Kalnins, Chem Senior Wins Individual High Score At Collegiate Rifle Match

By Bill Buck

Martin L. Kalnins, a 23 year old senior in chemistry at North Dakota State College, this past September won recognition at the Camp Perry rifle matches. His score, an impressive 599x650, made him the winner of the individual award in the Collegiate Service Rifle division of the National Service Rifle Match.

But of more interest than the accomplishment of superb marksmanship is the story of the individual who accomplished the feat.

Gloria Lloyd Is Chosen Air Debs Commander

The Air Debs, auxiliary to the Arnold Air Society, elected officers for the coming year in a recent meeting.

Gloria Lloyd was elected Commander for the group and Janet Saba was chosen as executive officer. Other officers are: Sue Wheeler, secretary; Teryl Ann Frank, treasurer; Jean Ann Nelson, social officer; La Rae Genreau, uniform officer; and Joyce Tucker, public relations officer. Capt. William C. Christanson is the Detachment advisor and Mrs. Kathryn Wiesner the faculty advisor for the group.

The next meeting will be held at the Union Oct. 16.

Kalnins, whose present home address is 2920 North Rutherford Avenue, Chicago, is the son of a lawyer of that city. Born in Latvia, Kalnins was seven years old when the Russians invaded and overran that country in 1940. In 1941, the Kalnins family found themselves under the rule of the Nazis, after Germany had declared war on Russia and drove the Russians back deep into their own territory.

In 1944, when the Russian lines were approaching Latvia, the Kalnins' family fled their native land, seeking refuge first in Poland, then Czechoslovakia, Germany, and finally, in December, 1949, the United States.

When asked about fleeing from the Russian troops in 1944, Kalnins stated that one year of Russian rule had convinced him, his family, and many other Latvians that anything, even being a displaced person, was better than living under the Communist regime.

Of interest, especially to the army, is the fact that Kalnins had never fired a high powered rifle prior to his summer training at Fort Riley, Kansas, as an ROTC cadet. His only experience with firearms was a little hunting with a shotgun and practice with the .22 caliber rifle at the rifle range at NDSC under the supervision of the instructors of the Army ROTC unit at North Dakota State College.

New Voting System Initiated To Elect Homecoming Queen

A new system for electing the NDSC Homecoming Queen and attendants was initiated by Student Senate in action taken last Friday at a Senate meeting.

Under the new system a minimum of five and a maximum of seven senior girls were to be nominated by a student-faculty-alumni committee, composed of 4 students, 3 faculty members and 1 alumni member.

Selection by the committee was based on senior standing, personality, beauty, activities and scholarship. Further, the candidates selected were to be mature representative members of the senior class, possessing outstanding qualities of character and leadership.

An all campus election will be held next Tuesday to select the homecoming queen and her two attendants.

The balloting places shall be open from 8 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Balloting places shall be located in the Pharmacy Building, Student Union, Library, Minard Hall, Morrill Hall, South Engineering, Dolve Hall and Home Economics. To vote students will be requested to present their activity cards and sign a poll book.

Away All Runners

Something new is being proposed for this year's Homecoming festivities. John "Tip" Miller informs us that plans are being made to have a torch carried from the State Capital Building in Bismarck to Fargo to set off the Annual Homecoming at NDSC. If arrangements can be made, the torch would be lighted by the Governor, Norman Brundsdale, and then carried by runners to Fargo. Some ceremony would then take place to receive the torch and officially begin Homecoming.

Anyone interested in being a runner can contact Erv Kaiser or Red Sundseth. About 20 to 30 runners will be needed to carry the torch. The plans are to have a runner carry the torch for one-half mile and ride and rest for about an hour. Cars will also be needed to carry the runners between relays. Erv Kaiser can be contacted by calling Ext. 235, and Red Sundseth can be reached by calling 2-2875.

From The Editor

Just about two weeks ago, or is it three, the freshmen here at Old State went through a "capping ceremony" at Festival Hall. At that time the freshmen all took an oath declaring that they would wear their beanies at all times until the final gun of the Homecoming football contest.

