scientist outlines the story of scientific and would-be scientific thinking from the ancient Egyptians to our own day.

Water clocks and ancient calendars as well as other ancient tools of scientific work will be explained and illustrated with the working models, on which Dr. Graubard has spent many hours of work and much of his own money, according to F. G. Schoff of the convocation committee.

Author of "Astrology and Alchemy: Two Fossil Sciences," Dr. Graubard is also a well known worker in biological science. With fourteen papers to his credit on pigments and hormones, he is continuing research in that area in addition to his duties as professor in general studies at Minnesota.

In 1946 he was sent as observer on the Senate's Committee for Atomic Energy, and he has also been a Fellow of the National Research Council. He has taught and done research at the University of Chicago, Clarke College, and Columbia during his 33-year career, though Minnesota has been his permanent home since 1924.

His appearance here has been arranged by the University of Minnesota's Concert, Theater, and Lecture Service.

Four One-Act Plays Set For Mid-May; Tryouts Next Week

Desirous of trying out your talents of self-expression and dramatic ability? Anyone interested in taking part in the Little Country Theater's schedule of four one act plays for the spring quarter is urged to attend.

Tryouts for the four presentations are set for next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday from 2 to 5 each afternoon. Sixteen students are necessary to fill parts. Altogether ten men and six women are needed.

One act plays to be presented and their directors include "Out From New Bedford" by Dr. Fred Walsh, directed by Monica Savageau; "The Marriage Proposal" by Anton Chekov, directed by Mauris Mertens; "Mister Mac" by Dr. Walsh, directed by Celeste Svihovec; and "Portrait Of A Madonna" by Tennessee Williams, directed by Sam Kalainov.

No definite date has been established for the productions as yet, however, tentative plans call for their presentation sometime in mid-May.

Imagination Only Limit On Costumes For Beaux Arts Ball

Hold your horses on throwing away those Brevities costumes! They may win a prize at the Beaux Arts ball next Friday night at the Crystal.

"Color Craze" is the theme and some Brevities costumes certainly are both colorful and crazy. Hold tight for another week and wear them to the annual architectural students blowout.

Frank Scott and his WDAY orchestra will be on hand for the dance that is set to last from 9 until 1. Tickets may be obtained from any architectural student.

The annual artists blast is designed to be just that. Crazy and bizarre will be the order of the day as the Crystal ballroom in downtown Fargo becomes a maze of color for the evening.

Imagination is the only limit for costumes this year. Dig into the old family trunk, sew all night, slap together weird combinations; but by all means come in a costume.

Prizes for the best and most original garb will be given out at the dance.

Remember, anything goes at the Beaux Arts Ball next Friday night. If you don't have your costume yet, hustle.

Children's Play Set By Country Theater

Next presentation of the Little Country Theater, a former political satire changed into a children's play, "The Emperor's New Clothes" written by Hans Christian Anderson, is scheduled for three days of production on May 4, 5, and 12.

Directed by Joyce Doolittle, the performances are slated for May 4 in the evening, and May 5 at 10 in the morning. On May 12 the play will be given twice, at 10 in the morning and 2 in the afternoon. All appearances are slated for the Little Country Theater.

Setting and costumes for the play are Oriental, with the main line of action centering around the activities of a slightly stupid emperor and his scheming court retainers.

Entwined are the efforts of some fun-loving folk, intent on bursting the balloon of emperor worship, who produce a suit of clothes consisting of nothing. The cowed populace is forced to applaud this fraud and act as if the emperor was dressed in the latest fashions.

Eighteen students, faculty members, and children of faculty members make up the cast.

Other cast members include Nancy Ebeltoft, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Albright, and their children Mia, Edward, and Susan.

Tickets for the play may be obtained now at the Little Country Theater ticket office on the second floor of the administration building. Prices are fifty cents for adults and twenty-five cents for students. The play is the last full length production scheduled by the LCT this quarter.

Notice

Reggie Gorder, editor presumptive of the Bison annual, announces a meeting will be held next Friday afternoon at 4 in the publications office for all prospective staff members for next year.

