in the United States and become a naturalized citizen is still undecided. I would like to return to my country. There is need in my country for people with specialized training."

Q. Japi Attends Class While Roommate Slaves To Replenish Depleted Funds

By Lee Johnson

On perhaps the coldest morning of the entire frigid North Dakota winter, Trevelyan Sanderson Deepwell, the new room-mate of Q. Japi Kutpepper, rolled out of his haypile and slid into the convenient wash puddle which was installed in the center of their barn. (Japi had pumped his roommate and had gotten him to reveal that he was attending school under an alias.)

Trevy chopped a hole in the ice of the pond and splashed icy water over his face. Then he began to laboriously scrape the heavy growth of beard off his features with a piece of broken glass.

Fifteen minutes later Trevy was dressed in a spotless white jacket, gray flannel slacks, and a pair of green cowboy boots with yellow piping.

Due to a complete lack of funds the wandering student had been forced to go to work. What seemed more natural for a fellow of his type than to go to work in the campus hangout. Yes, Trevy was employed in the Bison room.

At seven-thirty sharp, swarms of people descended into the room and formed a huge line which dragged out into the hall. Trevy was kept busy taking orders, frying eggs, carting coffee, making toast, and gathering dirty dishes.

By nine-thirty, he was completely beat. Thirty-two gallons of coffee, dozens of eggs, hundreds of pieces of toast, and innumerable rolls had been consumed by the breakfast throngs.

The glistening white coat which Trevy had donned earlier now showed stains of coffee. His cowboy boots were scuffed and sweat ran from his brow.

Behind the counter, the employees of the Bison room rumbled in confusion. Several people were taking orders and only one overworked individual was trying to fill them.

The gathering throngs of mid-morning coffee breakers filled the room and demanded immediate service. Little by little the tension began to mount in the select circle behind the counter of the Bison room.

Shouts filled the air and once friendly smiles turned to frowns and snarls. The head piecutter of the Bison room stepped on the hand of the head ordertaker. The assistant coffee brewer stumbled and sloshed three pots of steaming liquid over the second assitant dishwasher.

In the midst of this uproar, Trevy stood dumbfounded. On all sides he saw fights and flaring tempers. Suddenly he stripped off his white coat and ran out from behind the counter.

Q. Japi Kutpepper, boy college student, happened along just at that moment. Trevy ran straight into his arms and pulled his roommate out the door in his headlong dash for safety.

"Man, Japi, after a morning working in the Bison room I'm beginning to think that maybe there's something to this idea of going to classes after all," thundered Trevy.

"Well, you can never tell Trevy," answered Japi. "That is almost an imponderable question."

You don't have any choice on the first and very little on the second . . .

On the third however, it's strictly up to you — a poor choice can throw you years behind your classmates and a good choice can put you years ahead.

At Chance Vought, young engineers (Aeronautical, Mechanical, Civil and Electrical) have every opportunity to make a mark for themselves in the industry that places the greatest value on engineering skill and ingenuity.

The very nature of the modern aircraft — its immense complexity and its never-ending development — presents technical problems that are unparalleled in any other field of engineering.

The chart illustrates two things; first, the extent to which our work involves the various engineering and scientific specialties and second, the scope of the opportunities that exist for the young engineer.

For more information regarding these employment opportunities please contact your placement office in order to arrange for an interview with our representative when he is on campus, or write for a copy of "Your Career With Chance Vought Aircraft".

Address:

We invite you to discuss your career opportunities in the aviation industry with us. Contact your placement office today for an appointment for your interview with H. M. Gaebe, Chance Vought Aircraft Engineering Personnel Representative, who will visit your campus February 3-4.

BISON MEET MORNINGSIDE

The Morningside Maroons are the opposition tonight as the North Dakota State Bison resume play in their quest to climb above the .500 rating in conference play. The game is at 8:00 p.m. at the Field House.

Morningside's coach, Al Buckingham will bring to North Dakota a team that potentially was rated high in pre season expectations. So far this year, the Maroons have not hit their peak and have a 2-2 league record. Two weeks ago the Herd bombed the Sioux Citians, 91-80.

Buckingham started the season with three lettermen from last year's third place club. Returnees this year were Al Brunsting, Don Van Der Wiede, and Don Verdoon, all regulars thus far in the campaign. In addition, Kieth Werner and Don Poppen round out the first five.

