Think Boy, Is It Worth It?

Robert Danielson, Athletic Director Lee Lawrence announced Monday the appointment of a new head football coach here at NDSC. He is Robert Danielson, formerly a member of the South Dakota State College coaching staff. Mr. Danielson is 37 years old and married and the father of three children. He served three years in the Air Force at the end of World War II.

New Man Appointed To Ind. Engineering Department At SC

Mr. Richardson held the Engineering faculty position at Iowa State College from 1947 to 1957. He finished graduate school at the University of Minnesota in 1950 and holds the degree of Master of Science in electrical engineering.

Demotte comes to NDSC with an outstanding record in football, having served as South High's assistant coach in 1952. He then became a football head coach at South Dakota State College in 1952, and was named All-City guard for the year.

In 1957 Danielson entered the Army Air Force, and served in the United States as a gunner. In 1959, when he joined the South Dakota State College coaching staff, he was named All-State guard.

Men from the South Dakota State College Women's Health Conference attended the clinic. They are expected to abide by these regulations and be alert to the dangers that may arise.

The engineering graduate who begins his career day will be in the Student Union. Patricia Turner, Joan Lindhorst, and Carol Johnson, who are in the Engineering Department at NDSC, have volunteered to help.

The ring shown above has been adopted by the Student Senate as the official class ring of North Dakota State College. The sketch has been furnished by the L. G. Bal- kovich Company and shows two distinctive symbols which have come to be known as representative of NDSU. It is hoped that this ring may become a college tradition. The present plan for the selling of the ring is that it shall be sold to the Student Senate by the Commission of Finance and one dollar per ring shall be placed in a scholarship fund yet to be set up. Annually during the spring quarter a day shall be set aside which shall be known as “ring day” during which measurements will be taken, sales being made to seniors and alumni only.

Cost is always a governing factor and this ring sells at the amazingly low price of $30.65 with a ruby or onyx stone while the onyx stone sells for $2.50. Realistic Drama To Be Presented By LCT Will Be Final In O'Casey Series

This month the Little Country Theatre is proud to present the final play in the famous trilogy of Sean O'Casey. Perhaps the most famous of the three, "The Plough and the Stars," continues the great realistic drama that the two previous shows, "Shadow of a Gunman" and "Juno and the Paycock," brought to the stage. The play is under the capable and knowledgeable direction of Mrs. Edward W. Conboy.

Supporting her role are many of the L.C.T. in the persons of: Jane Higgins, Pat Connelly, Carol Olson, Lorrie Bogden, George Poletis, Art Cervinka, Don Schreider, Fred Emmons, Nan Duquet, Aurelia Stoewer, and Michael Jones. Scriving for perfection, the staff, people along with the unheralded production staff are sure to put on a memorable performance for the enjoyment of all college students.

Along with memorable performances, I believe it would be interesting to note the reaction of the Irish public to the first production of the "The Plough and the Stars" in February of 1926 at the Abbey Theatre in Dublin.

The play has for its background the Easter Rebellion of 1916, which, at the time of the first production, was still a vivid memory to those who had been subjected to it. There had been much unrest, violence and tension planted in the "Shadow of a Gunman" and this was nurtured in "Juno and the Paycock." At the opening of the second act of the play, the stars, as the saying goes, the storm broke and the seed blossomed into violence.

A woman political leader attempted to give a speech denouncing the play and many other folks followed her lead. Before the third act, the disorder reached its climax. As the Manchester Guardian reported it: "Perent women rushed from the pit to the stairs in the auditorium.

The pandemonium created a panic in most people, but it is a condition to which yours truly now holds no guide but his own. It allows no guide but his own. It

TWO CAN LIVE AS CHEESILY AS ONE

Now in the final months of the school year, one thing is certain: you and your roommate are not speaking. But it is not too late to patch things up. Examine the rift calmly. Search your soul with patience. Perhaps the fault is yours. Perhaps you are guilty of violating some of the basic rules of roommate etiquette.

For instance, in decorating your room, have you forced your preferences on your roommate without regard to his or her tastes? This is a common cause of friction. Indeed, it once happened to me back in my freshman year when I was sharing a room with a boy named Rimsy Sigafous who covered every inch of our wall with 850 pictures of James Dean.

"Rimsy," I said to him in gentle reprove, "please don’t think me unduly, but I had hoped to put a picture of my fiancee Mary Beth Berm Missouri on the wall."

Rimsy examined the picture of my fiancée Mary Beth Berm Missouri. "You’re kidding, of course," he said and dropped the picture in the wastebasket.

