Blue Note Dance Slated Tomorrow Nite; TV Set To Be Given Away

Saturday evening will be awarded at the Blue Note Dance in the Student Union Ballroom. Master of ceremonies George Schwartz will award trophies for jitter-bug contest to be held previous to intermission. Trophies for the freshman Lucky 13 bowling contest will also be awarded during intermission. Big event of the evening will be the drawing for the Blue Key sponsored portable TV set. Kerry Murphy, raffle chairman, will conduct the drawing during the intermission. Tickets for the TV set are on sale today by all Blue Key members. The set will be on display in the lobby of the Student Union and tickets will be available for 25c each.

Paul Sorlien will furnish music for the dance, featuring modern and progressive jazz. Admission will be $1 per couple. Dancing will be from 9 to 12.

The jitter-bug contest will be open to everyone and trophies will be awarded to the couple judged the best dancers. The Dance and Decorations committee of the Student Union Activities Board is sponsoring the contest.

Nov. 6 Deadline Set for Rhodes Scholars

Students wishing to apply for Cecil Rhodes scholarships must submit applications by November 6, according to F. Y. St. Clair, head of the University of North Dakota English department who is in charge of applications in North Dakota.

A Rhodes scholarship, the value of which is more than $1,700 a year, provides the student an opportunity to "round out" his education with study abroad and travel during vacations, said St. Clair.

Graduates from North Dakota have been very successful in winning the scholarships, he added. Vincent R. Larson of Minot, who was graduated from Harvard in June, entered Oxford this fall. He won in competition last December. Two 1953 winners received B.A. degrees from Oxford last spring. They are Ray Doherty of LaMoure, and Warren, Minn., a UND graduate, and Mancur Olson, Jr., of Hillsboro, an NDSC graduate.

Thirty-two Rhodes scholarships available at the University of Oxford will be assigned to candidates in eight district sometime in December. State committees of selection will meet December 12 and district committees December 15. Scholars-elect will enter Oxford in October, 1957.

Opportunity School To Present "Hut-Four" Barbershop Quartet

The "Hut Four", a Barbershop Quartet of Minneapolis has been added as a feature of the Fargo-Moorhead Opportunity School Benefit to be presented in the Fargo High School on Friday and Saturday, November 9-10, says John Finnie, General Chairman.

The "Hut Four" were the hit of the annual Barbershop Parade here last year. They are winners on the Godfrey Talent Scout Show and have appeared on "Soldier Parade" and on Ed Sullivan's "Toast of the Town" besides numerous other radio and T-V shows.

Funds resulting from the sale of tickets will go to complete the Opportunity School's Current Budget. The variety revue will also feature the Fargo-Moorhead S.P.E.B.S.Q.S.A. Chorus and the Sweet Adelines, a women's barbershop chorus. Both choruses are directed by Vincent J. Dodge. Other Men's and Women's Barbershop Quartets and selected talent will appear.

Co-sponsors with the Society for the Preservation and the Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America and the Sweet Adelines are the Jr. Service League, Business and Professional Women's Club, Soroptimist Club, Insurance Women of Fargo and the Opportunity school Parents Club. Tickets are being sold for each performance on an unreserved basis, Finnie said, with sales being handled by sponsor representatives and at Daveaus.

Eisenhower, Davis, Young Sweep Campus Elections By Nearly 70%

President of the NDSC Young Democratic Club, Ruth Mortenson, records her vote for president in the NDSC Mock Election held last Monday. Although it is difficult to see the 'I Like Ike' buttons, the remaining onlookers are Ike fans.

NDSC and the nation cast ballots for the president of the United States this week, and as of now we have elected Dwight David Eisenhower for another four year term in the White House.

The mock election held on campus last Monday showed a victory for the Republican party in the presidential, gubernatorial, and senate races. 953 State students cast ballots in the mock election and 68 percent or 649 of the votes went to the Eisenhower-Nixon combination.

John Davis, Republican standard bearer for the governor's post, received the student's nod over Wallace Warner, NPL-Democratic candidate, by almost a 600 vote margin. Milton Young, Republican incumbent to the United States Senate, took his race over Quentin Burdick, also by a 600 vote margin.

Incomplete returns in the official state and national elections of Tuesday showed that Eisenhower had an 8,000,000 vote edge over Adlai Stevenson, and was leading his opponent in the electoral college system to the tune of 470 to 61 votes.

North Dakota voters bore out the feelings of State students as they elected both Davis and Young to the posts they sought, and voted overwhelmingly in favor of returning Ike to the White House.

