Blue Key Honorary Honors Euren With Doctor Of Service Award

Bill Euren, selected by Blue Key as winner of the Doctor of Service Award for 1956, was honored at the annual Doctor of Service Banquet which was held Thursday evening, May 24, 1956, at the Frederick Martin Hotel.

Members of Blue Key, Senior Staff, advisors to the groups together with other members of the NDSC faculty and staff attended the banquet.

Bill Euren is associate professor of music at NDSC and is well known throughout the state for his direction of the famous NDSC Gold Star Band. Bill was graduated from NDSC in 1933; he received his Masters degree in music from McPhail School of Music in 1951.

In announcing the award Blue Key stated: "Bill gives generously of his time and puts into his work a contagious spirit of enthusiasm. A result every member of the Gold Star Band supports Mr. Euren to the limit of his ability as is demonstrated by the excellent performance of the band on the many occasions when it appears in public. Mr. Euren has gained for himself an outstanding reputation as a musician and band director. He will long be remembered for his work in establishing traditions of good school spirit for NDSC."

At the banquet, Bill again expressed his thanks to Blue Key for bestowing the honor upon him. Following that speech President Hultz made a few remarks, and Don Schwartz made a few closing comments and closed the banquet.

Arnold Air Auxil. Announces Monson New Commander

Janet Monson, junior in AAS, was announced as the new commander of Air Debs, auxiliary to Arnold Air Society, at a tea held Monday, May 28, 1956, in the Memorial Union.

Janet is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority, selected queen of 1955 Military Ball, Kappa Delta Pi, has been a cheerleader, and has participated in Spring Sing and Bison Brevities. Other officers of the group will be elected in the fall.

Eight NDSC coeds were initiated into the group at the same tea. The eight are: Lois Williams, Anita Nellermeoe, LaVonne Biel, Jean Ann Nelson, Audrey Brekke, Susan Wheeler, Gloria Reseland, and Joyce Tucker.

Sherwood Announces Nine New Members To Senior Staff

Honors Day convocation was again the scene of the announcement of the new members of Senior Staff. Retiring president, Judy Sherwood, announced the nine girls who were elected to membership in the senior women's honorary organization.

The nine girls are Sandra Haas, Beverly Pfeifer, Wilma Husband, Shirlene Schnell, Monica Savageau, Karen Sluka, Janet Fagerland, Beverly Lind, and Joyce Berg.

Senior Staff, which was organized at NDSC 33 years ago, bases its selection of members on girls which have high qualities of leadership, scholarship, have given service to the school, and which show great potential of future service.

The group sponsors two scholarships, the annual Spinsters Skip, ushers for commencement, and is planning the first annual President's Reception which will be held early next fall.

Fee Discussion Set

In order to give students adequate information on the forthcoming vote on raising student activity fees an open discussion group will be conducted next Monday evening at 8:45 in the Student Union.

At the meeting it will be explained why the proposed raise is necessary and the floor will be open to questions and discussion. All students are urged to attend and learn the facts.

Hultz And Senate Recognize Need For Student Opinion Poll On Fee Raise

At a special meeting of the Student Senate last Monday evening the following recommendation to the college administration was passed and submitted to President Fred S. Hultz.

Recognizing the need for increased operating funds for the various campus departments, the NDSC Student Senate recommends a raise in the student activity fee of $3.00 per quarter to be effective the fall quarter, 1956.

Sincerely yours,
John "Tip" Miller
President.

Tuesday afternoon the following reply, was received addressed to the Senate Commission of Campus Affairs.

"This morning I received from the Student Senate a resolution requesting an increase in quarterly student activity fees of $2 for athletic activities, $.75 for the department of music and $.25 for the Yearbook. Because I am aware of some opposition to these activity fee increases it seems wise to submit this proposition to a vote of the student body in order to secure a consensus of student opinion.

Since your Board of Campus Affairs has charge of student elections it occurs to me that it might be willing to undertake an opinion poll on this proposal some time before the present quarter closes so that the College administration may have a fuller understanding of the wishes of the students of our College on this matter. May I request therefore that your Board consider such a poll and proceed with the mechanics of undertaking it should your consideration be favorable.

Should the poll result in a favorable opinion it is the intention of the administration to make the activity fee increases effective with the fall quarter of 1956."

Sincerely,
Fred S. Hultz
President

At the regular meeting of the Commission of Campus Affairs Tuesday afternoon it was voted to follow President Hultz's suggestion and hold a student opinion poll election next Wednesday, June 6. The balloting places are to be in the Student Union, Minard Hall, the Library, Morrill Hall, Home Economics building, South Engineering, and Dolve Hall.

Election polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Students will be required to present their activity cards in order to vote.

All students are urged to vote in the election. The ballot cast will not serve as a final vote but will be considered by the administration in deciding the fee raise.

SAI Installs Nine

Omicron Chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota, national professional music sorority, installed nine seniors into the Fargo alumni chapter at a meeting held Wednesday, May 23, 1956, in Putnam Hall at NDSC.

The nine girls are Nancy Kaiser Dawson, Barbara Pederson, Delores Mithun, Merla Paunch, Nancy Eagle Loy, Joan Zielsdorf, Joyce Kirkhus, and Joan Nelson.

At the same meeting three NDAC students pledged SAI. These are Lois Bursack, Dorothy Eloffson, and Mary Louise Gludd.

Davis Featured In Second Of Gubernatorial Series

By Don Schwartz

Second in our current series of articles on the stand of gubernatorial candidates on state higher educational policies is John E. Davis, McClusky.

Davis was endorsed by the state Republican nominating convention as the party candidate in the June 26 primary election. He will be opposed in the Republican column by Ray Schnell, an old guard NPL member, who is running as an independent against Davis.

A graduate of UND in business administration, Davis owns and operates a large ranch near McClusky, runs the McClusky bank and is vice president and director of a Maddock bank. At 43, Davis is presently serving as state senator from the district including Sheridan and Kidder counties. He has served as mayor of McClusky and in 1947 was elected state commander of the American Legion, being the first World War II veteran elected to that position.

During his period in the service Davis received the Bronze Star, the Silver Star and two purple hearts and was discharged as a Lieutenant Colonel.

Davis attended high school at Fargo for three years and graduated from Bismarck High School.

The following statement by Davis was in reply to a complete questionnaire (reprinted at the end of this article) mailed to him several weeks ago.

"Under our state government full authority for supervising and looking after all the schools of higher education is vested in the Board of Higher Education. This board has the responsibility of looking after the fiscal needs of each college and works very closely with college presidents in general administration and academic policies.

