Fast-Paced Drama Brings Up Curtain On LCT Activities For Winter Quarter

By Bernie Altenburg

This weekend NDSC's Little Country Theater is once again doing battle with the athletic department for tonight and tomorrow evening at 8:15 the theater is presenting Sean O'Casey's "Juno and The Paycock", the first production of the winter quarter.

As usual the basketball games will attract most attention, but it's too bad for this presentation is good. The cast moves with seeming ease through the entire play, the production is professional, the settings are toned quietly down but still comes close to perfection, and the entire operation moves with almost effortless precision.

Fred Walsh, chairman of the speech department, is directing the effort. As usual he does an excellent job that blends the seasoned talent of the cast into the sort of melting pot that helps some of the newcomers over their rough spots.

The play itself is set in Ireland, around the time of the Irish war for independence and takes place in the drab tenement district of Ireland. It follows closely the line laid down in an earlier effort of O'Casey's, "Shadow Of A Gunman", done by the LCT last year.

Throughout the line of interest is centered around a contrast in character between the useless weak men of the play who are concerned mainly with talking and the women who seek to keep a disintegrating home together.

Leading the way as usual is magnificent Chuck Abrahamson, veteran pace setter of most LCT dramas for the past four years. Charlie romps through the role of Captain John Boyle, assuming all of the mannerisms of the slightly defunct Irish gentleman, or ex-gentleman.

Finally blossoming from her earlier small parts in other plays, Monica Savageau, teams with Abrahamson as Mrs. Boyle. Through the haze of middle-aged slovenliness, Monica manages to reveal strength of character.

In other roles Fred Emery returns to the LCT in the role of Johnny Boyle. This is one of the people upon whom the theater will have to depend in the future and he shows plenty of promise.

Doll of the group is Ruthie Mortenson portraying Mary Boyle. In her first meaty part for the SC players, Ruthie stands out.

Keith Amundson, second veteran in the production, prances through another dithering old part bit, this time as Charles Bentham. Maurice Mertens shows traces of a fine Irish brogue as Jerry Devine, one of the gadabouts sprinkled liberally throughout O'Casey's efforts.

Huge Harry Swanke and short Jerry Lague team up as a laughable pair of furniture movers. Their presence in the play is slightly questionable but they furnish a fine example of comedy relief.

Other members of the cast who turn in fine performances are Richard Browning and Ed Martin as irregular soldiers, Karen Garrison as a neighbor, Janice Bakken as Mrs. Tancred, and Jane Higgins as Mrs. Mattigan.

Last, but certainly not least, there is the affable Tom Radcliffe portraying Joxer Daly. Radcliffe carefully buttons up all the frayed ends and makes the dull sections of the performance sparkle.

Throughout the play things click with precision and shuffle remarkably well into place. With stage manager Karen Garrison keeping her student crew stoutly in line there are no miscues and no unforeseen mishaps.

All in all, "Juno and The Paycock" is a play well-worth seeing. If the basketball bug doesn't bite this evening or tomorrow night, make a date to take it in. Tickets are on sale at the speech department office for 75 cents each.

Grow Those Beards

Rahjah Club announces that the beard growing contest is still under way. All students not entered in the contest are requested to purchase shaver's buttons from any Rahjah member.

APO Snow Sculpture Contest Judging Set

The contest is scheduled so that the completed entries will be ready for the SC-NDU basketball series here on the weekend of February 24-25.

Judging of the contest is set for next Wednesday, with trophies for the winning figures to be awarded at the Ugly Man On Campus dance to be held at the fieldhouse on the evening of February 25.

Lutheran Worship Service On Campus Begins Sunday At Temporary Location

The first Lutheran Worship Service for the students on the North Dakota State College campus will be conducted in Festival Hall at 11:00 a.m. Sunday, February 19, by Rev. Arne Kvaalen, Lutheran campus pastor.

Ernst Van Vlissingen, professor and chairman of the NDSC music department, will have charge of music and will organize a choir which will sing at all services.

The use of Festival Hall has been granted by the NDSC college administration on a temporary basis until permanent facilities are built in the near future.

This organization will be set up as if it were a regular congregation, with a council consisting of deacons, trustees and other church officers.

Services of this type have met with enthusiastic response on the campus of the University of Illinois, University of Michigan, University of North Dakota and the Iowa State College.

The Lutheran Student Foundation is an affiliate of the division of student service of the National Lutheran Council Churches.

Committee Discusses Plan

Final planning for the proposed Sunday Morning Worship Service on the North Dakota State College campus beginning February 19th was the main job of a joint meeting of the presidents of the Fargo Lutheran Church Brotherhoods and the board of directors of the NDSC Lutheran Student Foundation, which met Thursday morning for a seven o'clock breakfast at the Powers Hotel.