So wahoppen??? For the past week this head has not seen more than a handful of beanies walking around the campus. To overwork an old phrase, "A word to the wise is sufficient". Best you frosh get those beanies back on or Emil will get you!!!!

* * * *

In one of the last Spectrums put out last spring there appeared an expose of what was then known as "The Pit". Said article was looked on with much disfavor by many, and the final word on the subject seemed to be that there was nothing to be done about the situation.

Well here we are, back at school again. The campus is pretty much the same as it was last spring, but where is "The Pit"? Word has reached this ear that it is no more. If the abolishment of said pit was helped to any extent by said expose, the Spectrum would like to take this opportunity to do a little "self-backslapping", and to congratulate those responsible for the actual removal of the pit from the State scene.

* * * *

Perhaps it is a little early to start with the "Get Out And Vote" campaign, but it certainly isn't too early to start a "Study The Candidates" campaign.

True, most of you readers have not reached voting age as yet, but that certainly doesn't mean that you shouldn't be interested in the national political scene. With the farm program running so hot and heavy, we Mid-westerners should be very interested in the election outcome next November.

With the world series at an end, it will be impossible to pick up a newspaper during the next few weeks without seeing political issues on the front page. The moral of this story?!?! Let's all of us eligible voters get out and vote come November, but more important, let's know what we are voting for.

Richard Lyons, SC English Instructor Has Poetry Selection Published

By Maureen Bear

"Men and tin kettles are much the same in these days." This line from a work by John Keats so intrigued Mr. Richard Lyons, freshman English instructor and order librarian at NDSC, that he selected the first four words to be the title of a collection of his poetry published this year.

The earliest poem in Men and Tin Kettles was written in 1948 and first published in Australia. Another poem was first published in Canada and still another (not included in the book) will be published in the Paris Review.

Concerning Men and Tin Kettles, the publishers have written about Mr. Lyons: "—unisons in his thoughts and emotions arise greatly from contrasts he sees between modern suburbia and country life. These have provided him with irony and humor but also with sharp incisive observations and important feelings. He is adept at developing the tradition of modern verse to his individual needs." And he "writes with an individual voice."

Titles of some of the works included in the book are "5:00 P.M.", "Moment of Ignition", and "Claim". The latter is the result of Mr. Lyons' research with Dr. Kuhn, Chairman of NDSC's English department, on anthologies of North Dakota writings. "Claim" concerns a setting near Jamestown in 1887 where a wife stands in mud looking at the water of spring rain while her husband stands at the edge of his plowed field.

Other writings by Mr. Lyons are "Chapbooks" which contain series of narratives complete in themselves on various subjects.

Graphic arts, painting, and photography are also interests of Mr. Lyons. He has had two woods and one linoleum cut accepted at the Ohio print makers show; a linoleum print titled "Reluctant Lizard" recently accepted by the Library of Congress; and photographs of art accepted by the North Dakota Institute of Regional Studies.

Mr. Lyons received his master's degree in English at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio and has been at NDSC since 1950.

Phi U Home Ec. Frat Holds "Smarty Party"

Phi Upsilon Omicron, national honorary Home Economics fraternity, will hold its annual "Smarty Party" in the Founders Room of the Home Economics Building on Tuesday, Oct. 16, from 4-5:30.

Invitations have been issued to junior and senior girls majoring in Home Economics who have high scholarship. Joyce Berg, president, and Wilma Husband, vice president, will pour at the tea.

Twenty Four Hopefuls Vie for Cheerleading Before Athletic Board

By Arlene Christianson

Cheerleading tryouts were held at Festival Hall at four o'clock on October 4th. Twenty four girls tried out for the openings for two cheerleaders and an alternate.

Gene Stockman, who was in charge, listed coordination, enthusiasm, poise, and self confidence as the types of appearance the girls would be judged on.

The girls were selected through a series of eliminations. They sang "On Bison" and did the Locomotive cheer in groups of eight, four, three, and two. The panel of judges, made up of faculty members and students, recessed often to narrow the competition down.

Chosen as cheerleaders were Sharron Elliott and Sharron Mische. Sally Davis was named alternate.

Judging such a fine group of girls who showed such fine spirit was very difficult, according to the judges.