"Broadway in Dakota"! Backdrops for Brevities production acts hung in myriad array last week as final preparations for the long awaited campus variety show were hurriedly wiped out.

Bison Brevities Offers Entertainment As Student Show Captures Audiences

By Bernard Altenburg

"Splendiferous and exciting!" Such is the majority reaction to this year's production of the Blue Key sponsored Bison Brevities.

Three hundred students cavort on stage for two hours, in ten separate acts and in conjunction with the great Kappa Kappa Psi pit band, to help make this year's show the best in recent years.

Throughout the show the emphasis is on entertainment. The music is fast-paced and strongly played, the acts snap quickly, and the emceeing of Hal Miller combine to make the performance sparkle throughout.

Dale Sarff's band nearly dominates the Brevities. Without its fine work the acts could not move with such rapidity. Long hours of practice show up in the dexterity with which each section performs.

Leading off the ten act program is the Alpha Gamma Delta sorority-Kappa Psi fraternity entry of "Choral Capers". Featuring a unique chorus in readings ranging from Mary Had A Little Lamb, to Chuck Phillip's Gerald McBoing-Boing and Jim Kennedy's recitation of the Gettysburg Address, the act is an ideal opener.

Legs, legs, legs are the feature of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority's curtain act "La Artiste", featuring impressionistic dancing.

Perhaps the liveliest act in the entire show is Kappa Alpha Theta sorority-Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity's pleasing "Meet Me At The Mardi Gras". Hero-type Fred Flanders and beauteous Barbara Peterson parade through a 'girl catch boy' routine. Adding luster is the epic of the two cats, Maynard Helgaas and Carol Solby.

Second curtain act of the program is the highly polished Independent Students Association interpretation of "Slaughter On Tenth Avenue". Dancing star Kay Link and suave Mickey Jordan cavort through with almost professional ease.

Janet Saba, she of the fabulous Voice, dominates Kappa Delta sorority-Sigma Chi fraternity's presentation of "Moon Honey-moon." Unusual scenery and dancing, plus the singing of Sandra Haas and the comic riot of Martha Connally help make the act outstanding.

"Storybook", lighthearted curtain act of Gamma Phi Beta sorority adds up to an enjoyable pocketful of entertainment. Janet Abrahamson as the fairy princess and wonderful Pat Larson pace a great effort.

"Basketball Ballet", featuring cute Ginnee Sinner, and presented by Kappa Alpha Theta sorority-Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity opens the show following intermission.

"Pen Pals," originated by Alpha Tau Omega fraternity and the only all-male production act in the show, is colorful and precise. Little Dale Nelson, owning one of the biggest voices in the company, and Charlie Steffen as an imitation "femme fatale" headline the skit.

"Foxhunt", last curtain number of the program, throbs with calypso rhythm. Art Landau as the fox and Tom Pfennig as the hunter lead the routine, with three curvaceous gals looking on in a Theta Chi fraternity bit.

Last act on the program, but not last in quality, is Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority-Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity's effort "Down Yonder". Fabulous Lloyd Larson, talented Ann Whiting, and the wonderful singing of Ruth Mortenson help make the fast-paced effort graceful.

All in all the Brevities are top-notch. To all the people onstage and off, who helped make the show great, congratulations are in order.

To Brevities director Robert Gion, hats off. Cheers for make-up director Sigrid Halldorson and her crew of gals from the dark abyss. Stage manager Reg Gorder and lighting coordinator Larry Meyer managed difficult problems easily.

Music arranged by Paul Hanson contributed greatly to the overall success of the show. All we can actually say is, if you haven't seen the performance—catch it tonight. Tickets may still be on sale.

"I'm afraid women and social drinking weren't exactly the extracurricular activities we had in mind!"

Kampus Klues . . .

One of NDSC's biggest functions of the year will be at its peak this evening as the last performance of the 1956 Bison Brevities is presented. Highlighting this evening's activities will be the presentation of awards at the end of the last act to the winners. Congratulations to the lucky winners.

Also on the agenda for this evening will no doubt be a party, as has been the custom in the past. This is usually a good place for all those in Brevities to relax and get rid of all the tension that has mounted up.