"In order to coordinate all spending activities the budget board working with the Board of Higher Education and each college prepare annual operating budgets for submission to the Legislature. The legislature, after great deliberation to the needs of our schools, institutions, and other agencies of the state, make appropriations for all operations based on the money available from the many taxes that are levied and collected. Your question 7 (increased enrollment fees question) about answers most of your questions. The lack of money to do the many things that are necessary not only at the A. C. but in every other school presents the big question. Increasing the tax levy to try and bring in revenues necessary to do many of the things you mention is not an easy problem to solve. The average person is against tax increases and rightly so for our agricultural income is going down while many costs are going up so it is difficult to pay all taxes presently levied.

"There is no doubt that increased enrollment and that present facilities are crowded so new ones are needed. The new finance program under consideration by the Board of Higher Education is certainly deserving of study and probably will be considered by the next legislative body. Frankly, I have not been briefed on the entire plan so I am not fully informed on what can be done with it. I intend to learn more about it when this campaign is finished.

"Question 8 (scholarship plan question) certainly has merit and deserves consideration. Scholarship inducements for students not otherwise able to attend college and willing to remain in N. Dak. has been considered by the Legislature in the case of engineering students, but did not meet general approval.

"I believe we should continually work to improve the college facilities and the college authorities should work through the Board of Higher Education and the budget board. Certainly the biggest handicap in completing many of the projects recognized as necessary improvements is the lack of adequate finances. The creation of new wealth and establishment of new industries will greatly aid our tax income.

"When nominated in June and elected in November, I will certainly give the problem of our schools more study and attention and appreciate the information given me. Getting elected is a big job and working on it has become a full time job."

For the interest of those readers who missed last week's interview with Wallace Warner here is a complete reprint of the questionnaire which was mailed to the gubernatorial candidates.

Q. In light of the rapidly increasing enrollment at NDSC (20% in the past year) and the prospects of greater future enrollments when the "war babies" attain college age, do you feel that special interest should be taken in our state college system and that appropriations should be generally increased to adequately provide educational facilities?

Q. One of the most pressing problems of increased enrollments is the lack or inadequacy of buildings and space on campus. What type or system of building program do you think feasible to provide these buildings which are needed immediately?

Final Decision On Fee Raise Dependent Upon Student Interest In Opinion Poll

This week, at last, may see the end of the controversy over the Student Activity Fee raise. As can be seen on page one, there will be a student opinion poll on Wednesday, at which we students will be asked to say yes or no to the fee raise.

This is perhaps the most important election you will have taken part in, and it is important that we all get out and cast our vote.

Due to the recent controversy, I believe it is safe to assume that most, if not all, NDSC students have become aware of the need for the fee raise. However, in case there are some who are not clear as to the need for the raise, there will be a discussion held in the Student Union Monday night which will be open to anyone interested in Wednesday's poll.

The final decision is up to Dr. Hultz, and each one of us can be of great assistance to him if we get out and let our stand be known.

Yearbook Staff Can Relax Again After Distribution Of 1956 Annual

The climax of a year's work came Monday morning at 8:00 when 2200 copies of the 1956 Bison arrived in Fargo. On hand to receive the many boxes were Mel Ostby, Jon Dewey, Reggie Gorder, Bev Pfeifer, Judy Hammer, and Kerry Murphy, all members of the hard-working staff.

Adorned with a bright brown and yellow cover the annual was eagerly scanned by the staff who were anxious to see it in its completed form. Groans of dismay were heard as the copy editor noticed a mistake the printer forgot to correct, and the layout editor saw how a favorite page actually looked in printed form.

A new addition to the book was the enclosing of a phonograph record inside each copy. The record tells the listener the happenings at NDSC during the past year. The record, which was paid for by contributions from Blue Key, Student Senate, and the Board of Publications, was recorded by Kay Bank recordings. The actual work was done by staff members of KDSC Campus Radio under the direction of Jack Larsen, station manager.

The music for the record was furnished by the College Choir and the Gold Star Band. The danceable combo music was furnished by the popular Gayle Taverna Combo. An interesting comment is the colors green and yellow which appear on the record.

Clever captions for good pictures seem to be the most interesting part of the book this year (not many people have had much time to read anything else). The majority of these captions, particularly the ones appearing under pictures in the index, and also all copy (including the poems) which appear on division pages is the result of Judy Hammer's clever pen.

Although a few gripes are made by just a few people the majority of Staters seem to agree that the 1956 edition of the Bison is the best ever produced. Now everyone looks forward to see what the 1957 staff of the Bison will produce.

Attributes And Fallacies Of Affectionate Husband Cited By Anonymous Writer

By Anonymous

An affectionate husband is one who does not accept the easy philosophy that there is no use running for a bus after you have caught it. He does not allow his affections to come to an end with his courting days, but keeps right on.

He greets his wife with a kiss regularly when he returns from work in the evening. His wife, no doubt, has had a hard day. Very probably the washing machine broke down in the middle of a big wash. If it was a normal day the telephone will have been ringing from early morning till late afternoon.

The chances are that if an effort was made to relax during the day, rest was interrupted by someone at the front door. No doubt the wife discovered that the house is coming apart, and is crying for paint and repairs. Perhaps the car wouldn't start. It could be that members of the committee of which she is chairman have laid down on the job.

In any event, the wife will be at her wit's end. She will be wondering if life is worthwhile. At that distressing point her husband will rush in and lose no time in implanting a kiss.

That will change the whole complexion of the day. The wife will thrill to this evidence that she is loved. She will reflect on what a lucky woman she is to have such a thoughtful and considerate and affectionate husband.

Of course, it must be confessed that he has his shortcomings. Now that he has settled in his chair he will be buried in a newspaper for the rest of the evening. But that is a small matter when compared with his display of affection.

Why then does he spoil it all a few moments later by looking up and inquiring, "By the way, did I kiss you?"

Fee Raise Is Still Inspiration For Letters To Editor

At the risk of being accused of being a member of the Mafia, the Gestapo, and like that, I have a few comments concerning the raising of activity fees.

In regard to that terrifyingly tyrannical body, the Student Senate—which 1300 students elected—there are some things which should be understood by most grade school children. The Senate was elected by a bigger percentage than the percentage of eligible voters that elects the President of the United States. In other words, it was certainly fairly elected. Next, the Senate is composed of Students no different from you and I who pay their activity fees just as regularly as we do. They are not receiving a cut for their services, nor are salaried for their work for the students. Supposedly, they are closer to the problems concerning the students in connection with the college. They are elected to try to do what is right for the most students and thereby for the school. Their gain is nothing but loss of time. The Senate members are a few of the small percentage of students who are willing to spend their time to help the school.