Lloyd Collins, Olivet Church; Harfield Johnson, Messiah; Alvin Hella, First Lutheran, representing the Brotherhoods and Dr. Seth Russell, dean of the NDSC School of Applied Arts and Sciences; Rudolf Ottersen, chairman of the NDSC department of social sciences; and Rev. Arne Kvaalen, Lutheran campus pastor, representing the Foundation will act along with a student committee to make plans for the first service.

The student committee is composed of Jim Oster, Joseph Hogstad, Dale Anderson, Herb Mittelstedt, Jan Christopher and Karen Ritchie.

A visitation of Lutheran students will be conducted beginning Wednesday, February 8th by members of the Federated Brotherhood, board of directors, LSA students and the Lutheran Student service auxiliary inviting them to the service.

Applications Invited For Publication Posts

Students interested in applying for the positions of editor and business manager for the Bison annual and the Spectrum are urged to do so, according to commissioner of publications Joe Ruliffson.

Previous experience on either of the two publications is not a necessity. All applications should be submitted in writing to the Board of Publications and left at the office of public relations in the basement of the administration building.

Question Raised By Students On New Health Center Policy

It seems apparent to some members of the student body that a new policy on excuses has been established by the Student Health Center.

Under the new policy the health center will not issue an excuse for missing classes unless the student is personally examined by the health center physician between the hours of 8 and 11 A.M. If the student is unable to get to the health center the physician is to make a home call.

Telephone calls for excuses will no longer be honored from house mothers or wives or other persons who call in to the center that an individual at that residence is unable to attend classes due to illness. According to the new policy the health center feels that the student's word to the instructor is as good as to the health center nurse.

A question has been raised by members of the student body, especially those who have attempted to get excuses for class time due to illness. It does seem dubious that a policy as drastic as this would be necessary.

Certainly we recognize the fact that there is a certain amount of "gold bricking" thru the health center, but is it really this bad? Is it right that a minority who abuse their medical privileges should destroy that privilege for those students who are in actual need? Is it right that a student need be so ill that he requires a physician's attention in order to miss class? We need not point out that a headache or the sniffles are often forerunners of a more serious disorder and that the individual concerned would often be much better off not attending classes.

Each quarter at registration each student pays a health fee which assumedly allows him use of the medical facilities offered on the campus. A student is not buying an excuse but simply a health benefit policy. It would seem that the original intent of the health center was to offer free health service so as to encourage students to seek medical attention in advance of any serious malady. If obtaining an excuse becomes a near impossibility many students will become discouraged and not seek the services offered by the health center. By so doing the intended purpose of the center will be defeated.

Two final appeals should be made. To the students—don't abuse your health center privileges and to the health center officials—may we have a reevaluation of the new policy on excuses?

Understatement Of The Week

"Boy, they sure are strict on dorm hours around here!"

Kampus Klues... From Under A Rock... Mid-Terms Past; Social Life Booms

By Karen

"Dennis the Menace", "Donald Duck" or "Little Lulu"—which is yours? The campus will soon resemble a huge story-land with all its characters made out of snow and ice. Judging will be on Monday, Feb. 13, so get your snow transported and your water hoses in gear.

Pinned at the SAE term party Saturday night were the popular steadies, Sally Anderson, Kappa, and Floyd Wagner, SAE.

One engagement topped the campus list this week—John Lommel, Kappa Psi pill pusher became engaged to Marge German, from Hankinson, North Dakota.

Yawns and tired eyes will be apparent on Saturday morning at the Theta house for all the Theta's are having a slumber party this evening.

Entertainments as usual filled the social calendar for the past week. Wednesday was the busiest day with the Gamma Phi's entertaining the Theta Chi's, the AGR's entertaining the Theta's and the Kappa's entertaining the Kappa Psi's. A week ago Thursday the ATO's entertained the Kappa's with dinner and a combo. The KD's were entertained at the ATO house on Tuesday for supper.

The week-end activities consist of two games, one on Friday evening and one on Saturday evening. Our team definitely needs some wins so let's give all our support and yell our lungs out. There will be a college dance after the game this evening but no dance is scheduled for tomorrow evening. The SPD's will have a little get together at their house for their dates after the game on Saturday.

New actives at the Gamma Phi house are Jane Brush, Jean Ann Nelson, Harriet Fark, and Sig Halderon. Pre-initiation and a dinner were held at the Gamma Phi house Saturday evening with the initiation and a breakfast at the Graver Hotel on Sunday morning.