In My Opinion . . .

By Hal Miller

There has been a variety show each spring at North Dakota State which has grown to become one of the big events of the school year. The name of the show is apt—Bison Brevities.

However, the designation of Brevities as a variety show has become a bit false.

We think it's obvious that there is a sameness in the past few years especially, and that sameness has finally started to affect the size of the audiences.

It has been our pleasure to work in three of the last shows, and, biased though we probably are, our belief in the value of the idea remains.

The show permits the outstanding talent of the school to be aired to the public, provides a great amount of top-notch advertising for the school, and its monetary returns are returned to the students through the philanthropic workings of Blue Key, the producers of the show.

The show cannot, however, be permitted to grow stale. When that happens all the advantages are turned immediately into disadvantages.

Our experience has shown us that the fault of the repetition lies with the people competing for trophies. The competition in Brevities is a fine thing, but act directors are afraid to attempt something different for fear the judges may not go for it. When you work on ideas while looking over your shoulder to test the judges' opinions, the ideas become more and more conservative.

Conservatism does not lead to originality, but is on the way toward stagnation.

Here's hoping this year's directors will go into Brevities without thinking about the kind or type of acts that have won in the past.

SHORT FLASHES — Brubeck's appearance after the cancellation of Claude Rains is heartening. Possibly the furor last spring concerning the lyceum series had some effect . . . A surprising number of comments agreeing with our views on sorority rushing have come to us from sorority girls themselves. Pan-Hel leaders, be careful, there are traitors in your midst who believe your somewhat ridiculous rules are as out of place as we do.

Next Week—Just so nobody can say we don't like sororities, we'll glance at the pros and cons of fraternities.

KDSC News Casts

Sparked By Home Ec Honeys For Daily Show

Broadcasting at KDSC, your campus radio station is now in full swing. A large staff is busy every day trying to bring the best in listening entertainment to students at State.

There are a large number of new faces at the KDSC studios this fall. Two of these shining new faces belong to a couple of gals who get a minimum of glory for their efforts. These girls, both sophomores in Home Economics, and prominent in numerous other campus activities, are Janice Kearney and Marilyn Jenson.

Every day that KDSC goes on the air, these dutiful coeds attack the large volumes of news material that comes into the station and compile from this the news that is read over the campus wireless each evening for fifteen minutes starting at 6:15.

If you have any news that you would like aired on campus radio, bring it up to the studios on the second floor of the Memorial Student Union. Jan and Marilyn will try to incorporate it into one of the nightly newscasts.

Bison Annual Plans Entire School Year With Organized Staff Assignments

The NDSC BISON staff is beginning production of their 1957 yearbook. Beginning production is very descriptive. No actual copy or layouts are being constructed as yet; however the staff is working out some of the minute details involved in the above mentioned production. This little note is an explanation of the processes by which your BISON is printed.

The Board of Publications, which is composed of four student senators, three faculty advisors, and the editors and business managers of each publication, is the governing board of all action by the staffs.

Have Openings On SUAB Committees For All Students

The Student Union Activities Board has a few openings on two of its committees. These are the committees for Creative Arts and Publicity.

Students who wish an opportunity to do art work or write publicity stories are asked to work on the publicity committee. Creative arts members do most of their work in connection with arranging social hours, exhibitions and similar programs.

The Union Board asks the use of your talents, for it is only through the efforts of groups of interested students that the activities which we appreciate and enjoy are planned and carried through.

If you are interested and would like to work on one of the committees, please leave your name with Mrs. Tarbell in the Union.

THE SEARCH FOR BRIDEY SIGAFOOS

It was a dullish evening at the Theta house. Mary Ellen Krumbald was sticking pins in an effigy of the house mother; Evelyn Zinsmaster was welding a manhole cover to her charm bracelet; Algelica McKeesport was writing a letter to Elvis Presley in blood. Like I say, it was a dullish evening.

Suddenly Dolores Vladnay stood up and stamped her foot. "Chaps," she said to her sorors, "this is too yawn-making! Let's do something gay and mad and wild and different and gasp-making. Anybody got an idea?"