Clue of the week: Please refrain from calling the women's dorm this Saturday morning. Many Bison Brevities performers will be catching up on sleep lost after a hectic week of practicing.

AGR Fraternity Holds Founders Banquet; Honors Dean Walster For Services

LaVern Freeh, a graduate of NDSC, was guest speaker at the Alpha Gamma Rho Founder's Day banquet which was held in the Gardner Hotel Friday, April 13.

The main feature of the evening was the presentation of an award to H. L. Walster, former dean of the school of agriculture, for outstanding contributions to the fraternity and to the state of North Dakota.

Walster, an AGR from the University of Wisconsin, has taken an active interest in the SC chapter during his years here and has made valuable contributions to the state through his unceasing efforts to improve the staff and facilities of the School of Agriculture and the Experiment Station.

Madson, SPD, is pinned to Audrey Larson, Moorhead. It must be spring fever, although it could hardly be attributed to this beautiful spring weather.

HOW TO BE A THUMPING BIG SUCCESS ON CAMPUS

While up in the attic last week hiding from a bill collector I came across a letter, yellow now with age, that dear old Dad had sent me when I was a freshman. I read the letter again and recalled, with many a sigh and not a few tears, what an inspiration it had been to me back in my freshman days. I reproduce it below in the hope that it may light your way as it did mine.

"Dear Son, (Dad always called me Son. This was short for Sonnenberg, which was originally my first name. I later traded it with a man named Max. He threw in two outfielders and a left-handed pitcher . . . But I digress.)

"Dear Son, (Dad wrote)

"I suppose you are finding college very big and bewildering, and maybe a little frightening too. Well, it need not be that way if you will follow a few simple rules.

"First of all, if you have any problems, take them to your teachers. They want to help you. That's what they are there for. Perhaps they do seem rather aloof and forbidding, but that is only because they are so busy. You will find your teachers warm as toast and friendly as pups if you will call on them at an hour when they are not overly busy. Four a.m., for instance.

"Second, learn to budget your time. What with classes, activities, studying, and social life all competing for your time, it is easy to fall into sloppy habits. You must set up a rigid schedule and stick to it. Remember, there are only 24 hours in a day. Three of these hours are spent in class. For every hour in class, you must, of course, spend two hours studying. So there go six more hours. Then, as everyone knows, for every hour of studying, you must spend two hours sleeping. That accounts for another twelve hours. Then there are meals—two hours each for breakfast and lunch, three hours for dinner. Never forget, Sonnenberg, you must chew each mouthful 288 times. You show me a backward student, and I'll show you a man who bolts his food.

"But college is more than just sleeping, eating, and studying. There are also many interesting and broadening activities, and you would be cheating yourself if you neglected them. You'll want to give at least an hour a day to the campus newspaper and yearbook, and, of course, another hour each to the dramatic and music clubs. And let's say a total of three hours daily to the stamp club, the foreign affairs club, and the debating society. Then, of course, a couple of hours for fencing and bird-walking, a couple more for square dancing and basket weaving, and one or two for cribbage and ice-sculpturing.

"Finally, we come to the most important part of each day—what I call 'The Quiet Time.' This is a period in which you renew yourself—just relax and think green thoughts and smoke Philip Morris Cigarettes.

"Why Philip Morris? because they are the natural complement to an active life; they are gentle, they are benign, they are tranquil, they are a treat to the tired, a boon to the spent, a haven to the storm-tossed. That's why.

"Well, Sonnenberg, I guess that's about all. Your mother sends her love. She has just finished putting up rather a large batch of pickles—in fact, 350,000 jars. I told her that with you away at school, we would not need so many, but lovable old Mother is such a creature of habit that though I hit her quite hard several times, she insisted on going ahead.

Your ever lovin'
Dad."

Lan Anders Quizzes Student's Opinion Of UCLA Sweaters

By Lan Anders

Do you think the AC Bookstore should sell UCLA sweatshirts?