A closer look at the national elections will show that Eisenhower carried 41 states to Stevenson's 7. Ike again cracked the solid south, Democratic stronghold, and carried Stevenson's home state, Illinois.

While most Democrats foresaw the inevitable election of Eisenhower early Tuesday night, they predicted that the Democratic party would control Congress. With most of the returns in at this time the Democrats carry the balance of power in both the Senate and the House of Representatives.

A record 61 million votes are expected to be counted across the nation as a result of this national election. Approximately 34 percent of the 2708 students at NDSC took advantage of the ballot boxes in the mock campus election.

Clothing Firm Seeks SC Representative

Island Hall and Company, a subsidiary of the largest American sportswear manufacturer outside the continental limits of the United States has indicated the company is organizing a Campus Division to distribute Hawaiian-made sportswear to college students, and, as a result, they have openings for representatives on the NDSC campus.

Since the representatives will deal directly with the manufacturer, they are able to pass on to their customers a 33 1/3% wholesale discount. At the same time, since the company does not have to pay a wholesaler his commission, they are able to pay a commission direct to the campus representative.

Any student interested in such a position as the above is urged to contact the Placement Office in the Union for further information and application blanks.

First Girl-Ask-Boy Event Set For Nov. 16

Girls! Take your fella for a night out. The annual Spinster Skip sponsored by Senior Staff is to be held Friday, November 16 in the Union Ballroom.

At this annual girl-ask-boy affair the imaginative corsages created by the girls are worn by the fellows. Gus the XXXII, all decorated and ready to eat, will be given to some lucky couple.

The Spinster Skip provides an opportunity for dinner, open doors and all the niceties of everyday life that the fellows usually take care of.

Tickets may be purchased from any Senior Staff member and the dorm supervisors. Get your date and we'll see you next Friday.

SC Publications Send 4 To Meet

By Clark E. Schenkenberger

Four students who are members of the Spectrum and Bison Annual staffs left Monday to attend the Associated College Press convention being held in Cleveland, Ohio. The students attending the convention are: Jean Anderson, social editor, and Clark E. Schenkenberger, copy editor, of the Spectrum staff; and Judy Hammer, associate editor, and Sharon Shepard, business manager, of the Annual staff. Mr. Vern Nies is accompanying the group as faculty advisor.

The above students were chosen to attend the ACP convention because of their sparkling personality, natural curly hair, baby blue eyes, and ability to drink soup without slurping.

The ACP convention is held annually to give student publication members the chance to iron out problems and grievances of college publications. Various meetings are held at the convention on budgets, lay-out of publications, photography, and editing. Group meetings are also held informally for students to discuss localized problems and hear how other publication groups have overcome similar problems.

The group will return Monday to give their reports on the convention to the local publication staffs.

The Student Union Activities Board will sponsor a photo display in the lower lobby of the Union tomorrow, Nov. 10.

The display is comprised of prize winning photos from a national contest held by student unions on college campuses across the nation.

The display will be here for one day only, and will be open to the public all day Saturday. No admission price will be charged.

Blue Key Initiates Eight

Blue Key National Honor Fraternity accepted eight new men into their ranks at their regular meeting of Thursday, November 1.

Second Polio Shot

The second in the series of shots for polio will be given on Tuesday and Wednesday, November 13 and 14, in the student health center.

The same schedule as was used for the first shot will be followed: Students from A to L from 6:00 to 8:00 p.m. on Tuesday and students from M to Z from 6:00 to 8:00 p.m. on Wednesday.

This shot is for those who had the first shot taken in October only.

Editorial Writer Wonders "Where Did The Freshman Fire Go?"

Six weeks have gone by since the beginning of the 1956 Freshman Week. What has happened to our freshmen? Where have they gone? Where is the fire that was shown in the freshman elections, tours, and dances?

The group of some 800 students enrolling in college for the first time have quickly been absorbed into the student life at NDSC. They no longer hold a separate identity, but now are identified with smaller groups such as fraternities.

The election of the freshman class officers was held in order that the many members of the class would have an incentive to meet the others.

That this was successful was proven by the quick way in which friends were made and associations formed.

Whether or not this reason for elections is a sound one have been disputed; but this does not take away the fact that the purpose for which the elections were established was accomplished.

If the freshman class wishes to organize and do something under the leadership of their officers is up to them. The upperclassmen only furnished the opportunity for selecting the leaders.

If the 800 freshmen are now content to let the smaller association absorb their interest all well and good; however, if they wish to really organize it is up to them.