Guests at the Gamma Phi house on Monday evening were Dr. and Mrs. Fleetwood and Dr. and Mrs. Arnes.

The SPD's have added many new pledges to their house. They are Calvin Kluus, Verlin Fossum, Ray Freidig, Don Backstrom, Bob Egan, Vern McCoy, Dick Johnson, John Little, Elden McLain, Virgil Miller and Wally Spinarski. Serving as officers for this group are president, Bob Barrows, vice president, Mel Midgeley, and secretary, Eugene Blazek.

I would certainly appreciate hearing from the Independent students on campus and I'm certain that I'm not the only one. I will be very glad to put anything in my column that you would like.

ASME Pics Set

American Society of Mechanical Engineers will have its group picture taken for the annual Tuesday evening at 7:30 in the student union. All members are requested to be on hand. A business meeting will follow.

By "Beetle"
As we begin this week's edition from the blissful surroundings of the third floor of North Dakota State College's memorial student union building we are seated at the typewriter in front of a window which affords us an excellent view of the four o'clock hustle and bustle of campus. It is Tuesday afternoon, and at present, the Gung-Ho busboys are scurrying hither and yon in an earnest effort to reach general assembly on time. It will be a matter of a scant ten minutes before all are sleeping soundly, snug in the realization that the lights will be off 'till the movie is over, and the campus will once again settle into the peaceful serenity of a normal afternoon. (YOU too can wear the Air Force Blue).

SC Students Greet Roving Reporter With Varied Replies

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: DO YOU THINK STUDENT SENATE VOTING SHOULD BE CHANGED?

As it is now, six votes may be cast for one person on a ballot, or six votes may be split for as many as six candidates. Student Senate is discussing changing the voting so it is mandatory to cast the six votes for six different candidates).

GARY KOLSRUD—Soph. in AAS from New Rockford.

"If the past method has proven satisfactory, why change it? Leave it the way it is".

JOANNE WILLERT—Sr. Home Ec. from Hankinson.

"Yes, I definitely think so. I think that there would be some sort of ratio set up so there is a good representation of women in senate".

LARRY LANZ—Jr. C Engr. from Devil's Lake.

"Yes. As it is now, a clique could put into office an undesirable candidate. I am in favor of six votes going for six different candidates".

CHUCK STEFFAN — Jr., Ph. from Devil's Lake.

"No, I don't think they should. As it is now, there is a more likely chance of electing a favored candidate. I also think the student body president should have at least one year's experience in student government".

LILA ASMUNDSON — Soph. in Home Ec. from Upham.

"Careful consideration should be given to background and experience for candidates elected to the Senate. In campaigning, I would like to see the qualifications of each candidate listed. I also would like to see women elected to the Senate."

LOWELL SMITH — Junior in Arts and Sciences from Verona.

"I'm in favor of leaving it the way it is to protect the minority".

CAROL ABRAHAMSON — Soph. in Arts and Sciences from Leal.

"Yes, I believe the form of voting should be changed. The change possible won't be entirely the best, however as it is at present it becomes a coalition, regardless of ability or merit."

It is rather amusing seeing the AFOTC I and II students furtively glancing the other way in efforts to avoid saluting, as the advanced flight leader saunters across the mall with an assortment of honeys on his arm. The days edition of campus radio is about to go on the air, and with the playing of State's traditional hymn, "The Yellow and the Green", we wonder why in the world we ever debated as to which of the two North Dakota schools to attend.

And as to the matter of the other North Dakota school, we are mindful of the fact that it is high time that plans for a mass migration to Grand Forks for the Nickel Series began to be realities, with the big event a scant week away. There are dates to line up, cowbells to polish, booths to reserve in the Riviera, and a host of other highly important details that come to mind as we stop to ponder the subject. Best we get on the proverbial stick and tend to these pleasant chores before "tempus fugit" and all is lost.

If State followers can exhibit some of the spirit shown by the hardy band of travelers that showed up at South Dakota State last weekend, the "fire" problem will be solved completely. Fired-up-of-the-week award goes to Ken Wedul of Kappa Psi and Gary Abrahamson of ATO for their spontaneous efforts as spur-of-the-moment cheerleaders at the SDS game. The boys gave it all they had, in spite of the one-sided Bison loss.

It seems that it was turnabout week in the chemistry department this week as A. J. Schumacher, State's Ugly Man and erstwhile Phired Up Pharmacist exchanged positions with one of the campus' more enlightened faculty members, a Mr. F. Madison Young, and taught physiological chemistry to a group of enthralled young home economics majors.