With these basic facts let us glance at recent epistles to this friendly publication, a little more closely. An interesting fellow has, for the lack of something to do with his spare time, been working on the screen scenario of a dramatic new picture—THE STUDENT SENATE AND HOW IT IS BILKING THE STUDENTS—or—I'VE BEEN ROBBED. This small-time Cecil B. DeMille is a little out of his element. Certainly his element is far removed from her—we hope. Not content with calling the Senate a group of deliberately grafting individuals, he embellishes his remarks with words coined by writers of intrigue, mystery and like that. I'm certain this fellow's talents of imagination are sorely in need of other—preferably far-removed—corners of the world.

At any rate, in regard to the raising of the activity fees, there is only this to say. The only comments concerning the Senate from the majority of the student body is that they do nothing. Well, I've got news. You don't get anything for free anymore. The athletic setup is in bad shape, financially. So is the music department. If you don't want to pay for it, don't gripe. But—when you've got a minute—think about the students who—ten years ago—started to pay for a student union that many of them will never see. And, they voted to pay it.

Our only criticism is not with the unhappiness expressed with the Senate, but with the rabble-rousing din of dramatic language and lack of sincerity with which it was expressed. I am sure that the student body can examine facts well enough without having them painted with flourishes and Hollywoodish effects.

HAL MILLER

P.S. If anyone needs an excellent science fiction writer, I can recommend a very frightening one.

H. M.

EDITOR'S NOTE: It is with a sigh of relief that I read on the front page of this week's publication an article stating that an opinion poll will be taken Wednesday to clarify the stand of the student on the fee raise issue.

It has been a grueling battle for everyone involved, and it is glad we are to see that concrete action is being taken.

The important part of this action is that we need the raise for next year and if the students agree on that point this Wednesday we will have the raise next fall.

Q. Generally considered number one on the building program is the Pharmacy building. Would you favor recommending the next legislature to appropriate funds for this building?

Q. Morrill Hall presently houses both the school of agriculture and the extension service and is very overcrowded and lacks laboratory facilities. Would you recommend the next legislature to appropriate funds for an addition to Morrill Hall?

Q. It has been discussed that a separate building for the extension service would ease conditions on space and classrooms and would make a more efficient extension department. What is your opinion on this point?

Q. Here we might interject this point. Students of NDSC have long felt that the University of North Dakota has been given preference over SC in regard to allocation of funds, building program, student facilities, etc., because UND has been considered the "larger" school. In light of the fact that NDSC is graduating 416 seniors compared to 386 at UND and 52 NDSC graduate students compared to 36 at UND do you think NDSC should be considered more prominently in appropriation matters and more specific attention be given to NDSC to bring its facilities up to equal par with UND?

Q. As an example of this feeling by students a comparison could be drawn between the UND field house and NDSC's. The UND building has a seating capacity of approximately 7,000 compared to 3,600 at NDSC. UND has a swimming pool, separate basketball courts, handball courts, etc. Appropriations have been asked for many years to complete the swimming pool which is partially constructed under the NDSC fieldhouse now. Would you recommend allocating funds to complete the swimming pool?

Q. Even if the above plan was completed the facilities of the fieldhouse would be inadequate to provide for even the present needs of NDSC. It has also been discussed that the present fieldhouse be turned over to the ROTC units and a new fieldhouse constructed. What is your opinion on this point?

Q. Students at NDSC have expressed the need for the construction of tennis courts so extensively that the Student Senate has discussed plan for obtaining funds for the project. It is also felt that it should not be the position of the students to pay for this recreational facility out of their own pockets. What is your opinion?

Q. Another prominent problem coupled with increased enrollment figures is the lack of an adequate teaching staff to meet the demands of classroom instruction. Would you be in favor of expanding the college budget to allow hiring more instructors?

Q. Along with this problem is the question of salaries to college professors. One of the reasons for the instructor shortage is the competitive salary offerings of industry for top college men who would be more valuable as instructors. Would you favor increasing the college budget to allow salary increases to instructors?

Q. Last year, as an attempt to meet increasing budget demands, NDSC was forced to increase enrollment fees which, of course, places more financial pressure on students, many of whom are finding it increasingly difficult to finance their college educations. Would you favor increased appropriations to the college and a reduction in fees?

Q. Would you favor establishing an extensive scholarship plan which would encourage greater numbers of outstanding students to attend North Dakota colleges as an attempt to keep "home grown" talent within the state?

Q. Recently discussed at the North Dakota Pressman's convention was the need to encourage more North Dakota students to major in journalism and the very great need of agricultural journalists in the state. Would you favor either moving the school of journalism from UND to NDSC or the establishment of a journalism major at NDSC, where students with agricultural interests are enrolled and would be more likely to study journalism?

Q. Would you favor or encourage the establishment of a more extensive foreign exchange student program thru the state's colleges which not only increases the educational background a school offers but also promotes friendly international relations?

Q. A matter which has held student interest in recent years is the possibility of changing the name of the college to North Dakota State College or North Dakota State Agricultural and Mechanical College. Students in all departments of the college generally favor the change for they are proud that the school of engineering, pharmacy, chemistry, and home economics are rated very highly on a national scale.

THE TRUE AND TYPICAL CASE OF CHATSWORTH OSCEOLA

The school year draws to an end, and everybody is wondering about the future — everybody, that is, except the engineers. Today there is not a single engineer on a single campus who has not received a dozen fabulous offers from a dozen corporations.

All this, of course, you know. But do you know just how fabulous these offers are? Do you have any idea how wildly the corporations are competing? Let me cite for you the true and typical case of Chatsworth Osceola, a true and typical senior.

Chatsworth, walking across the M.I.T. campus one day last week, was hailed by a man parked at the curb in a yellow convertible studded with precious gemstones. "Hello," said the man. "I am Darien T. Sigafos of the Sigafos Bearing and Bushing Company. Do you like this car?"

"Yeah, hey," said Chatsworth.

"It's yours," said Sigafos.

"Thanks, hey," said Chatsworth.

"Do you like Philip Morris?" said Sigafos.

"Of corris!" said Chatsworth.

"Here is a pack," said Sigafos. "And a new pack will be delivered to you at six-hour intervals every day as long as you shall live."

"Thanks, hey," said Chatsworth.

"Does your wife like Philip Morris?" said Sigafos.

"I'm not married," said Chatsworth.

"Do you want to be?" said Sigafos.

"What American boy doesn't?" said Chatsworth.

Sigafos pressed a button on the dashboard of the convertible, and the trunk opened up, and out came a nubile maiden with golden hair, flawless features, a perfect disposition, and the appendix already removed. "This is Laurel Geduldig," said Sigafos. "Would you like to marry her?"