NDSC Co-ed Answers Hal Miller's Attack Of Sorority Rushing Rules

Dear Friend:

Please do not take my slight delay in answering your remarks as an indication of a lack of interest on my part.

Having read your remarks on both fraternity and sorority rushing I would come to the conclusion that you feel the frats have it on the gals in their methods of rushing. Of course, you yourself mentioned the fact that the situations of both groups are not entirely the same. That is, the frats have more than enough rushees to keep them busy while the sororities have fewer rushees due to the this campus.

It is, therefore, important for every rushee (or potential rushee) and each sorority to have every chance to be pledged or pledge.

To accomplish an efficient, democratic rushing period certain rules have been set up. These rules are not, as you seem to think, made to create antagonism between rushees and sororities or, for that matter, between the various sororities themselves.

Quite the contrary, these rules are set up in an attempt to create a completely democratic atmosphere in which not just one or two sororities know a girl is interested in pledging or where a sorority that has good connections with various fraternities uses these completely irrelevant situations to influence the rushees. What's more, these rules are set up to help avoid situations where a girl might be extravagantly rushed with lavish double dates, transportation in sleek cars, free meals, financially sound alums, etc. In sorority rushing the emphasis is ideally placed on the matching of personalities — not pocket-books.

These are a very few of the reasons for the more organized rushing system used on this campus. I have no illusions that we have hit on the perfect rushing system. I rather doubt that one could exist.

However, I do feel that our rushing system and rules do effect a democratic and efficient way of gaining new members. We, at least, know what our rules are and manage, on the whole, to abide by them. Although some of these rules may seem extraneous to the uninformed, most of the girls who are affected by them and have taken time to find out or think out the reasons behind them find them anything but useless or ridiculous.

Sincerely,
Marji Cobb

In My Opinion

By Hal Miller

Did you ever notice that campus characters can nearly be categorized into neat little groups? Let's look at a few.

The following, in no particular order, are probably present on every campus:

Albert Athlete, the swaggering, trophy-flaunting, muscled, smirking and flunking man-about-leisure. Al is an unpopular, "Hey, you," type fellow with less brilliance than an idiot amoeba. Well maybe a moron amoeba.

Kasimir Kampus, the Burmudaded, pipe-smoking, beer drinking, blase man about nothing. Kas is a nice fellow gone wild with fads and like that.

Ollie Obnoxious, the back-slapping, witty, noisy, unnecessarily loud gent with an arm constantly about some girl or other. Generally he picks a girl who doesn't particularly care to have Ollie's arm around her, but no matter to Ollie.

Hortense Highnose, the girl who has a problem tripping over things, because her nose is constantly in the air. Maybe she smells something.

Hannah Hipdip, the machine that moves with male eyeballs in mind. Hannah hardly gets along with girls at all.

Well, that's enough of those. You remember some of them, don't you? We do and will.

SHORT FLASHES — Marge Cobb's letter elsewhere in this issue answers our views on sorority rushing. It covers only the things that have been discussed in our original column, so no answer is necessary. We're unhappy, however, that Marge feels that we're uninformed. Thirteen quarters of watching sororities in nauseous action in fairly objective vantage points should be some qualification. Frat term parties were initiated into the costume variety last week. I don't know now... Well, election day is over and another four years has been decided. Let's hope we made the right choice. This is no time for the trial and error system in foreign affairs.

Next week—a discussion of the Spectrum, its uses and its possible uses.

Little Country Theatre

Bernardine is gone but the season has just begun.

The first of four children's plays, The Three Bears, will open this Saturday for two performances at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Desire Under the Elms by Eugene O'Neill is in the process of rehearsal on its multi-level set taking shape in the scene shop. Desire will be produced December 6, 7 and 8.

The following quarter will include an old fashioned melodrama, Ten Nights in a Barroom, and The Plough and the Stars, the 3rd of Sean O'Casey's famous trilogy. The spring quarter will be devoted to Shakespeare's Julius Caesar.

The theatre has lost some of its old time, (Chuck Abrahamson, to mention one), but for every one we've lost there have been two from the freshman and sophomore class to take their place. A good example of this would be the cast of Bernardine with 15 freshman, five sophomores and only one senior. Regardless of your background or experience you will find a worthwhile activity to fit your needs at the Little Country Theatre.

Socially Speaking . . .

By Sandy Benedict

There are two reasons why you are being entertained by a guest editor this week. The first is for pure variety sake and the second is to fill in for Jean Anderson who is making like a journalist at a press convention in Cleveland. Now that I've explained Jean's absence and my presence let's get down to the business at hand.