With the abolition of the weekly campus toad awards, it seems only fitting that we are about due for a revival of a former feature item from the pen of the "late" Robert Fisher—long-time sports editor of LeSpectrum—the Weakeyes Award. Naturally the award for this week should go to the honey who invited Ol' Beetle to the charity ball. That was a charitable gesture, indeed!

Let's all show up at the field-house to see the Bison take a couple this weekend. Tonight the Herd takes on Augustana, the giant-killer of the NCC, and tomorrow nite it's the colorful Gustavus Adolphus Gusties. There is an outside chance that Gustavus may bring along its famous jazz band which entertains at all Gusties' basketball games.

A prediction: The man to watch in the Rahjah club beard-growing contest is a comparative newcomer on campus, Ken Chase. Although new here this quarter, Big Kenny sat out the entire fall quarter grooming his broom for the 'U' Series, or so it seems. In any event, our boy Chase will give all comers a fight for their money.

'Nuff said, and time to cease as the Boys In Blue wend their way sleepily back across campus after another exhilarating afternoon of aeronautical drowsing. The collegiate aspirants-to-a-sheepskin are once again beginning to return to their holes for a bit of a supper break before resuming the many-varied bill of fare that makes a school such as this so wonderful to attend.

Watch for the Toad.

Introducing . . . Advice For Heartsick, Lonely And Mistreated

Following the example set by a downtown publication and according to the demands of many students (2), the Spectrum feels obligated to inaugurate a column of information on etiquette, advice to the lovelorn, etc.

All mail sent in by persons wishing advice or information should be addressed to Rand Schmaltz, c/o Board of Publications, State College Station, Fargo, North Dakota.

Dear Rand: My son has gone away to college and he refuses to write to me. The only information I receive from him are weekly letters asking for five hundred dollars. For the past seven years I have answered his requests. Now I am beginning to wonder if I should try and arrange a meeting with him.

Yours truly,
A Despondent Mother

Answer: Mother, don't fret for the welfare of your child. As long as he continues to ask for the same sum of money, things are all right. Wait until he asks you for more than five hundred dollars per week. Then demand a meeting. Until then, don't work up a sweat.

Dear Rand: For the past three years I have been trying to pledge a sorority. Each fall I regularly attend rushing teas, etc. and try to meet the girls. Each fall I am disappointed when I fail to receive a bid from any of the sororities. Last quarter I was so upset that I pledged a fraternity and went active last week. Please help me.

Sincerely yours,
Lars Upjohvik

Answer: Lars, perhaps it could be that sororities are for girls. Maybe that is why you have never been invited to pledge. However, don't feel bad. Try again next fall.

Dear Rand: For the past two

One the brighter side of student life we want to congratulate all the organizations who gained places in Bison Brevities and wish them luck and strength on their way.

The campus shop is again chuck full of beautiful new clothing especially for you State College students. Sweaters are crew neck icy league at $10.95, slacks again are flannels with an accent on lighter colors and priced at $13.95. Sport shirts are California styled with stripes and plaids priced from $3.95 and we just received a large shipment of $1.00 Argyle stockings in six different patterns to blend with these new slax, shirts, and sweaters.

years I have been employed every morning cleaning barns here on campus. I don't finish work until eight o'clock and consequently must go straight to class from work. I find that no one will sit next to me in class and I find it very difficult to pass any courses. What is it that my best friends won't tell me?

Thinking of you,
Frank Manuresoveler

Answer: Frank, as much as I hate to say it, perhaps you should clean your boots and shower before going to class. Then, too, you might try sitting in a part of the classroom away from the breeze. I am sure if you follow these simple suggestions your friends will return to you.

Dear Rand: In the part of North Dakota that I come from it is considered all right to eat without using a fork or spoon. Here on campus it seems that I am a social outcast and no one will talk to me or sit at the same table with me. Also, I find that no tables are shaped like a V as I have become used to them. Please help me.

Sorrowfully,
Ima Hog

Answer: Your problem seems to be that you cannot adapt your upbringing to the level of the campus community. I would suggest that you attempt to use common utensils in eating and not eat as your name would suggest. From your letter, though, I would think that it fits you.

"Local Pill Pusher" Entertains Campus Cats Via KDSC With Top Jazz Music

Every Tuesday evening at 9:00 p.m. on KDSC, you will hear these words, "Well, and a good, good evening to all you cats, to the small ones and the tall ones, curled up in the nooks and crannies of the 9 corners and far reaches of the campus. Welcome again to JAZZTIME. An hour and a half of recorded jazz by the top artists in that field, so stay tuned, won't you?"