"No," said the sorors, shaking their little sausage curls.

"Think, chaps, think!" said Dolores and passed Philip Morris Cigarettes to everybody, and if there ever was a think-making smoke, it is today's fresh and zestful and yummy Philip Morris. Things come clear when you puff a good, clean, natural Philip Morris — knots untie, dilemmas dissolve, problems evaporate, cobwebs vanish, fog disperses, and the benevolent sun pours radiance on a new and dewy world. Oh, happy world! Oh, Philip Morris! Oh, regular! Oh, long-size! Oh, get some already!

"One, two, three."

Now Geraldine Quidnunc, her drooping brain-cells revived by a good Philip Morris, leapt up and cried, "Oh, I have a perfect gasser of an idea! Let's hypnotize somebody!"

"Oh, capital!" cried the sorors. "Oh, tingle-making!" "Yes," said Dolores Vladnay, "it is a splendid idea, but hypnosis requires a pliant and malleable mind, and we are all so strong and well-adjusted."

At this point, in walked a young pledge named Alice Bluegown. "Excuse me, mistresses," said she, "I have finished making your beds, doing your homework, and ironing your pleats. Will there be anything else?"

"Yes," snapped Dolores Vladnay. "When I count to three, you will be hypnotized."

"Yes, excellency," said Alice, bobbing a curtsy. "One, two, three," said Dolores.

Alice promptly went into a trance. "Go back," said Dolores. "Go back to your fifth birthday, back to your birth, to before your birth, to your last incarnation. . . Now, who are you?"

"My name is Bridey Sigafos," said Alice. "The year is 1818, and I am in County Cork."

"Coo!" said the sorors.

"How old are you?" asked Dolores.

"I am seven," said Alice.

"Where is your mother?" asked Dolores.

"She got sold at the fair last year."

"Coo!" said the sorors.

"Tell us about yourself," said Dolores.

"I am five feet tall," said Alice. "I have brown eyes, and weigh 3200 pounds."

"Coo!" said the sorors.

"Isn't that rather heavy for a girl?" said Dolores.

"Who's a girl?" said Alice. "I'm a black and white guernsey."

"Coo!" said the sorors.

"Moo!" said Bridey Sigafos.

"Where Are Gals," Meet The Coach Asks Irate Male

The Spectrum
NDSC
Fargo, N. D.
To The Editor:

What is wrong with the Fairer half of our student body at NDSC? This question has been burning my mind day and night, but the answer still evades me. I was told upon enrolling, that this college was co-educational. Doesn't that mean that both boys and girls go to school here? If girls do attend this school, then shouldn't they participate in some of the extra-curricular activities?

I'll explain: It seems that every Thursday afternoon at 4 p.m., dancing lessons are given in the Memorial Union ballroom. It is customary in this day and age for two people to dance together, usually one of each type of the two types of known people. Right? Last Thursday, Oct. 4th, at the above mentioned lesson, something seemed to be lacking. Upon close examination, it was found to be the nicer type of the two types of people. This is very distressing to me.

Girls, please heed my plea! It is disgusting to see two men dancing together. Do me a favor, do the men a favor, do the Art of dancing a favor. Every Thursday at 4 p.m., please drop up to the Union ballroom. Upon entering (free, of course) look over the stock of assorted tall, dark, and nice to dance with men. Select one, and glide onto the dance floor, and into the pace of a delightful foxtrot, the exotic strains of a samba, or a toe-tapping rumba. Please, girls, don't shame us, we need you. It will be an hour pleasingly spent, and we male students of dance will be ever grateful.

Hopingly yours,
An Irate Male Student
of NDSC

Nine HE Seniors To Practice Teach

Nine senior home economics students at the North Dakota Agricultural College are receiving off-campus training as student teachers through November 3, according to Marion C. Benson, Associate Professor of Home Economics.

The girls, their home town and the towns where they are teaching are as follows: Sally Fossay, Moorhead, Casselton; Barbara Pederson, Grand Forks, New Rockford; Jean Grindahl, Fargo, Jamestown; Jean Bergen, Hawley, Minn., Jamestown; Anna Marie Johanson, Sheyenne, Leeds; Mrs. Marjorie Leaschke, West Fargo, Mandan; Mrs. Audrey Gordhammer, Fargo, Bismarck; Marlene Qualley, Hendrum, Minn., Bismarck; and Darlene Geving, Parshall, Mayville.