Well, that got my dander up, and I was mad as a wet hen till Rimsy gave me a Philip Morris Cigarette.

As we all know, there is nothing like a mild, natural, Philip Morris. Treat a man right; no filler, no Ol' Joe. Anger melts and frowns become smiles with Philip Morris, all seems right in the world, and no man’s hand is against you, nor no pocket book.

So, puffing a pacifying Philip Morris, I forgot all about Rimsy’s slight to Mary Beth Berm Missouri. In fact, with her lying sound asleep, I forgot about Rimsy altogether. Mary Beth Berm Missouri, too, one at the Freshman Frolic, spying a round young coed over in a corner, I came up to her and said with a fetching leer, "Excuse me, miss. We don’t know each other, but I would like to rectify that sad omission." And she said, "Oh, you horrid, horrid youth! I am your fiancée Mary Beth Berm Missouri.

With that she stared furiously away, and told me to win her back with a Philip Morris. I was beyond recall. I, utterly shattered, signed on as a cabin boy with the Cunard Line and am today, aged 58, the oldest cabin boy on the North Atlantic Run.

But I digress. We were talking about roommate etiquette. Let us turn now to the matter of sharing and share alike. Have you shared everything equally? Drawer space? Closet space? Study space? And here’s one that often causes trouble—hobby space.

Hilling Wins Bridge Tourney; Only Enter

Dave Hilling won the NDSU duplicate bridge tournament held Feb. 21, but Dave's score will not be shown when the standings of the tournament, held on a national intercollegiate scale, are published.

Eight persons competed in the tournament and contest rules require a minimum of 16 persons participating to allow entrance into the national standings.

To promote interest in bridge on campus, a junior-senior bridge tournament will be held each Tuesday evening at the Memorial Union.

You need not be an expert to play and all students who have an interest in bridge are invited to attend. For further information inquire at the Director's office in the Union or contact Russ Harju at 5-9006.

C. E. Miller Receives Coveted Mortar And Pestle Trophy

Dr. Clifton E. Miller, Dean, School of Pharmacy at the North Dakota State College, received the rare Mortar and Pestle Trophy presented by William G. Kelly, Sales Manager of the Minneapolis District of the Rexall Drug Company. Mr. Kelly presented the trophy to the pharmacy department to recognize the work of pharmacists.

The historical mortar and pestle, still an important implement in the druggists' profession, is an ancient symbol of pharmacy. Its use for pulverizing medicinal herbs is recorded in the histories of ancient Egyptian, Phoenician, Hebrews of Biblical times and the Roman era.

Today they are coveted as antique treasures for their historic significance and beauty of craftsmanship, and are difficult to locate except in the collections of connoisseurs. A few small collections are owned by pharmacists.

Dean Miller's Mortar and Pestle Trophy, mounted on a black walnut pedestal with a plaque inscribed with his name and a brief history of the original, is on display in his office in Francis Hall.

Religion Stateside

Much is going on and there are many things to do. Let's not forget, though, that there is another facet of our lives just as important as our educational and social life. This is the time of the quarter when interest and attendance at the religious groups tends to fall off.

Term papers are important, but a little break on Sunday evening or at some other time of the week wouldn't hurt anybody. Try to make it at least one meeting of your group this week.

United Christian Fellowship Students from other countries currently attending schools and colleges in Fargo-Moorhead will be the special guests at the next meeting of the United Christian Fellowship on Wednesday, March 6, in the College Y. Supper begins at 6 p.m. followed by worship and discussion.

The Wesley Foundation is in charge of supper arrangements. The YMCA will handle the table singing, and the YWCA will direct the worship service. All students are invited to attend.

The Wesley Foundation will meet at 6 p.m. at the first Methodist Church for their regular Sunday evening fellowship. The program will be lead by Rev. Richard D. Holden who will present the discussion topic, "The Meaning of Redemption."

Next Wednesday the group will participate in the UCP program at the College Y. Prayer group meets at 7:40 every morning.

NDSC Band-Choir To Appear Sunday In Festival Hall

Over one hundred State College students will climax several months of practice when the NDSC Choir and the Gold Star Band present a joint concert in Festival Hall on Sunday, March 3, at 4:00 p.m.

The fifty-five voice choir, termed "better than ever" by audiences in several central North Dakota towns, received an enthusiastic response throughout its recently completed tour. Acting as public relations aides for NDSC, choir members spread good will amongst the citizenry. A stop was made at the Capitol Building in Bismarck, where the choir sang for the legislature.

The repertoire of the choir includes selections by Bach, Brahms, and Palestrina, as well as music by some of the more recent composers such as Irving Berlin.