These are Jack Southam's words and it is Jack Southam's programme. One and one-half hour of the best in recorded jazz from Jack's own collection. Jack is a senior in Pharmacy, a member of the Kappa Psi Fraternity, and in general quite a busy body.

A native of North Dakota (Mohall), Jack has moved his taste for music to the coasts. East or west, Brubeck, or Peterson, he has the jazz bug and is trying to pass it on to everyone. Kenton also has captured Jack's musical tastes, as his progressive jazz causes slight sighing on Jack's part and if Jack is around while Kenton's music is playing you may hear an enraptured clapping of the hands or stomping of the feet.

It is truly a delightful musical experience, every Tuesday at 9:00 p.m. on KDSC, for one and one-half hours, on SOUTHAM'S Jazz Time.

Interesting Art Display On Exhibition At Library; Work Of N. D. Artist

By Bernie Altenburg

"Sparkling originality" is the highlight of the exhibit of contemporary paintings on exhibit at the library until February 21, all by the North Dakota artist Willis Nelson.

Fifteen paintings in all, all but two of them for sale, make up the exhibit that is as varied as any artist could present in one showing.

Paintings on show include Young Musician, Small Town Street, January Thaw, Three Boys, Bird Lover, Church in the Fall, Lady, Road In Fall, Still Life, Winter Farm Scene, Young Poet, Pitcher of Flowers, Study in Charcoal, Still Life In Red, and North Dakota Village in Winter.

Nelson is a twenty-six year old social studies teacher at the Valley Junior High School of Grand Forks and is the youngest painter to be exhibited in the series of one man shows sponsored by the North Dakota Institute for Regional Studies.

A graduate of Minot State Teachers College, Nelson worked his way through school as a mail carrier, night cook, and guard at the Veterans hospital.

According to Mr. Nelson, as he progresses he finds art more absorbing and more of his energy and interest goes into it. This interest is perhaps whetted by a law given for him at Minot last year and by his participation the last three years in the Bismarck Art Week.

Although he still feels himself an amateur his plans for the future are such as to divest him of that amateur rating and to place him firmly in the ranks of the professionals.

Except for the ceramics courses he is currently taking at the university, Nelson has had no formal art training. However, he hopes to earn an M.A. degree with a major in art at the university and eventually to teach art.

Nelson's career so far indicates that the absorbing inner drive of art and his spontaneous interest in it will give him the necessary energy to prevail.

"Down Beat" Rates Oscar Peterson Tops

By Chuck Phillips

At the heading of last week's column, it stated, more or less, that I was a critic on jazz recording artists—well, not really—I can hardly put myself in a position to criticize the works of many jazz artists, who, without a doubt, have established themselves at the top of the business. I would merely like to point out a few items of interest to you, about their style of playnig and probably a few of their recent recordings. You may find me pointing out a few of my own ideas about them, but it surely will not be a direct criticism.

Last week, I mentioned the works and styling of Dave Brubeck and his quartet. This week, keeping myself in the piano division, I would like to point out a few items of interest about Oscar Peterson.

Peterson, who was named top performer in the piano division, by Down Beat poll, certainly earned this title. I think he is one of the most exciting jazz pianists of all time. He is, without a doubt, a great interpreter of ballads and show tunes, with few jazz personalities equalling him. He has a great sympathy for what the composers intended, and I'm sure you will agree with me, if you have ever listened to any of his works, that the preceding statement is quite true.

He respects and sticks closely to the melody put before him, investing however, his great rhythm and feeling of love for jazz. His improvising never alters the melody (quite different from Brubeck), but nevertheless he gives each of his songs a kind of freshness that makes him very easy to listen to.

Many people have said to me that jazz is hard to interpret, and therefore makes listening to it very difficult. True, I say, in some respects, but not true with Oscar Peterson. Whether you are a jazz fan or not, you cannot help liking the style of Oscar Peterson. He puts a real freshness in his music, which I am sure you will all enjoy.

Why not make it a point to listen to Peterson sometime? I assure you, there is nothing to lose.

Tribute Paid To S. D. Record Breaker

By Lee Johnson

Well, here we go again. Just for kicks the old Tiger is sneaking into the sports section for another fling at making hard feelings. Hope that the new swami, Gerry Bender, doesn't mind it. I just happen to have a few bones to pick.

After all these years the North Central conference has to take hats off to Big Don Jongewaard, the smiling Scandinavian from the University of South Dakota. Jongie's forty-five counters pumped in against the softly-walking Bison last Friday night should stand in the record books for a long time. At least, I personally hope that the record stands.