"Is her appendix out?" said Chatsworth.

"Yes," said Sigafos.

"Okay," said Chatsworth.

"Congratulations," said Sigafos. "And for the happy bride, a pack of Philip Morris every six hours for the rest of her life."

"Thanks, hey," said Laurel.

"Now then," said Sigafos to Chatsworth, "let's get down to business. My company will start you at $45,000 a year. You will retire at full salary upon reaching the age of 28. When you start work, we will give you a three-story house made of bullion, complete with a French Provincial swimming pool. We will provide sitter service for all your children until they are safely through puberty. We will guarantee to keep your teeth in good repair; also the teeth of your wife and children unto the third generation. We will send your dentist a pack of Philip Morris every six hours as long as he shall live. . . . Now, son, think carefully about this offer. Meanwhile, here is one thousand dollars in small, unmarked bills, which places you under no obligation whatsoever."

"It certainly seems like a fair offer," said Chatsworth. "But there is something you should know. I am not an engineer. In fact, I don't go to M.I.T. I am a poetry major at Harvard. I just came over here on a bird walk."

"Oh," said Sigafos.

"I guess I don't get to keep this money and the convertible and Laurel now, do I?" said Chatsworth.

"Of course you do," said Sigafos. "And if you'd like the job, my offer still stands."

Cheerleaders Chosen For 1956-57

Smile so that personality shows right through, gals, 'cause you've just been chosen to assist in the never-ending quest for spirit at Bison athletic contests. But rest while you can, for next fall begins the jumping-jack routine of locomotives and rah-rah cheers.

Karen Edinger, Jean Ann Nelson, and Pat Larson will be three of the five NDSC cheerleaders next year. The announcement was made by Gene Stockman, commissioner of athletics.

Tryouts were held at Festival Hall the afternoon of May 24, and ten girls took part in the competition.

Next fall two freshman girls will be chosen to join the three already picked. Under the new arrangement there will be no freshman cheerleaders.

At State

By Lee Johnson

Surprise. I imagine that most of you underprivileged readers had bespoken yourselves of the hope that this wastrel was at last gone from the fabled stomping grounds of the Spectrum. Never fear, like some uncalled for phantom—old editors do occasionally return to the scenes of their former deprecations. (You will please pardon some of the expressions used above, but I have recently been engaged in studying for an English test.)

Well, it's great to be back in the familiar confines of the publications office for one last fling at playing journalist before venturing out into the cruel workaday world. It is doubtful if any employer will hire me anyway . . . so, let us have our last few lines of joyous gassing.

On the topic of newspapers one of the most illustrious of all former Spectrum staff members returns to our fair city today. Sam "Ambrose" Lowe, erstwhile sports editor of the Spectrum and fabled baseball player of yore, begins work on the Fargo Forum sports desk today.

Recently old "SA" has been employed as the genial man about the city by the Jamestown Sun and served in an official capacity as sports editor. Although no bands will be playing and many will not remember Sam—his sports coverage added much to the SC sheet and is sure to be a valuable contribution to the pages of the Fargo Forum.

Fargo's newest restaurant, the Pizza Emporium, located on Northern Pacific Avenue has been closed by the long arm of the law. Sah, Benito, Tony and Company have been forced out of business for several minor infractions of state statutes. No more pizza in Fargo-Moorhead. Guess we'll all have to wait for Geno Cortese's marvelous new emporium to open July 15. Oh, well, reports from the San Francisco area reveal that pizza is plentiful in the land of the golden gate.

Numerous cries are going up from the Little Country Theater over the amazing dearth of prominent actors at the campus playhouse. Old standbys Chuck Abrahamson and Keith Amundson are leaving school and no new John Barrymores have arisen from the ranks to fill their places.

Last big fraternal gathering of the year was held last Friday evening at Lindenwood. Under the combined sponsorship of Interfraternity-Panhellenic council, the finale of Greek Week went off with a large huzzah.

Myriads of the collegiate-type golden boys and girls lived high into the fading moments of twilight. Food and the golden liquid were in abundance and fine moments of friendship were enjoyed by all.

Fabulous spring weather seems to be bringing out the golfers among the student body. "Barff-Barff" Bender, dead-eye Schkenberger, and others are littering the local courses with crap as they carouse about—on the pretense of chasing the little white ball. What's old State coming too, probably better than ever.

This campus is bound to miss at least one of the graduating seniors. It is doubtful if many campuses produce cartoonists with the ability and sense of humor of the illustrious Robert Guyer.

For the past two years the pages of the Spectrum have been graced with his drawings and this past year the Bison annual was aided in no small way by his fine work. Indeed it's hard to see Robbie-Bob go. Years may pass before a person of his intelligence and likeableness return to State.

And now as we come to the end of the page and the space, time moves again and Down Here must return to the shadows from whence it came. It has been great fun returning to harangue you for another week. Have fun and live high! College comes only once in the life of everyone. See you all in California. North Dakota is dead!

Tunic Twirlers Start Greek Week With Torches; Dance

Ghost like figures descended upon the NDSC Campus Mall Monday Evening to set in motion the third annual Greek Week in a blaze of torches and flurry of dancing feet.

The festive evening was begun with the lighting of the torches by representatives of each Greek organization on campus. A warm evening found the Gods and Goddesses resplendent in their white toga-like garments, that had undoubtedly been stolen from the nearest linen closet, and wrapped about them in many ways and styles. These "Tunics" were then decorated with fraternity and sorority colors, or in any way that suited the wearers fancy. Some of the tunics were just plain "fancy".

After the torch lighting ceremony, the Greeks converged on the patio of the Union to continue the theme of the evening by dancing under the stars in the cool, whippy Tunics. Here they detoured from the traditional Greek-like form of symphonic melodies to dance to music played by "Aristotle" Jack Larson on his "45 rpm" book of philosophy.

No, not ghosts, just the Tunic Twirlers setting in motion the third annual Greek Week festivities with the torch lighting ceremony and dance on the Campus Mall and Union Patio.

Dancing proved to be quite an undertaking as some of the Tunics untwirled and the dancers twirled, but the Greek Week buttons came to rescue in many of the cases and the dancing continued without due effect of any consequence.

As the shades of night deepened, the Tunic Twirlers drifted off into the darkness to await the forthcoming events that were to follow in the days to come. And all that was left to ponder and reflect, were the Greek Columns and the burned out torches that had lighted the evening only shortly before.

College Seniors Most Wanted Men By Big Business

Big business is out to hire college seniors this year as never before in history. Since January, says Herrymon Maurer in the June Reader's Digest, American college campuses have been thronged by thousands of business scouts inspecting tens of thousands of seniors.