I'm not sure what the standing record for exchange dinners is but I'm sure last Monday broke all existing records. Leading the group of hungry socializers were the Alpha Gam's and Farmhouse, next the Kappa's and the Sig's, the TKE's and the Phi Mu's, the Theta Chi's and the Theta's, the SPD's and the Gamma Phi's and the AGR's and the Kappa Delt's.

Monday night Gloria Lloyd, homecoming queen, entertained the queen's committee at the Kappa house.

One engagement that didn't make print last week was Marv Miller, SAE and Kathy Zervas who hails from over MSTC way.

And such is the life of a freshman. The Kappa & K pledges skipped with the Kappa Psi pledges Monday night.

Tuesday night found the SPD's en masse at the K house for an entertainment.

The TKE pledge class elected officers at their meeting this week and Harvey Nordin is the new prexy.

Thursday was a lively night on campus. The Alpha Gams and the SAE's had an entertainment and the Theta Chi's played host to the Gamma Phi's. The AGR's and the Theta's lived it up at the AGR house the same evening.

Angry Father: What do you mean by bringing my daughter in at this hour of the morning?

Jim Feeney: Have to be at class at 8:00.

The Theta's pledged Bette Lindner, a freshman from Detroit Lakes.

The Phi Mu's and Farmhouse had an entertainment on Wednesday night.

Married this fall were Lorraine Dahl, Theta pledge and Gary Kvistberg.

Just a reminder that the Sigma Chi pledge presentation is Sunday from 2 to 4 at the Sigma Chi house. Also in the coming attraction department is a Kappa-Theta Chi and Theta-Sigma Chi exchange Monday.

The Kappa's added another pledge Wednesday night as Karen Cornell, a freshman from Fargo joined the ranks.

The AGR's held their pledge presentation and tea last Sunday. Teke pledges also met the public on that day.

"We want a girl to sell kisses at the bazaar. Have you had any experience?"

"I went to college."

"You're hired."

Saturday night Eileen Stoner got a sparkling diamond from that "special guy" from Plentywood, Montana.

Pinned are Elroy Wagner, SAE and a little doll from St. Cloud Teachers.

Motorist: Officer! Officer! Come quickly! I've just hit a student.

Sam Katchum: (casually picking teeth) Sorry, it's Sunday. You can't collect your bounty until tomorrow.

ATO Jim Young has given up his freedom and his pig to Gail Bennett from Minot.

And I am afraid that about ends Socially Speaking for this week but next week our girl Jean will be back just chucked full of fabulous ideas for a bigger and better column so keep an eye peeled.

KDSC personnel have picked the top tune for two weeks in a row! Yes, that's right. Under the "Hit of the Week" system, people in the know at KDSC have picked tunes which they thought would become future hits. These numbers were then plugged regularly at the station. Three weeks ago, "Singin' the Blues" by Guy Mitchell was picked, and two weeks ago our fearless forecasters saw a bright future for Sinatra's "Jealous Lover". These numbers are currently enjoying top ranking popularity.

There is always room for more people to work at KDSC. Don't think that means only men, either. Several gals are currently gracing the airwaves with their girlish charm. Old-timers returned from last year include Nancy Thompson and Sharon Zuehlke. New faces belong to Diane Aslakson, Ruth Olson, Sue McCone, Jodeen Paris, Pat Roberts, Connie Mills, and Irllys Hulbert. In addition to making life around the studios considerably more pleasant, these silver-tongued coeds do a powerful job of commenting on things current between records.

KDSC is on the air every evening that the Student Union is open, so whenever you have a spare moment, or if you happen to be attending a dance in the ballroom, take a break and come down the hall to the studios. Visitors are always welcome. If you can't visit, call your requests to KDSC by dialing 5-5623.

SAE's Go Grecian . . .

Max Kramers, Betty Davidson, and JoAnne Garaas are shown above taking part in some of the refreshments which were offered at the SAE term party held last Friday. The SAE's, known for their original themes at term parties, outdid themselves with the Grecian Theme. This party will remain as one of the most talked-about of the season.

Originality Displayed in SAE Grecian Party

By Annette Erdmann
"Who's got an extra sheet?" That was the cry heard in the dorm's this past weekend as the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity and their dates prepared to dress for a fall term party. A Grecian theme was used with pillars, mattresses and bowls of fruit on the floor, as decorations. Guests were all required to wear Grecian dress. Sheets were trimmed in silver and gold braid to bring out the traditional Greek theme. Bracelets, sandals and head-gear completed the tunic.