Upon their return from this training the girls will spend the remainder of the quarter living in the Alba Bales house.

By Bill Baillie

The gentleman pictured above is the man who is largely responsible for the return of the Herd football machine to conference contention. He is Les Luymes, State's dynamic and personable new athletic director and head football coach.

Luymes, who took over the grid post on extremely short notice after the sudden and unexpected resignation of former coach Del Anderson, has, in the short span of little more than a month performed near miracles with the hapless Bison. Coming to State from St. Cloud State Teachers, the new coach brings with him an enviable record, having completely dominated play in the Minnesota Teachers College Conference while there.

Les spent his undergraduate college years at Central College in Iowa, where he received his bachelors degree in 1941. Following his graduation, he coached the '41-'42 season at Colo, Iowa, before being called into the Navy. Emerging from service in 1946 as a Lieutenant after spending 38 months at sea, Luymes went back to his home town of Orange City, Iowa to coach for two years at Orange City JC.

After going on to a successful 10-5 record at Orange City, the new Bison mentor went back to school, putting in a year and a half at the University of Iowa where he received his Masters degree. From Iowa, Les went directly to St. Cloud TC where his teams from 1950-'55 had an overall won-lost record of 32-11, capturing conference championships all five years. At St. Cloud, Luymes also coached basketball, racking up 63 wins against 34 losses.

Les came to NDSC last spring, succeeding C. C. "Casey" Finigan as athletic director, and immediately began work on the improvement of Bison athletic fortunes. This fall, when the sudden resignation of Anderson less than a month before the start of the regular season left State without a coaching staff, Luymes had no other alternative than to step in and take up the reins. His record to date speaks well for his decision.

Les is a married man, and the proud father of two girls, ages 6 and 1, and a boy, 3.

Nat'l Youth For Ike Urge Young Voters To Turn Out

President of Student Government
From:
National Youth for Eisenhower and Nixon.
Re: Absentee Voting and Registration for College Students.

Youth For Eisenhower is a group of young people, interested in the 33% of the eligible voters who are under 35 years of age and particularly interested in First Voters.

We would like your help in promoting our First Voters program which encourages political understanding among the 21-25 year old group. When you consider the great number of young voters you will realize how great a part we can play in the decisions of our nation, and therefore, how important it is for all of us to vote.

Will you, as a student leader, help Youth lead the way to the polls? Enclosed is a chart of absentee voting and registration information for student's use. Mention "register and vote" as you lead discussions with other students and participate in meetings. Encourage your college paper to write editorials about the importance of voting, and have them publish the voting requirements. Thank you very much.

National Chairman
Youth for Eisenhower

EDITOR'S NOTE: North Dakota Voters need not register. Obtain absentee ballots from County Auditor between October 7 and November 5. Minnesotans register with City Clerk before October 16, and obtain absentee ballot from County Auditor before November 3. Both may be done by mail.

NDSC Host To All Three Major Branches Of Military Service

The North Dakota Agricultural College is host to all three major branches of the military service. This is the only area in the State of North Dakota, where all three services are represented.

The Army and Air Force offer the ROTC programs intended primarily for young men with no prior military service. The Navy offers a program intended for all age groups regardless of prior military service. However, its current major program is that of serving veterans.

Veterans of any rate are eligible for attachment and they receive retirement benefits, one day's pay a week, opportunity for advancement in their rate and commissions upon receipt of bachelors degree from college if they apply for same and are qualified.

Drills are held each Wednesday evening from 7:30 to 10:00 p.m. at the Naval Reserve Training Center located west of the campus at 1511 12th Avenue North. The telephone number is 2-3689.

Veterans are urged to drop in to inquire about the program or to request assistance in any manner in matters concerning their reserve status. Veterans having the eight year military obligation are particularly urged to stop in or telephone, as a new program available will allow them to drastically reduce their current military obligation.