This may seem out of place in a column published in a college newspaper, but Jongewaard is probably the finest basketball sportsman in the entire conference. Not only does he seem to be the best team player, but apparently basketball is a sport to him. From his capers on the floor Don seems to enjoy every minute of competition. Our hat must go off to Jongewaard. Our only regret is that his record spree couldn't have been at the expense of some other school in the conference.

NDSC's illustrious football coach, sorry no names, wrote a fine sounding column in last week's Fargo Forum, Friday evening edition. In his own way he apologizes for the miserable football record of the Herd over the past two years.

That's all well and good. But when our present head coach sees fit to attack his predecessor, Mac Wenskunas, then possibly that's overstepping the bounds just a bit.

Senior Appreciation Slated For Halftime During Game Tonight

"Senior Appreciation Night" will be held in conjunction with the Gustavus Adolphus game this Saturday night. The event is to be sponsored by the Alumni Association of NDSC, Abner Selvig, president. Between halves of the Gustavus game the seniors on the Bison team will be honored by their home towns.

The players to be honored are Jim Akason of Halstad, Minn., Harold (Zeke) Anderson of Walhalla, Gene Gamache of Lisbon, Merlin Ludwig of Hillsboro, and Doug Walstad of Moorhead.

The Fargo Forum reference library has pictures and data on 53,000 individuals.

most popular mentors on this campus in many a moon, wasn't the only coach that lost lots of players via scholastic deficiencies. It seems to me that of the thirty-seven frosh brought in by the present regime back in 1954, only seventeen stalwarts returned the following fall. And how many of them are still active on the gridiron.

The Spectrum does not feel that with our present policy we are attempting to undermine the athletic program of the college. Perhaps it's just time that some people realize that this college actually is state supported, supported by a state that is not overly generous with its outlays for higher education.

Well, I guess that's enuf said for this subject.

Off we go again. After a long perusal of last Sunday's Minneapolis Tribune we failed to find any mention of the four SC representatives at the Upper Midwest tennis tournament. Lost souls of the week were the rabid State rooters who made the long jaunt down to South Dakota last weekend. Adrift in the almost arid towns of Brookings and Vermillion, after watching Coach Bentson's boys take two trouncings, the Bison rooters were slightly downcast. Only the Kappa Psi bell and the friendly voice of Jack Larson managed to keep up their spirits. Oh, yeah.

Ernest John "Tip" Miller, rabid Bison booster, urges all you winter sports fans to make use of the skating rink out north of the fieldhouse. The rink is located on the practice field and is open for the convenience of the students of SC. Now, Tip, please let me up.

Anyone wishing to lay odds on whether or not crafty Chuck Bentson is casting about for some of these huge basketball players lurking about the state can contact campus bookie Jim Beatty in the chemistry building any evening after 11. That's all for now. If Gerry will let us—we'll be back again next week. Until then, remember, games tonight and tomorrow evening at the fieldhouse. Man, are those Gusties big.

Herd Drops Second In Row To SDS Jackrabbits

By Jack Larson

The Bison dropped their second game in as many nights on their dreaded southern tour to the powerful South Dakota State quintet, 96-63. This time the Herd escaped the clutches of one dreaded man, but had to suffer the wrath of a red hot Jackrabbit team. It did not seem to matter who was playing for SDS, the ball dropped in their hoop for anybody.

The Bison took a quick lead at 6 to 0 before the Coyotes found the range, but when they did there was no stopping them. State kept at an even pace with the Coyotes for about the first ten minutes and then lost their lead permanently at 22-21. After this, all the closer the Bison could get was 10 points.

In the second half South Dakota shot 60 per cent from the field and that gave them a tremendous game average of about 52 percent. The Bison shot a respectable .350 per cent.

Leading game scorer was Ken Hyde, South Dakota center, with 20 points. Four Bison hit double figures paced by Jim Akason's 13 points. Ken Flynn had 11 and Gene Gamache and Doug Walstad scored 10 apiece.

South Dakota's win increased their North Central Conference lead to six wins and one loss, this loss coming at the hands of the Bison on North Dakota's home court. This was the Bison's fourth setback in conference play against five victories. The Bison are currently in third place behind South Dakota State, South Dakota University and are a notch ahead of North Dakota University.

Dennis Drew Award To Be Given Tonight

Between halves of the Augustana game this Friday night the Dennis Drews Award will again be presented to the outstanding Bison football player of the past season. Conference Record Broken As Bison Bow To SDU Team

Last Friday evening the Bison dropped their first game of the southern trip to the Coyotes of South Dakota University. Playing in Vermillion, South Dakota, the thundering Herd could not combat the high scoring techniques of Don Jongewaard, 6 foot 8 high scoring center of the Coyotes.