Sears Roebuck wants to hire 500 before they graduate; U. S. Steel wants 850; General Motors aims for 2000. Starting salaries have soared. As of last November, 160 companies expected to pay an average of $394 a month for engineers, $352 for accountants, $358 for salesmen. These figures are more than 50 percent higher than in 1947, and demonstrate the rising premium put on college men. The Digest article, condensed from Fortune, says that today three fourths of top executives are college-trained.

Men of non-specialized education in business or the liberal arts, though initially less sought after, have a promising outlook and are increasingly wanted even by manufacturing companies. In Jersey Standard, for instance, 33 per cent of all college graduates have non-technical degrees.

The senior must face some hard decisions, the article points out. Since he is investing the cost of his education (close to $10,000) and possibly his entire career in one company, he should give intensive study to that organization's methods and prospects.

Despite all efforts to find the right men (one firm figures its average cost to recruit and interview a candidate is $1600), companies lose many after hiring. In 126 firms surveyed by Northwestern University, turnover averaged 33 percent during the graduates' first five years of work.

Though they are naturally ambitious to reach the top, graduates should be aware that the summits of business are sparsely inhabited. One large company says that 75 percent of hired graduates will reach the "beginning level of middle management," paying $10,000, but that only 25 percent of this group will advance to higher strata paying $15,000 or more.

KDSC Reports On Wallpaper Plates And New Records

By Art Lies

Plates glued on to the wall? Yes, indeed. Plates glued to three walls. Where? At KDSC. How come? "By fastening these plates to the walls of Studio A, we hope to improve the acoustics by decreasing sound bounce," said technical director Don Grimm.

This is the latest innovation in the continued improvement of your campus radio station, KDSC.

Ever wonder how the record that you found in the cover of your Bison annual was made? It was made through the facilities of KDSC campus radio in conjunction with the Bison staff. Tape records were made of the campus sounds, and these tapes were combined into a master tape by KDSC personnel. This master tape was then sent to the Kay Bank Recording Company in Minneapolis who put the tape onto the 45 rpm discs which you received.

Another first was set by your campus radio station when it moved its remote facilities to the terrace of the student union to provide recorded music for the Tunic Twirl. Jack Larson did the on-the-spot disc jockeying.

Have you heard the Jazz Promoters? They are a four-piece combo from Fargo playing strictly jazz which has made two impromptu appearances to date on KDSC. Featuring piano, bass, drums, and guitar, these fellows have given regular KDSC listeners an unexpected treat.

New record hits received this week at KDSC from RCA Victor include "Glendora" and "More" by Perry Como. This is Perry's try for continued success to follow after his waxing of "Hot Diggity" soared past the million mark in sales.

June Valli offers back-to-back pressings of "Shangri-La" and "I've Got Something In My Eye." The former is the title tune from an up and coming Broadway musical, and the latter is a torch ballad. June is backgrounded by the Neal Hefti ork.

Other artists featured by RCA Victor this week include Billy Regis, Buddy Bregman and Otis Johnson.

These and hundreds of other records can be heard over KDSC, 750 on your radio dial. Broadcasting begins at 4:00 p.m. Monday through Friday and 11:00 a.m. Saturdays.

Attention Males

All male students desiring student deferment for next year must go to the Office of Admissions and Records and request that a SSS Form 109 be sent to his local draft board.

The student is reminded that he must request his draft board, in writing, to defer him for school another year and such requests cannot be considered unless the Form 109 is on file with the draft board.

Notice

All graduating seniors are reminded that subscriptions to the Spectrum may be secured for the price of three dollars per year at the publications office.

Campus Reporter Interviews Daughter Of Visiting English Ambassador

By Judy Hammer

"Oh, no, we only wear shorts on the beach in England, it's too cold you know!" exclaimed Cynthia Makin, the twenty year old daughter of the Ambassador of England, when questioned in regard to wearing Bermuda shorts. Recently Cynthia accompanied her father and mother on a short speaking tour of the Upper Midwest in their private Royal Air Force plane. Ambassador Makin lectured on world situations at the Fargo Open Forum and in other cities in the area.

One of six children, Cynthia has a twin sister who recently returned to England. Although Lady Makin is American born, all her children were born in England. Her eldest daughter is a tall statuesque young woman with brown eyes, a charming manner and a crisp British accent. At the present time she is employed as a secretary, which she enjoys very much.

According to Miss Makin, not as many girls attend college in England as do in the United States. Her high school training was different from the majority of Americans also for she attended a girls' boarding school. She was very interested in North Dakota State College and commented among other things that the male ratio of 4 to 1 was ideal.

The United States is not a strange country to Cynthia, for she has spent much time between here and England. She has been as far west as the Pacific North West but this was her first visit to Fargo.

An exchange student from England, Elspeth Halley, a senior at Fargo High School, was one of the many persons waiting at the airport for the arrival of the plane. After the landing while photographers milled around taking pictures the girls chatted over the many things they have in common.

One of Miss Makin's experiences which stands out in her memories was being introduced to President Eisenhower and shaking hands with him last fall at a tea.

Cynthia Makin is certainly a charming and friendly person and makes an outstanding "junior ambassador" from England to the young adults in the United States.

Erickstad, Larum Chosen To Enter Regular Air Force

NDSC Air Force ROTC cadets Selmer R. Erickstad, Garske, North Dakota, and John G. Larum, Crookston, Minnesota, have been selected for appointment in the Regular Air Force, according to Lt. Col. Norris Brill, Professor of Air Science.

Cadets Erickstad and Larum will receive Regular Air Force commissions after having qualified as Distinguished Military Cadets. The requirements were that they must possess high moral character, definite aptitude for military service, demonstrated excellent leadership, particularly while in attendance at Air Force ROTC Summer Training.

Creative Take Note

Inventors!! Hobbyists!! Take note. The Greater North Dakota Association is interested in displaying your invention or unusual hobby at the Inventor's Congress to be held here in Fargo later in the year. If you are interested or have an idea that is worth developing, see Dean F. C. Mirgain in New Engineering.

State College ROTC Unit Inspected By Visiting Reviewing Team

"Got to look sharp for this one" is the thought going through the minds of these cadets as they pass the reviewing stand during the annual formal Army ROTC inspection.

The annual formal inspection of the Army ROTC unit at the North Dakota Agricultural College was held on Monday and Tuesday, May 14 and 15. This inspection is probably of greater magnitude than most cadets realize, considering the distances from which the inspecting officers have come to conduct the inspection and the different branches of the service which they represent.