Brunsting finished in sixth place last year in the individual scoring race and this year holds the league lead with a fine 22.8 average per game output.

The Maroons possess good ball handlers, passers, dribblers, and some fine point makers, but have displayed difficulty in playing together. However they do put on a good performance and will battle all the way.

The Bison on the other hand are fresh from a pair of victories last weekend. The Herd displayed exceptional ability after trailing throughout to come back and hand South Dakota State its first conference loss a week ago. Saturday night the Herd ran roughshod over hapless Concordia.

A scoring battle is expected to develop between two of the loops top scorers; the Herd's Grut Anderson and Morningside's Al Brunsting. Brunsting boasts 114 counters in five games, while Anderson has 129 in eight.

Coach Chuck Bentson will once again start his usual line-up of Grut Anderson, Gene Gamache, John McDermott, Doug Walstad and Jim Akason. Merle Ludwig and Zeke Anderson will see considerable service due to their fine showing in recent contests.

Monday night the Herd will play host to Carleton of the Minnesota Intercollegiate league. Game time will be 8:00 p.m.

ON THE SUNNY SIDE

BY WEAKEYES

Concordia or MSTC????

With the fine interest shown in Fargo-Moorhead in curling, I wonder how long it will be before the colleges in the area will partake? We could have a lot of fun and I'm sure there would be a lot of interest in a program of this sort!!

ANOTHER PIN PONG NOTICE:

All entries for the ping pong intramural competitions must have their fees paid and representatives at the I-M meeting next Monday afternoon.

So far there are several teams entered. The competition will be placed on a round robin basis with each team consisting of three singles players and a set of doubles men. Individual and team trophies will be awarded. The team scoring the most points will win the prizes, points being awarded on a 1-2 basis.

Attention Beard Lovers:

According to the Rahjah Club's latest press release here is the dope on the contest. There will be three prizes awarded during the NDU series. They will be in the following divisions;

- (1) the shaggiest beard
- (2) the best trimmed beard
- (3) the most unique beard

Interscholar rivalry could not be stimulated as our Northern brothers felt that such a contest could not work out at their institution.

As of now, final arrangements have not yet been worked out as to the judging of the contest, but watch the Spectrum for further developments.

Can't understand why Bug Zuklik wasn't included in the Ugly Man contest this year... we figured he'd be a sure starter!!

Noticed Zeke Anderson using his 6'7" to good advantage the other day in a Politics test. He was sitting in the last row and by leaning forward he could read answers all the way up front.

Heard a rumor the other day that we'll get our swimming pool yet!

The Friday Club seemed to be reviving a little last week... could be there's some life left in the old stool game yet. Same place, same time, this afternoon.

BOWLING HIGHLIGHTS

By Lee Maxwell

In the classic league last week the SPD's took over undisputed first place as they took three straight from the Vet's club. Hanson stood out for the winners with 489 while Webster was high for the Vet's with 468.

Dakota Hall holds second although they dropped two to the SAE's. Highs were Halvorson, 473 and Fuchs with 451. In other action Hilling led the ASME's to two wins over the Theta Chi team with a 476. Sigma Chi swept two from the Kappa Psi with Mensing paving the way with a 479.

In the all-star I-M league the SAE's continued their first place lead as they dumped the Farmhouse three straight. High for the SAE's was Noland with 486. The Union moved into second as the AGR's forfeited for the second straight week. The Theta Chi's won two from Coop's. High for Theta Chi was Tyson with 491.

In other action the Kappa Psi's took two from the Kappa Sig's with Balke hitting 522 for the winners.

There was no information available about the rest of the leagues.

On Saturday night the NDSC Bowling team will swing into its first action of the season. They meet the Grand Barbershop of the Downtown Classic League and the Snyder Coal of the Broadway League.

Ten men will be selected to roll against these teams. Those who are out for the team include; Jack Clark, Dick Sunde, Bob Hughes, Lee Maxwell, Kirby, Ashland, Tom Engh, Jim McGuire, Chuck Gulland, Clark Nielson, Ed Tyson, Don Kent, Jim Noland, Dave Hilling and Morris Olson. Students are urged to attend and pull for their team.