GRUNDU AUGGENBLUCK, Grad student in Hides and Tallovs from Strhul, North Dakota: "I just don't understand it. The students on this campus should indeed strive for bigger and better things. If they must sell such things as sweatshirts, why don't they select a school such as the University of Minnesota to represent on the (ugh) sweatshirts?"

FAIRHEAD GARTERSNAPPER, Senior in Alcohol from Port Emma: "What bookstore?"

OBELIA PERISARC, Freshman in Coelenterates from Medusa, Minn.: "Very cool. The students on this campus are so hep and they just dig all the latest scoop in the mostest gone manner. I just can't enunciate enough in the manner of letting you folks know that if it is the fad and the indeed latest and that I shall be oh so glad to go along and buy one of these UCLA sweatshirts."

JIM BEAM, Sophomore in Hops from Schenley, South Carolina: "Sall right with me . . . I don't go to school here too often. But when I do go, I think it would be okay to wear one of those shirts. Nobody has ever heard of UCLA so what difference does it make?"

LEMNA UGGERSNORT, Senior in Flowers from Nature, N. Dak.: "So silly. Who wears sweatshirts?"

SCHIZO PHRENIA, Sophomore in Half from Uglamort, New York: "I would be in favor of the bookstore selling some thing like UCLA bookcovers or UCLA seals or UCLA toothpaste or undershirts or UCLA carbon paper. But I really do think it would be strange (by that I mean unusual) to sell something as uncommon as sweatshirts. My goodness, who sweats?"

Wesley Foundation Elects New Officers; Hears Guest Speakers

Dr. Dwain T. Ervin will be featured as guest speaker at the weekly Sunday night meeting of the Wesley Foundation this Sunday evening, April 22, at 6 p.m. in the First Methodist Church.

At a supper meeting next Thursday, April 26, Reverend John Lutz will speak on "The Church and the Holy Spirit." The meeting will be held at 5:30 in the College Y Wesley rooms.

Officers for the coming year were elected at last week's meeting and included Dick Teichmann, president; Dave Lund, vice president; Mary Ann Burn, secretary; Jo Ann Tomlinson, corresponding secretary; Louis Blattner, treasurer; Nwanke Harbor, world Christian community chairman.

Jim Pomeroy, special projects; Jim Unkenholz, inter-religious council representative; Lynnel Buchanan, song leader; and Richard Mowbray, room manager.

Plans for sending representatives to the General Conference of the Methodist Church in Minneapolis the weekend of May 5 and 6 were discussed.

At State

and assorted other impediments of spring? Picnikers of last weekend were dismayed by the cold weather, plus one or two other minor points of friction, and thus the usual collegiate life of the spring quarter is reduced to fretful daydreams.

Certainly one bright morning the grass will spring out of its frosty cellar and the leaves burst on the trees. Please pardon the sloppy sentimentality, but it would be fun to have one's last spring in college nice and relaxed. Anyone for a fast game of shovel that snow?

Spotlight of campus attention this week is mainly on the friendly old State fieldhouse where the frenetic minions of Blue Key, along with approximately three hundred people performing in various acts, are scampering through the greatest Bison Brevities in history.

Tonight the curtain rings down on the 1956 production and another fun-filled collegiate variety show passes into limbo, after six weeks of frenzied and often snarling preparations. Now all we can do is wait with short breath for the announcements of the winning production act, curtain act, and the two outstanding individual performers of the year.

Pardon us for bragging in this miserable collection of drivel, but the outstanding male and female performer awards are sponsored annually by your friendly old student newspaper. Chuckle.

On the political front Wayne Weatherford, rising young DFL leader in Minnesota, reports that the pilgrimage to the seat of power at Minneapolis last weekend was most enjoyable. Yuh.

Our own Little Country Theater is presenting its last three act presentation of the year, "The Emperor's New Clothes," next weekend. Although its intellectual content is rather limited, reports indicate that the usual stellar attractions are on hand. Tickets may be obtained at the speech department anytime.

Additionally, Charles Abrahamson, "Rising young Rock Hudson about campus" spent several evenings recently judging the dramatic talents of Clay County 4-H youths. His comments on the theatrical aplomb of the younguns are censored.