Lt. Col. Glynn L. Prine, in charge of the inspecting party, is an Armored Officer from the ROTC staff, University of Illinois, Champaign, Ill.; Major Hilton R. Tichenor, Artillery Officer assigned to the ROTC staff, University of Notre Dame, South Bend, Indiana, while Capt. Charles T. DeLorimier is an Infantry Officer stationed at University of Missouri, Columbia, Missouri.

The highlight of this annual event was the inspection in ranks and the battalion ceremonial parade in Putnam Hall area on Monday afternoon. The inspecting officers, during their two days here, also called on college officials, observed military classes in session, examined weapons, records, supply rooms and all other facilities used by the Army ROTC unit, including, in addition to classrooms, the rifle range, offices and vehicles.

Their mission was to evaluate the efficiency of the unit and the degree to which it has accomplished the objectives of the ROTC program — peacetime training in leadership and other military subjects for college men, so that these men, by their education, training and inherent qualities may be commissioned as officers in the regular Army and the Army Reserve, and that, as such, will be ready in time of national emergency as educated, well-rounded leaders for our Armies.

Ag. Economics Class Tours Twin City Marketing Companies

Mr. Perry Hemphill and his Agricultural Economics class recently returned from a 2-day field tour of interesting and educational marketing organizations in the twin cities.

Those students making the trip with the class were Jim Kenward, Duane Hanson, Elmo Skare, Gaylord Olson, Allan Olson, Allyn Marifjeren, Howard Guenther, Gary Davis, Russ Slotten, Jerome Schaack, Merle Huhner, Paul Pratt, Don Schwartz, Howard Cariveau, Ron Brandvold, Judeen Brusseau, Roger Anderson, Lyle Moe, Philip Edmund, Fred Gerth, Arlan Simon, Robert Cook, Reggie Gorder, Dick Teschendorf, Gerald Stock and Delwin Bopp.

While in the cities the group visited the Minneapolis Grain Exchange, the Grain Terminal Association, Gluek's Brewery, General Mills Research Laboratories, Land O' Lakes Creamery, and the regional Red Owl Store and warehouse.

From Under A Rock . . .

By Beetle

As we gaze Northward across campus from our lofty perch in Fargo-Moorhead's newest, most beautiful Student Union, reflecting in deep thought the highs and lows of State Studentdom in the last three quarters, our gaze encounters and rests upon that quaint example of pre-civil war architecture more commonly known as Dakota Hall. Perhaps it is bitterness that pushes us at this time, but some strange, unknown force persisting within us compels to put down a few sentences about this fine, time-honored NDSC landmark. Much bad has been said and written concerning the white building, some being well founded, but it is our sincere belief that there is some good in everything, and, using this as our basis, we will proceed to explore possibilities.

It cannot be denied that Dakota Hall ranks number one in regard to desirable location on campus—(unless, of course, the individual lives in Men's Residence Hall and majors in Home Economics.) Possibilities for oversleeping, stopping in for a nap between Ag, Chem, or Pharmacy classes, or changing clothes 35 times daily are unlimited in a dormitory which is located so conveniently.

Another point in favor of Ol' Dakota's existence lies in the friendliness and fraternal brotherly spirit which prevails among its tenants, for where else could you carry on a conversation with the "boys in room 60", two doors down, without raising your voice? Proper ventilation is of primary importance in the choosing of a dormitory for your boys in college, and here again we are proud to announce that Dakota Hall has been so engineered so as to give maximum opportunity for changing the ventilating system of any given room by simply knocking a suitable sized hole in any one of four walls. A great deal of variety and choice of room and roommate is another noticeable feature of our dorm, as no two rooms in the Hall are alike, with the number of occupants ranging from one to an even half dozen with ample closet space.

Safety precautions are among the finest anywhere (this rope is for use in case of fire only) and leaky roofs are becoming the exception rather than the rule, in this haven of rest and respite for those who dwell therein. So if you plan to return to school next quarter, why not inquire now and reserve a choice room in this home away from home—you'll not regret it. (The preceding is a paid advertisement by the North Dakota Termite Breeder's Association.)

Wanted: Off-campus room for promising young male college student. Price is no object, need is urgent.

In reply to our query in last week's issue as to the whereabouts of State's noted spring quarter waterfright, we have been greeted by a fresh outbreak of youthful energy unequalled in SC history. Much gallons of cool, clear water have gone over the proverbial dyke since that writing, with a promise of more to come.

Word has reached these parts of the passing of another fine old State landmark. Seems that R. J. Nippolt, former Bison great, campus wit, eminent scholar, and bartender extraordinary is fixin' to leave this here territory for a better life in the service of his country. Aah, patriotism.

An apparent good time was had by all at the Greek Week picnic last Friday night, as a very large number of interested parties parlayed the price of a red button for an evening of joviality and good fellowship. Plaudits are due to a few of the hard-working souls who forsook the pleasures of the brawl temporarily to insure proper distribution of refreshments. Foremost of these is KDSC's large representative Joltin Joe Koebensky, who gave yeoman service in the tapping and dispensing of the amber colored "get well" medicine. Joe was forced to retire from his exhausting duties after five steady hours of constant business. To this loyal public servant we award the title of Hero of the People, 1st Class.

And with no more ado, we see that, with but one short week remaining 'til graduation and finals, it becomes once more necessary to contemplate crawling into a hole and shutting one's self off from the bustle of the outer world.

Anyone for Friday Club???

Mr. John Forrer, NDSC welding instructor, is shown above with the D. C. welding machine presented to the NDSC engineering department by Brown Bovey Limited of Baden, Switzerland. Forrer became acquainted with the Brown Bovey firm while on a trip to Switzerland in 1954.

During Mr. Forrer's trip to Switzerland in 1954, he visited among other firms, Brown Bovey, Limited in Baden, Switzerland. Brown Bovey is internationally known and compares to General Electric in this country. One of the many products of this firm are welding machines. NDSC is very much in need of new equipment for its welding shop and it is necessary to have all types of machines in a modern lab.

After a few conferences with the officials in Baden and a few letters in the following months, Brown Bovey shipped one of their latest D. C. Welding Machines prepaid on a long term loan basis to our engineering school mainly to have our students get acquainted with their product.

This machine is the only one in this country. Some of the outstanding features of the machine are: Small compact size; high range 35-375 amps; also there is an automatic warning signal in case of overload. The signal is heard a full hour before the machine actually cuts out.

Welding Magazine Features Ideas Of NDSC Instructor

In the April and May issues of the magazine "Welding Engineer" the editor, Mr. T. B. Jefferson, devoted his column to the serious problem facing schools which carry welding courses.

The initial idea for these editorials were contributed by Mr. John Forrer, NDSC welding instructor. Mr. Forrer pointed out that many schools are cutting down or eliminating courses in welding. Lack of time under the present four year system and a shortage of funds were the reasons for this.