Reader's Digest

$41,000 CONTEST

Open to All College Students (Faculty, too!)

Nothing to buy...nothing to write

...and you may find you know more about people than you think!

How well do you know human nature? Can you tell what subjects interest people most? Here is a chance to test your judgment—show how good an editor you are—and you may win $5,000 for yourself, plus $5,000 in scholarship funds for your college.

It's fun to try. Maybe you can top other students in colleges across the country... and you can match wits with the editors of Reader's Digest.

Why do far more college graduates read Reader's Digest than any other magazine? What is it that makes the Digest the most widely read magazine in the world—with 11 million copies bought each month in the United States, plus 9 million abroad? Why is it read each month by at least 60 million people, in 12 languages—Arabic, Danish, English, Finnish, French, German, Italian, Japanese, Norwegian, Portuguese, Spanish and Swedish?

Can you spot in a typical issue of Reader's Digest the universal human values that link scholars, statesmen, scientists, writers, businessmen, housewives? Can you pick out the articles that will be most popular with the average Digest reader?

You may find... you know more about people than you think!

Here's all you do. Study the descriptions (at right) of the articles in the October Reader's Digest—or, better still, read the complete articles in the issue itself. (But you are not required to buy The Reader's Digest to enter the contest.) Then simply list the six articles—in order of preference—that you think readers of the magazine will like best. This will be compared with a nationwide survey conducted among a cross section of Digest subscribers.

Follow the directions given below. Fill in the entry blank, paste it on a post card, and get it into the mail before the deadline. Additional blanks are obtainable at your college bookstore.

All entries must be postmarked not later than midnight, October 25, 1956. Don't delay. In case of ties, the entry with the earliest postmark will win.

Just pick in order the six articles
you think most readers of October
Reader's Digest will like the best.

READER'S DIGEST CONTEST, Box 4, Great Neck, L. I., New York

In the space opposite the word "FIRST" write the number of the article you think will be the most popular of all. Opposite the word "SECOND" write the number of the article you think will rank second in popularity. List in this way the numbers of the six top articles in the order of their popularity. (Note: Use only the numbers of articles you choose. Do not write the title of any article.) Clip and paste this coupon on a Government post card.

NDU Professor Publishes Book On N. Dak. Human-Economic Geography

A new book, "North Dakota—A Human and Economic Geography" by Dr. Melvin E. Kazeck of the University of North Dakota, has just been published by the North Dakota Institute for Regional Studies at the North Dakota Agricultural College.

According to Dr. Leo Hertel, the editor of the Institute, this book is one of the first geographies written about a single state in the United States and thereby represents a valuable contribution to regional history and regional studies in the nation. This book will answer many questions which deal with North Dakota's geography and its association with men, nature, economy, culture, and history. In addition it interprets North Dakota in its relation to its resources, its climate and soils, its crops and minerals and its economic potentialities. It also shows how the state's geography is closely interwoven with the people who live, work and hope in this state.

Dr. Kazeck, author, is assistant professor of geography at the University of North Dakota and resides in Grand Forks. He was born in Randall, Minn., receiving his high school education in Little Falls, Minn. He is a graduate of St. Cloud Teachers College, receiving his M.S. at NDU. During World War II he was a meteorologist with the Air Force, spending 25 months in Europe. In 1954 he received his Ph.D. from Columbia University in New York.

This book of 280 pages, deals in eight chapters with the different states in human ecology as found in the state, the general farming area, the wheat region and the western cattle-wheat region. The industries in North Dakota, transportation and principal cities, soil and water development are treated in special chapters. And in a final chapter, "The Future of the State," the author extends the up-to-date presentation of North Dakota's geography into valuable suggestions for the planning of a better future for the state.

Lesson number one to a Morningside player: Never let yourself get caught between two Staters. Parkel and Basche are putting a squeeze play on an unidentified Morningsider. I imagine he thinks that it's more like "Night-side" right now.

Guidon Picks New Advisor, Officers

Members of Guidon, auxiliary to Scabbard and Blade, met October 8 for their first meeting of the quarter. The group's new advisor Captain Senawall, was introduced. The rewritten constitution was read and approved. A committee headed by Nancy Fredricks was named to work on an emblem for the group.