Last Tuesday afternoon, Norm Ballard from the Dickinson Teachers College rolled the highest single series on Union Alleys. He hit 265, 232, and 223 for a three game total of 720. He averaged 240 per game. Then he rolled a fourth game of 200 for a four game total of 920. Ballard is the student manager of the Dickinson basketball team.

Don't forget the Lucky 13 bowling tournament starting Monday and running through Friday of next week. It costs no more than open bowling and anyone can enter. First prize will be a five dollar gift certificate from Ted Evanson's.

BISON WHIP SDS

The North Dakota State Bison gained much prestige within the conference last week with an 85-80 victory over the previously unbeaten South Dakota State Jack-rabbits.

With the Rabbits leading throughout the game, the Herd put on a tremendous last minute splurge that spelled victory. The South Dakotans led at intermission, 47-43.

Coach Chuck Bentson's men played a somewhat stalling game until there were about 10 minutes left to play. The Bison suddenly took the initiative and went ahead to stay with three minutes remaining. At this point the Sodaks looked tired and although they kept pace, at the end the Herd was widening the gap.

Herd Wins F-M Title By Beating Cobbers

Concordia fell before the Bison last Saturday night, 74-59 as the Herd took the Fargo-Moorhead intercollegiate title with a 3-0 record. It was the Cobbers second loss to North Dakota State this season and ran their loss string to 27.

Coach B. C. 'Chuck' Bentson used his entire squad as the even scoring attack paid off again. The Bison had four players scoring in double figures with Jim Akason leading with 13 points. Gene Gamache added twelve with Grut Anderson and Dale Serum each contributing 11.

The Cobbers were held without a field goal for the first six minutes, at this point the Herd had built up a sizeable margin and went on to lead at the half 40-28.

The win set the Herd's season record at 11-6 and left them undefeated on the home boards. Although the game did little to show the home fans much in the way of excitement, both coaches used the opportunity to try out their reserves.

"Good Shot McEyes"

Leaping high in the air, big John McDermott drops in a two pointer against South Dakota State last Friday night. Number 3 for the Bison is Grut Anderson while Doug Walstad, Number 5, prays the shot will be good. The Herd won the contest, 85-80. (Photo by Pete Mark)

Schultz, NDSC Lutheran Pastor Resigns To Accept Position At Iowa State

The Lutheran Student Foundation announces the resignation of John Schultz, Lutheran campus pastor at North Dakota State College. Tendered December first, the resignation was accepted by the board, to take effect March first.

Pastor Schultz has accepted a call to serve in the same capacity at Iowa State College in Ames.

In January, 1949, Pastor Schultz accepted the call of the newly formed Lutheran Student Foundation of Fargo-Moorhead, to establish a pastoral ministry on the campuses. The mission was housed in rented quarters in the College YMCA building in early years. At NDSC the ministry was moved to a completely refurbished cottage-center at 1201 13th Ave. North.

A State and area-wide financial support year by year has made this possible. The Fargo-Moorhead Federation of Lutheran Brotherhoods initiated a building fund, augmented by individuals, churches, auxiliaries throughout the area served by the colleges.

The ministry has come to serve the religious needs of the students. Daily chapel services, an educational ministry, service outlets such as welfare, Sunday School, and choir activities, a growing counselling ministry — all have grown in response to the student demands.

Further growth is assured by the promise of a $150,000 chapel-center building, scheduled for 1957-58. To be located on the present Fargo property, the building will be financed by a grant-in-aid from a $1.7 million dollar student center fund being gathered by National Lutheran Council Churches.

Pastor Schultz continues a service at Iowa State similar to that at NDSC, but will include a Sunday preaching mission to students. This type of ministry is now being established at four campuses in the country on an experimental basis.

A successor has not yet been chosen. The work will continue under Mrs. Othilia Hauge, counsellor and associate, with local pastoral help, until autumn.

Army ROTC Group Promotes Students In Campus Unit

NDSC's army ROTC unit has promoted several members of the student unit to new ranks and has transferred several to new positions, according to army ROTC training detachment commander Col. Otto Cloudt.

Cadet Major Nick Roster has been promoted to cadet Lt. Colonel.

Four students have been promoted from the rank of cadet first lieutenant to cadet captain. They are Ronald Skogstad, Laverne Russell, Keith Deyo, and Edfred Vasey.

Other students were promoted in the ranks.