Our local militarists, the ROTC cadets, are enjoying this un-springlike weather. Lectures continue in the warm comfort of the gunrooms—no drills.

Latest addition to the evergrowing covey of courses offered by the SC department of arts and science is a thrilling little game entitled "humanities". If you want culture in a hurry, try and squeeze this shooter into your schedule sometime. It's the most?

The clock on the wall says its time to abandon the typewriter and hie over to our other office. Live high—see you next time around.

"Out On A Bender" - - - By Barff Upstate Giant Poses Problem Next Year

By The Redhead

The original "Out on a Bender" Barff is up to his neck with the Brevities so you poor people will have to suffer through with me.

Here's a note from the head baseball coach. "Bony" would like to have anyone (girls too??) interested in playing baseball to see either him or Pat Vickers about playing on the 'B' or freshman teams. Coach Rothrock also emphasized that there are still openings on the varsity team for those who have the ability. The schedule has not been completed, but the teams are sure to play five or six games each. See "Bony" or Pat, anyone who is interested.

The reports from upstate about the 6'8" basketball player from Louisville University are true. The Sioux are really going to be after our scalps next year. In a city league playoff last week up north, Haaven and this "kid" Russah really had a duel. Anyway you look at it, big John Haas is going to have his hands full next year.

Sorry to make everyone wait for the naming of the ping-pong champion, but head-man Irv Kaiser said the final matches were under protest (the referee was loaded) and a rematch has been scheduled. Hope they decide it soon as the suspense is really terrific!

Gordy Tiegen urges all the bowlers to get their entries in for the all-college bowling tourney. Bowling in the "singles" category starts next Tuesday, April 24th. The cost is only what it costs to bowl—30c per line. If you think it's not worthwhile, take a gander at the gold on display over at the Intramural sports are sneaking into the news again. There are fourteen teams signed up for softball this spring. The games will be played off campus, since the facilities on campus will not be available this spring. Also there will be an organizational meeting for intramural golf and tennis on Monday.

Here's something to catch the golf enthusiast's eye. Mr. Kaiser urges all candidates for the golf team to contact him as soon as possible. The first golf meet comes up May 2, and Erv is anxious to get the ball rolling.

Not much else this week, except what a heckuva long week—waiting for that check. One thing for sure, it will be a heck of a wild Friday Club meeting. So long for this week.

To Extend Membership

Minister - Labor Mediator To Address Open Forum Tuesday

"Shop Apron and Pulpit Gown" is the subject of next Fargo-Moorhead Open Forum discussion April 24. Speaker is Dr. Clair Cook, acting head of the National Religion and Labor Foundation, Columbus, Ohio. He is brought here by the Minnkota Religion and Labor Fellowship.

Dr. Cook was born and brought up in Minnesota where his father taught school. He is a graduate of Hamline University, St. Paul, Minn., and Boston University School of Theology; also Doctor of Theology in social ethics from Boston University in 1953. So far as he is able to discover, he is the only holder of a Doctor of Theology degree for work in church-labor relations.

He was ordained in the Methodist Church in 1935 and served churches in Vermont, New Hampshire and Massachusetts for six years before going into industry.

From 1941-47 he worked in industry, becoming a first-class turret lathe operator. In 1943 when the CIO began to organize the shop, he wrote the local constitution and sat in on contract negotiations. For six months he served as full time financial secretary of the 1500 member union and was elected one of the nine-man executive board for the New England region.

In 1947 he went back to the ministry and started work on his doctor's degree. In 1950-51 he worked for seven months as a turret lathe operator on a regular eight hour shift while serving his parish, and in 1953 worked in a plant where he helped to organize the steelworkers.

He has been a frequent contributor of articles on industrial relations and church-labor problems in The Christian Century and other magazines. He is author of "The Modern Samaritan," a social action handbook to be used throughout the Methodist Church. He is also an experienced mediator in industrial disputes.

Dr. Cook will talk to the Moorhead Rotary at the Moorhead Country Club Tuesday noon, April 24, in the afternoon to a social science group at MSTC, and will address the Open Forum at 8 p.m. in Emerson School in Fargo. The public is invited.