New officers elected at this meeting were Maxine Bauman as publicity chairman and Karen Edinger as social chairman. Other officers elected last spring include Carol Soeby, president; Joyce Eriksmoen, vice president; Joan Lindbo, secretary; and Judy Rothfusz, treasurer.

Morningside team, the Herd lost the ball several times when the elusive skin skidded from the grasp of a Bison back.

Morningside took the lead early in the third quarter when, faced with fourth down on the Bison 15, Maroon tackle Buddy Mounts split the uprights with a field goal. The Bison, now on the short end of a big three point lead, came fighting back, and appeared to be on their way to a TD when the stubborn Morningside defense stiffened and held some 25 yards from their goal. On a desperation fourth down gamble, Herd tackle Marty Kalnins was brought in to attempt a game saving field goal, and the big lineman came through with a fine 29 yard boot that sailed true into the wind to rekindle Bison hopes.

It was with but five minutes to play in the game that Morningside began the final march upfield that spelled ruin to State's three-game winning streak. Led by reserve halfback Vince Arioso's 46-yard gallop, the Maroons made short work of eating up the remaining yardage to the goal. The Herd defense stiffened for a moment, but it was Arioso again who set up the final score with a plunge to the one yard line, and with but 15 seconds to play in the contest, Maroon Bob Reynders dived over to shatter State hopes for a tie. Mounts added the conversion, which proved to be just topping on the scoring cake.

Superior size and depth were the keynotes in the Morningside win, as the Maroons had too many horses to be stopped by the tiring Bison in the waning minutes of the contest. The game was statistically even for all practical purposes as the winners garnered a total of 224 yards to 210 for the Herd.

For the Bison, fullback Charlie Hyde was again the big ground-gainer as he carried the burden of the Bison running attack in the absence of halfback Dean Sharp. On defense, guard Rog Gebhart teamed with center-linebacker Dick Tschider to stand out in the slowing of the strong Maroon ground attack.

The win gave Morningside undisputed possession of first place in the NCC standings, dropping the Herd to third place.

State Gridders Fall Victims Of Heavier Maroon Opponents

By Bill Baillie

The roof caved in upon the Herd last Saturday night in the last minute of the ball game as the Morningside Maroons pushed across the game winning touchdown with but 15 seconds left to play. The score, breaking a 3-3 defensive deadlock, provided a disheartening end to an otherwise well played contest on the part of the Bison.

The Bison, outweighed in some instances by as much as 15 pounds per man, performed with drive and determination against the big, rugged Maroon club, but were unable to put together a sustained scoring drive. Hampered by a slight case of fumbleitis, due in part to the extreme cold weather, and to the savage tackling of the

After a rawther disappointing final quarter in last week's fierce fought football battle, we find the champ in a state of pseudo-settlement as the Thundering Herd takes to the airways for a money-making jaunt South. The trip, a "breather" for the Bison as they prepare for next week's big game with Yon Northern Sioux, pits the "turtin' Herd against weak Missouri University and its hall-of-fame coach Don Faurot.

We have in front of us, here at the Spectrum Sports desk, a publicity brochure giving us all necessary vital statistics concerning Mr. Faurot and his Tigers. As direct opposites of State's powerful machine, the Missouri eleven has been mired at a standstill this season, losing their first three games as they too prepare for next week's big game—the conference opener at Kansas State. Managing to win but one game in last year's 10 game schedule, the Tigers come into the Bison contest as definite underdogs on the basis of comparative performance. At any rate, statistics, coupled with the tendency on the part of both clubs to treat the game lightly, points to a very dull contest from the spectator standpoint. If, after this pessimistic introductory comment, any rabid SC football fan still wishes to make the trip to cheer the Herd on, we might interject the comment that hotel and dining facilities in Columbia, Missouri are excellent, and tickets for the game, while going fast, can still be secured at the gate.