The band and choir narrowly missed joining forces during their recently completed trips. While the choir was singing a concert at Fessenden, North Dakota, the Gold Star Band drove through the town, not knowing the choir was near. The band was enroute back to Fargo, having cut its trip a day short to return for the "U" series.

Choir director Ernst Van Vlietsingen said that it was the first instance in his memory when the band and choir crossed paths while on tour. The two organizations make their tours simultaneously, but usually journey to separate parts of the state.

The Gold Star Band under the direction of William Euren, will feature predominantly modern music with interesting features by the old masters.

The band was told on trip that it was "certainly upholding the high traditions set by the Gold Star Band." The band, like cents.

Students are urged to support this concert. It is the only home concert presented by the Music Department during the school year. In past years, student support has been noticeably lacking. Tickets are now on sale by all band and chorus members for fifty cents. Take an hour off from your regular studies and support two of the hardest working organizations on campus. It will be well worth your while.

Dance Trio To Be Featured At Next Friday's Convo

Gun-chewing and murder will be subjects for dance when NSDC students see the Munt-Brooks dance trio at Convo next Friday morning, according to F. G. Schoff of the convocation committee.

"Also," said Prof. Schoff, "they'll take us behind the scenes and show how the dances are made. They'll talk some, informally, and demonstrate some of the dance movements ahead of time."

Jimmy Giuffre's jazz and Menotti's "The Night Visitors" will be among sources of the music used by the New York dancers. Works scheduled include comedy, satire, and serious themes.

"It will be an informal affair," said Schoff, "but according to national dance magazines the trio is plenty good, and when they settle down to dancing they should be a real experience."

The dancers—Maxine Hunt and Alfred Brooks, assisted by Martha Cutrufello—will also give an open national dance magazines the trio is in the Field House at 4:30 Friday.

The Chief just gave me the word to write a ten inch story to fill a hole on page 7. "Do it quick," he said. Orders, orders, always orders. That's the trouble with working for someone else. One of these days I'm going—never mind, I want it to be a surprise to him.

But I think I've got troubles. Take a look at this deal once. This article printed below came from the Emmens County Recorder, my hometown newspaper. It was actually in the paper, I didn't make it up.

Quote: FOR YOUNG MEN.

ONLY. The following letter came to this office this week. Anyone wishing to answer it should address his reply to: etc. etc. This office will forward the letters. (No fooling.)

Dear Sir:

Please put this in your paper this week. Everybody down near Linton and Temvik and Hazelton knows me. I live near Braddock. I have a daughter who is single and isn't going with a boy friend yet. I would like to see some young men from around Linton, or Temvik, or down by the river, or from Hazleton, or Strasburg, or Braddock, or Kintyre go with my daughter.

Please put this in your paper. Yours very truly,

(Name Withheld)

Ungquote.

And there you are neighbor. Now if that guy doesn't have a problem, then who does? These daughters can get to be dead weight after a while I've heard.

But anyhow, I guess some of the young swains down around that territory used a variety of unusual ways to learn the identity of the girl. Some finally used the direct approach and wrote to the given address. Whether they got any results, is not known. The editor of the Record issued this statement about the whole matter:

"This paper assumes no responsibility or credit in the event of matrimony that could result from this letter." Boy, things are tough all over.

Does prove one thing though, you can really find some lovely reading in these home town papers.

I noticed a little item in the Bismarck Tribune too. "It seems that a gardener was out sprinkling talcum powder on his lawn. A neighbor asked him the reason for this and the gardener replied, 'to keep the elephants off my lawn.' His neighbor said, 'why there aren't any elephants within two thousand miles of here.' "Yep," the gardener said, "sure keeps them away, doesn't it?"

Okay, Chief, here's your ten inch story, if there is any use to being able to use the efforts of some other publication to pull myself out of a spot. My thanks go to these noble editions. Now I can relax for another seven days.

NDSC engineers were the first in the United States to view the Air Force's C132 transport air craft. The film showed the Air Force's new sparkling jet bomber, The C132 with its 400 plus mile-per-hour speed can haul as much cargo as two liberty ships or 110 railroad cars or 340 truck transports.

NDSC Accepted By Education Group

North Dakota State was one of thirty-seven colleges and universities accepted for membership in the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education at the group's ninth annual meeting in Chicago recently. The AACTE, a department of the National Education Association, is the national voluntary organization of colleges and universities which annually prepares approximately half the young people entering the teaching profession. To qualify for membership in the Association the institutions must be accredited by their regional accreditation association, and teacher preparation must be one of the important functions of the college or university.