Religion Stateside

By Kay Wollen
Somebody's fouling up on turning in the news. I know there must be more going on in the religious groups, but I never hear about it. Fire up and get your publicity in on time! Here's what's going on this week. Should be worth your time and energy.

YWCA
All girls are invited to a tea sponsored by the YWCA at which transfer students will be special guests. The tea will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. on Wednesday, November 14.

YMCA
"Christianity and Evolution," a Wednesday evening series for November, is presented by Dr. Frank Cassel in the College Y from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. every Wednesday.

LSA
What will tonight bring? If it is nice, out we will go for a hay ride. If we have snow, let's make it a sleigh ride, and if by chance we are having rain, we'll just stay inside for an evening of fun!

Sunday morning there is breakfast and Bible Study at 9 a.m. The evening program starts at 5:30 with supper followed by Governor Norman Brunsdale speaking on "Thanks for Freedom."

3-D
The combined Congregational and Presbyterian groups will meet at the College Y at 5:45 p.m. this Sunday. From there, they will go to the First Presbyterian church for supper and a program and to join in packing clothing packages for refugees for this Christmas.

A GUIDE FOR THE UNMONEYED

R. L. Sigafos was a keen, ambitious lad, and when he finished high school he wished mightily to go on with his education. It seemed, however, a forlorn hope. Crop failures had brought his father to the brink of disaster. (R. L.'s father raised date palms which, in North Dakota, is a form of agriculture fraught with risk.) Nor could R. L.'s mother help; she had grown torpid since the death of Rudolph Valentino.

R. L. could go to college only if he worked his way through. This was a prospect that dismayed him.

...I gave fencing lessons to the Deans of Women...

Racked with misgivings, R. L. paced the streets, pondering his dilemma. One day, walking and brooding, he came upon a park bench and sat down and lit a Philip Morris. (There is no occasion, happy or sad, pensive or exuberant, when Philip Morris is not entirely welcome, as you will discover when you go to your favorite tobacco counter and buy some.)

R. L. was suddenly interrupted by a small, quavering voice which said, "My boy, you are troubled. Can I help?"

Seated beside R. L. was a tiny, gnarled man with wispy, snow-white hair. His skin was almost transparent, showing a delicate tracery of fragile bones beneath. His back was bent, and his hands trembled. "Do you think, sir," said R. L., "that a boy can work his way through college and still enjoy a rich, full campus life?"

"Why, bless you, son," replied the stranger with a rheumy chuckle, "of course. In fact, I did it myself."

"Was it very hard?" asked R. L.

"Yes, it was hard," the stranger admitted. "But when one is young, all things are possible. I, for example, used to get up at five o'clock every morning to stoke the furnace at the SAE house. At six I had to milk the ewes at the school of animal husbandry. At seven I gave a fencing lesson to the Dean of Women. At eight I had a class in early Runic poets. At nine I gave haircuts at the Gamma Phi Beta house. At ten I had differential calculus. At eleven I posed for a life class. At twelve I watered soup at the Union. At one I had a class in Oriental languages. At two I exercised the mice in psych lab. At three I gave the Dean of Women another fencing lesson. At four I had qualitative analysis. At five I went clamming. At six I cut meat for the football team. At seven I ushered at the movies. At eight I had my ears pierced so that at nine I could tell fortunes in a gypsy tea room. At ten I had a class in astronomy. At eleven I tucked in the football team. At twelve I studied and at three I went to sleep."

"Sir," cried R. L., "I am moved and inspired by your shining example!"

"It was nothing," said the stranger modestly, shaking his frail white head. "It was just hard work, and hard work never hurt anybody."

"Would you mind telling me, sir," said R. L., "how old you are now?"

"Twenty-two," said the stranger.

Did You Know? . . .

By Corky

At this precise moment, while I am writing this, the election is still some hours away. By the time this publication is in your hands, however, the new President will have been chosen, or the present one re-elected. In any case, now we hear the yelps and groans of the defeated and their supporters. The losers are crying in their beer, wondering how the populace could have erred so terribly and elected their opponent. And the winners are saying "I told you so". So be it, some one had to win. I'd like to ask you to lay aside political affiliations for the time being and forget who it was that won the presidential race. The man has been elected and all the griping in the world won't change things now. And if it was your "favorite son" that won, then don't relax. Sure, he is in office, but your duty to him doesn't stop with your vote.