Mr. Forrer has suggested that industries who sell welding materials help the colleges financially. When thoroughly analyzed the merits of this idea speak strongly for it. Companies will be assuring themselves of competent engineers with a strong practical knowledge of welding.

These points were presented by Mr. Jefferson in the articles, and he also gave encouraging support to the idea. To carry out this program of financial aid to the colleges, Mr. Jefferson proposed a simple plan. An institution known as "The Foundation for Education in Welding" would be established to receive royalties from the sales of welding users of welding materials.

As a start, royalties could be derived from sales of arc welding electrodes and oxygen. If such a plan had been adopted last year it would have provided three and one-half million dollars. This is on the basis of royalty of one cent per ten pounds of electrodes and per hundred feet of oxygen. The money received would then have been used to aid the welding programs in colleges throughout the country.

If cooperation is obtained from welding manufacturers, "Welding Engineer" will gladly contribute $1000 to the establishment of a non-profit Foundation for Education in Welding.

Mr. Jefferson offered the facilities of his publication to get the program under way. This plan and the fine benefits to welding which it would produce are the results of the foresight and concern of these two men for welding.

Bison Golf Team Wins Second Inter-City Championship

Pictured above are the five State stalwarts who led the Bison Golf team to its second consecutive Swanston-Kostelecky Trophy golf championship. The trophy is presented to the winning team in the Fargo-Moorhead college golf meet.

Although the Herd clubmen were only able to fashion a modest season's record, they consistently placed high in meet standings, winning the Bison Invitational meet, and providing the supreme effort when necessary to defeat the across-river rivals for the city championship.

The winning of this prize gives SC's spring sports a total of three championships for the current season's campaigns, making for a most successful spring quarter in the so-called "minor" sports.

The Fargo Forum's long distance telephone bills on news stories runs as high as $1200 a month.

Riding Herd - - - By Buffalo Bill

'Tis soon to be summer, and the time has come to the State campus when athletics are at an end-of-year standstill. Save for an occasional intramural flurry, the gaming situation at NDSC has lost all semblance of athletic endeavor as the college student turns his fancy toward other of the finer things in life.

Still, as we look back over a spring quarter of highly diversified athletics, we find an immensely successful list of achievements.

Starting with the baseball season, we find State's diamond brigade at the finale of their most successful campaign ever, emerging from a season of rare winning form as champions of the Steve Gorman Trophy League. At the close of league play, the Bison played a "post season" game with South Dakota State and won quite handily.

On the tennis side of the fence, we find that State's netmen racked up an unbeaten string of season victories to finish as North Central Conference champions. The racketeers were never seriously threatened in season play around the state, as they won every meet they entered.

Out on the links, the Bison golfers were not quite so successful as the two earlier mentioned clubs during the regular season, but they managed to find themselves in time to take the city golf championship from Concordia and Moorhead State in the last match of the season, to give State three championships for the quarter.

From the track angle, we see that the Bison thinclads finished with a moderately successful season, consistently placing among the top teams in season's meets, and finishing fifth in the conference meet.

All in all, we can see by the records that Bison athletes acquitted themselves very well for the Spring quarter, bringing home three championships in four sports. Credit for this is due, for a large part, to the coaches of these sports—Cliff Rothrock in baseball, and the hard working Erv Kaiser in track, golf and tennis.

As an interesting sideline from normal spring sports, we have the playing of the Spring football game between teams composed of Bison players who will comprise next fall's varsity football team. The game was hard fought—almost to a point where at times spirit got out of hand, and showed promise of better things to come.

Note: In Grand Forks area papers, UND has announced the establishment of an organization called the "Golden Feather" which has pledged itself to the support of athletics at the northern school. It seems to be somewhat on the order of SC's own Rajah Club, composed of a small group of men who propose to "fireup" at athletic contests. We wish them well, as school spirit at the Forks institution is sadly lacking, and something is definitely necessary to provide a little fire. If hunches prove correct, and this group bears the suspected similarities to the Rajahs, it might possibly be the start of another new State-NDU rivalry.

Enough said for a week—maybe for a year. At any rate, remember that interest in sports is healthy—you too can be an athletic supporter.

SC Scientists Will Give Research Paper

The paper will be delivered before the American Society of Limnology and Oceanography.

Bison Nine Finish Season With Two Victories Over SDS

By Gary Smith

The NDSC Bison nine completed regular season play with two victories over rival South Dakota State last weekend. The Jackrabbits bowed to the Bison in single games Friday night and Saturday by scores of 17-8 and 4-3.

Howie Heil, hard hitting Bison second sacker got State off to a lead in the first inning of the opener with a homer. SDS came back to garner six runs from the offerings of an ailing Morrie Holm, before Don Worner relieved him in the top of the third. Worner turned in a superb relief job as he allowed the opposition only two runs for the remaining six and two-thirds innings.

The Bison went on to blast three pitchers for 17 hits, scoring in all but the third and fifth innings.

Rudy Maras hit for the distance in the eighth with a towering drive over the centerfield wall.

The 4-3 win on Saturday afternoon rounded out a successful 15-4 season's record for the Bison.

NDSC scored single runs in the first and second and added two in the ninth on singles by Doug Walstad and Howie Heil. Ron Zottnick and Heil paced the Bison nine-hit attack with two hits each, as well as collecting four hits each in Friday's game.

Clarence "Stretch" Niskanen pitched tremendous clutch ball for the entire nine innings, allowing only eight hits while striking out seven—all at crucial times in the ballgame.

Bison Nine Steps Into Faster Company To Compete In Annual NCAA Tourney

The NDSC Bison baseball team left Fargo bright and early Wednesday morning on a trip which could prove to be the most ambitious athletic undertaking in State history. The trip is part of a chain of events which began several weeks ago and was climaxed on Tuesday afternoon when the SC athletic department received an offer to participate in the National Collegiate Athletic Association's annual baseball tourney.

The tournament, which will begin in Peoria, Illinois, today (Friday) and tomorrow, is to NDSC the ultimate in athletic success, as for the first time in the short history of the diamond sport on our campus, the Bison are stepping into the big time.

The Herd will compete first at Peoria, where it will square off in district competition. The teams composing the three-team district are ND State, Bradley University, and Oklahoma or Nebraska, depending upon which team emerges as champion of the Big Seven conference. The uneven 3-team setup will necessitate the drawing of a bye to determine one of the first round winners. The drawings were to be made on Thursday for first-round pairings and byes in all district tournaments. In the case of drawing a bye, the Bison could advance into the finals of district five without playing a game.

The winners in district competition will proceed automatically to the National tournament at Omaha, Nebraska.