Big Jongewaard hit the hoop from every possible place on the floor to rack up a record total of 45 points.

The Bison made a game of it, despite Jongewaard for about the first twelve or fifteen minutes, but then the Coyotes found the range even better and the Bison had to settle for a nine point deficit at half time. The score 41 to 32.

Jongewaard during the first 20 minutes of play scored an amazing total of 28 points on 12 field goals and 4 for 4 gift tosses. He seemed to be almost as deadly in the second half picking up 7 more ringers from the field and 3 for 7 from the charity line.

Jongewaard's 45 points broke the old conference record of 39. Big Don's record breaking shot was about a 25 foot push shot from the outside with 10:45 remaining in the game. He left the game with 4:47 remaining and got a tremendous ovation from the home crowd.

The Coyotes shot 31 for 80 from the field for a percentage of .387 while the Bison shot 23 for 67 to gain a .346 average. From the charity line the Herd outshot the Coyotes .703 to .557. The Bison sank 26 for 37 while the University dropped in 24 out of 43.

Augustana, Gustavus Adolphus May Prove Tough Opponents For Bison

By Gerry Bender

Latest news from Bison coach Chuck Bentson indicates that we DSC fans are in for a weekend of good basketball. The Bison will meet Augustana on Friday night and Gustavus Adolphus on Saturday night.

Bentson considers Augustana one of the most troublesome clubs in the conference, being far above their standard for the last couple year. The Augies are a larger team than the Bison, though we will have the height advantage at the center spot. They are a well balanced team, not large, by present day standards, but certainly not to be considered small.

The team's front line consists of 6'5" center Frank Calsbeek, 6'3" forward Bruce Haroldson, and 6'3" Jerry Ihrke at the other forward spot. Ihrke was leading the conference in scoring average before last week's games. At the guard positions the Augies have Paul Heine, 6'4", and Jon Falgren, one of the better ball handlers in the conference.

The Augustana club leads the conference in defensive averages. They are a low scoring team not because of a lack of good shots, but because of their control tactics.

"The Augies play a very conservative game," says Bentson, "which means that a team can't afford to make very many mistakes against them."

This weekend's second game, against Gustavus Adolphus on Saturday night, pits the Bison against what Bentson considers, "the top team in the tri-state area."

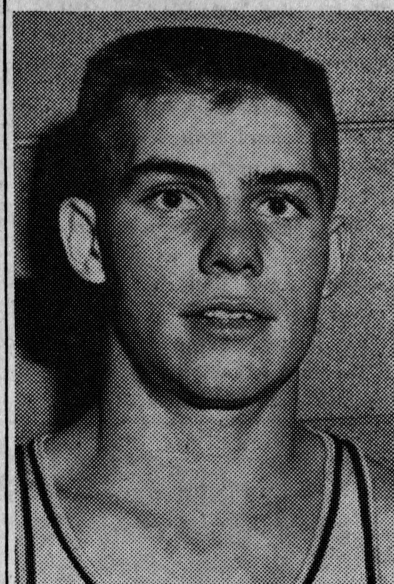

Gustavus has a front line averaging 6'7". This line consists of Springer, 6'8", at center, Patterson, 6'7", at one forward, and Colvard, 6'5" at the other forward. They are led in the guard position by Johnny Potswald, three year all conference guard, and one of the outstanding back court men in the area.

The Gusties are noted for their colorful pre-game warm-up antics. Accompanied by their band, they usually put on a sparkling warm-up exhibition.

Coach Bentson announced that Sylvan Melroe's leg injury seems to be coming along fine. Mel will dress for this weekend's games but is not likely to see much action, as his injury may be in the delicate stage, and Bentson wishes to have him ready to go for the series coming up the next two weekends.

Melroe has been sorely missed as number one forward substitute. However, Bentson is well pleased with the recent performance of Howard Heil, and plans to use him more in the future.

Melroe Hampered By Injuries; May Be Out For Season

Sylvan Melroe

It is seldom, if ever, that a college basketball team goes through an entire season without at least one serious injury. Such is the case with the Bison this year, and our subject for this week in the sixth of our "Meet the Team" articles.

Sylvan Melroe, one of the Herd's most promising junior lettermen and a topnotch forward prospect has been out the greater part of this season with a painful pulled tendon in his leg. Melroe, who stands 6'3" and has one of the club's better shooting eyes, appears to be lost to Chuck Bentson's club for the rest of the current NCC campaign.