Let's look at this man, the President, for a minute. The President is a figure symbolic of national purpose; he is also a human being. He is a victim of political circumstance; he appeals to you, the voter, for his election, but relies on Congress for realization of his program. He is the chief executive, leader, supervisor of law enforcement and interpretation. He has control over military power and martial law. In short, he is a pretty powerful man. But is he? Not unless he has a dependable organization behind him, and support to stabilize his influence. So often his Congress assumes a dog-in-the-manger attitude. They are unable to fulfill their duties and yet are unwilling to place full confidence in their President. His authority is diversified to courts, agencies, Congress, and other committees. It is easier to describe this handicap, than to discover a remedy.

But still the question is posed; what can be done? What can the voter do? Greater minds than mine have failed to come up with the solution, and I shall not even try. But I will offer some suggestions. First ask yourself this question; what type of man do I want in the presidential seat? And a brief answer for you; one of personal loyalty to democratic value. Now here's where you, the voter comes in; the strength of a democratic leader lies in the SPONTANEOUS LOYALTY OF HIS FOLLOWERS!!!

By Corky

Leaders could resort to coercive legislation, and they would get results, but they would lose the very values of democracy they are charged to safeguard. Tolerance and mutual confidence are necessary for a democracy to exist. This applies to both the leader and the follower. In this civilization of ours a certain amount of hierarchy and centralization are inescapable components. So it may well be that your freedom is the right to choose your master. But remember, this is no small privilege!

Ben Franklin once said, "if we don't hang together, we may well hang separately." Men are ruled by self interest, but in the case of emergency, self interests become identical to common welfare. It shouldn't be necessary to have a national emergency to cause loyalty amongst the ranks. No indeed, so lay aside your gloating or groaning and apply your efforts undivided to support the President, who ever he may be. See you around . . .

Texas University Women Invade ROTC Program

What was once a strictly male fortress has collapsed at the University of Texas. Six new cadettes (women, that is) have been admitted to the school's Air Force ROTC training program. They took their place beside the rest of the corps during flag-raising ceremonies when Texas played SMU on November 3rd.

The six girls look on themselves as pioneers. The University of Texas is the only one in the state which has installed AFROTC training for women and one of ten schools in the nation.

A somewhat different situation existed recently at Louisiana State University. You can't say no to Uncle Sam, so the school's military department was rather nonplussed when a prospective freshman turned down its offer of compulsory military training.

The department sent an information form, explaining that two years of basic military training are required at LSU of all physically-fit male students up to the age of 23.

In reply, the prospective freshman wrote: "Thank you for your generous offer to let me join the ROTC at LSU. I assure you that I would deem it the greatest honor ever to come to me. After giving the matter deep consideration, I have decided it would be best if I declined your offer."

The freshman refused the offer "because of the advantage it would give me over the girls on campus."

La' Femmes Offer Yuletide Hints For Ardent Males

By Shirley Brandsted

Men! Do you realize that Christmas is only a few short weeks away? If you have a hard time shopping for girls, here are a few tips from the opposite sex.

How long and how well you've known the girl has a lot to do with the type of gift you give her. Personal and expensive gifts are for the guys who are married, but even they don't have to give the type of gift. Cost of a gift means little to a girl, it's the meaning of it that counts.

Girls enjoy getting such things as billfolds, pen and pencil, perfume, or dresser sets. Sweaters and jewelry are always welcome gifts for girls. No matter how much of this they have, it seems as though they find use for more.

You won't believe it, but college girls enjoy getting stuffed animals from their fellows. They are fun to get, and it's something for the girl's room.

The main thing to remember is use your own ideas. Mothers and sisters suggestions are fine, but you take it from there. It's no fun for a girl to get a gift from your mother, it's you whom she's interested in.

Former SC Student Returns From IFYE

By Harold Solberg

A former student of NDSC will be arriving in New York in the first part of December on his return trip from Ecuador.

Warner Johnson of Rugby, N. Dak. has visited several farms on his 5 month stay in Ecuador that has been sponsored by the International Farm Youth Exchange.

Johnson has been visiting and studying farm enterprises there that range from small grain and dairy production to plantations where bananas and cocoa are raised for export. Ecuador supplies a large part of the total amount of these products that the United States imports.

Ecuador is described by Johnson as "being a mountainous country near the equator." This terrain and location were the reason Johnson gave for the great variety in the climate and therefore the crops that are grown there.

Johnson described most of the farm as being quite large with Indians making up the labor force. Most of these laborers earn from 17c to 30c per day.