The 18 man Bison squad is to receive all traveling and living expenses from the NCAA during the duration of their stay in competition, thus relieving the financial strain such a venture would put on a limited athletic budget such as exists here at State.

In view of the amount of coverage given an athletic event such as this by national news services, it takes very little foresight to visualize the amount of favorable publicity that can be gained by our campus as the Bison nine plunges into the spotlight of national competition. Credit should be given all around to the team, its coach Cliff "Bony" Rothrock, and to SC's entire athletic department for providing this possibility of making the name of North Dakota State known in the athletic circles of the nation.

Honorary Degree To Be Awarded To Thordarson

Concordia College will award two honorary degrees at the commencement exercises Monday, June 4, at 10 a.m. to T. W. Thordarson of Fargo and to the Reverend Sidney A. Rand of Forest City, Iowa.

Mr. Thordarson is state director of the Division of Supervised Study for North Dakota. After serving 10 years on the faculty of the North Dakota State College, Mr. Thordarson organized the Division of Supervised Study in 1935 under a state appropriation. Sixty thousand students, most of them from rural communities, have studied high school courses through the division. During the past year 6,300 students have been enrolled in correspondence and 1,000 home-town teachers have served as supervisors under Mr. Thordarson's guidance. The division also provides lyceum service for schools in the state as well as film library and tape recording service.

Mr. Thordarson was graduated from the North Dakota State College in 1916. He has since been awarded the Master of Science and Bachelor of Laws degrees. His boyhood home was at Gardar, North Dakota. Mr. Thordarson will be awarded the Doctor of Laws degree.

The Reverend Sidney A. Rand has been president of Waldorf College, Forest City, Iowa, for the past five years. He was graduated from Concordia College in 1938 and from the Luther Theological Seminary in 1943. He was a member of the Concordia Faculty from 1945 to 1951. He has done graduate study in church history at the University of Chicago. President Rand will be awarded the Doctor of Divinity degree.

Kappa Epsilon Fetes Women Pharmics For Notable Achievements

The Annual Founder's Day Banquet of Iota Chapter of Kappa Epsilon, women's pharmacy honorary, was held on May 14th in the Red River Room of the Elks Club.

After the banquet the Class Prophecy and Will were read by Kathleen Marquardt and Joan Evenstad, respectively. Awards were presented by Cynara Remboldt, a 1952 graduate.

The Kappa Epsilon Alumnae Award which is given to a member of Kappa Epsilon who shows promise in her chosen field, improvement in scholarship, participation in school activities and general attitude was received by Jaqueline Jungers. Patricia Noden was the recipient of the annual Mrs. Allison Hartz Henriksen Award given to the girl who has maintained the highest overall scholastic average.

Bison Netmen Cop Conference Meet At Augustana

In the conference meet, which the Bison won, Rex and Strommen were high point getters, garnering 5 of the team total of seven by virtue of their three wins in the doubles competition. In the singles events, Schick was able to add two points to round out Bison scoring for the day, enabling State's netmen to barely nose out ISTC for the team championship.

Kepner Honored By Activities Board

Gordon Kepner, a sophomore physics major, was recently elected student union activities board member of the month. The balloting was carried on at a mass meeting of all board members.

Kepner, a member of the games and recreation committee of the activities board, was cited for his outstanding work in organizing the pocket billiards tournament which was held in the game room of the union. He was also instrumental in organizing and publicizing the appearance of Charles Peterson, nationally known billiard expert, during the winter quarter.

Kepner has not confined himself to any single line of work on the board as is shown by his work to organize a chess club on campus and the arrangement of matches with chess enthusiasts from other schools.

At the student union activities board banquet earlier this quarter Kepner was presented with an award for his work on behalf of the games and recreation committee.

Schwartz Elected Blue Key President For Coming Year

Don Schwartz

Blue Key Honorary Fraternity elected Don Schwartz, junior in Ag from Jamestown, as their president for the coming year at their meeting of May 17.

Other officers elected were Duane Swenson, vice president; Jerry Herman, recording secretary; Gaylord Olson, corresponding secretary; Dr. Pettee, treasurer; Ernest Van Vlissingen, faculty advisor; Maynard Helgaas, brevities director; and Kerry Murphy, alumni secretary.

A fitting, typically State College Greek ending to a fitting, typically zany, State College Greek work night is pictured in the space above, as a group of fired-up fraternal organizations convene at the Sigma Chi house for a little coffee and socialize action. The group in question is but a segment of the gang that participated in Wednesday night's exchange help sessions in the biggest and best Greek Week ever held on our fair campus. Snake dances, waterfights, and songfests followed as a good time was had by all.

Home Ec Junior Gives Inspiration For 'Tara', New Silverware Pattern

Carole Mandigo from Bismarck and a junior in Home Economics was featured recently in a story in the Bismarck Tribune as having provided inspiration for a sterling silver flat ware pattern.

Carole wrote an essay last spring about what she liked in a silver pattern and Reed and Barton, Silversmiths, have come out with "Tara", their newest pattern, which they indicate is the result of what Carole wrote about in her essay.

Carole says she doesn't remember exactly what she said in her essay, but she is getting fun out of the idea that her ideas were worth something.

Eight Men Chosen To Fill Openings On Engineer Staff

The appointment of eight men, effective Sept. 15, to positions in the School of Engineering has been announced by the office of NDSC President, Fred Hultz.

Included in the group are three instructors in electrical engineering, and four instructors in the school of mechanical engineering. The eighth man is professor Marshall L. Anderson, who will take a position as assistant professor of civil engineering.

Professor Johnson, who is an instructor in mechanical engineering, graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1943 and received his Master's degree there in 1949. At the present he is on the staff of the University of Arizona.

In the electrical engineering department, all three men are graduates of NDSC. Vernon Albertson is a graduate of the 1953 class. He recently has been employed by the General Electric Company. This June he will receive his Master's degree from the University of Minnesota. Mr. Albertson is married and has two children.

Mr. Louis Van Slyck, who graduated in 1955, is at present working towards his Master's degree and is a graduate assistant here at NDSC. He is married and resides in Fargo.

The most recent graduate is Maurice Waller, who completed his work last fall. At present he is a graduate assistant in the department.

Three of the four instructors in mechanical engineering graduated from NDSC in 1953. Donald Schmidt spent two years in the Navy after graduation, and has been serving as a graduate assistant this year. Richard Turner, also a 1953 graduate, is working as a graduate assistant while completing study for his Master's degree. Vern Peterson worked for General Electric after his graduation in 1953 and is now returning to teach. Earl Davis is a graduating senior in this year's class. He has had several years of industrial experience prior to his college training.