How 'bout that!?? Elsewhere on the scene, we find definite flashes of action on the intramural front. As is the case throughout the country, we find football at the head of the Fall F-M menu, and it seems that rubber armed Ron Zottnick and his crew of Hairy-Chested Men from the Tau House are on the rampage again. It may well be a long, cold fall for the rest of the league. Seems as how the Soox took

Don Schwartz Elected Intramural President For Coming Year

The board of intramural athletics elected officers for the coming year at their regular meeting last Monday.

Don Schwartz was elected president of the group with Tom Engh serving as vice president and Gordon Renschler being named secretary.

This was the first official meeting of the group for the year, and it was of an organizational nature. The program for the year was discussed, and the intramural constitution was reviewed.

it on the chin again last week. Tsk, tsk. This year, with possibilities better than ever for regaining the coveted Sioux-Bison Nickel Trophy, we'd best prepare for a little nickel-stealing defensive action. Perhaps 'twould be wise to again secure the services of sharpshooting ROTC Sergeant and Round Rajah Stalwart Don "Duck" Schiefer, who, accompanied by his trusty shotgun, performed so admirably as Number 1 Bonfire Guard and Sioux Shooer last season.

And whilst we dwell upon the topic of bonfires, etc., we notice that this has been a fall especially barren of prankish college humor. It seems that in season's past, much more emphasis has been put upon competitive deviltry (e.g. painting, raiding, etc.), and that a descent seems to have been made upon campus this fall of a much more serious minded student body. Rumor even reaches us that the powers-that-be have even been experiencing difficulty in completing a quorum at Friday Club. This is a sad situation indeed.

All that fire and no smoke. This seems as good a time as any to bring about the rebirth of one of State's older, more venerable of Ivy-Covered traditions. Our nomination for this, a singular honor, for the first time this season, must go to Spec Editor Gerry Bender, who is forced to put up with "Chips" week after week with little or no actual effective defense. For this season, it is with great pleasure that we bestow upon this man the dubious honor of ushering in a brand new year, by naming him "Campus Toad of the Week."

Long live the Toad! Remember—Hillsboro next Friday, UND next Saturday. See you there.

For Whom the Bell Tolls

"If that's the bell, then how big was the cow, I wonder?" Dewey Swenson, Maynard Helgaas, George Schwartz, and John Haas, carry around some big noise at the NDSC-Morningside game played last Saturday night at Dakotah Field. John seems to be telling Dewey that he is hurting his ears with his incessant pounding.

Please Don't Read These Notices

The Spectrum staff would like to use this little bit of space to remind all organizational reporters to get their copy in to the Spectrum office by Tuesday noon. During the past two weeks many notices and news articles have been drifting up to the second floor of the Union late Tuesday and all day Wednesday. FROM HERE ON OUT NO NEWS WILL BE ACCEPTED AFTER TUESDAY NOON. The cooperation of all campus reporters will be appreciated.

All students are urged to check with the office of admissions and records by October 18 to be sure that their correct addresses and phone numbers are on record. These numbers will be used in compiling the 1956-57 edition of the Student Directory.

SC Frosh Gridders To Meet Papooses In Home Tilts

By Frank Reinke

Taking a look at the S. C. freshman football team we find the Baby Bison in the midst of preparation for a fall schedule which pits them against the Papooses of UND for a two-game, home and home series. The rest of the schedule is not definite this early in the season, but will probably include a cross-town scrimmage or two with the frosh teams of our Moorhead college rivals.

The Baby Herd will meet the Sioux yearlings at Grand Forks, on October 20 as a warmup for the Bison-Sioux varsity battle. The following week, the Herd frosh will play host to UND on October 26 at Dakotah Field, at 7 p.m.

After a week's workout with his team, Coach Chuck Bentson says that "The boys will be able to field a respectable starting lineup, although somewhat smaller and less experienced than in previous years." Standouts thus far in the team's two scrimmages have been tackle Selby Mendro and end Bill Bartel in the line, while Biernot, Reinhiller, Quenette, and Walsh seem to be doing a fine job in the frosh backfield. Most of the work to date has been on fundamentals, and it has been difficult for Bentson to pick outstanding performers.

Attention chess enthusiasts! The chess club will meet every Wednesday night for the remainder of the school year at 7 p.m. in conference room A of the Student Union.