One farm that he had visited had 1300 head of Holstein cows with about 200 Indians to do the work on it. It contained a hydro electric plant, creamery, medical center and a veterinary hospital. Johnson asserted that it "was long way from the family type farm".

EVEN if you are just starting college in the "Class of 1960," we suggest that you take a long look at where you are going. Know, don't guess, what is offered by fields like engineering and science, finance, marketing and relations. Too often young people discover late in their senior year that they can't qualify for the career of their choice. Why be caught short? Selecting a career and knowing what is expected will make it possible for you to prepare for it now. Many graduates will find their place with industry.

General Electric is typical of many large industrial concerns. We employ over 27,000 college graduates from nearly 700 different colleges and universities. And our future, as the future of any progressive company, hinges on these people. Young men and women that have initiative, analytical and creative ability will make progress with industry. If you are interested, write for information about one or more of the programs listed on this page. These are the principal doorways to success at General Electric. The booklets can also be found at most college placement bureaus in a binder entitled "Career Information."

ATO Gridders Cop I-M Crown In 12-6 Triumph

By Jack Larson

Last Friday afternoon found Alpha Tau Omega fraternity winning the intramural football championship for the second straight year. The deed was accomplished this year by defeating a strong Student Body team which had come all the way to the championship game without a loss. The final score was 12-6. Even though the Student Body team lost, they accomplished something that no other team had been able to do for the last 2 years, and that was to score a touchdown against the Tau's.

The Student Body's first quarter score, which gave them a 6-lead, was on a pitchout from Eddie Treet to Bill Burtness who heaved a 40 yard pass to Dick Nelson in the end zone. This TD marked the first time an ATO opponent had crossed the Tau goal line during the past two seasons. The Student Body held this slim lead through the first half.

ATO copped their first touchdown to knot the score the first time they got the ball in the second half. A pitchout from Ron Zottnick to Chuck Steffan who threw a 34 yard pass to Marv Bender set up the play for the touchdown. Zottnick connected on a 12 yard pass to Steffan for the actual TD. The score remained 6-6 at the end of the third quarter.

The ATO's second score came about after Lyle Huizenga intercepted one of Treat's passes and then caught a Zottnick pass covering 17 yards on the second play.

The first quarter of the game was entirely dominated by the Student Body team as they had the Tau's reeling. The Student Body averaged over 10 yards a play during the first period picking up 61 yards in six plays while ATO could only get their hands on the ball for one set of downs and gaining only 19 yards in seven plays.

In the second quarter neither team could make any headway. The ball merely exchanged hands as everything failed to click.

The third quarter was all ATO. The Student Body actually had only two downs, gaining nothing, while Alpha Tau Omega piled up 85 yards in ten plays and picking up their first touchdown along with three first downs.

ATO averaged 10 yards at a crack in the final period where they gained their winning margin with the second TD. The Student Body's squad, scimping in numbers, was able to better their third quarter, but to no avail.

The telling factor for ATO's success in the second half was the interception of three Student Body passes by Lyle Huizenga. ATO had only one pass intercepted, but it led to the Student Body's only TD. A Zottnick pass was snatched out of Bob Johnston's arms by Bill Burtness. The 40 yard TD toss followed on the next play.

Passing was dominant throughout the game with only a total of 8 running plays being tried by both teams. ATO led in the ground gaining department by picking up 19 yards in four plays while four running plays by the Student Body lost them 9 yards.

In the air, ATO gathered in 23 passes for 151 yards, an average of 6.6 yards per toss. On the other hand, Student Body gained 93 yards in 19 aerials for an average of 4.9 per try.

In the first down department, ATO again led the field, 5-2. The only penalty was against ATO for being offside, which cost them five yards.

NOTICE

George Schwartz, president of the Intramural Athletic Commission, reminds all organizations who wish to enter teams in the volleyball leagues that their fees must be paid and the rosters presented at the November 12 meeting of the group. The meeting will be in the Fieldhouse at 4:15 p.m. Monday afternoon.

A Student Body passer seems to think he should get rid of that ball in a hurry, and so he did. This picture gives a good picture of last Friday's I-M championship game, as only eight plays were tried on the ground. The two ATO's converging on the statuesquely posed passer are Keith Sheltons and Wayne Irick.

AEC Announces Training Program

The Atomic Energy Commission, Washington, D. C. just announced that it will conduct another program in management development and professional development. These programs are especially designed as training background for business and technical students interested in the Atomic Energy fields.