Hailing from Gwinner, North Dakota, this junior ag major was slated to see a lot of service at forward this year before his injury. A jumper with fine spring in his legs, "Sylv" can generally be counted on to grab at least his share of rebounds. Sylvan is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

NDSC Social Forum Scheduled To Meet With Independents

The Independent Student Association will meet Monday night, February 13, 1956 at 7:30 p.m. in Conference Rooms 1, 2, and 3. This will be the regular bi-monthly meeting, but will feature a special attraction of the NDSC Social Forum.

This group has proven to be very successful and helpful to other campus groups in the last months, and will be at the ISA meeting to answer any questions of etiquette that may puzzle the independent faction of the campus.

All ISA members are urged to attend this meeting to hear and question the Social Forum. Important business will also be discussed.

Cecil Malme and Merle Larson scored high in sheep to place fifth and eighth respectively in that portion of the contest.

Other members of the team were Eugene Rott and LaVerne Kreft.

Spectrum staff is still under-strength! Any students desiring to do any sort of work at all are needed to help make your student newspaper bigger and better. There is plenty of material for each issue if we only have enough people to cover the campus.

Students interested in makeup, headline writing, re-writing, typing, editorial writing, sports reporting, feature work, or general repoterial experience are urged to stop at the Spectrum office on the second floor of the union anytime or call 9550.

Lenten Mass Scheduled

During Lent Mass will be held every morning at 7 in the Newman chapel. Each Thursday evening there will be a Stations of the Cross at the chapel at 7:30 during Lent. Every Sunday evening during the same period there will be regular compline service at 7:30 before Newman club meetings.

"Out On A Bender" - - - By Borff Bison Title Hopes Blasted By Rebels

By Gerry Bender

Another week, another sports editor. Here's hoping you people find this pile of words readable. However, if not so, you can always turn to our recently proven friend, Mr. Fitz of our leading competitor.

With the week gone by, quite a change has taken place in the sports picture at Old State.

After having our conference championship aspirations pretty well cooled by a bunch of red hot rebels, we can now turn our attentions to the annual clash with Upstate Abnormal. Present conference standings indicate that this year's series may well be a battle for second, or more likely, third place in the final standings. And quite a battle it should be. Here's hoping our leading scorer, Geno Gamache, has his shooting eye back by the 17th.

Attention baseball players!!!
Coach Cliff Rothrock announces the beginning of spring training. Indoor workouts will begin Wednesday, February 15. Anyone interested in playing baseball (and a trip south) can re- port to the Field House for issue of equipment.

Here's a belated "hats off" and a sincere apology to Dana Hill, starting quarterback for the Bison gridders at the beginning of the last season. Seems his shoulder injury and forced retirement from the football roster went unmentioned by this department last fall. At any rate, we are glad to hear that Dana has undergone an operation for the injury and, from all reports, is good as new. His football plans for next year, however, are indefinite.

'Twas nice to see the Bison cool the heels of the team from across the river, namely MSTC. Perhaps some of you old service returnees recognized the scrappy little Moorhead guard, Kenny Reitan. Kenny played on the Bison frosh team at the same time that Ludwig, Gamache, Akason, Anderson, and Walstad were playing freshman ball, and he certainly hasn't lost any of the fight that he had then.

Happened to notice in the Forum the other day that Jon Haaven is about to get out of the service. Yours truly had the good fortune to be stationed with Jon, and saw him in action on the court against some pros and major college players. From what was seen there, we are perhaps lucky that he didn't get out soon enough to play this season.

Although Haaven once stated that he probably wouldn't go back to school full time when he got back, the chances are that, once Lou Bogan gets hold of Jon, he'll be back in the Soox uniform again next season. If so, Big John Haas and Al Brenteson will have their work pretty well cut out for them in the coming season.

Well, so much for this week. Let's all grow beards or buy shaving permits, go to the basketball games this weekend, and keep in training for the grueling post game ceremonies which will undoubtedly take place at the usual locations following each series game.

Four Coeds Backed For Senate Posts By Women Students

At a meeting in the student union ballroom last Monday night the Associated Women Students elected four women to receive their backing for student senate posts.

Colleen Kandt, Shirlene Schnell, Judy Hammer, and Susan Wheeler were elected to receive the backing of the group in the coming campus elections.

Schnell and Kandt will be seeking election to the one year senate positions while Hammer and Wheeler will run for the senatorships.

A definite need for unification of all women's groups on this campus has been recognized by Women's Senate and the support of women candidates for student government posts is one step in a series of actions that are being taken by for this purpose.

In the preceding years, although many women have run for student government positions, no one has been elected to the group because of a split vote among the women. Women's Senate hopes, that in the campus elections this spring, the Associated Women Students, which is composed of all women students on campus, will receive the support of the entire student body in this matter.