The primary activities of the program include encouraging civilian applications of Atomic Energy, advancing the peaceful uses of atomic energy among the friendly nations of the world, and negotiating and administering contracts with universities and industrial organizations for the development of nuclear reactors for propulsion and for the production of electric power.

Students with Bachelor's or Master's degrees in Engineering, Physical Science, Business Administration, Inorganic Chemistry, and Physics may meet the basic requirements.

Applications and additional information may be secured from the Placement Office.

Internal Revenue Has Openings In Area

Mr. Oscar Gjernes, Student Placement Director, announced that he recently received information that the Internal Revenue Service of the U. S. Treasury Department is seeking to employ college graduates as Internal Revenue Agent in this area.

Openings are available at Fargo, Aberdeen, S. Dak; Cheyenne, Wyoming; Denver, Colorado; Des Moines, Iowa; Kansas City, Missouri; Omaha, Nebraska; St. Louis, Missouri; St. Paul, Minnesota; and Wichita, Kansas.

Requirements for the position include four years of study in a residence school above high-school level including an average of at least six semester hours or nine quarter hours a year in accounting and auditing subjects, or three years of progressive experience in professional accounting or auditing work, or any time-equivalent combination of the above. Possession of a certificate as Certified Public Accountant obtained thru written examination is considered equivalent of the above.

Salary for the position is $4525 per annum after successfully completing six months training. Salary during training is approximately $305 per month.

Mr. Gjernes pointed out that last year several graduates from Jamestown College and the University of North Dakota were employed by the Internal Revenue Service for positions in this area. Any student interested in the above position is urged to contact the Placement Service in the Union.

Prof Asks, Why Do Women Fear Politics?

By Joyce Van Wechel

"Why are women afraid of government courses?" Dr. John Bond, instructor in government, wants to know.

The percentage of women enrolled in government classes is much too low according to Dr. Bond. "Women should be more interested in politics than they are," he said. He believes that even if women aren't actually in the political field, they should be well-informed on political subjects.

"The schools alone are reason enough for women to take these courses," said Dr. Bond. Students who plan to become teachers should be well-versed on current affairs. Parents need to know how the government affects the school system. To be able to vote intelligently, citizens must be acquainted with party policies and current issues. It is only in recent years that women have taken as active a part in voting as men.

"It seems to be a commonly-accepted idea that women aren't cut out to be politicians," said Dr. Bond. "Today there are more women in governmental positions than ever before," he stated. Government classes may sound boring to most women students, but Dr. Bond believes they can be made interesting.

The Political Parties class is working on a special project now. Class members are to guess the electoral vote each presidential candidate will receive. The estimates were turned in at the last class period before the election. The student who guessed the closest will win a prize.

This quarter has been an ideal time to teach "political parties", Bond said. The newspapers are filled with campaign stories which give the class a chance to analyze bias and to study editorial policies and campaign techniques.

I-D Cards Ready

Identification cards are ready for those who had pictures taken during registration this fall. These may be picked up in the public relations office in Old Main after 10:00 a.m. Friday, November 9.

There are still a few cards left from last year and it would be appreciated if those students who have not picked them up would do so at this time.

All cards should be picked up before the Thanksgiving vacation.

North Dakota Broadcasting Company Offers $2000 In Awards To Teachers, Students As Public Service Project

North Dakota Broadcasting Company is to give $2000 in awards to teachers and students at the end of this school year. The company is offering these awards to get recognition for teachers and to attract interest in the problems of our schools.

John W. Boler, President of the company, announced today that one phase of a public service project of the company will involve awards to teachers and student.

Students will be required to write, in 50 words or less, on the subject, "Why I Think My Teacher, Or Instructor, Deserves Recognition." Further details will be announced within the next few weeks. Awards will be made next June 1st.

The contest will be statewide and sponsored by television stations KBMB-TV, (Channel 12), Bismarck; KCJB-TV (Channel 13), Minot; KXJB-TV (channel 4), Valley City. These stations are owned and operated by North Dakota Broadcasting Co., Inc., which has headquarters in Fargo.

Boler said he recently learned of a survey of high school students voted teaching the profession they would least like to enter; they thought it dull drudgery, devoid of glamour, recognition and financial reward.

I believe this attitude explains the declining appeal of the teaching profession and the increase in shortage of teachers. This problem can create serious consequences.

The teacher holds the key to our future generations . . . yet, we do little to attract men and women to the profession. We expect our teachers to be dedicated to their work, but do not pay them according to their responsibilities.

Teachers, along with firemen, policemen, the clergy, and others who provide communities with essential services are the first to suffer and the last to receive recognition.
